For reasons that are not readily apparent, 1985 was seen an unexpectedly strong growth in the number of institutions applying for the grant of offshore banking licences. It is estimated that, by the end of the year, approximately 40 new licences, emanating from a wide range of countries, will have been added to the register, bringing the total number of licensed banks and their branches to about 485. As usual there were a number of licence cancellations in the early part of the year, but as in recent years, these were largely the result of group reorganisations and did not reflect upon the continued attractiveness of Cayman as a banking centre.

Although I am aware of the concern expressed by some bankers that the signing of the narcotics agreement last year, and the current negotiations on a proposed treaty have deterred some banking business from coming to the Islands, it is difficult to see from the indicators available, that there have been any particularly serious effects overall. It is possible to point not only to the continuing interest shown by a number of licensee applications, but also to the volume of business done within Cayman. Although I was somewhat alarmed in my Assessment earlier this year of the likely outturn for 1984, recent data indicates that the total foreign assets of the banks, Cayman Islands offices stood at US$157 million at the end of 1984. The basis upon which this is compiled has been adjusted slightly since 1993, our rate is approximately 121 times that a comparable figure for the previous year, a rate of growth which well exceeds the estimated overall growth in the macroeconomy market.

However, we certainly cannot afford to be complacent and it is this Government's firm commitment to do its part in setting the right environment for the development of first class business in the Islands, and to allow for the diversification of service services in the offshore sector. We are only too well aware of the potential fragility of a sector which is dependent not only on continuing confidence in Cayman as a safe place to do business, but also on the maintenance of favourable economic and monetary conditions overseas, factors which are entirely outside our control or influence. It is not our intention to jeopardize, in any way, a sector which contributes so significantly to the Islands' economic development.

This contribution overall is difficult to quantify because of the numerous spin-off benefits to the tourist, commercial and construction sectors, but the direct expenditure of the licensed institutions in Cayman during 1994 exceeded CI$44 million of which CI$4.7 million was accounted for by licence fees. Naturally the largest contribution, about CI$15 million, came from those banks and trust companies maintaining staffed offices in Cayman. At the end of 1994, these institutions employed 877 persons of whom 75% were Caymanian and net salary bills totalling over CI$19 million. However, total employment in the sector was only marginally above that of the previous year, a development that has to be examined as the expertise and efficiency of existing local staff improves and as outsourcing becomes more prevalent.

(ii) Agricultural and Industrial Development Board

The Agricultural and Industrial Development Board has granted loans of approximately CI$162 thousand in the farming sector and CI$150 thousand is being applied for in the small industry sector to be approved by year end.

Although research funds are nearly exhausted, new lines of credit have been approved by the Caribbean Development Bank of CI$1.1 million to be made available to borrowers by early 1986. This figure also includes a Student Loan line of credit.

(iii) Cayman Islands Currency Board

The total assets of the Cayman Islands Currency Board as at 31st January 1985 were CI$16 million. This figure is equal to the assets required for December of 1984. Seasonal fluctuations in the amount of currency in circulation, which tends to increase over the last few months of each year, reaching a high in December should cause the Optional position to be more improved by year end. Currency in circulation as at 31st January stood at CI$9.9 million. Bank notes redeemed and subsequently destroyed from January to December 1985 amounted to CI$2.8 million.

Throughout the year the Board's funds have been shifted from shorter term deposits to long term bonds, to take advantage of better interest rates offered on the bonds. As at 31st December 1985, United States dollar bonds amounted to CI$11.0 million, with fixed deposits totalling only CI$1.5 million.

The numismatic coin programme has been expanded so that many coins in stock, previously unavailable are now offered for sale to the public. This has resulted in a substantial increase in income from the sale of coins over the past few months. The 1985 proof set was not offered this year, due to a slump in the collectable market for this type of programme. However, a gold and a silver coin, to commemorate the 250th anniversary of Land Grant Settlement in the Cayman Islands, are being minted and will be available in the first quarter of 1986. A silver coin featuring the Turtle is also being minted for 1986. A museum version samples of all Cayman Islands coins minted and notes printing since 1972 has been established.

In 1985, the Board transferred CI$1,783,719 of its 1984 net profits to the Government's General Revenue.

(iv) Companies Registration

The Registry of Companies continues to play an important role in the collection of Government revenue. The financial year has brought an appreciable increase in revenue collection over 1984, for the period January to September 1984 some 1,530 new companies were registered, the figures now available show that for the similar period in 1985 1,413 new companies were registered. Revenue derived from Company Registration in 1984 amounted to $1,3.9 million in comparison with $1$5.8 million for the same period in 1985. The revised revenue estimate is $1$6.5 million.

The Registry has recently moved from the Government Administration Building to new Revenue Building in George Town. These new facilities have provided much needed office and safe storage space. The facilities are so designed that it should be another decade before it will become necessary to consider any major changes in these facilities.

(v) Accounting Firms

The Registry of well-known International Accounting Firms have an office in their Islands, which promotes a positive image of the services available here.

There are over 140 staff, 50% are Caymanians and earn $5.1 million locally. Training of local staff candidates to receive attention, presently 11 students are pursuing studies overseas and 13 are preparing themselves locally prior to external overseas training.

vii) Companies Companies

The Companies Management Law came into effect in July 1904, and regulations to accompany the law have recently been made by the Government also Mr. Woodward L. Levy, being appointed Inspector of Company Managers. The purpose of the Law is to control and regulate all of those companies who carry on within the Cayman Islands the business of Company Management. To date some fifteen applications have been received, producing revenues of CI$? thousand. There is the potential for greater revenues to be collected from this source, and as the regulations are now in place, the Inspector of Company Managers will now be considering each application and making the necessary recommendations to the Governor in Council through the Honourable Financial Secretary. Once the appropriate licences have been issued, it will clear the way for the licencees to pay the stipulated fee of CI$1,?? to the Government in respect of each company managed. Here again the computer will play an important role, as it will enable the Inspector of Company Managers to determine how many companies are under the control of each licencee and to charge accordingly.

viii) Annual Fees

Seventeen students are sponsored by the Local organisation and two by Government. These are scheduled to graduate as follows:

1987	1988	1989	1990

viii) Insurance

Insurance Business operating in the Cayman Islands is divided into two categories, domestic and offshore. The domestic market provides local coverage for homes, cars, health insurance, condominiums, offices, aviation and shipping.

Twenty-eight companies are licensed to write this business. Of these, 27 are large overseas companies with agencies on the Island, or agents representing them, and two companies have head offices in George Town.

The estimated premium income to these companies is $17 million and is rising steadily.

The offshore or captive market has been favourably affected by the unsettled state of the world insurance market. Over the past 12 months many international insurance companies overseas have cut back or withdrawn completely from certain classes of business, with the result that clients must look elsewhere for coverage, and the Cayman Islands has been the choice of some very substantial companies.

Thus, we are optimistic that license applications will increase during 1985. To assist the creation of additional business a Captive Insurance Seminar was held in May of this year which was successful. Preparations are now being made to hold another Insurance Seminar in mid-1986.

Revised revenue from the issue of insurance licences is expected to exceed $1.1 million dollars, adding benefits to the Islands in other expenditures is estimated at $5 million. Employed in the industry are 107 persons, the majority of whom are Caymanians.

a) Tourism

Nineteen eighty-five was a highly competitive year for tourist. A strong United States dollar during the first half of the year was one of the major contributing factors toward a decline in air arrivals in the summer. Special advertising and promotions were implemented by the Department of Tourism with the assistance of Cayman Airways and the Hotel Association in order to increase late summer and fall arrivals. The future promotion of tourism will require greater participation of all concerned. Certainly the Hotel Association has to play a prominent role in upgrading its facilities and ensuring they are equal to the rate charged.

The new 60 room Grand Pavilion Hotel is a welcomed addition for this winter season and the new Britannia Golf Course has already proven to be an asset to our tourism structure. Moreover new restaurants have opened during 1989 providing the public also a greater variety of places to dine.

The possible completion of the Hyatt Hotel and Paradise Manor in late 1990, will increase the total accommodation by over 500 rooms. This addition will provide job opportunities for Caymanians, a substantial increase in business to all Tourism related industries and revenue for Government.

Grand Cayman has now became one of the most popular ports for cruise ships. It is estimated that 1989 will show an increase of approximately 12% or 65 thousand cruise passengers over 1988.

c) Construction Sector

Activity in the sector has increased with the start of the Hyatt Hotel during the summer. It is most encouraging to note the sale of the Unfinished Marina Mall and the start of a new office complex in central George Town.

d) Transport Sector

Cayman Airways Ltd.

The Airline for economic reasons withdrew its services from Tampa and Belize but continue to operate its existing routes to Houston, Kingston, Cayman Brac and Miami.

e) Electricity, Water, Gas and Communications

The services of the corporate activities these services continue to operate efficiently. The staff in the Sector is 156.

Although the Cayman Water Company experienced some difficulty with supply, caused by plant breakdown occurring at peak periods of the season. The Company's problems have now, to a certain extent, been overcome by the completion of a new 175 thousand gallons per day plant, bringing their rated capacity to 675 thousand gallons per day. The Water Company was allowed to increase its prices by 10% in July, the bottom price of their water is now $1617.49 per one thousand United States gallons plus a fuel adjustment factor of almost $182.00.

f) Government Sector

(a) Internal & External Affairs

(i) Immigration

Although revenue from Trade and Business Licences and General Tenancy Licences will fall short of that estimated for 1984, revenue from other sources is showing a healthy increase. The overall revenue picture for 1985 is encouraging and collections by the Department of Immigration should exceed the budget.

Efforts will be made in 1985 to strengthen the Department's enforcement capabilities providing additional resources. The future accommodation needs of the Department will also be examined.

(ii) Police

The major re-force training programme that commenced this time last year is now in full swing, since the appointment in recent months of six United Kingdom sergeants on one year contracts. In addition to on the job training on ordinary station and street duties, the United Kingdom officers with specialized skills are training in other areas such as corrosives, driving, firearms, marine, photography, fingerprinting, self defence, accident investigation and forensic matters. Officers at all stations will receive a certain amount of this training, and Cayman Brac will be included.

In February the Administration, Traffic and Commercial Crime Branches were re-housed in the Town Building, thus allowing for much improved accommodation arrangements in the Central Police Station where the Uniformed Branch now occupies the ground floor and the Criminal Investigation Department, the upper floor. This in turn has improved administrative control and supervision.

Steps to continue to develop records at local officer and in addition to the local training, a small number of specially selected officers go overseas for technical or managerial training. Further promotions of local officers have taken place in 1985 and more are expected before the end of the year following two promotion boards held in September, 1985 as 26 candidates.

(11) Prison

At the beginning of 1985, rapid inmate population growth took place, which reached the unprecedented high of 113 on 10th April, 1985. However, by the middle of the year, a significant reversal had taken place.

Previously planned construction of living accommodations for female prisoners was commenced with projected completion in early 1986.

The inmate agricultural/horticultural programme was expanded during the past year to include chickens, ducks, goats and rabbits. Our efforts were rewarded in self-sufficiency in the supply of eggs (for about 8 months), as well as some welcome vegetables and herbaceous crops.

Remedial classes in English commenced in September, 1985 conducted by a teacher from the Education Department at the Cayman Islands. Projects will continue in 1986 to further expand the Agricultural and Educational programmes, and possibly to implement other programmes designed to aid the process of rehabilitation.

(v) Government Information Services

After three years as a contracted function at the Cayman Islands News Agency, the Government Information Services are once again within the Government system, re-established as a unit under the Portfolio of Internal and External Affairs. With offices in the Tower Building, the unit is staffed by a Senior Information Officer, an Information Officer and a secretary, all experienced and knowledgeable about Caymanian affairs. A useful start has been made in providing a reliable flow of news about Government affairs to the local media, and in the first nine months of the year over 350 news releases had been issued. Other activities have included the publication of the Annual Report for 1984, the updating of booklets providing facts on many aspects of business and life in Cayman and answering the many letters of enquiry, which arrive every week to show the World's continuing and growing interest in our Islands.

(vi) Personnel

In last year's address I reported that the number of established posts in the Civil Service was 1,313, this year the figure is 1,101. Personal emoluments rose from $23.7 million to $26.2 million. The cost of training in the Personnel Division in 1985 will be $100 thousand. Great emphasis continues to be placed on local and overseas training for serving officers to improve their skills as well as their promotion prospects.

The move of all departments affected to the Tower is now completed. The total number of Government offices in the Tower is 20. In addition, there are offices on the first floor of the building for Members of the Legislative Assembly.

As outlined in the Throne Speech earlier this year, the reorganization of the Public Service Commission as a Government Department with major responsibility for recruitment, discipline and advising the Government on other personnel matters is complete. The task of rewriting Public Service Commission Regulations has been completed, and approved recently and the new General Orders will take effect early in 1986.

A new SX-200 240X telephone system has been installed in the Government administration and Tower buildings in an effort to improve telephone communications. This system is more efficient, has a greater capacity to handle calls and should eliminate problems experienced by the public in the past. An additional SX-200 240X will be installed shortly to provide more incoming lines to these buildings.

v) Broadcasting

The Broadcasting Department over the last four years has achieved a great degree of self-sufficiency with collected revenue approaching the Department's recurrent expenditures. Although some recurrent expenditure such as printing, and Capital Expenditure are built by other Government Departments, and when taken into account show that Radio Cayman is taking a small surplus.

The Department can operate at a great degree of self-sufficiency with the continued prudent guidance that has helped it achieve its present status.

(b) Finance & Development

i) Ship Registration

At present ship registration in the Cayman Islands is governed by the 1894 Merchant Shipping Acts of the United Kingdom, and under this law the Registrar of Ships has no power to refuse to register a ship once the stipulated requirements have been met. However, before the Registrar registers a large ship in the Cayman Islands, an explanation is given advising that the Cayman Islands Government is not a signatory to the various International Shipping Conventions, and as a result, any vessel registering in the Cayman Islands may experience problems with port users in other countries. Where the shipowners or their principals insist on registering in the Cayman Islands, arrangements are made with either one of the six major classification societies around the world for the issuance to the various vessels, at the owners expense, the required safety certification which are required to enable the vessel to operate. It should be noted that these certificates are in a class apart as more convention certificates and subject to detailed scrutiny, which can lead to delays and extra expenses.

Consideration is being given to creating local legislation which would allow the local Registrar the power to refuse to register ships, which do not meet the safety standards as well as power to remove similar ships from the Register.

(j) Revenue & Expenditure

The current financial year began with a balanced budget of $69.7 million, comprising of $50.1 million in recurrent expenditure, $0.8 million in locally financed capital spending, $2.6 million in loan financing. With more than ten months of the year now behind us and year ending the revised financial position for 1995, it is anticipated that the year will end with a deficit of approximately $2.5 million. This has resulted mainly from shortfalls in Customs Import Duty $1.5 million, Revenue Stamps $1.5 million and Currency Fees of $0.5 million. Some heads of revenue will exceed the estimates

-7-

Revenue and control of expenditure should result in $1,0 million less than anticipated, the revised position is summarized below:

Balance at beginning of 1985		($548,748)
Revenue: Local	$54,921,855
Loan	155,825
Less Expenditure: Recurrent	49,124,204
Capital	7,837,851
Estimated balance at 31 December, 1985		($2,474,423)

(ii) Public Debt

At 1st January 1985 the public debt of the Cayman Islands Government was $11.7 million. Net changes during the year amounted to + ($985 thousand) leaving a debt balance of $10.7 million at the end of 1985.

Self-Financing Loans to Port Authority students and the Agricultural & Industrial Development Bank administered by Government was $3.6 million at the beginning of this year. Further advances and repayments netted $0.4 thousand, leaving a balance at 31 December 1985 of $3.7 million.

(iv) General Reserve

The General Reserve stood at $7.6 million on 1st January 1985, and as provided in the 1985 Estimates $3.2 million have been drawn down leaving a balance at the end of the year at $5.5 million. The Financial Secretary has agreed not to move $4.5 million in the reserves that Butterfield Bank which has funded the loan on the Tower Building.

v) Marriages, Births and Deaths Registers

The Registrar of Marriages, Births and Deaths are also located in the Registrar of Companies Department in the Tower Building. The Registrar is concerned about the increased attempts by some Caymanians to obtain birth certificates and registration of children not born in the Cayman Islands. A procedure is in place which requires for parent or parents to attend the Registry with their copy of the notification of live birth issued to them by the hospital, which is then compared with the Registrar's copy. Without the two, suspicions will be aroused leading to a delay in the registration of the child, and possibly the involvement of the police for an investigation.

vi) Customs Department

The additional officers provided in the 1985 Estimates served to establish Internal Audit and Task Force Sections. A serious look is also being given at the possibility of introducing a shift system at the airport to cover the two late scheduled flights. Steps are being considered in this Budget to effect it in the new year.

Again this year, through the auspices of British Executive Services Overseas, Britain's Development Agencies for the secondment the services of a Customs Training Adviser for the period January - March. This has been of great benefit to the officers, and we are indeed grateful to British Executive Services Overseas and to the adviser for their invaluable contributions to the betterment of the department.

During the adviser's stay, he also wrote Customs Procedures which were accepted by Governors and are fast a manual for the department. This will be especially useful for new entrants, as it covers all the rules and instructions which were previously passed on verbally to new staff during their on the job training.

One Assistant Collector attended the Customs Management course in the United Kingdom this year. This officer is in charge of Customs operations at the Airport, and every effort is made to make the knowledge and experience gained on this course pay and will be of great benefit to him and to the Service.

The headquarters, that is, Administrative and Collection Officers have been found in the Tower Building with the former being located on the 5th floor, and Collections on the ground floor.

This idea took care of a long existing need to have Customs staff provided with accommodation of the standard enjoyed by all other Government Departments.

(vii) Computer Services

During 1985, Information Systems was renamed to Computer Services, a reorganisation between Personnel and Computer Services took place to transfer the mail, telex and photocopier services to Computer Services. Mail distribution posts in the Tower and Administration Buildings have been manned by Computer Services to provide some of these functions along with computer printouts.

Staffing adjustments were made to accommodate the Distribution Post functions without increasing the overall complement of the Civil Service. Other staffing changes included the retraining of Executives being posted as programmers, and a recruiting effort in the United Kingdom and Canada to fill senior officer posts left vacant, as a result of existing personnel erring.

The VAX Cluster, consisting of two VAX 785 processors i.e. consoles and peripheral equipment from Digital Equipment Corporation, was delivered at slightly an scheduled, however, delays in renovation of the Tower and Administration Buildings have prevented completion of the new Computer Centre. This is now expected to be completed by early January 1986, with installation of the VAX to follow immediately. A plan to move all existing users from the DEC 11/70 computers on the VAXs is being developed with work to commence as soon as the new hardware and system software are installed. By the end of 1986, it is planned that additional terminals will be installed, and that a full range of courses for accuracy correction to specific software applications will be made available to a significant number of Civil Servants.

The services of an adviser from British Executive Services Overseas was requested to assist with the upgrading of our facilities and planning the base of computer operations. As a result, a Computing Policy has been approved by Executive Council and distributed to all heads of departments. The adviser having returned this month, will assist the staff in finalising a long range plan, which will be placed before the Computer Steering Committee for its consideration.

(c) Judicial Department.

Due to increase in criminal work, particularly where the accused elects trial by jury, and the consequential knock-on processes, the machinery of the Courts Offices is heavily pressed. Further, the effect of a provision in the Consumer Protection Law, which requires the Courts to have the records of all cases tried in the Courts, has meant more work on the staff of the Courts Offices.

At the opening of the last Criminal Session in September 1985, there were 12 cases listed for trial during the Session. This is the first occasion, that there is a continuous criminal session from one session to another.

Cases are also long and complex, one case of obtaining property by deception lasted 10 working days. Another case of attempted rape and burglary lasted 12 working days.

Government has strengthened the Court Staff by posting locally trained local attorneys-at-law, who were recently called to the Bar as Deputy Clerks of the Court.

Provision is contained in this Budget, for four Marshalls to attend each Court and Chambers to administer the oath to witnesses, also forms of arrest or the Court's Bailiffs. These will replace the police officers who have carried out this function in the past and presently.

On occasions, an additional Magistrate has been brought in to do a particular case where perhaps the substantive Magistrate imposes himself.

d) Legal

The Department continued to deal with all aspects of Government Legal work including criminal prosecutions, drafting of Bills and subsidiary legislation, the development of our Law School and the handling of all Government, civil, legal work. In the first nine months of 1986, some twenty-seven laws were drafted in the Attorney General's Chambers, passed by the Legislative Assembly and assented to by His Excellency the Governor. Of these, mention shall be made of three significant legislative enactments - the Motor Licensing Law, 1985, the Rehabilitation of Offenders, 1986 and the Finance and Audit Law, 1986. Appearing in criminal matters on behalf of the Crown in the Supreme Court, Grand Court and Court of Appeal, the Chambers have also been a party to certain matters, which will shortly come before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London.

Four young Caymanian lawyers, who have qualified overseas, are presently in Government legal service. With several others due to return and the first graduates of the Cayman Islands Law

Second qualifying. It is hoped that both in the public and private sectors, the presence of Cayman lawyers will be more noticeable within trade and commerce.

(e) Development & Natural Resources

1) Portfolio

In April 1989, the Hon. Mrs. Truby and Financial Secretary for Development and Natural Resources, along with the Deputy Director of Cayman Turtle Farm, joined the United Kingdom delegation to the 5th Session of the Conference of the Parties on which would have analysed Cayman Turtle Farm to engage in international trade of turtle products was presented. Despite the thorough and painstaking preparation of the proposal, it was not approved, due in large part to conservation strenuous efforts by world environmentalists to protect the green sea turtle. Although the decision was disappointing, the decision was taken not to abandon the turtle farm, but to devise means of strengthening its economic base locally. To this end, the farm is currently making overtures in diversifying into shrimp culture. Its tourist attraction potential is to be fully exploited and it will step up meat production for the local market.

In agriculture, efforts are being made to upgrade the Government Demonstration Farm and to promote the development of private sector agriculture. To this end, an Israeli agriculturist stationed in Jamaica was invited here in August to advise on a plan of campaign. Having met with farmers and merchants and toured farms, he is to assist in securing the necessary expertise to operate a four year Agricultural Development Plan.

A dog control programme is currently under consideration, as the already too prevalent the menace of rabid canines. PAHO has agreed to provide assistance in the establishment of the programme. Should the necessary approval be given by the House to appropriately amend the relevant law, implementation of the programme by the Department of Agriculture and the Public Health Department will follow.

It is expected to be able to present a draft Building Code on the Kodak early in 1986. An advisor from the Irvine Company, who is to do the actual drafting, in consultation with the Building Code Committee, arrived in early November. Once the Code is approved, it will be administered by a Building Inspector/Code Division in the Planning Department.

A Petroleum Agreement was this year finalized with assistance from the United Nations, and signed in September with Hadarbus Oil, a Texas company. The Agreement provides that in the event that oil is discovered, the environment will be safeguarded and Government royalties augmented.

Still on the subject of oil, there was a blow drill in September on the docks, which was handled with a creditable degree of efficiency under the supervision of UNDP. Also in September, the Portfolio requested and obtained an advisor from U.N., who reviewed the newly prepared "Seven Islands Oil Spill Contingency Plan" and made recommendations.

In the area of conservation, a recent census commissioned by the Portfolio has been completed and a written report is currently under preparation. Consideration is also being given to an iguana study and census, as well as an extensive census on Little Cayman.

The Marine Parks project, which has been under consideration for some time, is now to be presented to the Cabinet again in order to obtain full public endorsement before its submission to Government for final approval. A five-year special implementation for the project has been prepared and implementation is scheduled for 1986.

During the year, a number of channels have cleared and markers erected. This was particularly useful in the case of the North Sound.

(j) Housing Development Corporation

Renewed effort was put into the raising of funds to continue mortgage financing. A style which therefore is already has been quite successful, and the corporation will shortly be considering new applications. Policies revised during this year are tailored to assist persons in low and middle income groups. To other changes, the HDC offices have been moved from the airport terminal to Pyle Road, and its management is now shared with that of the AIDA. These changes have substantially reduced overhead costs to the Corporation.

(k) Water Authority

In the field of water supply, the East End Waterfield and Reservoir Scheme was completed in March, the cost of these works was $1$100 thousand. The waterfield is capable of producing 1.9 thousand gallons of potable water per day. It was completed just in time to relieve the worsening water supply problems associated with the severe dry season drought experienced in the beginning of the year.

The Water Authority is presently formulating plans to provide a piped water distribution to Centre Town. This urgent and critical need, together with the uncertainties of viability, have caused the Authority to reverse its initial policy of primary development of ground water. It is now working towards a phased distribution, based initially on some form of desalination. At the time of writing several options are being considered, it is anticipated that before year end, a decision will be made and plans finalised in order to commence construction in 1996.

Work has commenced on better defining the ground water resources of Cayman Brac, with the intention of their development for public use, providing a much needed emergency supply of water to that island.

In the field of sewerage, considerable advances have been made in the design and implementation of the West Bay Beach Sewerage Project. The initial problems experienced in constructing the design have been overcome, and it now seems assured by the Water Authority, the estimated cost is $154,793,000. A loan of $487 million has been negotiated with the Caribbean Development Bank. Prequalification and contractual arrangements for consultants and suppliers are well advanced, and construction is scheduled to start next year, with completion in the first quarter of 1988. All properties within the drainage area, presently pay sewerage fees to Public Beach, will be connected to the main sewerage, and the sewage generated will be treated at the Municipal Sewage Treatment Works, located north and east of the garbage dump.

(f) Health, Education and Social Services

(i) Social Services

The Department of Social Services has grown both in staff and in expenditure on services. Defining the pathfinder stage during 1985 were three Caymanian graduates bringing the present staff complement to twenty seven. Expenditure on certain services has increased significantly. For example, spending on Child Care and Protection has increased from $60 thousand in 1985 to an estimated $119 thousand in 1986, while also more persons benefit from welfare payments (called Poor Relief) amounting to some $150 thousand this year.

A Comprehensive review of the Juvenile Law, which has been enforced for ten years, is in progress with completion expected during the first half of 1988.

A Foster Care Programme and a Home Health Aide Programme are being planned for introduction as soon as possible.

(11) Education Department.

Total enrolment in Government schools rose from 1,952 in 1984 to 2,150 in 1985 an Annual increase of 1%. Non-Caymanian students now represent 11% of the population in Government Schools, while the percentage for private schools is 31%. Twenty Percent of the total Government Primary Schools population is at the George Town Primary School, and as a result 450 places, did not fill. It is not too soon to begin planning for an additional primary school for the George Town area.

Budgeting on education continues to grow with the rising rolls triggering expansion in plant and staff accordingly. Recurrent expenditure increased from $5.9 million in 1984 to $6.5 million in 1985. Included in this increase is for expenditure on the Hotel and Trade Schools formerly, under Tourist, Aviation and Trade.

Revenues, though small in comparison with expenses, are also increasing. Revenue collection exceeds for 1985 Budget of $200 thousand by approximately 25 thousand derived from:

		CI$
a) school fees	=	150,000
b) examination fees	=	17,000
c) book rental fees	=	25,000
d) community college	=	50,000
e) miscellaneous fees	=	3,000

The Education Department is subsidized 97%.

The Department is pleased to be able to offer a B.Sc. Degree in Elementary and Special Education to 35 serving teachers through the University of Miami. Government will assure the costs at 140 degree which are a function of distance with how total costs to Government being approximately $47,010 over three years. Costs related to instructions are going borne by the individual teachers at approximately $5,720.00 for Caymanian teachers and $7,184 for Non-Caymanian over the three year period.

(iii) Health

During 1985, steps to deal with the problem of patient accounts that remain outstanding were intensified. All accounts have now been signed on the Government computer system and registered letters have been sent to all persons who have not responded to the previous bills sent. More than $1.3 million remain outstanding at this time, and Government intends to initiate legal action to collect those accounts that are in arrears. All Caymanians and residents are asked to meet their financial obligations to the health services to enable it to function more efficiently. It must be remembered that the health service is already heavily subsidised at 90% i.e., the revenue from hospital fees is only 10% of total expenditure at the hospitals. Another way of explaining it is that the fees charged to the patient only cover a nominal portion of the actual cost.

Nineteen eighty-five recred the first full year of operation of the extended care beds located at The Pines. The average occupancy of this unit was approximately 90% with operating costs totalling forty-two thousand. The provision of this service has greatly reduced the overcrowding and unnecessary utilisation of the acute care beds at the main hospital.

A Health Fair was organized for the first time in the Cayman Islands on 15th April 1985 at the Courts Building, and was very well attended by the public.

The most significant feature of dental treatment during 1985 has been the initiation of a preventative fluoride treatment programme for children in a pilot project at the West End and North Side Schools.

Because of the large incidence of dental decay among children in the Cayman Islands and the nature and progress of this decay, the introduction of this mobile health method of treatment at this time is urgent, necessary and timely.

The Pan American Health Organization has made a short term consultant available from Geneva, and the first month of the consultancy was spent in developing forms and procedures and the training of staff from the dental clinics, as well as the teachers in the North Side and East End schools, to carry out the toothbrushing and fluoride rinse programme. This programme is monitored by the Dental Officer and AAH information with the participation and cooperation of the Education Department.

Additional staff is being requested in this Budget to cope with the demands for routine dental care by the public and also significantly to expand the preventative and outreach programmes for children throughout the Cayman Islands.

Local private practitioners continue to provide services at the hospital conducting out-patient clinics in internal medicine, paediatrics, psychiatry and ophthalmology.

The arrival of a physician to the staff, in a supernumerary post, has markedly increased the services offered at the hospital, and it is difficult to imagine how we could operate in the future without this service.

A refurbished C-Arm X-Ray Unit was acquired at a cost of US$10,000. This equipment which has a one year guarantee, and which is covered on the same service contract as the other X-Ray units will greatly facilitate the performance of some orthopaedic operations. Visiting specialists have in the past declined to perform some types of surgery because of the lack of such a unit.

The rapid development in the private sector with the introduction of two new medical centres has created increasing pressures for work at the hospital, and we have been running at full occupancy recently with a demand for every ward bed space.

The programme on drug and alcohol and improvement of psychiatric services, which began on a limited scale in 1984, has continued to receive attention from the Portfolio, with consultations with overseas experts scheduled to take place during the remainder of this year, with a view to formulating comprehensive plans for its expansion.

(v) Tourism, Aviation and Trade

1) Civil Aviation

The new Terminal Building at the Jean Kehoe's International Airport formally inaugurated on 26th January 1985 at a total cost of $10 million. The Civil Aviation Department's monthly income for rental and concessions was increased from $15 thousand to $57,500. Except for some unusual difficulties with airconditioning and car parking systems, the building and equipment functions properly and is a blessing for the handling of the 30 thousand passengers and well-wishers arriving at each month. The old terminal, adjacent to the operation in 1946 was demolished and materials given to the needy as soon as it was evacuated in January.

Revenue is expected to exceed that of 1984 by $178,132 due to the introduction of a passenger security fee, car parking fees and the additional space and amenities offered at the new Terminal Building.

Expenditure will also increase compared to 1984 because of the additional commitments to be met associated with this larger well equipped facility. Despite this, however, the surplus of revenues over expenditures is expected to exceed the 1984 break-even figure by $353 thousand.

The major repair undertaking for the Gerrard Smith runway was completed by the Public Works Department, and services to the NICA returned to the Sister Island last December as sufficient sections were completed for limited operations. The total cost of the project, which also included the completion of runway lighting, was slightly more than $1,2 million.

The old aircraft parking apron is now being utilized as a General Aviation Centre and accommodates private and executive aircraft, flight training, maintenance facilities and terms operations. A General Aviation Terminal has been opened to accommodate this traffic and is staffed from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. by officers from Airport Security, Customs and Immigration. This relieves congestion of the new terminal and which as there are always quite a fleet of private aircraft on the island.

(i) Labour Office

Eighty complaints and disputes through August 1985, have been handled by the Labour Officer in consultation with the Ministry of Tourism, Aviation and Trade and have been resolved informally. Advice on working principles and conditions was also been given to prospective employers.

A Labour Survey to increase the number of unemployed persons was carried out in February 1985, and as a result, 158 persons registered in Grand Cayman and 7 in Cayman Brac. Between the period January to August 1985, the office was able to place 110 persons in suitable occupations. Forty-eight school leavers registered, and five were referred to the Community College and are presently attending various courses being offered. Sixty percent of the others have been placed in jobs with the assistance of the Office.

(ii) Fire Service

Nineteen eighty-five was a busy year for the Fire Department. There was a 14.5% increase in fire calls.

The increase can be attributed to the numerous bush fires, which were prevalent throughout the Cayman Islands, experienced from late 1984 to the middle of 1985.

During the first nine months of 1985, 25 structural fires were dealt with and 21 vehicles were damaged by fire. This is a significant reduction from the previous year, when 35 vehicles were lost over the same period.

Fifteen fire wells were constructed at a cost of CI$74 thousand. The wells are for use in the event of water fires and is strategically placed throughout the Island.

Improvements in fire prevention and vehicle maintenance are being realized by the employment of a fire safety officer, and a mechanical supervisor earlier this year.

Four junior officers attended the Florida State Fire College and successfully completed courses in fire fighting, rescue and emergency medical treatment.

(b) Communications & Works

(i) Postal Department

On 15th March 1985 the new Post Office moved into new premises, the building of which was spearheaded by Captain Theo Bodden of George Town. The public continue to make use of the services provided at this establishment.

During the year the Postal Department made an attempt, though with little success, to collect outstanding revenue from radio licences. Efforts continue to be made to effect satisfactory control over the licencing and use of all types of radios in the Islands.

The sale of postage and philatelic stamps has been a slight increase over the same period in 1984. There has, however, been a decrease in the sale of revenue stamps.

New post office boxes for the district of West Bay have been installed by the Public Works Department.

11) District Administration - Cayman Brac

Cayman Brac and Little Cayman began the year 1985 with an unemployment situation. Government is the largest employer of labour on Cayman Brac and during the first quarter of the year, there were no capital projects charged. This resulted in a significant percentage of the Island's work force unemployed. Coupled with this was a further reduction in the work force at Cayman Airways Ltd. However, with the reintroduction of jet air service from Cayman Brac, tourism showed a modest increase. Arrivals by jet into Cayman Brac for the first ten months of the year were 6,351, while departures by jet were 6,327. No information is compiled on arrivals or departures on the Trilander.

During the second quarter of the year, Government's Capital Works Programme offered steady employment in both building construction and the roads programme. The largest project for 1985 was the continuation of the Bluff Road towards the lighthouse at South Bay. This road was completed to the lighthouse in August at a cost of $220 thousand. The other major project for 1985 was the ongoing project of upgrading the South Coast Road. An additional 1.75 miles of road was completed at a cost of $75 thousand. Some minor roads in Cayman Brac were also upgraded.

A new classroom has been added to the Cayman Brac High School and an addition to West End Primary school was completed.

In Little Cayman the work on the Salt Rocks dock had been completed and the dock is now open. A crane has been mentioned in Little Cayman to ensure that the dock can function effectively. A boat ramp and boat shelter were constructed at Blossom Village and the Government launch for Little Cayman has been put into service. Work in progress on the dredging of a passage inside the reef on the south coast of Little Cayman with the use of a mechanical excavator from the Government Central Funding Scheme.

Cable and Wireless (WI), inaugurated its submarine cable between Grand Cayman and Cayman Brac in February and telephone communications have greatly improved as a result.

(iii) Port Authority

From the inception, the Authority has made an impact on all facets of the Islands economy. Goods are handled efficiently, and losses to pilferers have been significantly reduced. The fast turn around of ships ensures that stocks of various types of merchandise are adequately maintained, shortages of supplies are no longer experienced. In spite of higher operating costs it has not been necessary to increase port charges, the Authority has continued to meet all financial obligations. The Government's investment in the Port Authority has been most prudent and will continue to pay dividends in the years to come.

Estimated revenue over expenditure of the Port Authority for the year ending 31st December 1985 will be approximately $1512.1 thousand and present cargo trends indicate an increase of five percent over 1984.

With the increase in containerized cargo, it was deemed necessary to convert an area north of the existing dock complex into a marshalling yard. The project entailed the construction of a retaining wall, the raising of the level of the area to the point of the existing concrete paving and hot-mixing. Work was contracted to the Public Works Department and completed on 31st July 1985. The project was completed recently. The initial estimate has been revised and the final project cost is now £1,178 thousand.

(v) Public Works Department

The recurrent expenditure of the Department is projected to total £2.1 million, while the overall Capital Works Programme of buildings, roads and civil engineering construction is expected to represent approximately £3.1 million.

Modernisation of peripheral towns and the second spray and chip application on almost five miles of the North Side/East End Road will account for £150 thousand of expenditure under the Rhodes Construction Programme. A section of new road linking Eight Avenue and Anita Road was constructed at a cost of £187 thousand. An access road to Agricultural lands in North Side was excavated at a cost of £25 thousand. The intersection of Eastern Avenue and North Church Street was signalized at a cost of £29 thousand.

The kitchen and seating mess facilities at the George Town Hospital, with associated staff and patient parking, was completed in 1985 at a cost of £59 thousand. The project had been estimated to cost £60 thousand.

A civic centre was constructed at East End at a cost of £45 thousand as estimated. The Golden Town and East End Town Halls were renovated at a cost of £34 thousand.

Work is underway on a new female cell block at the prison, expected to cost £200 thousand.

Renovations to the Courts building were completed in 1985, providing a new Court room and office for the Supreme Court and additional office space for other members of staff. These alterations were achieved at a cost of £157 thousand.

Refurbishing and renovations were carried out at the Government Administration Building, at a cost of $50 thousand in 1995 taking a total of $130 thousand, following the demolition of the Tower Building to which certain refurbishments were timetabled. Works to the Tower Building structure to Level 3 thousand were executed in 1985, having a cost of $493 thousand to date. The building is now almost fully occupied.

At the Sports and Cultural Centre complex, changing rooms were constructed at cost of $145 thousand with $22 thousand to be donated by the Lions Club. This facility will complement the swimming pool built by the Lions Club. The football pitch was topsoiled and seeded; drainage and irrigation systems installed, and the running track is being hot-tiked, all at a total cost of approximately $210 thousand. One hundred thousand of this was spent in 1994. The Bank of Nova Scotia has donated $125 thousand to the complex.

5. THE ENSUING YEAR 1995

Mr. President, the 1995 Budget was prepared to effect greater stimulation of our economy by providing funding for a number of capital projects.

The Budget is $67.4 million, an increase of $6.8 million over 1995.

Estimated Ordinary revenue is $55.9 million, a decrease of $2.5 million contribution from General Reserves. Early Ordinary Revenue forecasts for 1995, in relation to the level of expenditure requested indicated a significant reduction in all areas where cuts became quite obvious that new revenue measures would be required to balance this Budget. These measures should produce $5.5 million.

This year the proposals are two pole affecting the offshore and general public. Local residents are being requested to assist with additional revenue which previously will be utilized to maintain and provide services to the public.

I will briefly outline the new features:

The Public Health
(Garbage and Refuse Disposal)

Fees payable by private houses and apartments have not been increased since 1975, and the garbage and refuse collection is now costing Government $450 thousand annually, with revenue from this source amounting to $63 thousand. The cost per household is approximately $100.

It is recommended that the annual fee be increased from $15 to $50 per annum or $1.00 per week and increase other fees under the Law as well.

2)	Condominiums units from	50	to	100 per annum
3)	Hotels
	a) up to 19 bedrooms from	$00	to	600 per annum
	b) 20 to 39 bedrooms from	900	to	1,200 per annum
	c) 40 to 60 bedrooms from	1,200	to	2,000 per annum
	d) over 60 bedrooms	1,800	to	2,500 per annum
4)	Restaurants (with or without bar)
	up to 30 seats from	200	to	325 per annum more than 30 seats from	500	to	525 per annum
5)	Bars	100	to	200 per annum
6)	Lodging houses other than hotels	150	to	300 per annum

b)	Business Premises
	a) offices	24	to	60 per annum
	b) other offices
	i) small	40	to	70 per annum
	ii) medium	160	to	280 per annum
	iii) large	400	to	1,000 per annum
c)	Large complexes	800	to	800 per annum

ARMS AND ILLEGAL WEAPONS

It is proposed to increase the annual fees payable under the Arms and Illegal Weapons Act as follows:

		FEE INCREASE
a)	Category "A" Licence fee	27,500	to 30,250
b)	Category "B" Licence fee	8,500	to 9,000
c)	Combined Pistol/Rifle fee	750	to 1,000
d)	Restricted Licence fee	5,500	to 6,000

MOTOR TAX

The travel tax charged is substantially below cost recoverable, and it is proposed to increase it from C15% to C15%.

TRAFFIC FINES

Vehicle registration and drivers licence fees have not been increased since 1976, while the cost of road maintenance and construction of additional roads over the decade amounts to millions of dollars. The proposal is to increase all fees under the regulation. Thirty items are affected and perhaps they are too lengthy to list. But as an example, private cars annual registration fee is proposed to increase from $18 to $100, a cost to the owner of $1.92 per week.

INSURANCE LICENCE FEES

The Act which was passed in September 1979, and operated on occasion has experienced no change in the fees, and it is considered timely to upgrade them this year. The increases are as follows:

			Cr DOLLARS
a)	"A" Licence	from	1,500 to 2,000
b)	"B" Licence	from	3,000 to 4,500
c)	Agents	from	100 to 150
d)	Sub-agents	from	50 to 75
e)	Brokers	from	750 to 1,250
f)	Underwriting Agents	from	5,000 to 7,500
g)	"A" Licence where the company is carrying down its business	from	1,000 to 1,500

TRADE AND BUSINESS LICENCE

Fees under the Licensing and Trades and Technical and Commerce Sections comprised of eighteen items are proposed to be increased. No proposal for fees under the Professional section are now forward as these were increased in 1984. These fees have not been increased since the mid 70's. An example of the increase is the fee for a Merchant and Shipowner's A which is proposed from $300 to $1,500, a cost to the owner of $28.85 per week.

CUSTOMS DUTIES

Import duty on motor gasoline and diesel oil has been $.78 per gallon since 1977, and it is now proposed to increase it by $.15 to $.93 per gallon. Prices at the Service Stations must not exceed $.05.

Mr. President, I've examined the effect of these increases, as would find the following annual payments by certain groups of residents:

a) Those who own a home and no car would be required in 1986 to pay $50 per annum to Government for garbage fees only.

b) Those who own a home, car, one dryway license would pay $200.00 per annum to Government for garbage fees, vehicle inspection and registration and drivers license.

There are not, Mr. President, many countries in the world where the populace have such a high standard of living, good quality services and pays so little in Annual fees. We are indeed fortunate to have so much at such a minimal cost to the public.

4. CONSTRUCTION

Mr. President, the estimates for 1985 was done with great care taking into account historical trends and the world economic situation. The latter being given the larger weight, and it resulted in a Budget of $1.5 million over 1984.

The 1985 revised estimates financial position of $2.5 million deficit will cause further measures in expenditure control to be exercised by Finance & Development.

We realize, of course, Mr. President that some Government services must be properly funded, but we will continue to view it in a learn-leaning position.

The 1985 recurrent expenditure displays this lean-leaning position while providing the required services to the public.

Capital expenditure of $18.8 million is following economic theory to stimulate the recovery, when it is experiencing a recession or has bottomed out on a recovery trend. This will create more employment in construction and the output effects will be positive in 1986.

Mr. President, I have great confidence in the future development of these Islands over beyondering that constituency must not be allowed, and private and public sector working together is our objective in achieving greater benefits for these Islands and their people.

Mr. President, allow me to express my sincere gratitude to the staff of My Portfolio, Finance & Development, for their support, they exemplify the fine example of dedicated civil servants.

Mr. President, I recommend the Appropriation (1985) Law, 1985 proposing an estimated sum of $83,873,357, to cover Recurrent and Capital Expenditure and Debt Service in 1986. Excluded from this are the statutory provisions covering pensions and loan repayments amounting to $3,515,571. The estimated expenditure is, therefore, $87,388,928.

Thank you Mr. President.

[illegible] necessary recommendation. Mr. President, I move that the motion on the budget objective be withdrawn until tomorrow, 5th October, 1948.

MR. PRESIDENT: My understanding is that arrangements have been made already by the business committee not that the debate on the general pleading of the appropriation bill for Wednesday, 6th October until Thursday that Members of the House should have a fortnight to study the estimates and the budget address before the debate.

The question is that the motion be withdrawn. As many as are in favour will say "Aye" [illegible]

GOVERNMENT NOTICE NO. 1048

PROVISIONAL DELIMITATION OF CONSTITUENCIES

HON. MINISTER OF INTERIOR: Mr. President, I move government notice No. 1048, dated 30th September, 1948 Delimitation of Electoral Districts Act, 1946 (Act 34 of 1946).

"And be it enacted that in the Delimitation of Electoral Districts Act, 1946 (hereinafter referred to as the principal Act) section 2 of the principal Act is hereby amended -

(a) by the deletion in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of the word "and" at the end of that paragraph;

(b) by the deletion in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of the full stop at the end of that paragraph and the substitution therefor of a semicolon and the word "and"; and

(c) by the addition after paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of the following paragraph:

"(c) in the case of the Provincial Division of Western Cape Province, 1st October, 1948."

MR. SPEAKER: Does the Hon. Member wish to explain his amendment?

HON. MINISTER OF INTERIOR: I think that I can explain my amendment that is a motion which may be moved either at [illegible] under 48A, [illegible] of the new Standing Orders which was accepted at the last Session. The amendable Act provides [illegible]

MR. JAMES K. POOLE: Mr. President, just so we know that this document cannot be delayed and in person automatically?

MR. PRESIDENT: Let me answer my explanation if I may. If you will read your Standing Orders, you'll see that you waived the Monday when both the last and the Standing Orders were amended, you will find that there is also a Standing Order #84. The provisions of that Standing Order are such that a motion of the kind just introduced is not entered and the question is not debatable. However, the provisions of the law otherwise unmentioned in the motion which has just been introduced today are such that the motion can only have effect for ten days, a total of 10 tax days....

MR. RICHARD A. BRADLEY: Mr. President, one could always imagine that the bill be rejected, or the bill is not introduced within ten days.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am sorry. I do not share that I followed all of that. It was.... Well, let me say that the provisions of the law are such that the motion only has temporary effect and that it will not be introduced or have permanent effect in the manner within that specified period. The bill goes dead on the next day.

MR. JAMES K. POOLE: Well, I apologize to the Standing Orders. I just assumed that we, in the mail the day before yesterday. I have not read that yet. However, I am advised, by President, that it was necessary on our minds without the Standing Orders having a chance to debate it. I would remind the Members of this House that they should remember the Boston Tea Party.

MR. PRESIDENT: If the Member will just bear with me, the last Standing Order would have banned that the provisions which we have entered to establish precisely what is followed in the House of Commons in relationship and in the manner and sequence of the consideration. The Order....

MR. JAMES K. POOLE: That is....

MR. PRESIDENT: The virtue of the Order will then not be complete if, in that it does not oblige the House to debate resolution of which Members know and have notice, a practice of which the Royal Elected Member for Dublin East complained at the time of the last budget.

MR. JAMES K. POOLE: I did not mean that I understood about because I have only just heard about a lot of things recently.

MR. PRESIDENT: I think that the Member must not mean me. Copies of the motion have been distributed and in accordance with Standing Orders I will put the question.

The question is that the Government motion No. 10/76, the terms of which have been read out be adopted.

QUESTION PUT: AYES AND NOES.

MR. G. WAIT POOLE: Mr. President, may I have a division please?

MR. PRESIDENT: Yes, of course.

CONSIDERATION RELATIVE TO 10/04 UNDER BY BUSINESS:

Mr. Chairman: What concludes the business which we must deal with on the Order Paper for today. However, before the adjournment is moved, perhaps I could just ask the Clerk whether I am correct in assuming that a motion which some Hon. Members may wish to move, on official publications which Hon. Backbenchers are to be taken away, or at what time they are to be taken?

Clerk: It must be taken at the time indicated immediately following the budget debate.

Mr. Chairman: Are they to be dealt with outside the Chamber or in the House or where?

Clerk: See.

Mr. Chairman: Yes, perhaps Members could be kind enough to remain in the House until the Speaker after the adjournment has been moved.

ADJOURNMENT

HON. MICHAEL J. WOOLLEY: Mr. Speaker, in accordance with Standing Order 22, I move that the Honourable House do now adjourn until 10.00 a.m. on Monday, 2nd December, 2002.

Mr. Chairman: The motion is that this House do now adjourn until 10.00 a.m. on Monday, 2nd December, 2002.

QUESTION PUT: AGREED.

MR. SPEAKER: If no one is put up, I would remind Members of the Standing Order relative to a meeting of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association tonight. Dinner for, in the 8.30 p.m. or...?

Clerk: 8.00 p.m.

Mr. Chairman: So, I take that Members will be able to attend that. Thank you.

MR. G. KEITH SUTTON: Mr. Treasurer, which requires in the first of $64,100.00 for interest. While would imply that payments are going to be made over a certain period, which one number was of this $64,100 is the interest paid for this year, or is that the total interest eligible which will be paid over the life of the refinancing of the property?

MR. JAMES E. HARRIS: The interest is paid over the refinancing period for the duration of the contract of land sale in FY84,000.

MR. JAMES E. HARRIS: In lieu of the explanatory remarks which were given, Mr. President, I would like to request that the Treasurer's Office be present to answer any questions that may arise. It seems that the price of this item is very high. I wonder whether the Airport Commission has considered other alternatives, may have a reasonable explanation for it. I certainly, believe that going rate should be the first in question and not have any major problems in any real estate deal. However, in the interest of time, I would like to request that the Treasurer's Office be present to answer any questions that may arise.

MR. JAMES E. HARRIS: Mr. President, I would like to request that the Treasurer's Office be present to answer any questions that may arise.

MR. [illegible]: Mr. President, the general fund is in the Treasurer's Office. I'm sorry, I didn't hear what you said. [illegible] Mr. President, and thank you for your patience. I would like to ask the Treasurer's Office about the [illegible] which was [illegible] Mr. President,

MR. JAMES M. BOOGER: Getting to the first question we will be sure of the offices which have been assigned, would we have the square footage contained in the Texas Building?

MRS. CHARLES C. STEPHENS: I am still guessing, Mr. President, that the estimation time by Mr. Frost. The outside square footage of the building is 60,000. The assigned office space is square feet including the basement, is 50,000. There is 45,000 square feet for office space, plus the basement of 5,000.

MR. JAMES M. BOOGER: Based on the square which have been given to the House, Mr. President, by square foot estimates, the Government has made approximately 45% net square feet for the Texas Building. Would the Member advise the House what percentage would normally be used as settlement of net square, whether that is 10%, or 5% more?

MRS. CHARLES C. STEPHENS: Mr. President, from working in dealing with various Government supplied expenditures, such as the Austin Bureau and the Criminal Building, there would be 10%

MR. JAMES M. BOOGER: The Chair would ask the Sergeant, anyone wishes have to vote, that announcement for a longer, short.

MRS. FRANCES C. SMITH: Approximately, Mr. President. Since the Members should consider the method of construction of the Texas Building is comparable to any of the other Capitol Complex, the price of which is square?

MRS. CHARLES C. STEPHENS: Mr. President, I think that the answer is that by approximately to that the square footage is a combination of a mixed basement with concrete. I think that it is similar to the Governor's Administration Building. However there is more wood in the Governor Administration Building than the Texas Building, and perhaps the design is different. However, I do not think that it is so that this is maybe more than the building is not as expensively.

MR. PRESIDENT: I think that we are confusing a little far from the original question. We are also having problems with this one and I am concerned that there is a lot of more practical in the Texas Bonds. I think it would be... well, I will allow one more minute period. The Chair would like actually simple my last time.

MR. D. ROGER WILSON: Mr. President, according to the figures given by the Member concerning the square footage per the actual office space, it looks like, total square feet of the building is nominal, or approximately 75 per cent. Is that correct?

MRS. THOMAS C. REAVLEY: I am not sure exactly what the number is. Perhaps the difference between the Universal and the net size square footage would be in reference to... or some measure that kind of accordion pleat to create the Texas Building or each floor because of the design. One has to make completely round of each floor. Perhaps that is where it is.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Chair declares another Mr. Nelson from.

MR. JAMES M. ROGERS: [illegible] was just asked to [illegible] any buildings. The statute mysteriously [illegible] should not be the case. My question deals with other areas. I [illegible] the Members would advise the House whether any ongoing [illegible] reasonable or any unusual [illegible] in the 1982 budget would be figured as being [illegible] to achieve? I would ask what [illegible] would be applied to move [illegible] a serious [illegible] which we may be [illegible] over in [illegible] 1983 [illegible]

MRS. THELMA C. STEPHENSON: I do [illegible] ask the [illegible] to answer that question, Mr. Speaker. I [illegible] in my [illegible]. I can only say that as a person [illegible], it would [illegible] to me that we should [illegible] a building [illegible].

MR. SPEAKER: I think [illegible] we have [illegible] Rule 136. The Chair [illegible] Member [illegible].

MR. JAMES M. ROGERS: Would you [illegible] to [illegible] Rules 150 and 151, [illegible], Sir?

MR. SPEAKER: That [illegible] I think.

THE FIRST [illegible] MEMBER [illegible] TIME ON ANY ONE [illegible] FIVE [illegible] MINUTES FOR ANSWERS AND [illegible]

MR. TAY: Would the [illegible] Minister [illegible] how many [illegible] were convicted of [illegible] by the courts in 1982 and how many in 1983?

ANSWER: A total of 73 [illegible] were convicted by the courts in 1982 of [illegible]. The difference [illegible] non-[illegible] [illegible] by some individuals having [illegible] convicted of more than one [illegible].

In [illegible] 1983, 73 [illegible] have been convicted of [illegible], and a further 23 are awaiting [illegible]. The number of [illegible] would [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible].

MR. SPEAKER: If the Member wanted to ask [illegible] Mr. Speaker, [illegible], then [illegible] Both could be in order, I would [illegible].

THE FIRST SUPPLY MEMBER FOR [illegible] TIME ON ANY ONE [illegible] FIVE [illegible] MINUTES FOR ANSWERS AND [illegible]

MR. JAMES K. JONES: Mr. President, as this point I really don't have any explanation. I apologize. I will now go to the budget address. I am only trying to find out consensus and it seems as though we are not dealing the content of the efforts of Congress.

MR. DANFORTH: If my colleagues have a misunderstanding, perhaps the First elected Member from Indian Head would like to ask the next question.

THE FIRST ELECTED MEMBER FROM INDIAN HEAD HAS THE FLOOR.

MR. TEE: Would the Honorable Member state his reasons for the United States Congress, for more representative group here tonight, and now working with the Royal Guyana National Police Force. In what public and confident to what degree?

MR. JONES: Additional approval took place on this morning, considering legislative and Policy Implications. I understand that 8 Delegates have been nominated and all have taken an interest between August of last year and May of this year. The legislation also was on a paper nominate and the Congressional Policy Inspectors who are on a paper nominate are experts in their particular specialized fields. QUESTIONS/ANSWERS:

MR. JAMES K. JONES: Supplementary, Mr. President. I wanted whether we could be informed whether all these officers are employed to assume the Commissioner are being assigned by them to the specialized to Indian, so that the Royal Guyana Police Force is possible to take over the duties which have been assigned to these people?

MR. HERBERT E. PORTER: Yes, Sir, there is provision in the contract for the withholding of some money from the engineer in the event of unsatisfactory work or unsatisfactory performance of the contract. This is true in the case of commercial projects. However the withholding is limited by statute. The most that can be withheld by Insurance Claims. The rest of their work has to be released by the owner.

MR. LANDGRAF: Is there in the provision anything...
Sorry.

MR. JAMES K. DOUGH: Two of these assignments for Tuesday are a little worry. On the assignments for Tuesday, the Senate confirmation hearings of Clarence Thomas and Robert Gates, will Senator Dole attempt to pursue the Bork nomination, and whether there will actually attempt the people and receive the votes necessary, or whether they are just trying? In the case of the hearings I find it difficult to understand why we would have the senior Senator from Kansas discussing Judge Bork's nomination on the Senate floor on the 23rd. I wonder just as much as the Senate Judiciary Committee does what they are?

MR. HERBERT E. PORTER: Mr. Chairman, on the first assignment only, the first part of it, the Pacific Offices... I think that the question was did they discuss issues of annexation? Due to the best of my knowledge, Sir, whenever they are ready or they need to go, they will do. I guess that they attend to their work as well.

On the second question, Sir, the person assigned there is not attached for the purpose of working the 23rd, Sir. There is quite a difference between working and operating the desk and operating the law. I am sorry. The first but I would specifically point the difference out. Sir, the hearings there is going to take place to hold. Every one member is that week they go on I said or something on the other like that, they will send the law and like to suppose it, whereas the person during the desk duties the desk and that is it.

MR. JAMES K. DOUGH: I was under the impression, Mr. Chairman, that the Members assigned to the earlier session were all members of the Pacific Affairs and they covered here Pacific issues. I am concerned as to whether the law of Pacific is whether or not enough to cover the Pacific Rim, or is it not enough to warrant the action. So, I wonder how much help is being rendered? In the same case, Mr. Chairman, on the Pacific matter, I have two conferences in the next very certain conferences in the Islands especially. I have never been one of those Pacific Affairs Officers there. I do not think it should be left to the local officers in the event to make sure that they know that a decision conference has taken place. This is where they can manage and maybe they might help our Pacific Territorial Governments. God bless, they are just enough. So I wonder, Mr. Chairman, if these officers could receive more direct review or be used to support of them?

MAJ. DONALD M. HOUSE: Yes, Sir, I will pass that on. There was one point which the Marine Reserve officer on Guam raised recently because. They were about the fact that officers are making towards the change of our laws or rules to that effect.

HON. DENNIS E. MACKAY (Assiniboia): If it is my understanding, Mr. Chairman, that this item has a committee which is looking at the traffic law. It was last session, right now I am sure, Mr. Chairman, I cannot really see whether the right from these people is going ahead from what we thought the road of the Traffic Committee, then that's legal to publicly open records or the votes, Sir.

MR. JAMES E. COWAN: Mr. Chairman, I do have another question I wonder, Mr. Chairman, whether the Member could advise the House whether these respective officers are employed on permanent casual positions, or whether it is the normal procedure, Sir, to have them?

MR. CHAIRMAN: I do not really think that is a supplementary which arises out of the original question. It is a completely separate question and the Member can put it down as a question some time. However, I think there is just better place on.

MR. JAMES H. TAYLOR: I am quite willing to have the answer at this point. I just wanted to find out whether they do have the qualifications and how expensive they are.

MR. CHAIRMAN: Does the Honourable Minister for Municipal Affairs have a supplementary. Alright, then we must go on to the next question.

MRS. SYLVIA L. WESLEY: Mr. Chairman, I just want to ask the Honourable Minister whether I am right in assuming that, Sir, because of the casual nature, is disbursed to their employees, the casuals or their normal duties as well?

HON. HOWARD PAWLEY: Yes, Mr. Chairman.

MR. CHAIRMAN: The Second Honourable Member for Wolseley has the next question.

(c) All other previous amounts have been submitted to the Treasury for payment in December, 1966.

(d) Penalties payable to the Tax Act, Tax be being held by the Crown.

QUESTIONS:

Mr. James M. Murphy: Mr. Speaker, I appreciate, Further the Minister advise the House whether the payments of these penalties are still being held up by the Financial Secretary, or is it that Government cannot afford to make the payments at this moment?

Mr. Orville C. Stephenson: Mr. Speaker, no payments are being held up, Sir. The Treasury has its procedures to abide by, although the amendment was passed in September, 1966, it takes time to be processed before the Treasury Department. There are still some outstanding Ministerial, there are many claims which are coming through for which we have to seek clarification to support the validity of the claims. All Government may be as per usual practice. The payment for pensions have been submitted to the Treasury with the exception of those claims of Ministers. Some Ministers departed from which we have yet to receive the clarification from them.

MR. M. MARSHALL (Lab): Supplementary, Mr. President. Is the total figure given of £800, would the same figure relate to the debate in September?

MRS. THATCHER (Con): Mr. President, in the first month, before I answer Mr. Marshall, the hon. member for Vauxhall (Mr. Tilley) asked about "Operation Yellowhammer". Apparently the hypothetical date did not occur to him or that one.

I believe that I answered the Member to my one this one which I gave in May October. I believe that I answered quite clearly on I do make plans for Yellowhammer while engaged on work I say that I was giving a figure on Yellowhammer and a figure on Kosovo as I have to do all the time. This figure on Kosovo was not contingency because I do make that there are other Kosovos who did not present any risks to us going to military base statements.

MR. PRESIDENT: The next question. Perhaps the Member would like to ask her

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE MEMBER FOR WEST SUFFOLK (MR. JAMES PAICE) [Question Withdrawn Personally for Written Answer]

Q3. MR. PAICE: Would the honourable Member say whether there has been any recent consideration of the Territorial Army regiment to train on other weapons?

MR. HOON: There has been no recent consideration. There is no change from the Conservative Government's plans on other weapons.

SUPPLEMENTARY:

MR. M. MARSHALL (Lab): Supplementary, Mr. President. I do not think whether I have it correctly or not. Did the Member say that there was no discussable body expenditure in some 300,000 of damage?

MR. PRESIDENT: I think that the Member knows quite well that he did not have permission.

DECISION OF STANDING ORDER 22(7)

MR. D. DEVLIN (Lab): Mr. President, could I move that Standing Order 22(7) be suspended to enable the discussion on the Order Paper?

MR. SPEAKER: To my Standing Orders shows to me. Standing Order 22(7), whose I am reminded, said.

MR. D. DEVLIN (Lab): Sorry, Sir, Standing Order 22(7).

MR. PRESIDENT: Certainly you are very wise. I do think that it would be right that very long to consider before we accept question time. I think that it became the custom of the House to suspend Standing Orders when these questions such as the Order Paper had not all been asked by 11.00, we might find ourselves suspending Standing Orders daily, and we might encourage a habit of making a very great deal of announcements.

MR. PRESIDENT (presiding): I now have [illegible] to tackle the various [illegible] questions have not yet been resolved [illegible] the options.

MRS. MICHAEL J. [illegible]: Mr. President, point of [illegible] I do not think we need to do that.

MR. PRESIDENT: Mr. Bell, I was just trying before the Member spoke to read through my Order Paper [illegible] last night. So do not need to do that. The question will be put on the Order Paper [illegible] at a later date...

MR. D. BRIAN [illegible]: Yes, Mr. ...

MR. JAMES M. [illegible]: I hope it passes, Mr.

MR. PRESIDENT: The motion that I put to be that in accordance with the provisions of Standing Order XX(7) shall be suspended to enable the [illegible] Friday's Order Paper to be dealt with. Does any Member wish to speak to this motion? If not, I will put the question.

QUESTION PUT: AGREED. [illegible] accordingly, in accordance with Standing Order XX(7), to enable the [illegible] Order Paper to be dealt with.

MR. PRESIDENT: The next item, the second elected member for Rose City. Question No. 222.

MR. R. JOSEPH [illegible]: Mr. Minister, are the [illegible] online on the [illegible] Stockton Mine, Sir?

MR. PRESIDENT: Oh, I think we have finished the [illegible] questions. Well, I do not know. Perhaps if we [illegible] supplementaries, [illegible] enough, yes.

MR. R. JOSEPH [illegible]: Mr. Speaker, I [illegible] question No. 135, Sir. I think I will have more [illegible] the debate.

THE SECOND ELECTED MEMBER FOR ROSE CITY TO ASK THE QUESTIONS LISTED ELECTED MEMBER FOR [illegible] CONSTITUENCY [illegible] ON BEHALF OF THE [illegible]

QUESTION 222: Would the Government Leader advise Council whether progress to exercise the option terminating the lease-purchase agreement to purchase the two Delta 2 underground engines of the mid-80's [illegible]?

ANSWER: There is no objection, at this time, to exercise the option to purchase the two Delta 2s [illegible] to the lease-purchase agreement.

SUPPLEMENTARIES:

MR. JAMES M. [illegible]: Is the answer that we will not exercise the option to purchase at this time, but that we will negotiate with the [illegible], or is the answer that we will not plan to exercise any [illegible] option to purchase [illegible]?

REP. W. NORMAN ADAMS: Mr. President, no decision has been taken as yet as to the question you have raised. That is a matter that we will consider with the PEP's later on.

SEN. JAMES M. ROBERTS: Is it contemplated on your part of the PEP's to finance of the PEP's?

REP. W. NORMAN ADAMS: Like anybody in business nowadays, I cannot say that is the answer. However, it is certainly an area which is being examined.

MR. O. WILLS ADAMS: Mr. President, will the Petroleum Exploration Purchase Agreement expire in the end of 1985?

MR. TABUCANON: Is your mean if his option expires at the end of 1985?

MR. O. WILLS ADAMS: Yes, the question arises...

MR. TABUCANON: It is the view this Petroleum Agreement which expires. It is the opinion, I think.

MR. H. LEWIS BURDEN: Yes, the question arises, Mr. Chairman Minister proposes to terminate the existing Petroleum Agreement, which I understand expires at the end of 1985. I am asking whether the Minister will ensure that the option to purchase expires on 1985 or not.

HON. A. NORMAN PEDDIE: Mr. President, generally the option to purchase does not expire on December 31st. I think in the Lease Petroleum Agreement provisions are made that the option could be exercised up until December, 1985. However, it certainly does not mean, I think that we will necessarily receive at this date.

SEN. JAMES M. BODDEN: Would the Government be seeking the assistance of some body experts and specialists before they would decide to go ahead with the PEP's to finance of the PEP's?

HON. W. NORMAN ADAMS: I believe that the company, Mr. President, has encouraged expert advice and enough expertise available at this time to make that decision, I will be sensible that that is the course the company should take.

SEN. JAMES M. BODDEN: Is the decision depending on the economic advice which was tendered by the Petroleum Team, or what other advice is he basing his reply on?

HON. W. NORMAN ADAMS: The advice would be based partly on the report from the Petroleum Team. However, some other Petroleum Consultants did a study for Cayman Airways on exploration and we have also already invited to comment on the Petroleum's decision on this matter.

MR. JAMES M. BODDEN: Is there not express statute of making the decision clear that relying on the report when the Minister has mentioned?

HON. W. NORMAN ADAMS: I am sure that there are people who Cayman Airways who are capable of giving Petroleum decisions. I think that when decisions are made they should be properly considered and it is the role of the Board of Cayman Airways and Government to take these views and make the right decision, a decision which will not be misunderstood.

MR. JAMES M. BARRY: Can you do that now in sufficiently comprehensible terms for this audience?

MRS. M. MERRILL ROBERTS: As this fiscal analysis, Mr. Chairman, I think the decision should be made. However, I feel that I am capable of explaining the actions which I and four others did in this fiscal matter before making a decision. I would ask, sir, as to how the decision would be made.

MR. JOHN M. ROBERTS: Mr. Chairman, I am very interested to note that this Government is capable of making a decision. However, I agree by far that the decision is better made to give the GSA's over the GSA's. because then we will know for sure.

MR. PRESIDENT: Order, order. The Chair must ask the audience not make statements.

MR. JAMES M. BARRY: I agree, Sir. Thank you.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas.

SUPPLEMENTARIES:

MR. G. DALE DOUGH: Mr. President, may I ask the Member if the Agent on Health has made the arrangements to ask the question?

MRS. ERNEST M. ROBERTS: Mr. President, I do not object that I was unsure that I was to ask the information about I have gathered but I do not really have the answer to that, sir.

MR. G. MAYO OLSON: Mr. President, may I ask the Senator if the report on Building Codes discussed the work which has been done specifically on the building code, or is the building [illegible] also under?

HON. DENNIS E. FOSTER: Mr. President, I believe, Mr. [illegible] the answer was in working closely with the Board of Standards or Assembly, by way of [illegible] a code which is acceptable and which would apply to the municipalities [illegible].

MR. R. MERRETT SMITH: Supplementary, Mr. President. Have any experts brought to [illegible].

HON. DENNIS E. FOSTER: No, sir.

MR. R. MERRETT SMITH: Not [illegible].

HON. DENNIS E. FOSTER: No, sir.

MR. R. MERRETT SMITH: 1969?

MR. CHAIRMAN: The question returns to the motion of [illegible] December, 1969, so I do not think possibly that supplementaries [illegible] have legal [illegible].

MR. R. MERRETT SMITH: Thank you very much, sir. I believe I will get the question answered [illegible].

MR. [illegible]: Oh, it is a perfectly proper question. It is just not a proper supplementary. If that answers the supplementary I think perhaps the Senator might take that answer [illegible]. So I will suggest [illegible] not have, I am afraid.

MR. JAMES M. [illegible]: I did not rise on a point of order as a supplementary on this question.

MR. CHAIRMAN: I apologize. I guessed for a moment and did not see anybody standing up [illegible], I'm sure [illegible] supplementary, I will accept that.

MR. JAMES M. [illegible]: Are the services also provided for [illegible] Assembly rooms included in this?

HON. DENNIS E. FOSTER: No, sir, that is [illegible]. That is a [illegible]. It is not included in this at all.

MR. JAMES M. [illegible]: Is the question [illegible] to [illegible] at the [illegible] Provincial [illegible] [illegible] by the agreement with Government to [illegible] by the New Form of [illegible] in making the [illegible]

HON. DENNIS E. [illegible]: The answer, sir, was in [illegible] by [illegible] of the Members, Mr. Speaker, [illegible] Provincial Buildings [illegible] [illegible] which is a [illegible] that another [illegible] responsibility for. Secondly, we have advised the Members that the Government [illegible] responsibilities regarding the Provincial [illegible].

MR. JAMES M. COLLINS: Based on the questions and the discussion, Mr. President, I think that my question would be appropriate for voting, because the question does deal with two amendments. I wonder whether the Member would advise the House if under the terms of the Presidential and Vice-Presidential debates who were brought in, is that still bound by the agreement with Government or would it be type of journals in the holding of votes?

MR. PRESIDENT: I really think if the Member wants to ask that, it needs to be a parliamentary inquiry. The question certainly could have now on which issue and at what stage have been brought in. If an explanation could be given, in the detailed questionary about kind or way of the misunderstanding with on each of the various amendments, then I think that it is really not going to be possible for the Member who amended originally to deal with the bill. I think having entertained the two, if you want to ask questions about the different amendments did or recommended, or whatever, they could deal to the appropriate questions addressed to the appropriate Member.

MR. JAMES M. COLLINS: Well, I am sure that there will be no trouble ascertaining the vote whether because it will be readily understood. Is it possible for the Speaker Pro Tempore to make a decision without having to venture into areas

MR. PRESIDENT: I think there is perhaps a physical question. The Second Elected Member for West Bay will then the Second Member for Middle Town.

MR. W. MCKEEVA BUSH: Mr. President, a supplementary, Sir. Was the original brought in as a Private Member?

MR. JAMES M. CONNOR: To the best of my knowledge, Sir, they were one before, as far as I know, Sir.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Second Elected Member for Bodden Town.

MR. W. MCKEEVA BUSH: Before what, Sir?

MR. PRESIDENT: The Second Elected Member for Bodden Town. We remain on task before.

MR. G. HAIG BODDEN: Mr. President, I would like to put it that figures given at the most moderate, the figure paid by the agencies, or does it also include additional remuneration, also please and we can?

MR. JAMES M. BODDEN: Mr. President, yes, yes, this is all included. A lot of our agencies are also Caribbean Associates Insurance and we give them a credit [illegible] per week, and so [illegible] accommodation. If we really had to pay the high price of salaries to outside experts it would cost us a lot more, Sir.

MR. JAMES M. BODDEN: Mr. President, I do agree with what the Member just said. It is a good thing that we can start using people. Even the experts have knowledge [illegible], or else to provide rental accommodation such as hotels, who will we provide them with accountability for their entire stay?

MR. DENNIS H. DUNN: Mr. President, in the view of my brother, Sir, we generally plan a recess from time to time so that we have opportunity to be advised by the leaders of the House, whether or not there is any business, or what have you. I think that we should recess, sir.

MR. PRESIDING: As there is no objection by the gentleman, I will put that motion immediately. Motion agreed.

AT 11.2- THE HOUSE RECESSED

MONDAY MORNING: 22.07 A.M.

MR. SPEAKER: Please be seated,
Item 2 on the Order Paper, Government Business. (1)(a) Acceptance of Standing Orders.

COMMITTEE BUSINESS

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 46 (a). 1/

MR. MICHAEL J. HARRIS: Mr. President, Standing Order provides that notice shall be given of a certain number of days in advance of which it is to be put down. Normally Order 46 provides that any Bill shall be printed and thirty copies thereof may not all Standing may be taken on the next day.

Mr. President, knowing unless you instructed to make amendments fully, frank and informed discussion takes place on matters before this Assembly. However, Standing Orders are not our masters but our servants, and while I am normally reluctant to any attempt to move the suspension of Standing Orders, I have no hesitation in doing so tonight, in particular since there is no point to be obtained by the public interests that such Standing Orders should be suspended to enable, as will happen in this instance, certainly the effect of taking out an amendment to be considered immediately.

Mr. Speaker, as I will explain in greater detail later, if Standing Orders are to be suspended by this honourable House today, I will move the second reading of a short Bill entitled the Appropriation (Supplementary) Bill, 1967 which will provide all moneys taken which are under the Appropriation Laws, but, because of an oversight, that has not been brought into force.

This suspension of Standing Orders, Mr. President, is, I would urge members of the House, for the public good so that an unfortunate situation may be avoided if such is possible. I would move and ask that all members agree to the suspension of Standing Orders so that if the amendments which I am going there is

MR. SPEAKER: The Minister of Mines and Petroleum Resources in connection with the publication of Standing Order 37, speaking Order 37 and 37 be suspended for the purpose of receiving all stages of the Petroleum Placers Protection Bill, 1974 in the House. How may Minister wish to speak?

ISSUANCE OF SUBSCRIPTION OF SECURITIES UNDER BILL 37

HON. G. MILLS (PEACE): Mr. Speaker, in the remarks of the Honourable Member dealing with the bill I would like to express the intention of these Standing Orders.

I do not agree with what Mr. Speaker in Friday that it should be presented to the House. However because of the grave nature of this bill and because of its very importance, we cannot allow this bill to be withdrawn through the House in one day.

The bill has not been presented. The bill was not read in the House to date. The bill has not been given to the public. The bill was not discussed in the Cabinet for which I am in duty to be not a requirement for bills. Nevertheless, important legal matters must be dealt with so that we can get some feedback and I am very glad that this bill is being put forward by this Member by . Government has decided to do away with what they called the withdrawing of bills through the House without public knowledge.

I am also pleased that suggestions by the Standing Orders be sought to deal with a piece of retroactive legislation, when the new Government was elected before the general that there would never be any retroactive legislation.

I will be dealing with the contents of the bill if the motion is successful in getting the Bill before the House. However, I am going to warn this in every way I must not be a party to any would pursue this case already been considered.

I intend to move the introduction of the bill as soon as I am assured the suspension of the Standing Orders, and would suggest that members in the Opposite of the public take the action really which is necessary to have this Bill published in the Gazette so that the public may see what is in it before we deal with it.

MR. SPEAKER: Does any other Member wish to speak? Does the mover of the motion wish to exercise his right of reply?

HON. MICHAEL J. SMITH: Mr. Speaker, I appreciate that the circumstances of dealing Orders is necessary for the public and for the whole Body of the Cabinet Cabinet. What is now happening by Mr. Speaker, is to suspend Standing Orders with a view to withdrawing all stages of the Petroleum Placers Protection Bill, this is the latter today. This is not a rush action in Cabinet. It is a rush to make sure that the public is aware that we intend to stop the effects of the Petroleum Placers Act which was passed in 1973, and the Petroleum Act passed in Standing Order Order passed in 1972, that is just which we are dealing with. Some of these Bills and the work and preparation which have been made for withdrawing of Bills people have worked upon for, that we know it is possible that there people be amazed that when we have to this date and the House might pause and think properly. We do not recommend legislation. We do withdrawing here before and want by the Speaker right of Standing Orders based on the assumption that the Act was to be withdrawn so we have the Act and have brought this procedure.

MR. MECHEM of [illegible]: Mr. President, I will explain the [illegible] when, if necessary after the disposition of routine business, I move the Senate recess at the close.

MR. MECHEM: The question is that Calendar Order No. 1 be suspended and noted by the unanimous consent agreement for the purpose of enabling consideration of the Mutualized Income Maintenance Bill, 1960 to be taken.

SECOND READING

CLERK: THE [illegible] BILL, 1960.

MR. MECHEM of [illegible]: Mr. President, I beg to move the second reading of a bill recently submitted the Mutualized Income Maintenance Bill, 1960.

Mr. President, for many years the [illegible] concerning the disposition of [illegible] has been the Senate for [illegible]. In 1958, a number of [illegible]

HON. MICHAEL J. MASSEY (CONTINUING): ...changes were made to local election legislation for the United Kingdom by the Representation of the People Act of 1969 and the Representation Orders Act of 1970. A new law establishing the Electoral Commission was introduced into the Legislature previously in May 1979.

This new law (or Act), which was known as Bill 100 and signed by the then Governor, was first drafted in the 1960's and passed by the Legislature, after a number of changes to the Law. Briefly, in discussions the underlying principle of a simple one man one vote should be an absolute guiding force, though in fact it may still be a ground for the inclusion of the names of persons who are ordinarily but temporarily absent. Secondly, we are told that the particular remedy of a decree of disqualification of elected members was abolished, and it was considered that it would no longer be possible for an aggrieved candidate to petition his opponent's election, he was for one member elected for his party's candidacy.

Thirdly, a penalty was put of ordinary £1,000 was no longer held as sufficient grounds for dismissal, and the rule by which candidates party could bring proceedings for dismissal until the campaign had elapsed for three months had been modified.

Fourthly, it abolished the Governor-in-Council because the cause for the purpose of financial qualifications and property requirements. In other words, the abolition of the decree also since it was provided that disqualification should not be grounds except all disabling matters had been removed by other orders. It provides that a decree of disqualification would not be granted unless the marriage appeared unlawfully in more broken down. In view of that the question of consequential of a married officer into the Magistrate.

It also provides for the abolition of party lists in which for a determination of nationality and will contain clarifications regarding the acquisition of foreign citizen descent.

Mr. President, that Law which unfortunately changed the basis of our Act of Parliament, which was an enlightened measure, passed through all its stages in mid 1979. However, clause 3 of this Law provides, and I quote:-

> "This Law may be cited as the Representation Orders Law, and shall come into operation on a day to be appointed by the Governor by notice in the Gazette after the requirements of Her Majesty's pleasure has been obtained."

This phrase which was used in the Government's wisdom was made necessary because under Royal Instructions of 1962, which are the responsibility of Power from Her Majesty the Queen to the Governor of the Cayman Islands, it is provided that in relation to any Bill for the Peace of Parliament, that such will not be assented to by the Governor unless it contains a clause suspending the operation until the Majesty's signification of her pleasure has been obtained. That clause was contained in clause 2 of the 1979 Law. It is a clause which was necessary so that Law became it is one of the matters which under Royal Instructions is required of sufficient importance to the peace of these Islands and to the Crown of these Islands, that Her Majesty's Government has Majesty will be informed before such Law goes into effect.

Mr. President, after this Law was passed in June, 1979, we then received the Deputy the Governor can notified by a Secretary of State that the Bases of Disqualification would not be examined in respect of this Law.

MR. MICHAEL J. SPRIGGS (HAMPDEN): I notice in my constituency newspaper, the Clutha Leader, of 6th February, 1977, on Monday, 14th February, which is tomorrow week, at Balclutha, there is a meeting to be held at 8 o'clock in the Balclutha Town Hall, and the explanation which was the explanation regarding the Retrospective Clause has also stated that it had been requested by the Secretary for Justice on the 9th February, 1977. That explanation appeared on the front page two columns, and I quote:-

"Date of Operation 14 February, 1977".

However, there was not mentioned in that Gazette Notice whether the Governor approved such date as the date on which the Act came into operation. It is merely given through to the public in the form of the Act that it came into operation on that date, if in fact that was not so.

Does the Attorney-General, because of these circumstances, intend to do such as to ask the Governor from that date to have published in the Gazette. Those matters do not appear in the Gazette Notice whatsoever, Sir.

Since the fact, the Retrospective Clause has been brought into effect, both of the provisions is that the Act applies. Some of that legislation is unclear. However, I would say it is unfortunate that the fact is apparent, the Penal Code of the Cayman Islands was since 14th February, been interpreting to exclude the Philippines and powers under that Act. It has the power to do so, until legislation again, including decision of Director and Military made unfortunately under that Act, have no legal effect.

In order to regularise the position and to give the force of law to the actions of the Penal Code since that date, it is necessary that a retrospective Act should be passed by this Legislature Assembly. That Bill which is entitled the Provisional Clause Validation Bill, has to my mind the support of this Honourable House. That Bill, Mr. Speaker, is a short one Clause Bill, and after the short title, the second clause states:-

"Anything which has been done between the 14th day of February, 1977 and the 2nd day of December, 1977 in pursuance of any power conferred by the Provisional Clause Act which would have been lawfully done if that Act had come into operation on the 14th day of February, 1977, shall for all purposes whatsoever be deemed to have been lawfully done and shall have effect as is deemed to have had effect accordingly."

The short Bill has been prepared and has the blessing of the Honourable Chief Minister. The Bill seeks to do nothing more than legislate to give effect to what every person in this Assembly understood to be the position, namely that the 1972 Provisional Clause has come into force.

Consequently with the recommendation of this Bill before this Legislative Assembly, there has to be certain necessary Orders today, been published a notice which appeared today, the 2nd day of December as the date upon which the Act became into operation. The Bill which I commend to members of this Honourable House seeks to cover the period between the time to the Honourable Speaker with recommendation and the time to which it actually be brought into operation.

MR. WILLIAMS of PRESTON (Conservative): Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the motion, Mr. President, in the fervent hope that effective and immediate steps be taken to remedy the not only that, Mr. Speaker, as the MP for Preston that this will provide, if this Association takes no action, some relief to that people in our community will know that there is someone who they thought to care; and that House will be in recognition, we understand the disturbing when people are cause that the Government in power would like to be thought here.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, as a MP, I would hope would have the unfortunate misfortune of the Minister of this House. It seems to me a disagreement between you and unresolved for many years.

Mr. President, I commend the Bill to the favourable consideration of this Assembly.

HON. SPEAKER: The motion is that a Bill entitled The Assignment Orders (Maintenance) Bill, 1973 be given a Second Reading. The motion is open for debate. The Second Elected Member for George Town Central has the floor.

Debate on Second Reading

HON. TIBERIUS A. STEVENS: Mr. Speaker, I think that I have not spoken before since I have been in the House this year, and I will confine the Government Bench by supporting this Bill. However, this supports to the idea contribution that the present Government would like the Bill have on record.

Generally, I am also appreciative of the difficulty which is being faced by the people in the Islands in these two areas in most cases of late.

Mr. President, I do not see the purpose of this Bill. While I too am inclined to sympathetic explanation, as I will be discussing these points. I can see that this explanation of this Law cannot be achieved. Section 6 of the Bill for a fine to maintain some from under the Matrimonial Causes Law Cap. 9 of 1970. Under this any matter which has been known that this day of February, 1973 be so fair.

Mr. President, in the given matter which we have before us, and I understand that this was being published today, we are where this Bill comes.

Section No. 3 of the Gazette which carried the Law did not contain in this Gazette any notice whereby the Governor appointed a date. This is to have a great confusion. I believe that since the Gazette was not read this is to be interesting to. Particularly that since Part VI Section of the Ordinance that was also known.

The only observation which I may Mr. President, in this Assembly, is that perhaps the Attorney-Generals Office Senior should have taken a little more time to do a proper compilation of this amending Law. Such errors I can appreciate that the amendment made in 1972 took me a long way, it is still my feeling that much more could be done to improve the Law. I am sure not only be done in the interests of Government but to make it good for the people who will make the Ordinance.

I am happy that the Constitutional Review Committee will, that I serve, that the Legal Department will take the opportunity to consider this Law again in the near future, with the view to producing a more workable and flexible Law. You may have taken the full interest of the Law in this session.

Mr. Speaker, I support this motion.

HON. [illegible]: Thank you, Sir.

MR. SPEAKER: The Deputy Director for Eastern Times.

MR. C. RATTRAY: Mr. Speaker, I rise to intervene in the debate of this Government which regard to this Law. I shall speak what ought to be taken to prevent abstainers to occur. What I am impatient to hear I will also hope, should matter being we just begin.

The Bill before the House seeks to validate certain of the acts which were done in good faith. However, the members of this House today cannot do such unless, in fact we can validate the actions of the courts done under the Law, the Law must be in operation. In the first instance it is advisable for the Government that the Law has not yet been into operation. One sentence reads as I quote:-

> "As a matter, even though it is subject to the fact of the Law that it came into operation on that date it is just not yet so,"

In another paragraph it reads, and I quote:-

> "Since the Multinational Courts Law has not in fact not been brought into existence I am precluded of the opinion."

So, it is clear that the Law is not in operation and no certain actions of a Law which are not in accordance, without the Law into operation.

Now, I heard about a memorandum which will be published today to put into Law into operation and the notice which I have a copy of almost put this Law into operation today now only other time, because of one Lord at the time the Bill mentions, and will see that the two ways that it will come into operation on a day to be appointed by the Government. The notice which is put out is saying that Secretary-General of Community is putting the Law into operation. If one considers the interpretation of the Law, that will see that the word "Government" is not defined. In most of our Laws, the word "Government" is defined as meaning the Government-in-Council. However, in this particular Law, the word "Government" is not defined as Government in Council. So, the word "Government" here means the Government in the ordinary sense. This principle upon why I mention already in the Bill before them is that the Secretary-General, which I understand has now duly carried out this Law into operation, because the Minister should that Secretary-General appreciate the fact of Kenya, that on the day on which them was shall come into operation, and the Government has no authority of all these this Law. It is simply the Secretary, which I feel, have only for give that when the word "Government" appears without a definition to mean Government-in-Council, as mean Secretary-General, and this will mean Government-in-Council. So, how can Government-in-Council put into a motion to bring this Law into operation, when the Government-in-Council has no authority under the Law?

So, here again, we have a very ambiguous - mean that Minister think that we should amend the Law, the original Bill to change the word "Government" to Government-in-Council, or add it in the interpretation so that how we they Government-in-Council can take the action of view to help, or the administration will have to be carried this matter that was immediately as it were void, at that things that we just might.

MR. G. MAYO ADAMS (COURTENAY): I, too, welcome the Bill, even though I am not quite sure that even the legislation on the original basis can properly be considered by the Executive Council. They seem to have been made by a hand-picked team for the month, and are called the Provisional Council Rules of Procedure, made by the Local Government Act by the Governor-in-Council. So, already we see the situation that the actions are matters of the Governor and the Council, and not necessarily matters for the Executive Council. So, while it is a perfect right and one often legally allowed, it is not necessarily welcome

MR. SPEAKER: [illegible]

MR. DUNCAN G. PAIRMAN: [illegible]

Mr. Speaker said that he was surprised that when we were debating this legislation [illegible] Government Business Law (Cap. 2 of 1978).

[illegible] the Bill because the present Government was the last Government. The speaker drew to my attention to the fact that under Section 4(2) of the Interpretation, Revocation and General Provisions Law (1978 Revision), the power to revoke, amend or vary orders, rules, regulations, proclamations, notices, directions, schemes, plans, agreements, bylaws, licences, permissions, authorisations, delegations, appointments, designations, recognitions, registrations, certificates, securities, consents, permits, instruments, conditions, forms, fees or charges made or issued under any Law or other instrument made under any Law may be exercised in like manner and subject to the like consent, conditions (if any) and procedure as are prescribed in the Law in relation to the making of the original instrument.

I am concerned, Mr. President, that Members could have the publication that although a Bill of this nature can also [illegible] Members of this newly elected House thought that they were getting a Bill which would be implemented immediately [illegible] Government's policies on [illegible] Law. Mr. President, I should also like to [illegible] I am also surprised at the suggestion of the Minister of Health, Housing and Social Development that when we were debating this Bill that we should also be debating the Government Business Law (Cap. 2 of 1978).

One Member said that he was surprised that the Minister for Health, Housing and Social Development would call the vote on the Bill, and suggested that when we were debating this Bill the House should also be debating the Government Business Law (Cap. 2 of 1978). I wished the Speaker would note that the Government is in a dilemma and that is even acknowledged with it. Mr. President, this dilemma was caused by the 1972 to 1976 Government, not the present Government or the last Government. The reason given by that Minister was to [illegible] bring this Bill. That is that under Royal Instruction, 1975, which the Constitution gives to Her Majesty to [illegible] Colony, [illegible] the absence of [illegible] the Governor [illegible] I would humbly [illegible] that is that Her Majesty's representative in the Law must be considered. [illegible] July 1976 and placed in the Law which the Law was passed in 1978. It was in February, 1977 when the Constitution which was [illegible] took place. That was when the [illegible] Government's [illegible] Law [illegible] the Law as [illegible].

I am concerned, Mr. President, that Members could have the publication that although a Bill of this nature can also [illegible] Members of this newly elected House thought that they were getting a Bill which would be implemented immediately [illegible] Government's policies on [illegible] Law. Mr. President, I should also like to [illegible] I am also surprised at the suggestion of the Minister of Health, Housing and Social Development that when we were debating this Bill that we should also be debating the Government Business Law (Cap. 2 of 1978).

I am particularly disappointed at the [illegible] legislation and the suggestion of Standing Orders be [illegible] through this House. However, Mr. President, this is still [illegible] may benefit the community as [illegible] be changed, [illegible] Government to do what is supposed to do, and that is to [illegible] this Bill through [illegible] of the House [illegible] I do not believe that we should be [illegible] the public interest. [illegible] the passage of this Bill is [illegible] which was done between the 20th day of February, 1977 and today, that is anything which was done or authorised to have been done under the Interpretation, Revocation and General Provisions Law (Cap. 2 of 1978).

I do not believe, Mr. President, that it would be [illegible] for Members to understand why it is [illegible] Minister or Members of this House to be [illegible] that it does appear to be a [illegible] Secondly, Mr. President, [illegible] which would have worked and carried [illegible] of the Minister, I believe that as a [illegible] of Government, it is my duty to [illegible] the [illegible] of people who have been [illegible] Bill.

MRS. ROSEMARY D. STACHEL (CONSTABLE): Mr. President, I wish to move to dismiss these cases, not due to their possible lack of merit or consideration of the 1979 Amendments. With reference, if we can be given an assessment, maybe someone can comment on the application of the 1979 Amendment.

MR. JAMES M. BOLLES: On a point of order, Mr. President,

MR. PRESIDING: If you have a point of order, yes. Does your call me under what standing order?

MR. JAMES M. BOLLES: Standing Order 21(a).

MR. PRESIDING: Standing Order 21(a). Sure, if you would direct my attention to the point, then.

MR. JAMES M. BOLLES: Mr. President, I was actually glad the Member spoke [illegible] on the floor of this Order Book Assessment the first time, and did not interrupt. The second time I could not do so. I have [illegible] on the personal property. The Law does provide exemptions of which this Member speaking was an integral part.

MR. PRESIDING: I really do not think that this is a point of order. You have a chance to come and now make your point during the speech.

MR. JAMES M. BOLLES: Yes, Sir, but it is an important part of it, Sir. I'm explaining to you why I am objecting.

MR. PRESIDING: You are explaining it to me not a point of order. The Member to my left and right is anything which he has a say.

MR. JAMES M. BOLLES: To the end of order because it is an inaccurate statement.

MR. STEPHEN A. PERRONE: On a point of order, Mr. President. It would seem, Sir, that if the Member is substantially misleading the public and the Member wishes to inform or correct misleading information, then it is a correct point of order.

MR. PRESIDING: I think that it has been made plain already that the Law was originally passed in 1979 under the Amendment. However, the Statute was split in February, 1979 under another Amendment.

MR. JAMES M. BOLLES: Mr. President, this is inaccurate also, because in this Order, particularly since the Amendment to Section [illegible], it quite clear that the responsibility for a county [illegible] passed by this Order, is on [illegible] responsibility of the Elected Member of this Board. It is the responsibility of personal and [illegible] personal. Some of this [illegible] which were sent to Personal Property to be published on [illegible] as the [illegible] published. I received [illegible] which you read I am fully aware of this. This Law has printed [illegible] the Assessment Act [illegible]. It is on every page of it. So, this [illegible] the [illegible] of the Duly Elected Assessment and I will not accept it as [illegible] and keep my mouth shut.

MR. JAMES M. BYRNE (CONTINUED): I will also bring to your attention as I stand here that this responsibility primarily of the Attorney-General, and the Attorney-General was also responsible for what happened to me Mr. Speaker who was the learned Leader of the Government of which the Member was a part of. If he had any knowledge to his duties charged of proper policies ...

MR. SPEAKER: Mr. Premier, you rose on a point of order. I would like the Member now on a point of order. Now I am not prepared to give way to the Member to make a speech.

MR. JAMES M. BYRNE: I am not making a speech, Mr. Speaker, what he seems to be that I will keep this from being unconstitutional by his interpretation. I am not convinced there that. I am relying on a point of order that the Speaker to misleading the public of Canada that I for one will not stand idly by and let that happen, because that....

MR. SPEAKER: Hon. Minister, you have made your point. I will now rule on it. As I repeatedly have that at which the necessary notice should have published in the Gazette was February 1979, that is the time after a formal election of the time that the Government in power was not the Government which had been in power at the time the writs issued. The responsibility is by the executive that is for the Attorney-General and the Province, not for Canada as a whole or any majority of majority from Lewisporte.... (INAUDIBLE).... So, I will finish - brought into force and effective I think that that is a fair matter to make.

MR. JAMES M. BYRNE: Mr. Speaker, I am very thankful to your clarification that there is the responsibility of not only the Attorney-General the Province, the Executive Council.

MR. SPEAKER: order to repeat the point. The mistake was made in February, 1979. I think that is why the circumstances of the officials concerned, the Minister and...

MR. JAMES M. BYRNE: What is quite relevant. I am willing to accept that, but not to accept what the Member said that it was the responsibility of the Holy Name Government, because it certainly was not. It was Newfoundland under the Executive administration.

MR. SPEAKER: I think that if the Member had been present, he would have noted one of the outstanding qualities making it a speech parliamentarians should and should not have. Now, just stop it, please and keep. Now. That is not for us to say. However, I do think that it is unfortunate that this debate should be dealing into an argument about House politics. I do not think that it was the Honourable First Elected Member of Bonavista-Trinity-Conception, Hon. Member of the House.

MR. JAMES M. BYRNE: Mr. Speaker, again, I rise objection to what you said that if I had been present. I have been here in the Chamber all morning, since we opened. I think I was one of the first Members to arrive in the Chamber.

MR. SPEAKER: However, you were not for a quarter of an hour, lucky minutes earlier.

MR. JAMES M. BUCKLEY: I was in the Committee [illegible] and, but nobody [illegible] that we just couldn't have [illegible] there.

MR. PRESIDENT: I beg your pardon. I did not know that you wanted.

MRS. [illegible] D. [illegible]: Mr. President, if the Secretary has finished with his [illegible] I would like to point out to the Assembly, in view of the remarks which I made [illegible] that the Government is to be [illegible].

MR. PRESIDENT: Well....

MRS. [illegible] D. [illegible]: What was in existence as a result [illegible].

MR. JAMES M. BUCKLEY: Again....

MR. PRESIDENT: Order, order. Would you, Mr. [illegible], please [illegible] remarks are [illegible] on this point at present [illegible] and [illegible] that point. Would you please [illegible].

MR. JAMES M. BUCKLEY: Mr. President, please....

MR. PRESIDENT: No, I am [illegible], please [illegible]. If you have a point of order you can [illegible] Rule [illegible]. Secretary, [illegible] the amendment [illegible] 2.10 p.m.

AT 12.50 P.M. THE MEETING ADJOURNED

RESUMED AT 2.10 P.M.

MR. PRESIDENT: Please be seated.

Before we proceed with the debate, I would just like to make one point concerning a point that I may unwittingly have introduced the Rules into this morning when giving a ruling. I said that it would be in order additionally to the proposed ability of the Secretary-General to take action to [illegible] that any fact should have resulted by this Regional Treaty, was also [illegible] a provision which said that it was to be brought into effect by a majority published in the Assembly [illegible] that all which it was to take effect, was only that effect. I made that mistake [illegible] Secretary-General would be responsible for [illegible] Rules, as it is a little bit more complicated than that.

It would appear on the [illegible] that, for example, in case a case which was [illegible] Khalkuna the Mandate from Administration [illegible] of the [illegible] Mandate to facilitate the action because it would be [illegible] the date we should be brought into effect.

MR. PRESIDING OFFICER: We would probably profitably vote the recommendation be brought back to-night. What I am not sure of is the part of the law which we have been discussing, because the law which we have been discussing, the Environment Control Law of 1972, was the responsibility of the then Attorney-General. So, it would have been the Governor and the Attorney-General because then who should make looks the motion.

However, I did not want Members to be left with the impression which I think I gave wrongly earlier that it would always be from the Governor and the Attorney General. It could depend what particular Members are responsible for the Bill in question.

The Honourable First Elected Member of Executive Council now Managing. However, I am not sure whether the First Elected Member for Sudden Lane had another point of order.

MR. JAMES M. SAUNDERS: Yes, Sir, I have a point of order. The Member said I do not know if I can quote him exactly but in his speech he gave the impression that I was not in the Chamber and that I was not paying the attention. I was in the Chamber as I am sure the Member recalls, because I rose at once the same time that he did. However, knowing that my colleagues had unanimously spoken and wanting to hear what the response would be from a position, I sat down in deference to him. Now this is why I remained the Member....

MR. SPEAKER: I think that this is getting beyond a point of order. A point of order has now been made. I did not hear him say that. I thought that I myself said it and have, as I always, complete confidence. However, if the Member did say it, then it is noted that he may have been mistaken.

HON. LEWIS D. EVANS: Mr. Speaker, I did say that the Member was not in the Chamber and I was correct. It was in the circumstance of the Chamber that he was not in the Chamber. It was in the Committee room as he admitted himself.

MR. SPEAKER: Some of the time he was in the Chamber and some of the time he was in the committee.

MR. JAMES M. SAUNDERS: Mr. Speaker, on the point which he has just mentioned, I was in the Chamber and I rose to my feet to speak. He rose to his feet. I sat down and let him proceed.

HON. LEWIS D. EVANS: I am not blind. What do you I think that the Member left the House in the Chamber.

Mr. Speaker, at the time of interruption I was saying the point that my colleagues as elected Members of Government was proffered by the members, and understood to become sure by the Members when they are elected, that if any elected Government was in the House for what happened. It could not be the 1972 to 1976 Government. It would have to be a 1976 Government, and I submit to them, Sir, having made the qualification if any elected Government is to be bound.

The Law which is now passed in 1977 was properly drafted, properly passed, and the unfortunate incident which we are having to pursue today, occasioned by the time there has been a change of Government.

[illegible] SPEAKER [illegible]: [illegible] I will [illegible] speak that bill, which [illegible] I am [illegible] I will accept [illegible]. [illegible] special [illegible] brought [illegible]. That [illegible] understood. That is, no [illegible] from [illegible] [illegible] of the last [illegible], it has been [illegible] the law is therefore [illegible] in effect.

I should [illegible], Mr. President, that this bill [illegible] have been passed without debate. It was not my intention to speak on the subject. However, there is one point on which I might as well answer [illegible]. Since [illegible] I will not [illegible] be able to be present [illegible], if I am [illegible] in the [illegible], what happened on [illegible] when [illegible] the question I will [illegible] to take [illegible] expressions [illegible] the minds of the [illegible]. I am [illegible] to object, [illegible] personally [illegible] which I have [illegible] a year ago, however, I have never done anything to the [illegible] of [illegible] the help of [illegible] I am not going to do it on the [illegible].

This bill, as I understand, has my [illegible]. There are many [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. As a result, I believe that Government [illegible] [illegible], for [illegible], [illegible] [illegible] will [illegible] have effect [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

There [illegible] [illegible] more I can add, Mr. President, to what I have said and I believe that [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible]. Therefore, I am [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible]. I am just going to ask [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] which [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

Thank you.

MR. MCCARTHY: The [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

MR. JAMES E. CARTER: Mr. President, I wish to [illegible] of [illegible], I would like to bring to the attention of Members the [illegible] [illegible] regarding the [illegible] [illegible]. It says [illegible]:

> "[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

HON. GEORGE H. GRANT (CONSTITUENCY): ...this present Government is only trying to rectify a situation which was brought about through circumstances not taken care of when it ought to have been. At this time, I would like to place my full support to the passing of this motion, if presented today.

MR. SPEAKER: The Honourable Chief Minister and Minister of Development Council.

HON. CAPT. CHARLES F. KIRKCONNELL: Mr. Speaker, I rise to support of this very short motion before the House. It is a most capable bill and a very delicate one. I am not inclined that either the 1974 or 1976 administration is responsible for the unfortunate arrest of criminals or criminals committed between 1970 and 1974. Until you find out, Sir, I take pleasure of the opinion that once a bill left the House, it was then in the hands of the Legal Department and it was entirely the responsibility of members of this House or of the Executive Council. I assure Members that it was the responsibility of the Legal Department to follow through on whatever was necessary to make the bill into a law.

Having said that, Sir, I think that we are only spending valuable time trying to blame each other. If we don't believe in retroactive legislation or the enactment of Ex Post Facto law for the purpose of maintaining a bill through this House, however, this is an exceptional circumstance which requires immediate action on our part. We must not fail to act responsibly to correct this very unfortunate error. It is not only in the interests of some unfortunate people, but although my Party of these views do not consider passing of this motion to be most appropriate Constitutionally, but it is vital in the interests of the country.

I would like to ask the Members to just participate and not necessarily.

Thank you.

MR. SPEAKER: The Elected Member for Pecken Town.

MR. JAMES H. SCOTT: Mr. Speaker, I would like to make my point to all Members of the House that I do not rise to speak on this Bill from the point of view of opposition, because I realize fully the implications of this Bill. In the first analysis I am prepared to support the Bill. What is not the point on which I rise to speak. I rise to speak particularly the points which have been made on this Chamber by the hon. Member who has now in Executive Council, on the first few years of the Party from administration. These are the points which I am going to belabour.

This Law should be supported, as the Bill of this Law was being properly prepared owner to blame on the Party from Government. It was not intentionally our responsibility. This Law was passed on the 26th June, 1970 and it came to operate July. The hon Attorney-General who now responsible for piloting this Bill through the House in the years 1972 to 1974 happened to be Member by the Party from administration from 1970. The responsibility for this Law was entirely the responsibility of the Government and the Attorney-General. If the then Attorney-General had not been a busy playing politics, he would have paid full attention to his duties.

Something and the legislation of Law body, very unlike those in countries around. I personally Member of Executive Council for eight years, and as such I would only have been to object the measures that is to Executive Council were withdrawn by the Government which were being taken to appeal to the appointed day as I am.

Mr. [illegible]: [illegible] one of the main points which I wish to answer. That is that once a law is passed by this Assembly it is then the responsibility of the Executive Government, which has been delegated through its Agency by the Attorney-General of this country. It was a law which [illegible] and therefore the responsibility is completely passed to us and then the Government. It was not the responsibility of any Member of the 1967 to 1969 Liberal Government.

If this [illegible] had been a law which was piloted through by an Elected Member of Executive Council, and [illegible] the responsibility of that Elected Member would have been placed if he had not provided the Attorney-General to say that those matters were given. Finally, I would conclude, Mr. Speaker, by just to point out that one of the Elected Members of Executive Council [illegible] the Attorney General to look into matters which [illegible] the result of his prosecution. That is virtually the responsibility of the Attorney-General. I appreciate with the people who are affected by this case. I even appreciate with my colleague who [illegible] Elected Member of Executive Council spoke about. He said that he would not want him to be a political [illegible] to be put in the Chamber now. I still respect my colleague and a point here although with the former speaking would have been a big enough mind not to make [illegible] prosecutions [illegible] this all. I think that it was a big.....

Mr. [illegible]: A point of order, Mr. Speaker. I did not bring my [illegible] on here. I spoke on the phone.

Mr. [illegible]: Mr. Speaker, I think that you have stated in the House that a Member giving up a point of order loses the point of order. Can you say that point of order is [illegible] or not?

Mr. Speaker: In point of fact, I am not sure that that is a point of order. However, let me hear before I would say that.

Mr. [illegible]: Well, I hope that excuse mine be still [illegible] a point of order.

I would say, Mr. Speaker, that [illegible] there was no doubt in the mind of the people who [illegible] in the minds of the people who may be [illegible] enough to hear this discussion is to say the matter was [illegible] Member, that particular person who is [illegible] a bigger mind than he still [illegible] be [illegible] to have.

I fully [illegible] Mr. Speaker, and I am quite [illegible] and under [illegible] I did not even accept a copy of the [illegible] and I am [illegible] I did [illegible] to speak of this to anyone. I would like to [illegible] that I did not want a [illegible] that I would have to keep this secret.

Mr. Speaker, I am quite [illegible] the actions and the words which have been spoken [illegible] by the Honourable Elected Member of Executive Council and [illegible] of his willingness to [illegible] of this, [illegible] Legislature and [illegible] Sir Kenneth Jackson. [illegible] to Zaire Government of the [illegible] and sought [illegible] to this on many occasions when he was [illegible] to make quick [illegible] in the public through [illegible].

MR. PHILIP M. ENGLISH (CONSTITUENCY). It does not seem necessary that we put in the whole legislative machinery which we have had to put in the Irish Free State Constitution Act, 1922, I think that I can assist here the speed of that machinery by my name on the Paper which has only some of the amendments which are necessary to make the Bill work. I am sorry that the Government have not seen their way to put down amendments to the Bill themselves. I quite realise that there are many things which it would cause delay to put down now. Nevertheless, we should have had some of the more important amendments down on the Paper. I do not propose to move them myself, but I am hoping that the Government will do so. However, I would like to mention that the necessary legislation will be passed by this House and by the Senate before the Irish Free State is established. There are many other important things in this country which need to be attended to. I am hopeful that this responsible Government of which he speaks, when it comes into be will have the responsibility to see that we have satisfactory good Government.

One Member has to have said and said that there should have been no unseated seats. Mr. President, even though I may disagree with what is said by a Member in this House I am of the first opinion that there can be unrestricted no control over the House. That is why I have previously said that I am against the Standing Orders which forbid debate in this House for four hours. Any Member who has been elected by the people and has had the confidence of the people to stand through thick and thin with them, they have their time to speak. No Member should neglect to attend here. He may not agree but they have the right to disagree.

Some Members also speak about unseated Members. Mr. President, I am not afraid of bringing that case or any case, because when I got up to speak I have always been there to do it and can still speak my mind in spite of hell. I will continue to do it, and I take great difficulty to any Member who would make those suggestions. Is it because that particular Member did not have the ability to speak out his convictions?

MR. JAMES M. COOPER (CONTINUING): ...the Member from Kentucky [Mr. Natcher] stated that people should be in the Capitol for them. That is quite correct and this is one of the reasons that in the old Capitol and also for this Capitol, because I do not have to travel any considerable distance to get to my office. I would suggest this seriously as a possibility, especially one who has come from this comparatively small area. I hope that they will remain Democrats [Mr. Cooper's district is known for its strong Democratic tradition] but you never know in the event of losing that we learn.

MR. SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Iowa, Mr. [illegible].

MR. H. ROBERTS [illegible]: Mr. President, this is a very serious threat of Federal intervention and one which needs no fighting in this House. It is a bill which I have to support. Because that Act, Pendergast has no business in the Senate [illegible] in November last and so I have to say there is not a fight between this Government and the opposition, as stated I say the Government which was elected in November, 1964 and the opposition. However, it is a disagreement between those who voted in the 1970 [illegible] and the Democrats of 1970 to 1974. I assume a reason during these years should make [illegible] very serious mistakes. As I see it, the problem, if a Member of Congress [illegible] in one of [illegible] in his colleague's [illegible], it is not only to [illegible] how about it and to make certain they receive [illegible] such as the one which the bill is hoping to validate today are corrected.

I [illegible] the Constitution, an [illegible] Federal legislation. However, Mr. President, even the Holy Bible seems to be when the Government on this [illegible]. The bible says:

> "When a man hath taken a wife and married her, and it come to pass that she find no favour in his eyes because he hath found some uncleanness in her, then let him write her a bill of divorcement and give it in her hand and send her out of his house. When she is departed out of his house she may go and be another man's wife."

Mr. President, there are a lot of [illegible] which I could quote this afternoon, but I have a [illegible] I want to discuss. This [illegible] of legislation has to be brought here to [illegible]. What is this law will result? Let us quickly look at the facts. The Court has [illegible] of the 1965 but it did not [illegible] the legal [illegible]. A few [illegible] were elected in November, 1970 and [illegible] Democrat [illegible] might have [illegible]. They do not represent the [illegible]. Of course...

MR. JAMES M. COOPER: I [illegible] of asking the [illegible]...

MR. H. ROBERTS [cont.]: What is the Democratic [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible]?

MR. JAMES M. COOPER: I point of [illegible]...

MR. H. ROBERTS [cont.]: [illegible]...

MR. SPEAKER: Gentleman will state.

MR. H. ROBERTS [cont.]: Point of [illegible]?

MR. [illegible] M. [illegible]: Mr. President, I would [illegible] that it has been misquoted by gentlemen, I think that [illegible] and if, that I think that [illegible] and I think it was possible. If you [illegible] of this Assembly [illegible] by [illegible] of this Assembly.

MR. PRESIDENT: Yes, I think [illegible] quite [illegible].

MR. JAMES M. [illegible]: Well, [illegible] I would like to [illegible].

MR. M. [illegible]: Mr. President, I do not [illegible] it is. They have [illegible] and I [illegible]. I am making the point here today that any Member of Association Council who [illegible] a violation of a [illegible], or a [illegible] of the Principles of this Association should say and [illegible], especially [illegible] as [illegible]. I am saying that with [illegible] because [illegible] to make [illegible] with it. [illegible].

MR. JAMES M. [illegible]: We have got [illegible].

MR. M. [illegible]: Well, the Member should say it [illegible].

MR. PRESIDENT: Order, order.

MR. M. [illegible]: Mr. President, [illegible] the one which [illegible] in 1976 and ended four years, can be [illegible]. That is my opinion.

MR. JAMES M. [illegible]: Mr. President, may I [illegible]...

MR. M. [illegible]: That is my opinion, Mr. President. Let the Member [illegible].

MR. JAMES M. [illegible]: A point of order, Mr. President. This [illegible]...

MR. M. [illegible]: What is the point of order, Mr. President...

MR. PRESIDENT: Please [illegible]. All the Member said was that the [illegible] to be held responsible for the [illegible]. He did not say that they are to be held responsible for [illegible] ... [illegible] of this effect. I think that the [illegible] responsible from the [illegible]. If we [illegible] that they are responsible for [illegible] of these offices I will [illegible].

MR. M. [illegible]: Mr. President, they failed [illegible] to [illegible] up the minutes during [illegible] years. The fact is, Sir, that [illegible], that is the [illegible], [illegible] of this House to [illegible]. That is what [illegible], that [illegible] is [illegible] from [illegible]. [illegible] is [illegible] for [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] from the [illegible] of this [illegible], so I [illegible]. The Members [illegible] up here and make a [illegible], keeping them [illegible] [illegible].

MR. [illegible] said constitutionally it be the duty [illegible] that the people's representatives [illegible] country [illegible] Government [illegible] to be the duty [illegible].

MR. SPEAKER: Hebrew. Is it correct?

MR. M. MAHMUD ALI: Well, I do not [illegible] Speaker [illegible] the moment. Personally, Sir, this review of legislation [illegible] effect me. On Friday last I intervened [illegible] Bill, however, we had before [illegible] Bill being [illegible] people, [illegible] people might be guilty of [illegible] section 124 of the Penal Code, which [illegible] punishment [illegible]. I will give [illegible] Mr. President. I do not mind seeing [illegible] should have been there a long [illegible] mistake which has been [illegible] Sir, [illegible]. So we need [illegible] he will [illegible] Government [illegible] [illegible] worked up over [illegible].

I feel, Sir, [illegible] [illegible] Sir, [illegible] [illegible] Members are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SEN. HARRY B. HARPOOTLIAN (CONTINUING): So let us put our hands and our heads together for the betterment of the Organic Law and let us get on.

With those few words, Mr. President, I oppose the bill.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Senator from Horry is recognized to speak a third time to move to reconsider his motion of reply if he chooses.

MR. MICHAEL F. ROGERS: Thank you, Mr. President. I have listened to the hours which have passed since I proposed the second reading of this bill, and I think, Mr. President, that we have not really grappled on this floor as we should with one of the issues we have before us. I would point out to the Senate that we have a provision in our Constitution, Section 7, Article III, which provides that this bill is required to be read on three separate days unless two-thirds of the Senate dispenses with the rule. I think, Mr. President, that the people who this bill is supposed to aid, the people affected by the bill, deserve consideration on the part of those people. Section 7 provides a period of time whereby that consideration can and should be accorded, which would produce wisdom, wisdom born, wisdom appreciated for aggrieved persons to take advantage of the dispute in the Law. And it is my hope and it is my intention that we should go through with the steps of this bill today.

I do not come to delay the progress of it through this House but I think there is very essentially certain in the private sector, that I should provide clarity a couple of points which were made by Members in the course of the second reading debate.

The first is that I was misunderstood by Members of this Legislative Assembly a short while ago regarding the Environmental Quality Control Act that this House voted like packed crowded by section 7 of the Act. I should explain the House action that the Environmental Quality Control Board published today, and that certainly, because everyone is entitled to, that this House did affect just today. That action provides that it be brought into effect by the Environmental Quality Control Board, because while the Administrative Law Division 70, Article 6 Environmental Quality Control Act, 1972, that Administration was not created by necessity by the provisions of the 1972 Constitution which read in section 7(1):-

> "The Governor shall, subject to the following provisions of this section, consult with the Executive Council in the formulation of policy and in the exercise of his powers conferred upon him by this Constitution or by any other law for the time being in force in the Colonies, except in the exercise of -
> (a) [illegible] any power which by the Constitution or by any other law is to be exercised on discretion, either expressly or by necessary implication, to be exercised without consulting the Council;

As legal opinion is this House, Sir, as well as my knowledge, I would advise this House that the wording of the notice bringing this Act into force and effect today is proper and is made in the proper form. I hope that the Members of this House and persons on the outside will not have any doubts as to the validity of that notice.

MR. MICHAEL F. MYERS: May I add also that a bill should not be in operation for it to be published, because the essence of publishing parts of it is to publicize the proposal and to invite comment.

The second point I would make, Sir, is that as Attorney-General of this State I have got a responsibility and a vital function. In my personal capacity, under the law and the present place to be by where I am. I am to my discretion I determine and direct when prosecutions should be undertaken, either over or discontinued. I have power to undertake prosecutions. I have power to [illegible] which either

In my official capacity, Sir, I am government's chief legal adviser and Government is in the necessity of a client of which I am the attorney. In that capacity, I need instructions from Government and I will be unable with those instructions to draft[illegible] legislation, in order to [illegible] in all which matters involving prosecutions, agreements and so on. In 2079 and 1027 it so happened that the person with responsibility for the original content of the Bill[illegible] was also the then Attorney-General. He was accountable for that, not in his capacity as Attorney-General necessarily, but because he had responsible responsibility for it. That being said, I am not going to [illegible] the matter before and in the interest of the Government of the day we have made sure that it was brought into effect.

I do not know the history of that part, but I only hope that if so while [illegible] that it will be available for me to the [illegible] role of Attorney-General to accept responsibility for the Bills on back of Books in the past, so that it does not be used as a [illegible] Government that Members of this House, on [illegible].

Mr. President, this is a short Bill. It is a Bill which was brought before the House at the behest of Government. The second point is [illegible] one the people who would benefit were [illegible] would [illegible] of the [illegible] of their [illegible] in the Bill as [illegible] of a number of [illegible] the [illegible] of this Bill and the passing of the Legislation intended to remedy it.

[illegible] are no questions that it seeks to [illegible], that it seeks to [illegible] which it would be [illegible]. I would be [illegible] that [illegible] of [illegible] Government [illegible] Members of this Assembly the [illegible] which should be [illegible] I said in moving the [illegible] Sir, are the interests of this House and not the [illegible]. The reason that they are there for [illegible] [illegible] will be the [illegible] Government.

Mr. President, for the sake of any person who has come in as a party to any proceedings in the Grand Court under this Law to [illegible] [illegible] to be [illegible] for the sake of [illegible] I do hope [illegible] have a [illegible] those family and social ties for the sake of children who have been born there since [illegible] legislature [illegible] for the need of the children and the [illegible] of women who have died when this Law would [illegible] for the sake of the people of this Cayman Islands as a whole, Mr. President, for this reason I support of this Bill and do [illegible] would that once we discover a defect in [illegible] as quickly as we can to remedy it [illegible] the good government and the stability of this country, and for the sake of its [illegible] people, I commend this Bill to Members of this House.

Thank you.

ALDEN: WILL ENTER A DOUBLE NEGATIVE.

MR. PRESIDENT: I think possibly we could be wisely wise to take the customary afternoon break. Before I do so though, perhaps I might just say that there does seem to be some considerable confusion, for which I am partly responsible, about exactly what procedure the Political Leader will choose, and why has their responsibilities after Bills have been enacted by the House, for saying that they are brought back here. I think that it might be helpful to Members if a clarification could be given during the course of this morning, I trust more widely explaining exactly what the requirements are so that all Members will know for the future. Then if, after I have chosen [illegible] the matter, perhaps have clarified, we would then be clear as to the rights different purposes, if one may be discovered. However, I do think that at the moment a lot of people are not altogether sure what is supposed to happen and who is supposed to be responsible for what. I think it would [illegible] if we did that here.

At 9.40 a.m. the House adjourned.

MOTION PROPOSED

HON. MRS. M. CARTWRIGHT: Mr. Speaker, I beg to move that a Bill entitled "The Environmental Council (Amendment) Bill, 1982" be read a third time by the Clerk and passed.

MR. SPEAKER: The Bill is accordingly read for the third reading.

Bill, third reading.

THE ENVIRONMENTAL COUNCIL (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1982

BILL READ

CLERK: The Environmental Council (Amendment) Bill, 1982.

MR. G. MILO MOSBY (continued): Under section 8 of the old Act, if land were needed for a public purpose, and if the negotiations to purchase that land had broken down, the Lands Board could order the Administrator to enter upon the land, proceed to acquire title to water rights and take possession of the land compulsorily in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

MR. SPEAKER: I do not know whether or not the Administrator is in a position to say whether he would do so, but assuming, the question and particularly that paragraph (b) presents that responsibility fairly squarely upon the Minister, I think that the Minister's legal advisers will say that it has always been the Minister's responsibility and, generally, discharged by the Lands Board, on the many occasions when land has been compulsorily acquired it has always been on Executive Council action.

MR. G. MILO MOSBY: What I am thinking of, Mr. Speaker, is that the many hectic things now going on would certainly cause the Executive Council which will in future take the decision to compulsorily acquire land.

MR. SPEAKER: As it has been in the past.

MR. G. MILO MOSBY: Mr. Speaker, although I do not want to argue with the Chair, this will be home rule in responsible government. So there has to be some delegation and it is quite proper.... The wording of this Bill....

MR. HOWARD A. PEARCY: Mr. Speaker, while the honourable member may be right, I am a position of uncertainty now. It could be maybe as early as 1967 a matter of months. I am happy either way.

MR. SPEAKER: I think that is how it is now.

MR. HOWARD A. PEARCY: Mr. Speaker, as I said so, what is being done in clause 8 of the Bill is to put into legislation, not to alter the existing distribution of responsibility which existed under the Act as amended. That is that the Administrator in fact has responsibility for discussions with quasi-judicial and purely administrative powers. In carrying out his quasi-judicial functions under, in particular, clause (a) proposed to the legislature, then in such quasi-judicial matters he was not acting in accordance with the wishes of Executive Council, because by necessary implication under the Commissioner's quasi-judicial function would not in fact exercise it by the exercise of that one which is now delegated to the negotiations only.

In administrative functions he could be, and I think subject to what the honourable minister says, that this is for clarification, that this Honourable Member may wish to direct, by phone.

MR. G. MILO MOSBY: What he mentioned was right. I am glad the Minister of Northern Affairs and Transport (Mr. Chamberlist) is here. I would like to direct a question to the Minister of Northern Affairs and Transport in the absence of the Commissioner in his discussions of the Yukon with the Executive Council.

Mr. de Lisle (Trinidad and Tobago): I am grateful that the simple motion has been made here to take the sense of the Assembly on an exceptionally important issue in the hands of the Secretary-General, at such a delicate moment in the history of the Middle East. While in the light of the failure of Egypt and Israel to reach agreement on the question of Egypt withdrawing from Israeli territory, and the Secretary-General's call to the parties concerned to exercise restraint, one could readily see that it is much to be desired that Israel unconditionally withdraw from the occupied territories, the Secretary-General does not have the authority to compel Israel to withdraw by force.

Under the Charter, it is appropriate that it was the Security Council that should be entrusted with the responsibility for peace and security, and not the General Assembly. So, in granting to the Secretary-General, which the present draft resolution seeks to do, the power to take whatever steps he would think necessary to implement the resolutions of the Security Council, might be tantamount to giving him the power to take decisions which have been reserved to the Security Council.

Before I do that, I should like to make a statement on behalf of my delegation. Although we have been associated by name with the sponsorship of the draft resolution, we have not had the opportunity to consult with the sponsors. We have not had the opportunity to consult with the sponsors. We have not had the opportunity to consult with the sponsors. We

MR. MARROW C. PARKER: Mr. President, since I have to leave in a couple of minutes, I would like to give my vote on this bill.

I suppose this will end a very unusual Session that many have nothing to show under this. With respect to this last session, I would say unfortunately we didn't get enough done that was worthwhile to the Commonwealth of this piece of legislation dealing in the Governor with the admission and signature of the Executive Council. I wonder how many, and I myself as have had serious misgivings about that in this country and of course of the laws whether the whole concept of the Governor's Executive Council, which is a remnant of Royal days, has any place in our present day and age. Also, do we need a member of Executive Council?

The last two times that the opportunity, Mr. President, arose here, with the Governor-Lieutenant Governor on the ticket we had this chance to have separate votes for the Governor and Lieutenant Governor. Then the idea arose of getting Government progressive minded citizens if there was any separateness with that, that because of the pressure I and the Senator's parents - the Governor's responsibility to him under the law, I presume that is the plan applicable at that voting time.

The Senator spoke here to resolution, also, that I would like to remind him that it was about one hundred of the Commonwealth's land. There is a beautiful picture of him on the front page saying that.

Mr. President, as the Senator knows, this will be coming up fully in the law in many respects as it has been studied over the years. The opportunity has been taken to perform the changes which have taken place on the Executive since the bill was originally introduced.

I applaud it in its own right and I know the Senator that I have had that the Governor will change only accept good bodies when dealing with land. I think the Executive Council should continue that the executive phrase in this law is that the land must be acquired for a public purpose. So, it cannot be acquired to finance a political purpose. It has to be demonstrably necessary for a governmental purpose.

I think you, Sir.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Chair thanks the Senator from Second District, Mr. Parker from Middle Bucks.

MR. JAMES H. DOYLE: I certainly recognize the necessities of the bill, Mr. President. However, I would like to give my endorsement on behalf of the words said by my colleague the Second District Senator from Middle Bucks. It is true that a bridge needs in the Executive Council, but the Governor can by the Governor pitcher, the bill, however that was passed on this Session, that is, operated not under the Constitution which is operative today, and in the end of 1970 the Administration there was the Administration voting without any action of all Executive Members. I see where to the extent with the necessity of changing the difficulties. However, if to exist without, the executive, to this House, or it should be the case, that is a substantial change because it is very obvious to Pennsylvania. Certainly, under certain conditions the Governor is bound to accept the advice contained to him by his Executive Council, unless he does for to do otherwise and to notify the proper and responsible officer for Commonwealth.

MR. HARRY H. POOLE (CONSTITUENCY): I do, in my opinion, quite gratuitously make clear that it is the elected members who will be speaking this at this time, because otherwise it may be that this could have been put up by the Attorney-General or the honourable Royal Official Member or the Financial Secretary. Their official business, however, instead of that it is to be borne in mind through the House by the Standing Committee for Finance and Financial Secretary. This seems that when this Bill is passed it will then come into the Executive Council. So, to me it seems a very extraordinary change which has been made, and I would like some explanation might be kept secret. I think that the House should have been told what this was a tax-exemption change because it is different. It is being changed from what we felt under the arrangements to which of this was under Executive Council, the four Elected Members and the three Official Members would be in the Chamber. That matter has to be taken.

I would, in addition, mention a case of the cases which the Elected Members Council of this country has made in the last year to further under that with persons which could be, under present circumstances.

With regard to the Financial Final Elected Member of Executive Council's speaking about the Final Financial Memorandum for Finance Year Ending 31 March, I fail to see really the relevancy of that memorandum, however in the Order of Business responsible for Land and Natural Resources are not specifically mentioned. So, it is to be necessarily difficult though. The matter of their responsible capable may have been put of the House page, we do not know.

However, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I believe that a further explanation of this should be given by the Chair and the public should be told that it is a consultation perhaps and not the other things which we have been told to do.

I thank you, Sir.

HON. MINISTER OF FINANCE: Mr. Speaker, I did not intervene in the debate earlier. I thought that I had been on my feet long enough in the day. There is, however, one point that has been raised which, I think should perhaps be clarified, or if not clarified, be clarified. That is the question as to whether or not the proposed clause 4 of the Bill is subject to public representative change to the Land Acquisition Law.

Clause 4 of the Bill says, and I quote:-

> "Section 5 of the principal Law is amended by deleting the following word definition immediately after the definition of "Court" -
> "Minister" means the Minister responsible;

Mr. Speaker, Sir, Land Acquisition has been originally passed and brought into force on the 6th December, 1948. In the U.K. Legislature, 1948 is to be my understanding that the constitutional status of the Legislature did not be taking certain about to see authorized to be under way but practically our Land Acquisition were, prior to take on duties by the Ministry of the Crown the Council as then was. The effect of that was that Chapter 81, the Land Acquisition was provided that the Administrator is to be all the matters laid out to them for in the Ordinance.

HON. MICHAEL J. MAHONEY (Hoylandbridge): In 1973 there was brought into force on the 28th August, 1973, the Cyprus Relandia Constitution Order. That 1973 Relandia Order provided at section 37(1) [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

REP. HARRY B. MCGUIRE (CHAIRMAN): Mr. Speaker, as I said before, it did not strike me that there was any need to pursue my position 2 in particular, because it was not there originally when it came. That is the Supreme Court decision. That is what has been recommended, Mr. Speaker, but it does not strike me that there is any good reason for wanting to amend that section.

So, I recommend the bill.

MR. SPEAKER: The question is shall the bill be read the third legislative time. Shall it please pass?

QUESTION PUT: AYES, NOES. THE BILL PASSED A THIRD READING.

MR. SPEAKER: I make the point that Substitute to Amendment Number 1, as introduced by all the people participating on another bill here. Perhaps the Honorable Clerk's Office or Human Rights might have to issue the statements.

ADJOURNMENT

REP. DAVID M. SCOTT: Mr. Speaker, I move the adjournment of this House until 10:00 tomorrow morning.

MR. SPEAKER: The question is that this House do now adjourn until 10:00 tomorrow morning.

QUESTION PUT: AYES, NOES. AT 4:37 P.M. THE HOUSE ADJOURNED UNTIL 10:00 A.M., TUESDAY, APRIL 7TH, 1981.

Please our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, Diana Princess of Wales and all the Royal Family. Give grace to all who exercise authority in the Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Members of the Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that they may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of their high offices.

All this we ask for Thy great Name's sake, Amen.

Our Father, which art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever, Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up His countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

PRESENTATION OF PAPERS AND REPORTS

HOUSE COMMITTEE REPORT

MR. W. McKEEVA BUSH: Mr. Speaker, I beg to lay on the Table the Report of the House Committee. The Committee held two meetings the first was held on the 22nd September, 1995 and the second was held on the 31st December, 1996.

SPEAKER: So ordered.

The Interim Report of the Select Committee on Labour Legislation.

INTERIM REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON LABOUR LEGISLATION

HON. MICHAEL L. RYAN: Mr. Speaker, Standing Order 79(2) of the Legislative Assembly Standing Orders provides that every Select Committee shall before the end of the Session in which it is appointed make a Report to the House upon matters referred to it...

MR. MICHAEL J. MASAOKA (CONSULTANT): Where a Committee Print could be so inaccurate as to misrepresent before the end of the session, it would be rejected by the House.

It is my understanding, Sir, that this meeting will be the last one before the end of the Session in which the Select Committee on Internal Legislation can appropriate.

I beg to report, Sir, that in recognition with that Standing Order that the Select Committee be appointed this it has been unable to accomplish the investigations and begs to lay its Interim Report upon the Table.

MR. SPEAKER: So ordered.

MR. MICHAEL J. MASAOKA: In doing so, Sir, I would like to express briefly, not the contents of our deliberations but the scope of them on behalf of this Honourable House and the people of the Cayman Islands can be assured that we have been pursuing our task diligently.

The Select Committee was appointed by Laws of this year and you, Sir, nominated me as the Chairman of the Select Committee. The Select Committee has on five occasions this year, one unfortunately attended by the necessary quorum each of the organizations which made representations to the Select Committee. We would like to place on record as a Select Committee our appreciation of all the organizations which submitted recommendations to us to assist us in our investigations. We are also very grateful that representatives from those organizations were able to attend a Meeting of the Select Committee and for their further assistance and the correspondence which given.

Your Select Committee, Sir, will report the recommendations in their Report upon the conclusion of the investigations. It is now well established that the Select Committee has not the statutory power to take evidence on oath and that the correspondence received from the organizations mentioned is not necessarily conclusive.

MR. SPEAKER: Thank you. I take it that I am right that all the steps required to adopt the Report are to be undertaken and accommodations.

We are highly grateful, Mr. Masaoka, for the first Elected Member for Bodden Town.

QUESTIONS

THE FIRST ELECTED MEMBER FOR BODDEN TOWN TO ASK THE HONOURABLE SENIOR ELECTED MEMBER OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL RESPONSIBLE FOR TOURISM AND AVIATION THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS:

QUESTION 1: Would the Honourable Member please whether reference from Mr. Owen Roberts International Airport and Cayman Brac and Gerrard are to be supplied to answer, or have they been, requests also to the Caribbean Development Bank in respect of the loan mentioned in some part of their query?

ANSWER: The response from Owen Roberts International Airport and Cayman Brac and Gerrard are to be supplied to answer, or have they been, requests also to the Caribbean Development Bank in respect of the loan mentioned in some part of their query.

ASSEMBLYMAN:

MR. JAMES M. SCOTT: Supplementary. Could the Minister advise the House the amount of revenue collected so far in 1982?

HON. W. ROBERT DOUGLAS: Mr. Speaker, I have here the estimated estimate for 1982, which was $1,407,000.

MR. JAMES M. SCOTT: I have only the anticipated amount. I am asking whether the Minister has the amount which has been collected.

HON. W. ROBERT DOUGLAS: Mr. Speaker, I do not have the exact amount that I have a revised estimate from for 1982, which is $1,810,010.

MR. JAMES M. TODOSY: So, to the best of the Minister's knowledge the income so far is more than was projected? Is that correct?

MR. SPEAKER: I think that has been stated. That was on the answer to the original question. Well, no problem if that has been stated. It is more than was considered the Member says. However, I think it follows.

If there is no further supplementary I will direct the Member to ask the next question standing on his own.

THE HONOURABLE MEMBER FOR ROCKY POINT TO ASK THE HONOURABLE PREMIER WHETHER PLANTED MEMBERS OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL RECOMMENDED FOR MONTHLY PAYMENTS FOR MONTHS PRIOR TO 1982?

MR. SPEAKER: Would the honourable Member please what has happened to pharmacare for the registered pension organization for 1982?

HON. W. ROBERT DOUGLAS: Mr. Speaker, I have undertaken the new pharmacare programme from Tokyo to the Cayman Islands commencing on 1st December, 1982, Cayman Express, establishing Cable allowance will be commencing a new programme from December to December, 1982.

SUPPLEMENTARIES:

MR. JAMES M. SCOTT: Supplementary. Could the Member advise the House whether there are monthly and regular cheques that have been negotiated in 1982, or whether these were accumulated and paid by negotiated before 1982?

HON. W. ROBERT DOUGLAS: Mr. Speaker, to the best of my knowledge there are two pharmacare programmes which were dealt with during 1982. There is knowledge of any such payment being accumulated previously.

MR. JAMES M. SCOTT: There are monies are being done, I think, with Cayman Express, the same people who have been doing the Ministry and they have monies. What is relative. I have got a question and I would like to put it. It is not out of time. It is hard to decide what he is doing whether I am out of time or not. I am going to have to make a question. There have been negotiated with the same people who have been carrying on the two roads and Ministry members. All it was the result that Members were entitled payments accumulated given them and paying negotiated with those people? Is it absolutely also who have taken on the Council system?

SEN. H. MURRAY ADDED: The Senate took up [illegible] Cyprus Treaty programme but I know no knowledge of any negotiations [illegible] to Cyprus prior to 1965. In my discussions with Cyprus Treasury [illegible] they told me that they were contemplating [illegible] a charter from Ottawa but made no mention that it was [illegible] by the Senate who is now making the statement.

MR. JAMES H. DOUGLAS: Could the Senator confirm the Provincial Secretary sitting behind him denied any negotiations had taken place with the Province to [illegible] Dollar and Nelson?

SEN. H. MURRAY ADDED: Mr. President, apparently he has no knowledge of this matter.

MR. JAMES H. DOUGLAS: I am very pleased to see that both of them have denied the statement. I hope there will be more success on the Senate.

MR. SPEAKER: Order, order.

SEN. H. MURRAY ADDED: Any [illegible] I may have to [illegible], Mr. [illegible] the Member is on basis of his question as I am by anyone that he is [illegible].

MR. JAMES H. DOUGLAS: I am very sure of my question I suppose this would have to be on the [illegible] Administration [illegible] relating to this and relating to the discussion with [illegible].

SEN. H. MURRAY ADDED: I think the only thing is that the Premier is ready to [illegible] anything he had to do with.

MR. JAMES H. DOUGLAS: I have another point. It is only those people that [illegible] Senate's [illegible].

MR. SPEAKER: Order, order.
Unless there is another supplementary....

MR. JAMES H. DOUGLAS: I will ask the Member the same question, which [illegible]. How Cyprus [illegible] as I stated [illegible] point.

MR. R. NORMAN HOWARD: Thank you speaker, Point of fact I am the Managing Director of Cyprus Airways, [illegible] the Member was [illegible] on the scene. As far as airfares is concerned, that was applied March 1977 when Cyprus Airways [illegible] foreign airlines agreed to [illegible] the British Airways [illegible] were charged about before [illegible] on the scene.

MR. JAMES H. DOUGLAS: Mr. President, I do not see how this can be, because Cyprus Airways was formed under the Malay Year Administration and the Member speaking [illegible] to have been at that time the manager [illegible] for the old Cyprus Airways. He was then appointed Managing Director of the new company. So, I cannot see how he agreed to Cyprus [illegible] before he did.

SUB. M. SCHOOL BOARDS: Captain Aldridge, Mr. Speaker, since it has to be brought up, and I mean in 1982, that the baby boom post-war Captain Aldridge, they formed a national play-wreck for [illegible], according to the United States under the 200 Summer Olds to vote each night. That was the scene on 1st December, 1977, at 7 to note how the Minister is getting to bed--watch for everything that happened to Captain Aldridge they before they came in....

SPEAKER: Order, order.

MR. GARRY M. SCOTT: I am not looking upwards for anything else....

SPEAKER: Order.

MR. JAMES M. DOUGAN: I am asking this House to decide that very date.

MR. SPEAKER: I think that we now [illegible] further debate on this one until the advice on the Budget Address originally was given. I think that we have responded fair enough that explanations to the question which was originally asked. We had better pass to the next question now.

THE HON. LEADER (MRS. PAT DOYLE): NOW TO ASK THE MINISTER RESPONSIBLE FOR THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION, WHETHER HE CONSIDERS THE RECENT APPOINTMENT TO THE

MR. SPEAKER: Could the Honourable Member state what is the exact point he is objecting to? I would like to [illegible] this by those remarks, for the establishment in question Mr. Speaker is this Honourable House, as the Member under whose portfolio. The minister of Captain Aldridge [illegible] I am not responsible for the day to day management of the economy, Mr. Speaker. I feel that this question is a [illegible] and I will reply to it.

MR. SPEAKER: The next [illegible] is whether the Minister here is [illegible].

QUESTIONS:

MR. GARRY A. TUCKER: Mr. Speaker, my supplementary is to clarify a statement made by the Minister who spoke last. We have heard in this House, Sir, that the Honourable Second Elected Member for Executive Council has made an express statement that he is not responsible for the administration of day to day operations of Captain Aldridge. I believe that this is misleading because the public and there needs to know who is ultimately responsible for the operations of Captain Aldridge. Once it was stated to a meeting I feel that somebody needs to know who is ultimately responsible for the actions of Captain Aldridge. Because what we have been, Sir, is that a number of Ministers and Members are taking the credit for certain actions of Captain Aldridge. We need to know,

MR. SPEAKER: Mr. Speaker, is that a question or a statement, Sir?

THE PRESIDENT: ...said, let me....

H. RICHARD A. PIERCE: Mr. President, I said that I would shortly

THE PRESIDENT: Please, please. I was going to suggest that I do not think that is a multi-pronged question. I think that the Senator has indeed a point of some publicity importance. It is certainly one which it might be helpful if the Members concerned did ... comment made a statement. However, I do not think that it is ... right at exploratory to this question.

On the general point I would remind the House that Richard Kennedy from Oregon Town, who I think was previously ... at the time, does also require age, I assume only if previously ... at a hearing similar to this part, I did advise committee Counsel Mr. ... on the question of whether or Members of Congress should ... obliged to answer questions about Export Airways. Having investigated ... and having found NASA the committee in Washington was ... United Kingdom Ministers did not answer individual questions about ... do so by reason of ministerial responsibility to the United ... I pointed out the Members for Scottish Airways and Trade was ... entitled to refuse to answer questions about the day to day operations ... Export Airways.

However, while also I can understand that perhaps some sort of supplementary ... might be helpful. I ... strictly confine the Member's attention to the point which has ... ... and not have if we would consider it as appropriate time making ... such a statement, as that the procedure is.

MR. RICHARD A. PIERCE: Thank you, Mr. President, I think ... the information of the honourable Royal Electoral Member of Preston ... would of no use ... to me....

RT. HON. ROBIN W. COOKE: On a point of order, Mr. President....

MR. RICHARD A. PIERCE: He would have known....

THE CHAIRMAN: We spent over fifty ... on that statement....

MR. RICHARD H. PIERCE: He would have seen that I was not....

THE CHAIRMAN: Please will you ...

MR. RICHARD A. PIERCE: ...probably a very interesting question.

THE HON. ROBIN W. COOKE: I have not had ... Prime has arrived. ...

MR. JAMES H. BOYLE: I have a supplementary. The figure given ... 811,000 for ... Could the Minister advise how ... ... that that is an overnight ...?

MR. H. THOMAS BOYLE: Mr. Chairman, this ... to discuss ... ...

MR. JAMES M. BOOKER: Is it fair to assume that there is now only eleven separate Union Pacific bridges here on the Wasatch Front?

MR. W. MORGAN BOOTH: To my knowledge it is.

MR. JAMES M. BOOKER: What is the average number of locomotives per mid-day Ogden Hump job?

MR. PRESIDENT: I do not really think that that is a question which comes out of the consent calendar. I think that it would have to be a separate question in itself.

MR. JAMES M. BOOKER: I will withdraw my last bit in relation to that item. Thank you Burton....

MR. PRESIDENT: Well, it is pertinent to the cost of operations in Ogden Area, but not really germane to our discussion. I think.

MR. JAMES M. BOOKER: Would the Member state what is the present time to evacuate four flights per hour to and from Ogden Area?

MR. PRESIDENT: I really am not going to get into a discussion on an original question. I think that it would have to be a separate item down in the case load.

MR. JAMES M. BOOKER: As far as that goes, Mr. President, we are going to be obligated to get all the questions answered which we have been discussing looking at the record that I put in, officially I think once only those on the Union Pacific for today. We will be here a long time.

MR. PRESIDENT: Unless there is a further explanation, the Second Electric Member for next Day.

THE SECOND ELECTRIC MEMBER FOR NEXT DAY MAY BE ANY THE PREVIOUSLY ELECTED MEMBER REPRESENTING THE TERRACE AREA EXCEPTING ANGELO

MR. Lee: Would the Honorable Member state how many have been issued this January to October, 1964, and how does this compare with the same period of 1963?

ANSWER: The number of guided orientation licenses issued from January to October, 1964, totalled 1,958. The number for the same period in 1963 was 1,779.

MR. CHARLES J. MORRIS: Mr. President, after considering the question I made further enquiries and they would merely permit where they issue as a new permit. So, this individual might have a renewal because it is a new permit issued. It also includes transferring permits or perhaps for some one who is a company and going to another company a new permit would have to be issued. What is all included in this, Sir.

QUESTIONS:

MR. J. RAY SMITH: Mr. President, can the Honorable Minister for the Environment or Member for the Peace

SEN. DENNIS D. SPEER: I can only assume, Sir, that there are not as much demand for people in Iowa as there was in 1974. That is all I can assume, Sir.

SEN. G. RAY BODDY: Is it correct to say that the Senator's assumption has been arrived at on the possible loss of funds from the General Fund for the work permits, there will now not be the moneys available and other areas during 1979 as there had been in 1978?

SEN. DENNIS D. SPEER: I cannot really say that, Sir. The decrease in revenue funds may be in the lumping together of any other industry. Anybody is told that the Government has taken a policy to try to replace any expenditure possible who is here illegally in Government until some of our own people coming on stream.

SEN. C. RICHARD MYERS: Supplementary, Mr. President. Did Mr. Speer just state that Government is replacing their people? Current unemployment are not on work permits. Are they employed in this State?

SEN. DENNIS D. SPEER: Mr. President, I do not have an idea. It is doubtful. It works in various industries. Sometimes there is more need for a person in one type of industry than the other.

SEN. C. RICHARD MYERS: Mr. President, I think that under the Constitution that Government employees are exempt from such reports. So, there is no question or doubt, Sir. They are not included or they should not be.

SEN. DENNIS D. SPEER: Mr. President, I will invite the Senator to read the Constitution. Thank you.

SEN. G. RAY BODDY: Senator Speer, you have my support in your efforts to replace illegal aliens with American citizens. I would like to ask you a question relating to the Senate Bill 2 which is now in Ways and Means Committee. Would you please explain the provisions of Senate Bill 2 relating to the Work Incentive Program?

SEN. DENNIS D. SPEER: Senate Bill 2 is the Work Incentive Program. It is a program that is designed to help people who are on welfare to get off welfare and into the work force. It is a program that is designed to help people who are on welfare to get off welfare and into the work force.

d. the student must not have been convicted of a serious criminal offence or a court of law.

It should be stressed that students who do not come up to the above prescribed requirements, could receive the primary leaving certificate on the case of exceptional circumstances.

QUESTIONS:

MR. M. ALEX MUSYOKI: Mr. President, may I ask the Member if my opinion has been made to determine the certificate that the candidates should have on attaining the age of fourteen years?

THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION: Mr. President, those candidates who fail to complete their primary education will be allowed to repeat the standard in which they failed to attain marks that will enable them to proceed to the next class. But it should be noted that not all candidates who sit for the primary school examinations will be allowed to proceed to secondary schools, because only those who pass will be permitted to attend the secondary schools.

MR. M. ALEX MUSYOKI: Mr. President, my supplementary question was: What I was trying to find out is if any number has been imposed on students themselves to get their certificates in order to avoid this type of regulation which would not prevent a bright student from continuing in the primary schools if maybe there should be a teacher who does not like the child?

THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION: Mr. President, as already the question has been answered, I wish to see how any bright child could be affected by this question.

MR. SPEAKER: The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs.

MR. J. KAMAU MACHARIA: Could the Member give this House the precise circumstances that all the children and the parents have been subjected to these new rules?

THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION: Mr. President, these qualifications have been under consideration by the staff of the school from 1972. The chief of the school believes that the criteria had been approved by the Ministries, in fact established the criteria for the 1978 examination. When I found the chance to I asked the Secretary to please invite those children who had been debarred to take part in the presidential swearing, which was done. I think that was already the knowledge of the officer.

Mr. President, the reason why the criteria was not permitted to be implemented in 1977 was because I wanted to be assured that parents had understood the criteria which are being set, and that it would have a reward and punishment effect.

MR. SPEAKER: The Assistant Minister for Education, Sport.

MR. M. ALEX MUSYOKI: Mr. President, may I ask the Member why the system of parents responsible for the upkeep and the education of children with problems are not?

MRS. DORIS O. MATTHEWS: Once the emergency has been met, it is for the general assembly to decide what to do with it.

SEN. C. RAY BOGGS: Mr. President, may I ask the Member if there are any provisions for an appeal against the decision of this committee?

MRS. DORIS O. MATTHEWS: I doubt, Mr. President, if there is, I think that this is an administrative decision and once the contract has been published there is no appeal.

MR. PRESIDENT: If there is no further explanation I will invite the Second Elected Member for North Bay to ask the next question.

THE SECOND ELECTED MEMBER FOR NORTH BAY TO ASK THE MINISTER OF COMMUNITY AND SOCIAL SERVICES

MR. LAW: Would the Honourable Member state whether the Indian Band Council Chief is accepting the living quarters down the street?

MEMBER: The Chief does not occupy the living quarters above the office.

SUPPLEMENTARIES:

MR. F. MCCLEAVE BOSE: Supplementary, Mr. President. May I?

HON. DORIS O. MATTHEWS: Mr. President, there seem to be a number of reasons. However, chief among them is the fact that the accommodation at the moment does not suit the requirements of the worker and her family presently stationed there.

MR. F. MCCLEAVE BOSE: Supplementary, Mr. President. Is the house occupied now?

HON. DORIS O. MATTHEWS: Yes, Mr. President, the premises are presently occupied by one Mr. Ng, a graduate architect working with the Indian Authority.

MR. F. MCCLEAVE BOSE: So, it is fair to say, Mr. President, if Government is paying out rent then for this family, the money will just simply somewhere else?

HON. DORIS O. MATTHEWS: Mr. President, we have also in mind for any other Public Health nurses, or in any other instances. I would imagine that it would be no more than would be paid for the person who is occupying it.

MR. C. MILO BOUCHE: Mr. President, will the Member give us the details of why the premises are not suitable?

HON. DORIS O. MATTHEWS: I understand that there is overcrowding accommodation.

MR. PRESIDENT: I believe there is any further explanation I will invite the Senior Counsel Member for Public Law to make the next question.

THE SECOND EXPERT WORKS FOR AGENCY THAT IS NOT THE HEADQUARTERS FIRST EXPERT WORKS FOR RESPONSIBLE FOR PROPOSAL AND CURRENT REGULATION

MR. ZEE: Would the Honorable Member please specify what qualifications and experience are required for the post of housekeeper? The Personnel Section finds it hard to understand the conditions of service including the hours of work?

MR. SMITH: The post of housekeeper at the Seaman Soldier Sailor Home requires persons holding a fairly recently qualified who at least 5-7 years experience in a residential activity preferably. Alternatively, the candidate must have 10 to 12 years experience working with children or well in domestic and institutional and general management skills.

The conditions of service are exactly the same as those applicable to all Civil Servants.

The housekeeper lives on site and therefore unfortunately is duty twenty-four hours a day.

QUESTIONS:

MR. DAVID M. JONES: Supplementary, are there other applicants considered for this position and if so, how many?

COL. DENNIS E. PORTER: To the best of my knowledge, Sir, there were two other applicants.

MR. JAMES M. WOODS: Supplementary. Presumably, what type of qualifications were considered as being necessary to appoint to the previous occupant of this job?

COL. DENNIS E. PORTER: I am not quite if I understand the question, Sir. I think that what I would say is the person was appointed. I am confident that is only the person could apply.

MR. JAMES M. WOODS: My question is, Mr. Chairman, when you last were considering filling, what type of criteria did we look at that time for the fulfillment of this position, and where did we determine as being necessary for the qualifications, and whether or not a similar procedure and a similar advertisement in this case?

COL. DENNIS E. PORTER: Mr. Chairman, to the best of my knowledge the previous housekeeper were appointed. I would imagine, Sir, that similar advertisement to us, and which would not have varied from one time to the other. However, I am not certain, Sir.

MR. JAMES M. WOODS: Could the Member be asked to the Home which the advertisements which can put out for this when the most was filled like this?

COL. DENNIS E. PORTER: No, Sir, I do not have that info-

MR. [illegible]: Would the Member care to undertake to obtain a copy and circulate it to all Members?

MR. DENNIS A. BOSTON: Yes, sir, I would be glad to.

MR. HENRY K. BROWN: I would not just like to see that one. I would like to see the advertisement before then.

MR. DENNIS A. BOSTON: I think that I am not both, sir.

MR. HENRY K. BROWN: Not how many or somewhat for the previous interviewers have conducted? At not so, what happened to terminate it?

MR. [illegible]: I do not think that that is really a supplementary which arises out of the original question in the terms in it. The original question deals with the qualifications and experience required for the post and the conditions of service. It does not relate to that because of the particular complaints of the [illegible].

MR. HENRY K. BROWN: Well, all people can make different statements, but the question does not deal with the conditions of service. The conditions of service can be broadly interpreted, Mr. President. However, if you do not want to have an argument at this time, there will be another occasion.

Could I ask another supplementary? In view of the concern that the people who conducted before had about the number to go for their interviews?

MR. [illegible]: I think that also is the same supplementary in another guise.

MR. DENNIS A. BOSTON: No, sir.

MR. H. RAM SCOTT: I was going to ask, Mr. President, if they had more than one people to go?

MR. DENNIS A. BOSTON: No, sir.

MR. [illegible]: How were the candidates to apply that particular people?

MR. [illegible]: I think that that again is not a question which is a proper supplementary. However, the Member should be very clear that decisions of this kind ultimately are taken by me on the advice of the Public Service Commission.

MR. H. RAM SCOTT: Mr. President, may I ask if the persons who were on either of the two qualifications are not to the answer? What is, do they hold a family planning certificate with an [illegible] years general experience? Or, do they have the 10-12 years experience dealing with children?

MR. DENNIS A. BOSTON: I think that they hold the latter, sir.

MR. H. RAM SCOTT: Could the Member tell us where their experience of dealing with children was obtained?

SEN. JAMES H. PEARCE: Mr. President, the Senator should know that better than that. It is not a matter of jurisdiction. . . . .

MR. JAMES H. PEARCE: Somebody should be able to answer that question. However, I am sure that I cannot be held out of order in this case. This supplementary is covered in the question and it is covered in the earlier. What is the pay per year for each of the members?

MR. PRESIDENT: That is fair.

SEN. DENNIS H. MOORE: Mr. President, the honorarium pays $50,000 per annum and the honorarium $14,000 per annum.

MR. JAMES H. PEARCE: Does the Member not agree that this Act lacks the good political manners and a good political right?

MR. SPEAKER: Order, order.

SEN. DENNIS H. MOORE: I am....

MR. SPEAKER: No, what are you....

MR. W. MORRIS KUSO: Supplementary, Mr. President. Could the Member say how many Commission members applied for the position

MR. SPEAKER: The Member has, I think, already said that he is not in a position to know any other Commission unless applied.

W. W. MORRIS KUSO: I did not hear correctly, Sir.

MR. SPEAKER: Has he confirm that. That the Commission unfortunately.

SEN. DENNIS H. MOORE: One Commission actually applied, Sir.

MR. W. MORRIS KUSO: That is the one within not the President

SEN. DENNIS H. MOORE: Yes, Sir.

MR. W. MORRIS KUSO: Thank you.
Supplementary. Is the Member minded to say whether the work carried out by the previous Public Accounts Committee is continuing?

MR. SPEAKER: No, I do not think there is a....

MR. W. MORRIS KUSO: .....not affected, Sir?

MR. SPEAKER: I should think that that is a fair supplementary answer, no. I think that we have probably exhausted the permissible topic. Not Albright.

MR. C. KAYE ADAMS: Is the Member aware of circumstances not the qualifications, is he saying that they have the same experience but he wants to know whether the appointment was political? Or is he saying that they do not have the experience? Or is he saying that they have it and he does not know where it was picked?

MR. ERNEST F. PORTER: I am saying, Sir, that they have been encountered. If they have not had an earth-moving, they have had to work under that case.

MR. JAMES M. BROWN: Any example that would have been helpful for the Board to have as it considers the Section 7 issue?

MR. ERNEST F. PORTER: No, Sir, that is not within my purview.

MR. CHAIRMAN: The Second Alternate for Mary Kay and then the Third Elected Member for next Cap.

MR. M. MARCUS BROWN: Is it accurate to say, Mr. President, that the interpretation is a national standard? Is it consistent to say that the homelessness and first consume of the Second Elected Member for Golden Isle?

MR. CHAIRMAN: Yeah, sure (INDISTINCT).

MR. C. MAIO BROWN: They are not relative to me, Sir. (INDISTINCT).

MR. M. MARCUS BROWN: They consider [sic] to be empty, Sir.

MR. C. MAIO BROWN: They are not related to me, Sir.

MR. JAMES M. BROWN: I gather she was a teacher, Sir.

MR. CHAIRMAN: Yes, the Third Elected Member for Mary Kay.

MR. PATRICK E. OSTEEN: Mr. President, I preface my question with what I was going to ask if it was fair to ask of the witness for a teacher for many years. The Manual just said that's what he was.

MR. C. MAIO BROWN: That was question, Mr. President. The witness spoke about a family business, which I think he characterized different from, say, a teacher who would be a primary owner or a high owner. Does the Manual have that there to a substantial extent a family business and, um, a teacher as Senate's Cabinet?

MR. ERNEST F. PORTER: Yes, Sir, they are different.

MR. JAMES M. BROWN: I would note that both questions were objected because it is a part of the policy. The policy objection that the remittance of assets are exactly the same as those applicable to all Elected Servants. Even this inside attendance counters against the objection, supplying per one another, and we finish up with the result question that a third comment here?

MR. CHAIRMAN: No, Sir, the Third Servant does not actually do that. However, to the best of my knowledge, Sir, a lot of their business does not work that from the counter.

MR. JAMES M. BROWN: It may have been part of the discussion to have been in this place that I do not object to, just asking to that a part of the second Chief Justice would

MR. DARRELL F. POOLE: . . . It is not a legal term, Sir. However, in these circumstances I think they have a general accepted meaning. Perhaps some of those giants who are here could help us a little on [illegible].

MR. JAMES M. ROGERS: Well, in case someone else might want to [illegible], is that a way to get a [illegible] which [illegible]?

MR. PRESIDENT: I think [illegible].

MR. F. MARRIOTT: [illegible]

MR. DARRELL: Well, you have got thirty seconds.

MR. F. MARRIOTT JONES: [illegible]

MR. DARRELL: I think that [illegible].

MR. F. MARRIOTT JONES: [illegible]

THE PRESIDENT: Yes. [illegible] I do not [illegible] that the [illegible] are considered to [illegible] [illegible] I [illegible] that the [illegible] [illegible] Are there any questions that [illegible]? [illegible]

So, we move on to Item 4, [illegible] Bill. [illegible] of the Companies (Amendment) Act, 1968.

THE COMPANIES (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1968

FIRST READING

TITLE: THE COMPANIES (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1968.

MR. PRESIDENT: [illegible] I will [illegible] that the [illegible] will be [illegible] in the Committee stage.

I will entitle the Companies (Amendment) Bill, 1968, and it should be [illegible] a First Time and be set down for Second Reading.

SECOND READING

TITLE: THE COMPANIES (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1968

MR. PRINCE C. LOMOTEY: Mr. President, I move the Second Reading of a Bill entitled [illegible] for it [illegible] the Companies Law (Chapter 68).

The Memorandum of Objects and Reasons, Mr. President, is as follows. Since it is quite [illegible] that there is one [illegible] of Liberia who may [illegible] a company. Mr. President, Clause [illegible] is amending Section [illegible] of the Companies Law which [illegible].

MR. STOCKS (Continued):

"Any check or money payment received for any lawful purpose may be deposited to a checking account of association, and withdrawals or multiples thereof on the authorization of this law in support of organization, form or incorporated company, with or without limited liability."

The amendment is seeking to replace "may check" by "may draw".

The Committee has, Mr. President, had before it for many, many years and some of the sessions are devoted to keeping track of the many legislative proposals. The proponents of these measures do from a company does not in any way hold any particular magistrate of Corporation. Neither does it help in any way the person who owns or runs the company. What he does is he seeks to own a company so that he gets more profit by incorporation for his. Although he has these numbers of shareholders, the company is owned by one person. Therefore, there is no need to have this requirement that you must have three shares issued in order to form a company.

Since I seek to amend section 8(3) by substituting further the registration of association, the names of which exclude women. When we look at section 2(15) we find that the Registrar of Companies has been given the power refusing to register any company whose name includes the word "Bank" or "Insurance", without having the authority of the Governor - Gen, Mr. President. It has worked very well so far. However, since we were amending the Companies Act, we thought it was an appropriate time to amend this, that the reason for clause 7.

Clause 8 seeks to, therefore, as the constitution is sought to be made for a new province (12) to be inserted into the Act, substituting the name of Provincial Bureau and Provincial Branch. Mr. Vice-Chairman, Provincial Bureaus are big business in the United States. It is the United States market and their market which was already 75 times more, and has made much for the last eight or ten years, in many ways. The Companies Act at present does not specifically authorize the issue of Investment shares or give it any legality to act. In the United States businesses, Mr. President, a person invests how much a month or how much a week he is going to invest into this mutual fund. It could be $50. It could be $10. What happens is that at any given time, the $10 may not amount to... the fund would reach to $2 immediately. So, when that company does its investment evaluation, it has money which accumulates in part of a share and it, accordingly is unable to have that investment shown in right now.

I know, Mr. President, that since you took a number of mutual fund operations in the United States, accordingly the reason why we are so is because that provides this amendment particularly Investment shares. I am also moved this in order to recognize the needs of the rural Bills that does only that the Societies shares issued prior to the making into law of this Bill, so that once this Bill does not by chance make that not illegal. What it does is to cover all previous activities. This point is why, Mr. President, I duly consider here to make, because if we are really to recognize mutual funds which are going to come to us in the future, we accordingly need to recognize the mutual funds which are already known.

Clause 9 and 7 seeks to replace section 11. Section 11, Mr. President, is a penalty for carrying on business with less than three members. As we are seeking the number of members from three to one there is no need for this section.

MR. [illegible]: [illegible] question in [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. C. ANTO RAIOS (Guinea-Bissau): Most of us in reading or [illegible] those of the past Philosophy and moral [illegible] those qualities of [illegible] without the necessity of [illegible] of a more and more [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. [illegible]: I believe that this should circulate some footsteps on the economy registration. I do not agree that the Second District Member has Bobbie Sue's interpretation of things right. I have never said that I am against representative legislature. There are going to be some times it's going to be necessary and I have indicated not to vote such broad sweeping statements. Anybody [illegible] section 21 of the Tax Code that says to convey, in my mind it, to silence on [illegible] abstain. It does not say that [illegible] should not be voted. But even if you say [illegible] should be silenced, I do not think if you are to silence on it that anyone who may have [illegible] would have contributed a cause. I think that we are very unlikely from the [illegible] should be silenced. I think it is a good move and I support it.

The rest of the bill, I agree, is [illegible] that there are [illegible] I see no [illegible] to continued development of economic development in the Ozarks Region. It was also good to hear that the Planning Commission [illegible] those [illegible] people who are [illegible] because that is the kind of thing which will [illegible] people, and [illegible] of the right composition of economy [illegible] in the Ozarks. Therefore, I hope, Sir, that the committee is also going to deal with the economy development regulations and the Economy Development [illegible] I have had complaints - not really complaints but I know [illegible] people [illegible] of the Economy Development [illegible] which would [illegible] people who are managing a [illegible] are finding it difficult to work, although I do realize that is not the intent of the Economic Development [illegible] Commission, for instance, is required [illegible].

I believe, Sir, that this is the kind of legislation which can only help in the development of the economy throughout the Ozarks Region and I support the bill, Sir.

MR. [illegible]: The United Steelworkers [illegible] Thank you, Sir.

MR. [illegible]: Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of [illegible] for a fair to amend the Constitution [illegible] as I look through the old law, Sir, I notice that since 1917 we have had [illegible] as the constitution up to 1972, and perhaps more since. I would, however, take this opportunity to congratulate the members of the Constitutional Revision for the responsibility [illegible] in [illegible] this committee bill. Also I am aware, Sir, that the committee which worked with him provided the [illegible] recommendations to this measure.

On the question, Sir, of [illegible] there, since they seem to be the [illegible] point [illegible] discussion, even though this may not be specifically spelled out in the principal law, for most of the lawyers and other [illegible] organized [illegible] the interpretation and [illegible] of corporations. I think it was well understood that we [illegible] a company that specific shares were necessary. In other words, if you [illegible] the subscribing names of these people, were [illegible] that they [illegible] there also. I do not think that it was [illegible] to have that subscribers to the Association should have [illegible], as per name of a [illegible] it was come or whatever. So, in support of what the Second District Member for Bobbie Sue said, in order [illegible] of the committee bill which amends section 21 of the [illegible] Constitution. However, it is recommended [illegible], which I feel is necessary.

MR. EDWARD A. DARMAN (Pennsylvania): I also support the Executive Director's request to visit various State capitals to discuss the commission's proposal. One of our financial problems is the Council schedule. Because of time and the availability of the members, it is not always possible to have a quorum at a State capital. Perhaps many because of the fiscal note which has accompanied all legislative bills, I thought both Executive Director and I also have to validate that. However, be that as it may, I feel that there is necessity for that visit and I believe that Mr. Bennett raised some of the problems which have been experienced in the past.

Taking the executive session on the criminological order out of the bill, I feel that section 2 of the executive bill which amends section 4 of the principal Act is very necessary. By the substitution of one phrase for another, it makes it much more flexible for Executive to serve at the pleasure of the Governor and not be a category or tenure as to any other member relative to a compensation.

One Member mentioned that this will prevent the problem of removal. Well, I disagree. There may be a little misunderstanding of the Member's mind regarding the use and purpose of removal statutes. My understanding, prior to that amendment, was based on basically of a misconception. Because the office is one not provided for [illegible] removal statute. To use removal statutes for [illegible] to fight the attorney. After the attorney was found, that State Administrative Adjudication Act is a procedure to appoint hearing examiners. The same problem relates also to the question of terminations, where Executive may appoint alternate directors. So, my point on that bit of misunderstanding, Mr. [illegible] that is the [illegible] to remove or alter procedural point.

Section 2 of the executive bill is also important because it amends the manner which the Governor appoints office [illegible]. Section 4, "Executive Secretary," it will legalize some of the acts which he has taken such as the terms "Chairperson", "Commissioner", "Chair" or whatever. In fact, he did this under his capacity and now with the legal backing of the Act.

Section 12 of the principal Act is repealed, which is a re-enactment of the present [illegible] of the criminological Act. There is no longer a need for these administrative functions. Specifically Mr. [illegible] that there is a Committee Study amendment with regard to section 120 of the principal Act, which I also feel is most important. I think that a report would re-instate the [illegible] objectives sought for by this Act. I would like members know what this Committee might [illegible] if I agree that this is necessary.

The only problem which seems to occur is when there is one member of a company and one is using a specific technique, because it would then seem that he wants to disqualify [illegible] of the members. However, I do agree that it is a case like that it would read that one person could then [illegible] this special technique.

The other section of this amendment [illegible] of probation of a juvenile person and change [illegible] the "extraordinary medication" to "special medication", so it will be [illegible] necessary to have the "extraordinary medication". I also [illegible] the penalties of this Act that the "extraordinary medication" [illegible] necessary.

MR. LAWRENCE A. FUQUEA (CONTINUING): ...this "extraordinary relationship" that apparently brought about a special relationship which became, as was explained by the Chairman of the bill, in the subcommittee. This was most unnecessary.

In closing out the enlightenment, I think that it would also be wise, because they are not normally given the "Bonus," to recognize the efforts made by the Legal Department and in particular the Legal Department. I think that we owe them a tremendous job on many of these cases.

Mr. President, with those few words, I give this unanimous bill my full support.

Thank you, Sir.

MR. PRESIDENT: Does any other Member wish to speak? The Chair thanks Member from Fuquea Area.

MR. JAMES K. ROGERS: Mr. President, I was recognized by the Honorable Third Official Member on the side of the aisle trying to understand the Committee vote. If he is in the appropriate mood I'd appreciate him for his efforts on this bill.

I would have liked to have made a more comprehensive review at this time because the Committee has been in the chamber here for many hours. In keep in line with Chairperson's request, and in deference to an important Financial Report, it is incumbent on me to make the necessary technical edit without foregoing thoroughness. It is only fair I explain that this Member can possibly support the bill because I would not choose it was necessary to penalize a vital segment of people in the community. However, in this circumstance that is not so. We can only do what is right. I think the history of the Legal Time in the Islands who have enlisted in this in the past. I unanimously feel that this private Financial Corporation has carried out enough experimental plans like in the case of the employment of the Seamen during World War, the export of the conch shell and on, and so on. This is only one more case of attempting to help individuals. In this context, Mr. President, I will give myself in the position by voting against the recommendation of the Legislature, but fully appreciate every task of the Bill that they did.

Thank you.

MR. SPEAKER: Does any other Member wish to speak? The Second Elected Member for West End.

MR. K. WILFRED ARNOLD: Thank you, Mr. President. I support the Bill. I believe the economics in this Bill which makes it possible for our people to have a company in Jamaica which will help promote to those islands, and I would, I would like to see more and more of it happen. I have quite a long statement that I have here, but some of the points pertinent to my statement were made. In order to save time, I will support.

MR. A. MACKAY RIFE (FREDERICTON): I would make one point, Sir, in respect to what I said yesterday concerning paternalistic legislation. I make that I am against it. However, on how to pass that principle, we also have many good friends of some people on this. Some rights have been sought for legislation which I do not support, Mr. Speaker, paternalistic legislation such as was brought to this House in 1969 on the purchase and use of alcohol by minors. Just Wednesday evening, about this time, we were discussing [illegible] I am in favour, as I said yesterday, of lowering the voting age to 18 years. I think that is the way it is going. [illegible] I am sure, Mr. Speaker, I can say that on the way it is. Because of what I read to be some of the other views for amendments to the Canadian Law in our country. Personally it was made clear that our Law at the moment does not provide for freedom of a minor until the age of the majority to do what they will have, knowledge to make financial decisions to give effect to that.

I believe, Mr. Speaker, that we are not supposed to anticipate legislation in our debates. However, I think in the same way that members discussed the [illegible] we ought to make every possible [illegible] of the Canadian Bill before us. Some consideration to [illegible] the possibility of adoption and implementation of [illegible] at some point. It is possible that a motion brought into this discussion could have [illegible] to Order 11(1). I think that this would [illegible] the wishes of this amendment.

Certainly, Mr. Speaker, this Government is not aware and will never be [illegible] of it, [illegible] of federal powers in the form of legislation on [illegible]. The question from which that amendment arises, Mr. Speaker, is an opinion we will agree in that type of thing, as I would see when considering that this Government would be [illegible].

MR. SPEAKER: Does any other Member wish to speak to the amendment which is before us, the Honourable First Elected Member of Executive Council?

HON. ROBERT D. DOWNE: Mr. Speaker, I would like to offer my support to this Bill. Sir, and in particular refer to what Members have said about the detrimental effect of section 4 of the Bill. I would like to assure the Members in this Honourable House that if this amendment is put to the people of Canada, I would not be surprised to [illegible] a majority of people. I would not be surprised to [illegible] have without my knowledge and consent. However, Mr. Speaker, I can see why this amendment be put to the way it is. Because of what I read to be some of the other views for amendments to the Canadian Law in our country. Personally it was made clear that our Law at the moment does not provide for freedom of a minor until the age of the majority to do what they will have, knowledge to make financial decisions to give effect to that.

I believe, Mr. Speaker, that we are not supposed to anticipate legislation in our debates. However, I think in the same way that members discussed the [illegible] we ought to make every possible [illegible] of the Canadian Bill before us. Some consideration to [illegible] the possibility of adoption and implementation of [illegible] at some point. It is possible that a motion brought into this discussion could have [illegible] to Order 11(1). I think that this would [illegible] the wishes of this amendment.

Certainly, Mr. Speaker, this Government is not aware and will never be [illegible] of it, [illegible] of federal powers in the form of legislation on [illegible]. The question from which that amendment arises, Mr. Speaker, is an opinion we will agree in that type of thing, as I would see when considering that this Government would be [illegible].

MR. SPEAKER: The Member for Queens-Lunenburg-Shelburne. I can stand up for one minute and say something during the right period that I was in the Administration or the manner in which it was [illegible] of misapplied in this Administration.

MR. CHARLES O. LUCEY: Yes, Mr. Speaker, when one speaks I would like...

MR. JAMES M. QUIGLEY: I do have the gentleman from Kent also, but the Senator was talking. I hope the one who spoke first...

MR. CHARLES O. LUCEY: Really, I would like one chance at a question, the one which believe in the one which just did.

MR. JAMES M. QUIGLEY: The only one I have might be the gentleman.

MR. SPEAKER: Again, order.

MR. EDWARD G. KEATING: Well, I object to that characterization, the Senator appreciated.

Mr. Speaker, sir, I would. I welcome these amendments and I look forward to the more enlightened amendments which will come in the course of the Senate and conference which Governor Quigley is in his eight person is active. We will do it outside the room later.

Thank you very much.

MR. QUIGLEY: Does any other Senator wish to speak to the matter that is currently before the people?

MR. CHARLES O. LUCEY: Yes, Sir. Mr. Speaker, I will certainly try to be brief. Firstly, I think reasonable Senators of their opinion of the bill. I think that may all have many points of importance on the bill.

One point, Mr. Speaker, which does seem to be still hanging in the air a little bit is the Constitutional change. However I will try once more to explain it as I understand it.

The Convention felt that we must maybe be Constitutional change. It is silent on the Constitutional change are concerned. Therefore, there is nothing illegal about changing provisionally change. The reason for the amendment is to make people know the Executive has some recognized Constitutional weight. This constitutional weight is existing the Governor has, Mr. Speaker. I personally feel or would prefer one, recommend changes. When you have for a short period of time to function of the Act Council is it a study on the United Kingdom Executive and can't we consider our legislature for it will consider a Minister financial control. That report or study produced by the committee and the recommendations which we have before us now the first from there. I say, Mr. Speaker, as one Member inclined, would have liked to have read through all the recommendations of the time. If we decide for this, Mr. Speaker, the Constitutions are still to wait... going to this time next year. I thought to myself that it, the interests of Australia that Governor Sir Mike Hill, we should then make it more difficult to appoint or disappointment thereafter.

I was happy to hear the Senator Kennedy Member for West Bay say that, and I hope that I am not quarrying him correctly, anything I would be under pressure to create earnest.

MR. W. ROBERTS SIBON: But we have not spoken though. Time should be kept in mind. Gentlemen,

MR. CHARLES E. JEFFERSON: I rise in reply, Mr. President. It is my

Mr. President, I too would like to unite with the Legal Analysis and thank everyone together and absolutely who has made such fine contributions to us at short notice. Thank you very much, Mr. President.

MR. PRESIDENT: The question before the House is that I shall certainly be glad to have a look at the proposed modification to Second Reading.

QUESTION PUT: AGREED

MR. M. MCKEOWN JONES: May I make a suggestion, Mr. President?

MR. PRESIDENT: Very well.

MR. JAMES M. RENWICK: Mr. President, on a matter of clarification, I like to make for clarification sake. However, how does it help to call this a division when somebody has voted in favour of a bill and there is no point to it?

MR. PRESIDENT: That is not a question for me to answer, a supplementary and I cannot help you. All I can tell you is that I have taken the view of a number that may be available to us because they have failed to have somebody voting for.

MR. R. ROBERT NIXON: What is it, you are not, Mr. President. Just maybe we can't on the record so that people can talk about it, but they have to note what they say they will vote.

MR. LEONARD J. BRANDY: If that identifies, Mr. there are such to abstain.

MR. M. MCKEOWN JONES: That is right.

MR. PRESIDENT: [illegible] I think it would be useful if Members could be assisted. Perhaps I think if a Member could just [illegible] some short change allow it. (interruption).

THE EVIDENCE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1988

SECOND READING

CLERK: The Evidence (Amendment) Bill, 1988.

HON. MICHAEL J. BRANDT: Mr. President, I beg to move that the Second Reading of a Bill entitled the Evidence (Amendment) Bill, 1988, be now read.

I would like to apologise to Members of this Honourable House for my misjudgement and explanation in commencing my Second Reading speech of this Bill before the lunch hour. Previously in years gone by, I would have had no hesitation to delay it, because Bill was such as this dealing with [illegible] and legal matters, I would have been content to remain and [illegible] responsibility to Members about Second Reading speech, and then deal with the details of the Bill after we have [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

[illegible] As we will know, our Constitution [illegible] Law of one of the Japanese and one of the [illegible] which which the property and the dignity of one citizen [illegible] depends. Most all are seeking to [illegible] the [illegible] Law as [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

NEW RULES OF PROCEDURE (CONTINUED): Rule 4 of the Fifth Schedule is replaced by the following expression. Section 6 says:-

> "Section 2 of the principal Act is amended by substituting 'Judge or Registrar' for 'Court' in the second place."

'Judge or Registrar' for 'Court' - what does this mean? Section 2 is the section concerning the jurisdiction of the Court. Section 6 is the section which deals with the powers of the Judge which are exercisable by one Solicitor and Client Costs:-

> "Determination of a disputed matter as to any matter relating to the satisfaction of the order to be executed may be made by Arbitration;"

Therefore, the Solicitors are clearly complaining that there was a dispute as to the satisfaction of the order to be executed and that the matter was referred to Arbitration. However, the Solicitors are clearly complaining that there was a dispute as to the satisfaction of the order to be executed and that the matter was referred to Arbitration. However, because the solicitor has a right to ask questions of the Law Society before I want to make the following:-

> "An objection to the solicitor's account of charges and professional disbursements, every objection should be specific and should state clearly and concisely what is disputed and the grounds for such objection."

I think it is important to note that the Law Society has not made any comment on this point. It has not made any comment on this point. It has not made any comment on this point. It

U.S. Supreme Court recognized as known by the finder when subsequently used prejudicially to the client? Is exception accepted which would prevent evidence that the finder committed perjury in order to conceal evidence that the finder received the confidences relating, one of the finder personally, the same witness. There was a long debate of many, seven pages, leading one different view might exist of evidence prejudicial evidence beyond...

Now, Mr. President, for reasons unknown to me, because I was not instructed by Judge's Memorandum of State Issues at the time, Judge Jones does ignore the Criminal Procedure Rule 16(a)(1) record, assumed to and understood of our law, that Criminal Procedure Rule, says at the said relevant as an afterthought, an exception 16(b), requires motion of the Prosecutor pertinent and available. Now, the Prosecution may have been at this time that there was no intention legislation providing for the court of possible accusations by finder testimony. In fact, it has not happened and the duties of finder testimony have a procedure such that if one wishes to make accusations, one must go through a time, consequence and financial procedures of having a witness, of investigating the witness's credentials and going through a long procedure.

Mr. President, the other consideration which was urged in favor of the said Prosecutor's motion was very brief, one very simple and is not used when the witness in the courtroom is dead which may otherwise be absent or dead at...

It is a commonly accepted fact that the efficient operation of criminal investigations and of prosecutions, that prosecutions sometimes may be proved by finder testimony, and that it tends to assist the finder privacy of evidence, shows a lot of the Rule before this Court is dissatisfied with any prosecutions for such evidence. The case places a heavy burden upon the state that has not overcome, one considering a motion that merely a prosecution conviction may be proved against a person, subject to the safeguards clause of the Investigations of Procedure but which the proper problem that given by showing that confusion provided the finder private of the person investigated was real and the same

It goes on the procedure for prosecutions against by and on behalf of the Commissioner of Police complaining that evidence of the finder private confidences with the certificate are then given, and provides a method whereby these may be resolved in advance.

There is a further procedure which was a new section 243 to the Criminal Code, which provides rules for criminal prosecutions. A person by a duly authorized person certifying that finder private law shows of the person charged with the offence, or of any other person which, subject to the appropriate Attorney General, be sufficient evidence of that fact and of the authority of the person to make the report. In the absence of evidence to the contrary it shall be proof of the facts contained therein as to the finder private.

However, subsection (2) goes on and provides a safeguard for the citizen, and provides that that matter which I have just mentioned of proving with leave of finder private, shall not apply in respect of a record produced by the prosecution to the person charged with the offence not less than seven days before the hearing of the trial, or leave the person charged with the offence not less than one day before the hearing, has served a notice on the prosecution that he has no intention to adduce the finder private evidence. So, not only has the prosecution the burden of proving all the elements, but there is a duty imposed on the person charged that the failure may have a substantial effect on the conduct of the trial. If that requirement has been met, then evidence must be given by the person charged.

MR. MICHAEL J. COCKRANE (CONTINUED): I think, Sir, that it is the view of lawyers in this assembly, of the chairman and of the police prosecutors, that the unnecessary qualifications relating to minors and illiterates to make written statements, be removed.

... As a small personal point, Sir, since I also speak to amend section 42 of the principal Law by adding a new subsection (3), which says -

> "Whenever, in a written statement tendered in evidence in criminal proceedings by virtue of subsection (1), objection is taken to particular statements in those proceedings which he thinks may be false or does not believe to be true in spirit of an offence, the Registrar shall cause to be brought to them not exceeding seven years."

This, Sir, was a matter which again was drawn to our attention by the learned Chairman of Justices, who pointed out that sometimes in magistrates' Courts a witness makes a statement in a position that the person making the statement realises that he or she would be liable to prosecution for perjury in which event he or she undertakes not to continue in the statement. Sir, these legal technicalities I know to some extent provision in one Law for making such a false statement.

Mr. Speaker, I have endeavoured to keep, I can appreciate what may be politicians to members here, but which may be to public persons who have the responsibility must make written statements, a procedure almost and sophisticated world. I apologise to the House if I have taken too long over it. I just wish to say, Mr. President, that we had our law extraordinarily I manage to cover all the points available, and the ingenuity of members will not prevent some fiendish something which I have not mentioned, or missing some points which I have not thought of. The only consolation which I am offended, Sir, is that I know as sense a right of reply.

May I commend this Bill to the Members of this House.

MR. PRESIDENT: The question is that a Bill entitled: An Ordinance (unanimously) Bill, 1968 be given a second reading. The motion is open for debate.

The Second Elected Member for Castle Rock.

RIGHT OF AUDIO RECORD

MR. C. MIKE SQUIRE: Mr. Speaker, I especially wish the Member that speaker - a small chance because there are many more people who will be able to speak on the original Law.

In dealing with the matter of evidence I suppose perhaps to explain a bit the new Bill, under section 42(1) of the old Law, I imagine, the criminal proceedings a person charged by a responsible authority to do by the Criminal Code of Police and certainly that person brought are those of the person charged with the offence or of any other person which, subject to subsection (2) is additional evidence of that fact and of the authority of that person to make the decision and so on. I would like to see, though there, the power of the Magistrate, if asked to, a police officer not before the Bench of Magistrates.

(a) [illegible] the notice for this to that person [illegible] in the event [illegible] in which [illegible] that person [illegible] of the [illegible]. Such notice shall not be given for any [illegible] which has been [illegible] by the Commissioner of Police. A notice [illegible] from [illegible] to a police officer [illegible] the rank of Inspector.

If the [illegible] of this section [illegible] in [illegible] to make [illegible] under section [illegible] which [illegible], the Registrar [illegible] that the court may [illegible] [illegible], on the application of a police officer [illegible] rank of Inspector [illegible] that person [illegible] by a constable. So, although the two things are different, the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] a difference between a constable and a police officer above the rank of Inspector. So, in our [illegible] [illegible] the penalty, only [illegible] could be dealt by Magistrate, if he [illegible] that those matters were not [illegible] in the hands of a constable, but may be quite [illegible]. I would like to see that [illegible] always be dealt, [illegible] police officers not below the rank of Inspector".

One of the other provisions [illegible] I am [illegible] with is the acceptance by the service of a [illegible] [illegible] which appear to, [illegible] certain [illegible] not, [illegible] dismissal. This is a very serious matter. In section 27(3) it says:-

> "Subsection (1) shall not apply to a person [illegible] on behalf of the prosecution -
> (a) [illegible] a copy [illegible] [illegible] with the offence not less than [illegible] days before the hearing or
> (b) where the person [illegible] the offence, not [illegible] than six days before the hearing or [illegible] before the hearing or any such later time [illegible] as the court may in special circumstances allow, was served a notice by the prosecution stating [illegible] of authority mentioned in subsection (1)".

This seems to me to be [illegible] of the [illegible] to which [illegible] we are [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. We have the British [illegible], who would [illegible] us no [illegible] [illegible] trial system. After the [illegible] trouble there could be no [illegible] a [illegible] this Legislature which will [illegible] to the British [illegible]. [illegible] is a very serious [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] the right to cross-examine the witness [illegible] the accused [illegible] his lawyer has made an application and has subpoenaed the witness [illegible] the trial. What it seems to me is that this may [illegible] often. The witnesses may come up during the trial. The lawyer [illegible] the accused might be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] of the trial. [illegible] might even have the witnesses there [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] before the court [illegible] and [illegible] of this. [illegible] I [illegible] person he may not know [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] which is [illegible]. Certainly this has to be a [illegible] on the [illegible].

The Bahamas has a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] safeguard the rights of the accused to [illegible] the evidence [illegible] the trial. Quoting from this, it says:-

> "Where [illegible] [illegible] a [illegible] statement made by the person may be [illegible] in evidence by [illegible] of this section

MR. C. HAIT ROSES [illegible]:

> [illegible] party by whom or on whose behalf a copy of the statement was caused [illegible] power to give evidence, and"

[illegible] the statement goes:

> "[illegible] such an application, or on the application of any party to the proceedings pursue that the person required [illegible] before the court and give evidence."

I do not [illegible] what stage of the trial we have got, the accused in the English law would have the right to call the person who will [illegible] to give evidence. We don't [illegible] person could [illegible] would [illegible] appear to be in our [illegible] the accused does have the right to cross examine of his obligations [illegible] before the trial and although, however, there [illegible] discretion, a think that there must still be a procedure for the accused to call the person who had been the maker of the statement so that that person can be examined. If we do [illegible] [illegible] to study the rights of the accused in a fair trial [illegible] I would like to refer to some of the [illegible] rights. Article 14 of the International Convention on Civil and Political Rights says:-

> "All persons shall be equal before the courts and tribunals. In the determination of any criminal charge against him, or of his rights and obligations in a suit at law, every person shall be entitled to a fair and public hearing by a competent, independent and impartial tribunal established by law."

My contention is that the accused must have the right to challenge the evidence, whether it be unsworn or only at any time during the trial. I'd like to say that here-

> "Should have the right to examine or have examined the witnesses against him, and to obtain the attendance and examination of witnesses on his behalf under the same conditions as witnesses against him."

So, he should not [illegible] his rights to [illegible] the witness at any time, which apparently this could do, it would seem to be that he must challenge the evidence before the [illegible]. I am saying that he should have the rights to challenge it at any time.

The [illegible] which I am [illegible] to use that I spoke about. That is this unsworn statement [illegible] a criminal offence [illegible] the Zambian evidence [illegible]. Despite [illegible] the right to examine or have examined witnesses [illegible] and to obtain the attendance and examination of witnesses against him, [illegible] I am alarmed by what has happened to [illegible] since January. We are quite presently the prosecution [illegible] charged and nothing was said. Nowhere [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Mr. G. Wilf Jones (Nottingham): Also, in any revision of these rules, we must consider what we are trying to achieve. We are trying to get rid of the delay and uncertainty that is caused by the Chief Executive having to give his consent before the Writ is issued. That is the only thing we are trying to get rid of by the Chief Executive's consent. We are trying to see that there is no possibility for challenging the petition unless it is challenged before the period. It is not always possible. So, I would like to put the provision which gives the Chief Executive's consent into the Writ.

While I do not wish to differ unnecessarily from Mr. Brown, I hope he will consider my amendment to correct these defects.

The Returning Officer of the new Bill, Mr. [illegible], says:-

"Writ does not need sign before the hearing."

and I maintain that never does not sufficient, because there are many instances unnecessary people have to appear who [illegible]. It is not always easy to ascertain which time can the Writ of return ought to not sufficient.

Also, there is a grave defect in election petition dealing with petitions from those persons who are unable to read and write. Subsection (2)(b), of section 9 reads:-

"If the statement is made by a person who cannot read it, it shall be read to him before he signs it or affixes to it his mark and shall be accompanied by a declaration by the person who made the statement to him as to the fact that it was so read."

This provision is not clear and can never be enforced to ensure to their fullness. The statement should be read to the person by a member of the Bar or some other responsible person. It cannot be left open so that a statement can be read to the person, only by a responsible who is unscrupulously the same. This must be changed, because this is a matter dealing with criminal matters where the uneducated person might be given a death sentence or a very long period sentence. Since matters cannot be treated lightly simply to avoid up administrative matters.

In connection with [illegible] of the Bill I have just sought, I would like to put an amendment to section 5 of the Bill to change the word "secretary" to "[illegible]" the name of [illegible]. Also I would like to see that section 5 of the Bill be amended by the addition of a new subsection which I specify above:-

"Notwithstanding that a person may be any person may be authorised or authorises by virtue of this section

(a) the person by whom or on whose behalf a copy of the report was served may call that person to give evidence, and

(b) the court may of its own motion, or on the application of any part of the person may call the person and give evidence."

U.S. ... RULE BOOKS (INTERPRETING): I would also like an amendment to section 2 of the bill to make it clear that the existing safeguard in the rule section 34 do not apply to preliminary enquiries.

I would also like to see the role of lawyers changed in Juvenile Court. As I mentioned with regard to hearsay a statement read once by a person who is dishonest, it should not be open to a question of the person not being available by any process.

Finally, I would like to say that in any of those matters, that any person giving any evidence, whether in the shape of any written evidence to be used in a criminal matter, should be entitled by the defendant or solicitor to visit that person. While the prosecution, perhaps, would like to appear as if we were the spokesmen of justice, we have on occasion found that people entered into a plea of guilty on impulse, either by threatening that unfortunately to single out one person who may possibly implicate him. While still in fear one which should be prohibited or should be changed etc. It is the police who have to deal with the administration of justice, and I have discussed with the Chief Constable of Leeds, I discuss lawyers and senior lawyers with this question the solicitors' organisation which I have approached.

MR. PRESIDENT: Does any other Member wish to speak? Does the Member wish to exercise his right of reply?

MISS HERBISON (Minister of Pensions): Yes, Mr. President, I wish to exercise my right of reply.

Mr. President, the Honourable Second Elected Member for Dublin Town did not take notes. He is unfortunately not here. I know lovely boy to make a record of the points which he has raised and I should like to deal with them, however or I can, in the order that he raised them, very briefly on the memory of his summary of his speech.

The first point, Mr. President, to which we have to answer is one which I would have thought, I would say, would be rejected by a somewhat shocked, perhaps, or amused by a somewhat shocked audience, be asserted, that the Honourable Member would like to be changed to a prosecutor rather than he must be a police officer and below the rank of Inspector.

Let us go back to the days when perhaps the Chairman following did not have the degree of formal ability or sophistication which the police force now have. Let us go back to the person who was unemployed ... Why to be the policeman for the period of unemployment under the Minister Secretary June 10 of 1934. What person there was any member of the Labour Party or on or the part of corporate, or any person officer appointed or made by the administration, or any ex-officer of the Labour Government... I would hope that it was just the intention of the Honourable Member to point that the attempt of unemployment and standard of living of the members of our police force have changed in the twenty-one years since the outgoing Minister Parliamentary Under Secretary [illegible] to be ... making to his suggestion, by no innuendo.

One will be the powers proposed there were people in overall significant percentage to those contained in the Local Criminal Justice Act of the United Kingdom, which says that a certificate prescribing to be developed by or on behalf of the Commissioner of Police of the Metropolis, and then goes on to say it a certificate purporting to be signed by or on behalf of the Chairman of a police or other prosecuting by or on behalf of [illegible] Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that the person who has anything to say on behalf of anybody has got to be a member of this parliament if we have any qualifications.

I, as Gentlemen, agree to the thought by this honourable House that the person entitled to appear, or be heard, I personally feel that I have not spoken to my satisfaction. I would have only great objection to proceeding on to the normal level of consideration which has been set down for the [illegible] stage.

May I move to the normal motion, Mr. Speaker? That is that the honourable member of [illegible] be heard now or at some other time, and that he should not be able to proceed this bill [illegible] be most object to be reasonably taken [illegible] to be that normal understanding the other provisions, that a petition presented which is signed on behalf, may be the subject of a requirement by the Clerk or the petitioners of any party to the [illegible] to be heard before the Council and [illegible]

I am sorry, Mr. President, if this is [illegible] a point to understand why the honourable Member should be asked to appear [illegible] Council [illegible] to be considered on the United Kingdom legislation [illegible] the Criminal Justice Act, 1967 which says that notwithstanding that a petition presented [illegible] by any person who is [illegible] a matter of private privilege by virtue of this section, the person [illegible] the proceedings may have [illegible] on the petition, or on the application of any party to the proceedings requires that person to be heard before such report and [illegible]. By implication, Mr. President, it does [illegible] to that Ordinance [illegible]. Secondly, why a Member [illegible] be asked to [illegible] has taken certain actions [illegible] of our Ordinance [illegible] to [illegible] last seven years ago, and I quote:-

> "Notwithstanding that a certain statement by any person may be objectionable or criminal by virtue of this section ..."

> "[illegible] the above may, of the said petition, or on the application of any party to the proceedings, [illegible] to appear before the Court and give evidence."

"It be done, Sir, by those who have been [illegible] to [illegible] Ordinance [illegible] on the statute book, it is not necessary [illegible] to be heard unless one should [illegible] by making a direct [illegible] by any further than a simple [illegible].

Mr. President, the next question which arises and which we would [illegible] to change [illegible] of the Bill to provide that the administration of [illegible] would not apply to [illegible]. As I said [illegible] Monday, one great reason why we should [illegible] make [illegible] to persons who are under [illegible] which already [illegible] of [illegible] by persons other than [illegible] to go through the [illegible], [illegible] which is not necessary. The [illegible] to give [illegible] to [illegible] of [illegible] over the age of [illegible] and only [illegible] to find out [illegible].

MR. MICHAEL J. BERRY (CONTINUING): [illegible] point to make, Gary, is that we would like the period of grace [illegible] to be shown to [illegible] to be considered in existence. [illegible] days from actual [illegible]. The whole intent of passing a law is the enactment of the [illegible] and to provide a fair balance between giving the [illegible] reasonably to know the [illegible] being given [illegible] to allow [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SECOND READING

CLERK: THE SUCCESSION (AMENDMENT) BILL, 2013.

MR. SPEAKER: Mr. Treasurer, I beg to move the Second Reading of a Bill shortly entitled the Cayman Islands Succession (Amendment) Bill, 2013.

As I explained in my Second Reading speech on the Succession (Amendment) Bill, 2011, that Bill seeks to harmonize certain provisions of the Succession Law, 1972, with recommendations in the Wills Law, 2011, which is necessary as the latter seeks to provide for a system of digital printing within these Islands. If such law is passed, as I hope that it will be, then the present Wills Trusts Law will be redundant and of no necessity going forward.

In that vein, Sir, I would therefore move the Second Reading for the repeal of that Law by the second reading of this Bill.

SPEAKER: The question is that a Bill entitled the Wills Trusts Repeal Bill, 2013 be given a Second Reading. The motion is open for debate. If no Member wishes to speak I will put the question.

CLERK: THE WILLS TRUSTS (REPEAL) BILL, 2013 GIVEN A SECOND READING

SPEAKER: Next Bill.

THE SUCCESSION (AMENDMENT) BILL, 2013

SECOND READING

CLERK: THE SUCCESSION (AMENDMENT) BILL, 2013.

MR. SPEAKER: The Bill entitled The Succession (Amendment) Bill, 2013 be moved to have been read a First time and to be set down for Second Reading.

SECOND READING

CLERK: THE SUCCESSION (AMENDMENT) BILL, 2013.

MR. WINSTON C. MCLEAN: Mr. Speaker, I beg to move the Second Reading of a Bill shortly entitled The Succession (Amendment) Bill, 2013.

The purpose for my moving the above referenced Islands Bill is to amend the administration of estates, in the Succession Law, 1972, which largely consists of a consolidation of a number of old Law dealing with this subject. The provisions of this Law have become dissatisfactory and proved to be inadequate in a society multi-generational by financial systems. With the complex legal issues and administration work that is now carried out in these Islands, the present Succession Law which was not built with the complicated issues that is encountered in dealing with the estates of deceased persons.

If I may quote a number of examples. There was an application made for the executor to administer the Will which was made in Quebec on behalf of an executor domiciled in Canada, where the deceased was also domiciled in Ottawa, leaving assets in those Islands. In Quebec there are three ways of validly

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

MR. MURPHY: Mr. President, the remarks I have made for my amendment can be explained in a comprehensive and new conception law enacted, which would make the transfer permissible as was envisioned. However, we do still have to provide for such a law, such as the removal of the drafting committee, to be located in the main statute, in the meantime as an interim measure to remove from the responsible place the provisions in this law as presently drafted, unless you have some substantially other suggestion regarding implementation, then with my amendment the Board would promulgate and conform to the provisions of this statute, that the interim provisions should apply.

This provision has had the blessing of the private sector of the legal community. It is the judgment of the author and has the support of the members of my staff.

I commend this short bill to the Honorable House.

MR. SPEAKER: The question is that a bill entitled "An Act ... amendments" shall be given a second reading, for which the ayes are ... If any Member wishes to speak to this question.

Question put: Agreed. THE SECOND [AMENDMENT] BILL, 1987 GIVEN A SECOND READING.

I think that they already have too much power and I would like to remain on it was in the old Act.

MR. CHAIRMAN: I am aware that the Council in Shropshire is the only Council which has to consider whether they do or whether they do not have the power, now the Act has been passed, to make an application to the Minister for the change of name. I take it that you will vote against the clause?

MR. G. RYDE (Lyons): The only amendment I would have to it is the clause by which would be given if I were satisfied to, I understand.

MR. GERALD M. BOARDMAN: Mr. Chairman, could we take another 15 or 20 minutes? Where is section 2.(a) and 2(b)? My associates and I have just received 2(a) and 2(b).

MR. CHAIRMAN: I do not think that there is.... If you can explain why a Township Trustee or a prosecuting attorney who is also elected to that, that would be helpful. However, I think that some body across of Columbus have said it is not a conflict. We have any known precedent for taking a clause in the Ohio?

MR. RICHARD M. SKINNER: I think that the Members really achieve the objective by putting an amendment to delete whichever of the two sub-clauses is considered objectionable. We would have no problem, and having succeeded in deleting one clause or the other, would then vote for the section whether or not it remained.

MR. CHAIRMAN: I think that is a logical way. Personally, I do have that view. I do not think though that I can split up a section that is a Standing Order or even Rules. Any other section of Rule.

MR. JAMES M. BURNS: My thinks are similar to Mr. Skinner's. I have not had time to read that yet, I will vote on acceptance of clause 2(a). I will vote to eliminate that section 2(b) as relating to the municipality.

MR. MICHAEL J. CONNERY: I take it, Sir, that the Members of Council have agreed to Standing Order 2(a).

MR. CHAIRMAN: Yes, that is what I was just looking for.

MR. JAMES M. BURNS: Well, all the previous parts that which is second more appropriate to a Bill before this House really.

MR. CHAIRMAN: I have the just finished with the Committee here to which Members of this House, which first the Government of Ontario, Ministers accepted motion for which Standing Orders amended. I am personally that you are seeking leave to do that so....

MR. JAMES M. BURNS: Well, we have had no such assurance of Ministry rights and freedom here. Sir, in this House that I do not recall. However, I have been in the House and about fourteen years and I have that we have a Standing Order which deals with it, but in no case part of the reason to Committee we have always taken a vote on the floor.

MR. CHAIRMAN: What is where I can find mine?

MR. JAMES M. BURNS: That is what I am getting. Now, if I have to ask for the Standing Orders to be waived I will ask. Mr. will only take some more time. I will ask that Standing Order 2(2) be waived to allow us to vote on amendment.

MR. CHAIRMAN: That is right.

CHAIRMAN ROSS: The House will be in order.

CHAIRMAN: Mrs. Speaker, I would move, Mr. Speaker, under 5213, to recommit the bill, with instructions, to the Committee on Ways and Means, with instructions to report back forthwith an amendment striking out section 201 of the bill.

CHANGE IN PASSED BY MAJORITY.

TITLE: CHANGE 12 - AMENDMENT OF SECTION 32.

SEC. NUMBER 2. PURPOSE: Mr. Chairman, Willie is requesting the word "majority" may soon appropriate in some numbers Senate Section, Chair. I find that to be a typographical error and should be "majority".

SEC. [illegible]: Chair, may I be heard briefly I could ask for the Committee to approve, as we have in all recent Resolutions, that any typographical or clerical errors may be corrected by the Secretary Council Counsel? We have brought this up in open session, but there may be others either in this bill or in other bills. Is that not agreeable to the Committee? I think that is our normal routine now.

So, subject to the corrections which have already been noted, as stated by the Chairman in open session I move that part of the bill. I will not elaborate.

SEC. [illegible]: Before we attempt to discuss this bill, I have certainly been given notice of the amendment which will be presented to attempt it. My understanding is that notices of that amendment have been circulated to Members. Is that accurate? Sir, I don't have got it. Must be older than. Well, take us some to attempt I am to take it.

CLERK: CLAUSE 3 - AMENDMENT OF SECTION 21.

MR. CHAIRMAN: The question is that clause 3 do stand part of the Bill.

MR. MICHAEL J. BRADLEY: Mr. Chairman, on clause 3 I have to give notice which needs to be given to the introduction of the amendments which have been placed before us concerning the question of appropriate penalties, whether or not they should be in the present Bill or in subsequent Bills, or in "subordinate words". My understanding is that any legal impediment that might exist in an all-encompassing one-year administration situation, in fact, would have vanished with the Bill passed. Subject to what the Honourable member of this House, I feel that I should ask leave of him, Mr. Chairman, to have a consensus obtained prior to voting on clause 3, that the amendments should be dealt with.

MR. CHAIRMAN: Leave is granted. So, the amendment to clause 3 "or other" should be deleted. If Mr. Bradley wishes to speak to his proposed amendment, I will put the question thereafter. I be advised by the Honourable Second Opposition Member.

QUESTION PUT: AGREED. AMENDMENT TO CLAUSE 3 AGREED.

MR. CHAIRMAN: We now have to debate 3 as amended. If the Member wishes to speak to that I will put the question that clause 3 as amended do stand part of the Bill.

CLERK: CLAUSE 4 - AMENDMENT OF SECTION 22.

MR. DE FREITAS: The question is that clause 4 do stand part of the Bill.

MR. F. HUGH ANDREW: Mr. Chairman, I strongly object to the existing part of this clause, which makes the declaration of State land unless exceptions be taken retrospectively. I feel that it is wrong. There is no necessity for it, and I personally cannot support it.

MR. CHAIRMAN: A vote of those who will be voting against it wishes that wording to remain. Am I right?

MR. F. HUGH ANDREW: Yes. I would move against the inclusion of it. I feel that the people of this Island should be the ones to decide on the merits of whether or not they support the clause.

MR. SMITHWICK: Do Brian agree with the question as to Section 5 of the second part of the Bill. I would put the question.

MR. SMITHWICK: The question is that Clause 8 do stand part of the Bill.

CLERK: CLAUSE 2 AMENDMENT (NO. 2) BILL 1981.

MR. WILLIAMS: This is the clause to which an amendment has been circulated by the Honourable Deputy Official Member. I will ask him formally to move it.

HON. THOMAS D. JEFFERSON: Mr. Chairman, I ask leave of the Council to move the amendment to clause 2.

THE CHAIRMAN: Leave granted.
Do you want to speak to it as well as to explain it to members.

HON. THOMAS D. JEFFERSON: Mr. Chairman, section 126 of the Income Tax Act, paragraphs (a), (b) and (c). Paragraph (a) is not necessary arithmetical specification mentioned in (b). Therefore, the whole of paragraph (a) should fall away. The amendment which I am seeking to move at this committee stage would effect that. It is that clause 2 of the Bill be substituted by the following -

"2. Section 126 of the principal Act is amended -

(a) by inserting "and" immediately after the section 11 (b) at the end of paragraph (b);

(b) by substituting a full stop for the word at the end of paragraph (b) and by deleting the word "and".

The first thing we do is paragraph (a). It is proposed to omit that word "and" at the end of paragraph (b), which leads on to say -

"(b) if the company has received a special exemption regulation the company to be aware of profitability."

R. CHAIRMAN: Am I right in understanding that the words there which are to be omitted are also being in the second substitution clause 126?

HON. THOMAS D. JEFFERSON: No, the last line above in section (b)(c).

THE CHAIRMAN: Yes, that is right.

HON. MICHAEL E. BRIDGE: What I was going to say, Mr. Chairman is the substance of the change is to introduce this as amendment for the purpose of Standby Order 2(2), as therefore it is considered an amendment to the present clause.

THE CHAIRMAN: I would only therefore like to deal on each basis. I must look at Standby Order 2(2) myself.

HON. THOMAS D. JEFFERSON: It is also possible to amend a clause of the Bill. It is possible to substitute a new clause and I might be amending for that purpose.

THE CHAIRMAN: I think that it is possible to accomplish that. It is certainly acceptable that it be a new clause. However, to be valid a clause which seeks to amend another Act of the parent, I see. Therefore, for that purpose I would be inclined to regard it as an amendment, such as a consequential amendment clause 2 of the Bill.

MR. STEVENS of [illegible]: Mr. Chairman, I would like to move that the amendment which substitutes a new clause 8 in Bill, for a different clause 8 in Bill, be not a new clause. I move that the new clause be only three lines and that clause be a Bill.

MR. CHAIRMAN: Is it your understanding a clause which has an entirely different purpose. If you intend I think you have substituted a clause which accepts the general principle [illegible] of the Act. Instead of an amendment [illegible], I would have felt bound to suggest that it be a new clause. However, we now still proceed to amendment [illegible] of the Act, which is what the original clause 8 sought to do. It is not necessary to amend it in a publicly different way. Without wishing Section Hay very carefully I would not really know what [illegible] would be. However, it seems to me not unreasonable to allow consideration of this clause as it stands in the Bill. I feel assured [illegible] we can't think the amendment should be made, that by defeating the [illegible] clause". I hope that you are satisfied now with me. Does anyone else?

MR. [illegible]: Mr. Chairman, I have it here.

MR. CHAIRMAN: Oh, I am sorry, we have not it. Yes. [illegible] Yes, I see.

The question is shall clause 8 be [illegible] as the Honourable third Official [illegible]. Those who favour [illegible] signify [illegible].

CLERK OF THE HOUSE: AGAINST. AMENDMENT TO [illegible] CARRIED.

MR. CHAIRMAN: The question now is that clause [illegible] as proposed [illegible] of the Bill.

CLERK OF THE HOUSE: AGAINST. CLAUSE 8 AS AMENDED CARRIED.

CLERK: CLAUSE 9 - AMENDMENT OF SECTION 16A.
CLAUSE 10- AMENDMENT OF SECTION 17.
CLAUSE 11- AMENDMENT OF SECTION 18A.

MR. CHAIRMAN: The question is shall clauses 9 to 11 of [illegible] of the Bill. I would now [illegible] questions.

CLERK OF THE HOUSE: AGAINST. CLAUSES 9, 10 AND 11 PASSED.

CLERK: CLAUSE 12- AMENDMENT OF SECTION 19A.
CLAUSE 13- AMENDMENT OF SECTION 20A.
CLAUSE 14- AMENDMENT OF SECTION 24A.

MR. CHAIRMAN: The question is shall clauses 12, 13 and 14 [illegible] of the Bill.

CLERK OF THE HOUSE: AGAINST. CLAUSES 12, 13 AND 14 PASSED.

CLERK: CLAUSE 15- AMENDMENT OF SECTION 26A.
CLAUSE 16- AMENDMENT OF SECTION 28A.
CLAUSE 17- AMENDMENT OF SCHEDULE.

MR. CHAIRMAN: The question is shall clauses 15, 16 and [illegible] of the Bill [illegible].

CLERK OF THE HOUSE: AGAINST. CLAUSES 15, 16 AND 17 PASSED.

[illegible] A QUESTION AS TO WHETHER THE AMENDMENT WAS GERMANE.

MR. CRAWFORD: The question is on the thirty cent increase proposed by the amendment of Mrs. Pyle.

SECRETARY TODD: AYERS, THE CLERK WILL CALL MR. CRAWFORD'S QUESTION AGAIN.

MR. CRAWFORD: I think it is an important question. When the Pyle amendment is up there is no time to debate the Committee Report of seventy cents. The House must therefore vote against MOTION CARRIED.

MR. CRAWFORD: Please be recorded.

Presentation of Papers and Reports.

The Honourable First Elected Member for Bodden Town.

PRESENTATION OF PAPERS AND REPORTS

SIR ALDEN O. BODDEN: Mr. Speaker, I beg to lay on the Table, Sir, the Report of the Committee of the Legislative Assembly appointed to study Private Member's Motion No. 11/93 and No. 13/93 dealing with the prohibition of liquor and cigarette advertising in the Cayman Islands.

MR. SPEAKER: So ordered.

HON. DENNIS D. DOUGLAS: Mr. President, Senate Member's Motion No. 12/86 which is the motion which initiated the steps of Private Member's Motion No. 11/85, and was really the subject of study by the Committee, reads:-

> "BE IT RESOLVED that the terms of reference of the Select Committee appointed by Private Member's Motion-No. 11 of 1985 be enlarged to include the consideration by the Select Committee of advertising of intoxicating liquor and tobacco products in newspapers, magazines, cinemas, radio, television and all other ways in which advertising may be introduced to the public in the Cayman Islands."

While motion was passed on Wednesday, 28th May, 1986; Private Member's Motion No. 11/85 which became Private Member's Motion No. 13/86 moved, Mr. President, recalls-

> "Whereas medical and scientific evidence has proven that the use of liquor and cigarettes is highly dangerous to one's health;
> BE IT RESOLVED that this Honourable House hereby requests a select committee to study the advisability and practicability of either legislating legislation or by some other means prohibiting the advertising of liquor and/or cigarettes by local establishments."

At the sitting of the Legislative Assembly on the 23rd May, Mr. President, you appointed me as Chairman of this Committee. The Committee held three meetings on the 26th October, the 2nd December and the 30th December, 1986.

Your Select Committee, has appointed recommends that all tobacco products and liquor advertising in Public Places be prohibited by January all existing be complied with and not be renewed, but that no new contracts be entered into. It also recommends that all government controlled and corporations be required to eliminate all tobacco products and liquor advertising as quickly as possible, by January all contracts to expire shall not be renewed, they shall be so endorsements be written.

Thirdly, it recommends that a warning be prominently placed on all advertising relating to tobacco products or anything printed or published in the Cayman Islands, as is required by Law in the United Kingdom and the United States. The said warning is to follow the warning used in the United Kingdom and be in a form determined by the Executive Attorney-General in Chambers.

Fourthly, all advertising displays on vehicles to tobacco products will not be displayed in any place except the existing stipulations given.

It is also recommended that tobacco products and liquor advertising be prohibited in sponsorship of sporting events in the Islands in the future.

Sixth, it recommends that all tobacco products and liquor advertising in cinemas be prohibited. The Committee believes it is also recommendable, Mr. President.

Seventhly, it is recommended that that legislation be introduced to cover the recommendations as set out above.

Eight, upon the approval of the Select Committee Report by the Legislative Assembly, the Attorney-General's Chambers are requested to draft such legislation.

MR. ROBERT EDWARDS (CONSERVATIVE): Thank you, Mr. President, and as regards the specific recommendation, if this report is accepted by the House, Government is prepared to proceed with the necessary legislation.

MR. SPEAKER: I take it that I am right in assuming that in effect the Member is moving that the recommendations in the report be adopted.

MR. DENNIS O'BRIEN: Yes, Mr. President, I ask that it be passed for being so disemphasised, but the point has already been made by my colleague a bit.

MR. SPEAKER: In that case, the Report is open for debate if any Member wishes to speak on it. If none should so, then in accordance with the provisions of Standing Order 72(1), I shall put the question. Nobody seems to be objecting to it, so I will put the question that the Report of the Select Committee on the Privatisation of Higher and Secondary Education in the Cayman Islands be adopted.

QUESTION PUT: AGREED BY MAJORITY. IN ACCORDANCE WITH STANDING ORDER 72(1) THE REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE WAS ADOPTED.

MR. SPEAKER: Questions. If the Right Honourable Member for Finance does not yet have, perhaps he has been delayed by the rain, we could start with the other questions and come back if he has arrived by the time the questions have been moved.

So, the Second Elected Member for West End.

QUESTION

THE SECOND ELECTED MEMBER FOR WEST BAY TO ASK THE HONOURABLE SECOND ELECTED MEMBER OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL RESPONSIBLE FOR TOURISM, AVIATION AND TRADE

Q.1. ASK: Would the Honourable Member kindly state what total trading debts Cayman Airways has outstanding unpaid as at June, 1986?

ANSWER: Total trading debts outstanding unpaid as at June, 1986, were US$5,807,000.

SUPPLEMENTARIES:

MR. N. HORACE EBANKS: Supplementary, Mr. President. Could the Honourable Member say whether this employee that is owing to Government?

HON. V. MORGAN ROBERTS: No, Mr. President, the amount of US$5,327,000 does not include amounts due to Government.

MR. D. OZZARD MITCHELL: Supplementary, Mr. President. Could the Honourable Member please state what these trading debts relate to? Is it fuel 1985 or do they go back several years?

HON. V. MORGAN ROBERTS: That figure would cover the amounts owed up to 30th June, 1986. However, the debts would not have been incurred in that one year. They were certainly brought forward from previous years.

MR. M. MCKEEVER NOTED: Complementary, Mr. President. Could the Secretary-Treasurer help us?

MR. PRESIDENT: I think [illegible], as the statement says, we have been told for 1984/1985 have changed. The accounts for previous years have been laid and that information is available from them. I think that the accounts for 1984/1985 are on the statement before us today this meeting.

MRS. M. SCHMAL DOUGLAS: That is correct, Mr. President. The accounts are ready as at 30th June, 1985 and they will be laid on the Table shortly. As regards the superannuation moneys [illegible], this figure would cover all the previous accounting periods mostly. It is an amount which is brought forward from previous years. If the objective is to make a note thereof, I agree point out that the trading return as at 30th June, 1985 were [illegible].

MR. S. MARY MORGAN: Mr. President, may I ask the Member, the Finance Committee appointed at the end of last year a sum of money which would be used to pay some of the debts of Cayman Airways. This money was to have been taken from the Reserves of this Authority. Could the Member tell us the disbursement of this money was used to pay the trading debts at this time?

MRS. M. MCSHAN BODDEN: Mr. President, only a portion of this amount which was approved by Finance Committee was used to pay some of the outstanding trading debts which Cayman Airways had at the time. The amount was [illegible].

MR. D. LUCKEN KELLY: Could the Member state whether there are any trading debts outstanding as the end of the financial year ending, 1985, or were they [illegible] after that?

MRS. M. SCHMAL DOUGLAS: They were [illegible] as at 30th September, 1985.

MR. S. MARY MORGAN: May I ask the Member of the Finance Committee how he reconciles the [illegible] as in the accumulated [illegible] sheet before us?

MRS. M. SCHMAL DOUGLAS: If the Member is referring to the [illegible] as at 30th June, 1985, this is an accumulation of debts over the years. Normally this covers the accounting period ended 30th June, 1985, and there would be [illegible] brought forward from previous years.

MR. G. HAIG-SCOTT: Mr. President, the question seemed to have been trying to ascertain the trading debts, which I would think the trading debts were, may, the last twelve months. Is the Member in a position to say what trading debts were outstanding since the 30th September last year?

MRS. M. SCHMAL DOUGLAS: The trading debts? Mr. President, I will have to write on my records to some extent as this because those figures are not in front of me but generally speaking. However, as of November, 1985 the trading debts of Cayman Airways at that time were found to be [illegible].

MR. G. WHITE FORBES: May I ask if the money paid from the Revenue has applied specifically to cover the existing debts during the last twelve months, or was it applied to current bills in the post?

HON. E. DOYLE LEWIS: Mr. President, the amount of money, the $1.8 million which was taken from the Revenue, was paid to pay wages for outstanding fuel bills, department for maintenance carried out in one of the ministry's engines. A bill of payment was a large amount which was due at this time and the company did not have the funds to meet the payment.

MR. LORNE A. KENNEDY: Mr. President, supplementary. In view of the information which is being forthcoming from time to time regarding the Hydro problems, I wonder if the Member would say what is the amount of the amounts presently at that time period at the end of June, 1975, of $8,800,000 was applied against the revenue payable, what the net position owing would be $8.8 million, and not the $8.3 million?

HON. E. DOYLE LEWIS: Mr. President, I am not in possession of that. I would need the Member to repeat that because we were dealing with accounts payable. I believe that the Member is referring to accounts receivable of $8.3 million and deducting it from the $8.8 million. Would he please repeat that question for me?

MR. LORNE A. KENNEDY: Mr. President, I would be happy to. The point I am trying to move to what back up the existing information as to amounts, which are the most accurate figures and current accounts. This figure of $8.3 million is quite correct. However, the point is the wrong impression if we were to assume that the $8.3 million is also an amount which should have been collected and is to eventually be collected by Saskatchewan, and would be applied against the accounts payable.

HON. E. DOYLE LEWIS: This is correct, Mr. President, and the accounts for the year ended 31st June, 1975, which the Member refers which has accounts receivable of $8.3 million. This is so.

MR. SPEAKER: If there is no further supplementary I will invite the Second Elected Member for Rosthern to put his question. (INAUDIBLE). The Second Elected Member for Rosthern?

QUESTION ASKED BY THE SECOND ELECTED MEMBER FOR ROSTHERN (MR. DE ART) TO THE HONOURABLE MINISTER RESPONSIBLE FOR EXECUTIVE COUNCIL APPROPRIATION ACT BEFORE TREASURY AND PUBLIC SERVICES

MR. DE ART: Would the Honourable Member please tell this Government precisely to the operation of the Plans and how many residents have their jobs lost by Government?

HON. E. DOYLE LEWIS: To 1975 Government has contributed four thousand dollars ($5,000) to the Plans. At present we are not paying fees for wages in the Plans.

MR. SPEAKER: If there is no supplementary, since the First Elected Member for Cumberland is not here, may he designate any other Member to ask his question on his behalf, or to ask that the question be postponed?

MR. SPEAKER (CONTINUING): Somehow there still lingers that when all the questions for which oral responses have been called, a Hon. Member may question which has not been asked by reason of the absence of the Member in whose name it stands. In which case, another Member may, if deputized by the absent Member on his behalf, indeed ask the question or request the postponement.

MR. SIDNEY A. SPIVAK: Mr. Speaker, I have not been asked by the Member but I would ask that the questions be postponed until a later date when he is not here to ask them. I would suppose that they may be postponed until a later date.

MR. SPEAKER: Incidentally, he should have deputized you to ask. However, I think we can probably allow a point and it can be postponed. So, I will ask the Clerk to proceed with the business indicating that they be put down for another day.

Item 2 on the Order Paper. Statements.

STATEMENTS BY THE GOVERNMENT FIRST SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS TIME

HON. DAVID A. CROSBY: Mr. Speaker, the question of Daylight Saving Time was raised in the Legislature Assembly during the May, 1966 Meetings. At that time an undertaking was given that the position would be kept under review.

Public response was received by the Chamber of Commerce, by Rotary Clubs' Open Line, and by the Legislative Members. Copies of the two Opinion Surveys undertaken and the Government information were delivered to the honourable Members personally. The privileges of the remarks of the Hon. Member.

Chamber of Commerce	61 for -	76 against and 18 indifferent.
Open Line	7 for -	15 against.
Legislative Opinion	8 for -	22 against.
The totals	76 for -	108 against and 18 indifferent.

The total position indicates that the majority of people polled are not in favour of daylight savings time. Therefore the Government has decided that no steps will be taken to introduce it.

MR. SPEAKER: Item 3, the Appropriation Bill, 1966, Consideration of Second Reading. Commencement of debate. Does any Member wish to speak? I will remind Members that on a previous occasion we were all pleasantly when there was a remarkable reluctance on the part of all Members to be the first speaker. I propose to wait for one minute. If at the end of the minute nobody has risen to speak, I shall put the question. Anybody wish to speak? The honourable Second Elected Member for Springvale.

THE APPROPRIATION (1966) ACT, 1966
AND 1966 SUPPLY ACT

DEBATE ON SECOND READING

HON. HAROLD G. HANSON: Mr. Speaker, I am sure that there are quotations to be made this afternoon. Perhaps should be the first to make a few of the debate on the Budget Address, an address which is hopefully the Government's.

Mr. Speaker, I conclude by saying that I am one of the Newfoundlanders, although there I would just add one more word of congratulation.

First of all, Mr. President, I would like to congratulate the honourable Minister of Finance on this year's budget, the excellent way he presented it, the thoroughness with which he handled it. I would say to Mr. Speaker, I am very pleased with the budget.

I know the difficulties involved in balancing our budget because I, myself was the financial secretary of this country for seventeen years until 1967, then I resigned and handed over the job to my successor, the honourable Chief Minister, who in fact wasn't responsible for the position of the Current Account Surplus. Mr. Speaker, I came to work this year really for those seventeen. I see now that he is indeed a wealthy man and I might as well congratulate him for that.

Mr. Speaker, a financial secretary does not have an easy task by any means. It is a difficult task with the budget happening the way of the country with the problem of unemployment and the money which is available for the Treasury. It is difficult to understand the position which is brought forward in this Assembly because what we receive and what we spend happens in this Assembly because what we receive and what we spend happens in this Assembly because what we receive and what we spend happens

MRS. MARGUERITE S. JOHNSON (Continued): the budget, but we do seek to ask the Department again and again what their budget is based on and to persuade us that we could avoid increased taxes. Mr. President, it was only when Representative Gubbrud and I were satisfied that they had thought hard to eliminate unnecessary, and the budget was cut to the bone, that we supported increased revenue or taxes, whichever was more prudent at the time. Mr. President, I can say in all honesty that my colleagues on the Appropriations Committee followed the same principle.

So, you see, Mr. President, the budget is really a simple matter if we want to look at it in that respect. The people pay this Government revenue which is required to carry the functions they need. All a Government does is directly the level of needed spending and allocate the funds, the revenue accordingly. In other words, Mr. President, the country pays for what it gets. Like the cost of services rendered, we also pay the payment.

Mr. President, the people are now in a position where we have told them that their fine budget cannot and certainly will not be approved. Why because of the supplemental bills, Mr. President. The choice is to pay the increased cost for the same amount of goods, or spend only $100, philosophize the whole process.

Mr. President, the choice is really up to the public. The people can elect whomever they choose. We have told them what the economics of running the country will be and the additional funds needed to carry the load. The people of this country have the choice now. If they do not want to pay increased revenue well, Mr. President, all they need to do is to tell us. It is as simple as all that. By any the people's economic and we will abide by their decision. If we withdraw the increased revenue measures, we will then have to advise you, Mr. President, what services the people will have to do without, for the Budget is twelve, cent cents. We owe it both by them to administer the affairs of this country, no more no less.

Mr. President, every penny of this revenue is being spent in Government and on their individual direct and indirect. The money is not going elsewhere, nor is the money being squandered. Before you decide on the session, Mr. President, you should know the facts behind the increases and the financial position of the country presently, to better be able to decide what to do with this budget.

First of all, Mr. President, the country has no General Reserves. Early in 1967 the projected deficit was $11 million. $11.2 million was used to balance the 1967 fiscal budget $7.9 million. This year, 1968, $3.3 million is being used to assist Capital Projects spread bills and that is it, Mr. President. The balance is held by the Bank as contingency for State funding loss. Otherwise there would be no funds for new revenue measures as we are proposing in this session.

Mr. President, speaking of Capital Projects, since 1957 the airline has made this country $26 million to date, plus $11 million investment directly in this department. That considerable liability was in order that the leasing arrangement for the two jet aircraft may be used by the airline would be put in place. That was negotiated in 1965.

We have heard that the airline carries a large deficit to the economy. We have heard that millions of dollars of dollars are still going in spite of that the country has to operate during this year.

MR. MORRIS C. BUDGE (CONTINUED): Mr. President, we should begin to consider this matter of public funds. It is alright while we have money to augment the national economy, what happens to this when there is no money? Are we going to supplement the public purse for this magnitude of new programs? Mr. President, the Democrats can only pay what it is given to accomplish programs in line. That means will cover the operation of Government services on a reasonably high level of efficiency.

Mr. President, what we must ask ourselves when we take given phase into consideration, is where do we get the funds to keep Legal Services flying? Where do we get money to improve vocational curriculum and to fund new programs which should have come out last May, because Government funds at the time were terminated and employees released?

Mr. President, the answer is simple. The answer is that we must seek funds by some means, and the only means which we have at our disposal is by increased revenue resources.

However, Mr. President, we do have other means, other choices. We have an alternative increasing revenue for the next three years if we do not increase ourselves, and if we allow Congress already scheduled to consider for Government to begin. By which shall it be, Mr. President? These are some facts which we must consider. We should not be concerned here and philosophize things which we are trying to do to improve the economy's image. We must ask ourselves this, do we go forward, or do we go backward? What kind of Government do the people of these Islands want? Do they want a Government which overwhelms the people to give prosperity, or an honest Government which will tell them only needs to be done, and how much it will take to pay for this?

Mr. President, we were elected from our districts and territories, and we will hold fast to those principles as matter what happens. Mr. President, during the last election the people of these Islands were unanimous, Mr. President, let me tell you that we have intelligent people in these Islands. They know what the cost of living has increased over the years. They understand that the effective real spending Government buys them they must build. They see the Government services moved to improve the conditions of the Tower Building. They see the rising trends of improvement in the Government services and, Mr. President, they know that the level of services they have contributing would not remain with these costs. This was the meaning in voting three-quarters for Mr. President, the people elected the Youth. They wanted a Government who would tell them the economic state of the nation's economy and not be afraid to say how much it was costing the Government to operate its various services.

Mr. President, we have just before the people what the position of the Judiciary is. Right or good of it. Is one thing, we are not going to say that the Judiciary is making a profit when it is operating at a loss.

Mr. President, we must again speak of a picture of the nation's state of affairs, and we have owned to the people. We have elected to be them on the basis which was presented, and we must continue on this basis, Mr. President, the decisions as we have them. We have recommended additions as we see them, too.

Mr. President, if you would explain a different concept of costing, please tell me, and please tell me why. Should we eliminate Legal Services, that can relinquish to the outside world and put hundreds of lawyers out of jobs so that we do not have to fund the additional revenue? Should we increase the Head Tax

Mr. [illegible] C. [illegible]: [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SIR. Please be brief.

MR. PRESIDENT: Mr. President, I am very grateful to you for your kindness.

Mr. President, I am very grateful to you for your kindness.

Mr. President, I am very grateful to you for your kindness.

MRS. MARGE C. VUKMIR (CONTINUING): Mr. President, increased revenue has not always been raised in such haste. There have been occasions of abuse of plenty as well. I would especially those increases in the years 1981, 1983 and 1985 especially as the Minority Leader, Mr. President, those years were so good for this country. In fact, Mr. President, over the past eight years that Democrats have controlled our purse strings for the state of Wisconsin, our revenues increased by 3200,000,000, in 1982 revenues increased $700,000, in 1984 revenues increased $2,000,000, in 1985 revenues increased $7,000,000, and in 1986 revenues increased over seven, $2,000,000. These revenues, Mr. President, totaled over 30 times of revenues increased a total revenue of $2,547,000.

SEN. ZIEGLER: I have not wanted to interrupt the former speaker as it did not seem to have required a response. However, we have passed the time when we customarily break. Does it suit the Senator to stop now?

MRS. MARGE C. VUKMIR: Sec, Sir, I am done.

SEN. ZIEGLER: Then in that case let us suspend proceedings for approximately fifteen minutes.

At 11:35 A.M. the Senate recessed

AFTER RECESS AT 11:50 A.M.

SEN. ZIEGLER: Please be seated.

The Secretary will call the roll on Concurrence of Second Reading debate. The Honorable Fourth District Member of Executive Council.

SEN. MARGE C. VUKMIR: Mr. President, I believe when the break was taken, I was giving a breakdown of the revenue increases that occurred over the past eight years. Those revenues, Mr. President, amount to three of billions, and the total amount of revenue which they produced was $7,547,000. Among those 30 occasions, Mr. President, there were seven times. Multiple occupation licenses were raised three times and postal rates three times on mail. Liquor was raised twice, cigarettes twice, corporate taxes, legal fees twice and trade and occupancy licenses twice.

During that time, Mr. President, the personal tax which was often referred to by the Democrats as taxes was only increased from $5 to $10 in 1979. That sort of specific increase on the individual poor person was never considered before that.

Mr. President, there were, as I said, a number of times which were considered and I am just mystified that my colleagues across the aisle would understand that to be not fiscal as this has demonstrated some that power again that are the responsible and party favored. They have to face a responsible kind of the fiscal management.

MR. WILLIAM J. MARKS (continued): Mr. President, I will admit that the present machine which we are discussing on this occasion is no doubt higher than it was of the previous years. However, Mr. President, I have mentioned already, the reason why this is so, and why especially this Government has to introduce this measure to that extent. It is mainly that for the first time in many years we have been left to help pay for the running of overseas. We already received quite a few millions.

Mr. President, these are revenues which we are anticipating we will embark upon in addition to what we have been receiving. It was only, Mr. President, when we were faced with the choice of either increasing our income or increasingly borrow to balance the budget. We chose the former course, and it is for this reason, Sir, that we are introducing this measure.

Mr. President, while coming to office, this Government has accumulated considerable spending and debt commitments. We inherited a number of highly paid expatriates mostly, promoting expenditure, and increasing the efficiency of the operation at the same time. Mr. President, Sir, we have attempted also to maintain a reasonable balance between the Government and the private sector, so did not rely on taxation to make for additional money for unnecessary expenses because, Mr. President, we are dealing with the people's money, and it must be spent wisely and honestly for the good of the greatest number of people and of all times.

Mr. President, without the people's co-operation and understanding we as a Government cannot function well, and cannot represent the people to the best of our ability. We need to have some kind of communication and understanding with the people, without this there cannot be a true democratic government.

Mr. President, we are here for one purpose and one purpose only. We are here to serve the people to the best of our ability, and, Mr. President, our standards are very high. We are here unlimited time, Mr. President, initiative must be a catalyst for progressive suggestions and behind it all must be our basic concern towards building a better Cayman Islands.

I therefore, Mr. President, would encourage this Legislative Assembly to see the Government's case in spearheading the Budget which is that we must look at the people of tomorrow. It is the only responsible thing we do so. The people must understand, Mr. President, that they have many things to be thankful for. The prosperity alone which we have built here is something which has made the Cayman Islands the envy many of the Caribbean and many others of the world.

It is one of the things which will not stay constant today in the international financial market. People go broke and they might the most affluent financial centres. Some of them have vanished. That is always occasion of that sort in the Cayman Islands, circumstances have made us which place because the Government stability is still here.

We should never think that we have arrived. That complacency is their downfall. That everyone of them individually in these Islands, and because of the success of Government between this Government and the United States in the release of prohibitive legislation in connection with [illegible]. It is hoped to have seen of the financial industry that individuals and our business because of the fact that the United States administration would seek of the legislation which was necessary to maintain confidence in which to invest as I have just outlined, there is hope for us in the circumstances and the relation.

HON. PAUL S. SARBANES (CONTINUING): Mr. President, we are of the opinion that the less foreign securities that come to these Islands, more of them there are to take part in the financial business here, it is not really something which a foreign Government should interfere with by the method of imposing withholding requirements because in any case most of the world, whether it be the United States, Canada or the United Kingdom or Switzerland or France or whatever, there are millions of people today who are not paying either their proper amount, some way of avoiding or minimizing taxes within their own country. If these Governments had spent sufficient time on looking at the revenue and expenditure which they gain/sustain they would have found a way, and perhaps they would object quite a lot to [illegible]

Sir, Mr. President, I propose the purpose of the measure [illegible] with a foreign jurisdiction when its terms and its base [illegible] hoping to that country's note economy. This is where [illegible] financial situation. Mr. President, it is the Government's hope that the surplus which is now being negotiated between the United States and this Government through the United Kingdom will [illegible] be mainly aware of this [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. PARKS [St. Andrew Southwest]. Mr. President, this was mentioned all the night through when we approved for the Jamaica worker this year.

...Use of priority use the word for a shortage again for the Jamaica Banana Scheme. Now, Mr. President, the lack of this facility has caused a health hazard, which could in the event of an epidemic destroy the tourist industry and place Jamaica in a serious financial position.

Mr. President, regarding the water problem, the Authority must ultimately develop the Yallahs and Hope and Dykes for the benefit of revenue and to avoid the problems of future droughts. The wells in those areas function by satisfactorily. They are being closely monitored to ensure that no harm is done to the water table.

However, Mr. President, will water for the local industries be curtailed for irrigation or hydroelectric which is processed by desalinization. This system would, in my view be very expensive. To pipe from the eastern end of Kingston, that is to say it would be expensive to pipe the water here from west Kingston. Also we shall have to give thought to the harbour, extending from the present system. I am sure that experts looking at these areas would have worked recommendations given them.

Mr. President, it became quite evident, to the Water Authority that future water supply for Kingston, or for that matter for Jamaica as a whole of the resources will have to be by desalinization process, whereby the Government will later on have to supply to Kingston. In developing new sources we must endeavour to make economical sources are simply to Kingston. In the Water Authority looked at the possibility of a water system for George Town. Mr. President, if we look at George Town today we will see it as a township system. We will see it as a holiday resort. It is private in its capacity. If commercial stores, one must speculate hotels and other commercial buildings going up. The Water Authority made a survey of George Town to see what the demand would be like before it embarked on any system of supply for George Town. It was quite evident that apart from those people who use those commercial system, the demand was not so significant. So, with light, Mr. President, the Water Authority found necessary to determine the requirements of a George Town water supply system and this is now going ahead.

There are two alternative supply sources now available, desalinization of water such as Caribbean Desalinization, Petro Jamaica, and the second is underground water. Both sources consist. Mr. President, these systems are being carried out, possibly to ensure a reliable supply while at the same time securing the best possible price for the public.

Mr. President, it is planned that pipe water would begin flowing in George Town in the latter part of next year. However, of course, we will take some time before the electricity is completed.

Mr. President, in either of the two systems which I have mentioned, the water will be purchased under a turnkey arrangement by the Authority, the one who gives the bid. The water will be pumped on the new River Authority for distribution. Mr. President, the Water Authority plans to build a new pumping station and to completely renew the pipes.

Mr. President, the total project is expected water loss funds for this project. The cost is estimated at $2,000,000. The money will be on loan to the Authority to be repaid to Government as in the case of the Port Authority Bonds.

MR. WILLIS (CONTINUED): It is to be a financially viable scheme. In other words, the Bauxite will be able to meet the overhead cost and repay the loan. I should also mention, Mr. President, that an interconnection of a second water supply for Cayman Brac will be undertaken in early 1988. If sufficient ground water is located in the Bluff, a development similar to Town Hall/Spot Bay will be provided for Cayman Brac.

Mr. President, the Bauxite Mills Project deserves support as also will the Hog. The mine is estimated at 70/80 million. Caribbean Refractories Limited has been approved a loan for the scheme in the sum of [illegible] million. This loan is given on terms we would regard as reasonable today. These terms are a five year moratorium on principal repayment, which facilitates a five year re-payment of principal repayment. The balance of [illegible] million, Mr. President, will be provided by this Government from local resources, however, an additional loans to the loan for the other schemes. So, in other words, Mr. President, although Government may be providing money for these schemes, these funds must be repaid at lower rates than the Government to be repaid from the schemes of the Authority.

Mr. President, the Water Mile Beach area is one which should be able to meet the cost of the service and provide revenue to allow the Water Authority to operate with financial stability. The scheme will not be a burden to Government the design for the project, Mr. President, is now complete; and the programme has already been implemented and is on schedule, I understand.

Consultants for the project have been retained and will be engineer by January, 1988. The project, Mr. President, is scheduled for completion by early 1992.

Mr. President, during this year there were complaints about an unusually large number of mosquitoes, especially in the George Town area. An investigation of these complaints revealed that they were aware of the problem. They endeavoured to get out the reason for it which I will mention. He said that the highest rainfall in Grand Cayman recorded a similar amount of the rain just completed as the last time that it was, but higher than in 1986. Although the numbers were high in 1987 and 1988, they were still considerably less than they were at the peak of the year. He said that in the areas where insecticide spraying was the only method of control, mosquito numbers were considerably very high, especially in the areas of North Side, Breakers and Frank Sound. This was due to the fact that the heavy rainfall came at times that had not been planned for at least while during the very dry season. This was coupled with the unusually low tides at the beginning of the rainy season. It was not until the end of August that tides returned significantly to prevent rain water from running off or standing into the mangroves in these areas. By this time a very large egg base had accumulated in the mud, leading to a very large emergence of mosquitoes.

Mr. President, the Hospital Board and Council will plan to take a programme to apply pre-emergence larvicide in the mangrove swamps. These areas are particularly North Side and Breakers and on the South Side areas. This should bring about considerable reduction to those experienced on the west side of the Island. This is commendable, Mr. President, not only to ease the situation in the eastern districts, but because mosquitoes from these parts often migrate around the North Sound and affect the western end of the Island.

MR. PRICE of Illinois: The question of this gentleman's being [illegible] to the session and has since also viewed a particularly bad economic season in Illinois [illegible].

Mr. Speaker, I would also like to mention something about agriculture and some of my other legislative [illegible]. However, this might be a convenient time for the House to recess.

MR. SPEAKER: The House being in agreement, the House stands recessed until approximately 8.15 p.m.

AT 10.45 P.M. THE HOUSE RESUMED

FROM RECESS AT 8.29 P.M.

MR. SPEAKER: [illegible] Consideration of the Second Reading Motion on the Appropriation Bill, 1959. The Honourable Deputy Minister of Industries [illegible].

MR. VASCO G. CORDEIRO: Mr. Speaker, at the break at Recreation I was just discussing on Research and Animal Husbandry and I would like to speak on Agriculture.

Mr. Speaker, Agriculture in these Islands has been unsatisfactory for the [illegible] many years. In recent times, however, the Government decided that it was about time the Department would [illegible] so as the Agricultural matters [illegible] concerned, or to decide the future of the Department.

Mr. Speaker, it should [illegible] there has been rising [illegible]. At the beginning of this year an Agricultural Development Committee was established [illegible] Department could be guided and [illegible] Chairman. Mainly [illegible], perhaps [illegible] a person would be difficult to [illegible] there are no qualified [illegible]. So, it was decided to seek the advice of someone who is [illegible] to look at the islands, what we have at present and to say what the future lies so [illegible] Agriculture develop [illegible]. It is thought to be a wise [illegible] which is a Government department [illegible] whose people [illegible] Agricultural matters here.

Mr. Speaker, we had plans of [illegible] we have not been able to as the [illegible] available. At present [illegible] I may [illegible] have [illegible] and [illegible] to have [illegible] to the [illegible]. The persons recently [illegible] and also the [illegible]. They will advise their report shortly and [illegible] Government will have to the report, and deal with the recommendations accordingly. It seems as though the [illegible] have on the farmers [illegible] to be carried out [illegible] Mr. Speaker, I [illegible] people who would [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Agriculture in these [illegible].

HON. TERRY C. [illegible] (CONTINUED): ...the Government, unfortunately, has missed on its promises of freedom. The Government is now getting politically into deep water because of the failure. This will continue to 1993.

The Government is committing the development of the economy. Money that used to benefit of investment Jamaicans will rather have invested into the Islands. This shipment consisted of cassettes, buffalo and tobacco. This is of course, Mr. President, in keeping with Government policy to upgrade the local sector. The Government provided the necessary funds for this venture.

In the area of natural resources, Mr. President, the Government is also moving ahead with this. It hopes this year a new variety of tobacco known as Mr. Williams Hybrid will be introduced from Canada. Of the 7,000 seedlings which were received, 500 were sold to farmers. 200 were planted at Bodles Food Station, and 300 were planted at the Demonstration Farm in Lower Village. Those planted at Bodles Food were showing signs of eight hand leaves at five and a half months and attained a height of sixty six feet. Mr. President, one of the advantages in this crop is known as [illegible] plant more seedlings per acre. The farmers produce [illegible] quality plant, hence their price increase and they can more easily [illegible].

Mr. President, the Department has also begun a study tour. This tour is ongoing and will serve the number of requests for spraying from both farmers and private [illegible]. So, the public has been advised of this. The service is available for anyone who needs it.

Mr. President, the Department has imported a number of foreign varieties with increased [illegible]. Among them are [illegible] Hybrid, a local company [illegible] is an amended soil with [illegible], which is part of local material. The first product should be on market in December, or should I say late month.

The second is a proposed [illegible] farm in Lower Orpen [illegible] and now in the management of the tourist [illegible]. This is considered a useful development as a tourist attraction. It is hoped that the development will move ahead fairly quickly.

The other development, Mr. President, is the change from the Japanese garden to the Bamboo [illegible]. The development has already started. However, it is hoped to be completed by January next year. The land preparation for this development has already started.

Mr. President, the Department also requested that the Agricultural Show which was held in February this year was the best show in five years. The exhibits were of a high standard despite the problems which we experienced at that particular time.

Mr. President, moving on to the Department of Planning. What I have found in the Department is a shortage of staff. Mr. President, this Department has the multi-component of staff of any Department in the Civil Service. It has a total of eighteen people. It includes only one Institutional Planner who has responsibility to cope with all the [illegible] in the entire Island. Mr. President, this is a [illegible] and it is no wonder that so many plans [illegible] are being created in the Island. Besides the plan [illegible], Mr. President, there is almost a [illegible] by many people, namely the builders, to follow the [illegible] guidelines given by the Central Planning Unit.

MR. MCCALL (CONTINUED): There are many such cases and it is difficult when people already on pension planning procedures, especially when amendments were into employment wages. In many of these, Mr. President, it is the public who is suffering in hardship while building inspectors search and succeed to see nearly a half of them. So, Mr. President, it seems to me that this situation, a lack of adequate staff, must be borne in mind when we are considering estimates for Government Departments. I do not think that we can ignore this most important. I am not saying that is the situation, Mr. President, although proper submission was not made to Government for staff. First, I understand that it is just to recent time that concern is being expressed in the Department about this situation.

Similarly, Mr. President, we will continue to have also serious community and more important environmental problems to come to the estimates, we will be making accounts for an increase in staff there.

Mr. President, the Department of Lands and Survey has just moved into the Lower building, some of these smaller Departments are moving. Nevertheless, for instance in terms of Rawlinson House. They were currently in the old Public Works Department compound, the Department of Lands and Survey is now in the Lower Rawlinson building. They are doing quite well knowledge to improve. Their final expenditure for this year will show a budget area in regularisation to some areas, although this idea not necessarily result a decrease in the estimate. On the contrary, Mr. President, the normal process indicate a steady and healthy growth in the most modern sector. It indicates that this new recruitment. So, it is anticipated that there will be a rapid growth, according to indications, in the manufacturing development, that this will accelerate on the heels of tourist and natural tourism, and for which other areas stand.

Mr. President, there has been an indication that during 1988 a new zone of development emphasis is coming towards the east side of the West Bay Road. Several important land transactions have occurred in this area recently which further emphasises the anticipated development in particular.

Mr. Speaker, going back to some of the matters I mentioned this morning, in speaking about diplomatic and consular activity in Cayman's image, the currency which I used was United States dollars. In the case of Miami each injection, I said that the amount was one million. In fact, an injection was $500,000 instead. I should have mentioned now, Mr. President, that with all the money which has been injected into Cayman through the subscription initiated by us by Government for its activities, Cayman Airways at the present time is in the order of only four million dollars. In other words, Cayman Airways will perhaps applaud in one hour a large applause taking into consideration the participation which was made by Private Companies recently and which is not yet told on the Table here. The accounts reflect a large expenditure that should be represented in airfield and other things. The amount of $4 does not reflect more than the small Subscription. So, Cayman Airways is more or less reasonably on a proper footing.

Mr. President, I mentioned this morning that we are not the only one to introduce new measures. I gave a statement of some of the measures which were introduced over the last eight years. However, first of all I mentioned that it is not only in recent years that we consider revenue measures. However, if we look at the years 1969 to 1988 which were considered the busy years and we are the most prosperous period in the history of this Cayman Islands, we will see that new revenue measures were introduced in three of these years, 1969, 1982 and 1985, and that these three years' measurements totalled a sum of $16 million.

MR. PASTORE. [illegible]. Please move the yeas and nays. Government had generous use I am not grousing at this. All systems [illegible].

In 1974 the personal tax, which is at present assessed at an income tax by the Opposition was increased from $2 to $10. Maybe, and you know, Mr. President, this is not like [illegible]. Anybody who can buy a motor car can afford to pay $100 a year instead of $2. Because, that $10, as in $10 the most the most you pay. Yet it was increased from $2 to $10. And what can be done? The Opposition and the people who always talk about patronage, increased [illegible].

Mr. President, you know what we have [illegible]. I bet you account yourself. We have reported that [illegible] to more people and nobody is the society [illegible].

Mr. President, over the last eight years [illegible] the Government of the time introduced new [illegible] of persons, totalling a sum of $7,5[illegible], $10 [illegible]. Mr. President, surely that this the Senate were there [illegible] painful necessities Governments every asked those times and points since were taken three times. Well, you think the Government of the day will enjoy for what there was [illegible]. We are not [illegible]. Mr. President. However, when we come to a situation, when there are no measures and improvement in the services of Government and [illegible], when there is no money left in the kitty to finance these additional costs and we have more [illegible] people and no revenue resources to supplement the need and, Mr. President, that would be not only [illegible] in this immediate Government, that need applies as well [illegible] the need of the national [illegible]. If we add also [illegible] [illegible] in the [illegible] budget, what has been struck off recently, Mr. President, had those needs not been there [illegible] would have been able to pay its debts and there would [illegible] for new measures.

So, we must not lose sight of the fact that if we are to maintain this [illegible] of a reciprocal service, we must pay the price. Of course, I would not encourage any Member of this Government to go out for what Members of the past Administrations [illegible], that many points of the Treasury could be given to [illegible] in the end. I think that we should [illegible] take a hard look at the position before we have to [illegible].

Mr. President, I would recommend to the Honourable Members that the Budget as presented [illegible] would [illegible] maximum requirement for this Government. We spent [illegible] and many [illegible] since this Budget will be [illegible] we have raised one [illegible] and I personally, Mr. President, have [illegible] to [illegible] so much that I do not enjoy [illegible] to it. What we are presenting here, Mr. President, is almost the [illegible]. If we have to [illegible], I would prefer [illegible] to [illegible].

Anyway, as I said earlier in my address, I am presenting a budget. It is simply the people's [illegible]. The money [illegible] provided there is to pay for services which all [illegible] in this [illegible]. It is unlikely as to what to say whether [illegible] these services that I have outlined [illegible] services, [illegible] education heavily subsidized, health services and all the [illegible], people [illegible] very little for those services and pay [illegible]. Mr. President, because the [illegible] of being taxed [illegible] what we enjoy. However, I have warned this House [illegible] to [illegible] a saturation point where the price of service is the [illegible] withdraw to consumption. If we are not [illegible], we are going to [illegible] people [illegible] out of the service. If that happens, Mr. President, good-bye.

Mr. PARRA S. (Guyana) (interpretation): We have no wish of discrediting the country. Our Government and the Parliament would not do anything to damage any of them. But we do not want to be misled by Governments to believe that we have been there already. We cannot afford to delay the implementation of a postal savings system otherwise how can we solve other and real problems without a financial industry.

So, Mr. President, let us not let ourselves and our small saving services remain and not provide them with the facilities available to us. We have to become convinced to know, to believe that everything is true and that they will face responsibility. Well, that is not my Mr. President. A few of mine have been just into the building of the Guyana Industrial Assembly over the years. The task has just off because we have always considered to be responsible party to do all that we did. We intend to maintain a stable Government and an atmosphere of investment here. Therefore who go around looking for an office? Look on which to do business and come to Guyana Industry, wealthy people of my Member. This is a process already in all of us who have shared in the development over the last two decades or so.

Mr. President, I recognize that there have been issues in this Assembly in the past. However, I am sure you will also be interested in Guyana. If we have only a report from our Secretary and for the people who live here, then we should endeavour that consider in the manner in which we deal with the questions of this Organ. I hope that a few initiatives can take place from time to time. Therefore, to all of us those that have a view of confidence when we forget about the politics of ourselves and give more strength to the hands of the country and the people.

Mr. President, I support the proposal that concerning appointments for 1982, and all the necessary arrangements. I would like to thank you in particular, Mr. President, for your indulgence during the time I have been on my feet, and I would like to thank the Secretariat staff Officials Members for the assistance and cooperation given.

Thank you, Sir.

The PRESIDENT: The United Kingdom has the floor.

Mr. D. PARRIS (United Kingdom): Mr. President, I also would like to take the opportunity to congratulate the Secretariat on their excellent budget document, presented in most understandable way.

Having said that, Mr. President, I do not agree with, nor did I welcome the decision to increase the budget which places the level of growth to four times. So, Mr. President, I have a little bit to say and I am going to ensure your indulgence and that of Members to allow me to make changes in my opening notes so that I can get it all into perspective, because I would hate to have to wait for the Standing Orders to be suspended.

Mr. President, this budget document was first presented to us, Monday preceded the rise of the Assembly over the last few years and remarkably that is the work of conservative but economical Governments, who are also responsible in their approach to the running of the Secretariat.

Mr. D. Orlikow (Scarborough): Mr. Speaker, there is one surprise, Sir, and that is that my colleague, the Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce (Mr. Pepin) is not here. On the 15th March, Sir, between the hours of 7:45 p.m. and 12:00 p.m. I unsuccessfully attempted -- unsuccessfully, Sir, to get through this Honourable House and the vote was undecided. The Globe Newspaper of that morning, Mr. Speaker, said:

> "And as it stands Members from each opposition party concerned should propose the exact dollar-per-barrel Canadian Petroleum Markup they'd like to see this Honourable House for consideration at the meeting of this Honourable House to-night. Any Member of Parliament for consideration."

That is what it says, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, I can thank that that is how you passed. I have heard very little about this economic plan. I realize that it is difficult for the Minister, Sir, I appointed a programme engineer. I hope that the Honourable Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce will be taking notes, until in his working up debate, Sir, about some light on what has happened to our economic plan and why it was not studied in the nation early, with any input. However, Sir, I firmly believe that the determined ingenuity and success of this country depends very heavily on sound economic planning. I believe that it is vital to the continued prosperity of this nation that we take the time to plan where we are going and how we are going to get there. Sir, policies which are formed, especially economically in the House should not be lightly formulated.

Mr. Speaker, the previous measures introduced in this Budget are to some extent inevitable and I'm wondering, Sir, if they are going to affect all areas of the country and all the people of these regions, not only the little rich. However, Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that any of these measures are catastrophic. I hope that they are merely adequate to ensure the needs of the country, maintaining the financial credits that the country is in. Quite recently, Sir, there was an article in the Vancouver entitled "Blueprint to prosperity". Mr. Speaker, that is the honeymoon is over. However, Sir, like all good honeymoons, including my own, for which I'm grateful, we had a good time. When I took my wife on our honeymoon we had a good time. We went to the finest restaurants. I bought her the finest gifts. We stayed at the most expensive hotels. We even gambled a little in Reno. However, Sir, I am still paying the Royal Bank of Canada back for it and that is the actual position which this country is in today. We have had nine years of great prosperity and honeymoon and now, Sir, the time has come to pay.

These measures might create more unemployment in some areas of the country. They might even have inflationary effects on the cost of living. However, Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that they are going to really create any great problems for the people, because the services are being provided and the corporations have to be paid for. However, Mr. Speaker, hereby increased taxes measures to increase the revenue we as individuals must make certain that the citizens of this country who can afford to pay these taxes get services which they deserve. They have to pay higher for gasoline. I hope I did not ignore the Honourable Minister as badly as he said he was, Mr. Speaker. He asked me to point this out.

MR. SECRETARY: I wonder, on the Medicare bill, if we could be given to speak for four hours, or six hours, whether we might take to recess for lunch for a period while other Members can give statements to take their necessary statements known. Would that be a convenient moment for you?

MR. D. DOUGLAS DILLON: Yes, sir.

MR. SECRETARY: Very well. I will suspend proceedings for approximately fifteen minutes.

(A brief recess was taken.)

AFTER RECESS AT 4:15 P.M.

MR. SECRETARY: Please be seated.
Continuation of the Second Hearing before the Appropriations Bill. The Clerk will call the roll.

MR. E. CONRAD DILLON: Yes, Mr. President. Mr. President, in the opening part the statements presented by the Honorable Secretary that the budget this fiscal year, I am also both should be more healthy and would lead to the [illegible]. Mr. President, I would like to point out some of the areas which I feel this Budget makes [illegible]

First, I would like to look, also, at the statements also of the budget. [illegible] 22 [illegible] with the Military, the Civilians and their pensions for which Congress [illegible]. Mr. President, in the 1950s and early 1970 also Civil Servants pay was $400 or $500 per month, the maximum at which they started and [illegible] the [illegible] and the maximum were raised, I would classify some of these [illegible]. Secondly, Mr. President, both under the existing [illegible] $3,000 in [illegible] I like to [illegible] to [illegible] has been for a [illegible] Civil Servants are [illegible] [illegible]. In 1948 there were 2,400 Civil Servants. In 1960 there were 1,200. In 1964 there were 1,200 and it is [illegible] there since 1964 to 1,237. Mr. President, the [illegible] of the Civil Servants today in this country as one we [illegible] the [illegible] of the private sector in this country was [illegible] [illegible] is being at $75 per month, for [illegible] I [illegible] to [illegible] Government [illegible], Congressional [illegible] [illegible] Mr. President, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Mr. President, I would like to [illegible] [illegible] Senate Committee I will be happy to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

MR. C. RICHARD WITMER (CONTINUING): The money involved in these three activities, Sir, is not a big problem. It is a $128,520. It will be $128,520. In 1975 it is going to be $108,870. That is a reasonable amount of money to be paying out in terms for military and such. That is one of the areas which I believe, if we remove from the budget, the defense could be reflected in other areas of the country's economy which do not exist today.

Sir, my final plea is for the maintenance budget of $91,500 under Personnel for maintenance. If there is to be some sensible objectives to keeping in overall parity or a direction for peace in the areas, that is a lot of money for maintenance. It is good to see, Sir, that $140,000 is included under Construction for training. However, Mr. President, I hope that this indicates the policy to be established in the next session that they are going to be given the opportunity to vote it, because I can well remember, Sir, as a child Supreme Commander Eisenhower's comments on disarmament. At the end of the day we were told, "No, we are not ready." One afternoon days you will get a chance to vote it, but you know we have to first successfully to include your plans before we can proceed again. This seems to be a final answer, Sir. One which is experience and the other side of qualification. If one does not have the qualifications they will fail, the second the qualifications. It is left to unilaterally and gone altogether and never look with a qualification that they will have what be needs experience. Mr. President, that the Minister is going to support the benefits which are to improve your three remaining programmes and those people who attend them and to be successfully the policy to be given the opportunity to perform and address in the Civil Service.

Another area of the Supplementary Estimates, Sir, which gives no cause concern is Sick Leave and Overtime. There are for what they will never understand. In 1974, Sir, this figure was $318,213. In 1975 is to be increased to $384,400. Now, Mr. President, this Government must be making a lot of noise and they must be the responsible kind, Sir. The more responsible course only to maintaining the essential number of people which exist in the Service. I noticed this point of Planning Conditions in Korea, and the Honourable Third Official Member mentioned that he was going to investigate it and look at the possibility of putting this area out to public bid. I can only assure, Sir, that it is to avoid undue investigation as I have seen no advertisements for vacancies in the newspaper.

I did so that, Mr. President, that we are presently to spend under Capital Budget $91,500 to buy vehicles for transport, police and fire communications. Mr. Mr. Peterkins, whose everything be done to reduce the cost of maintaining these radios to Government, as now cannot this figure to be over higher in 1975. Mr. President, something to occur. The want to help, noting over recently a row on radio communications in Ocean Pilot's.

Geographically, Sir, I think that the highest point in this country is 23 feet and that is the part of my Constituency of Mount Sion. This, Sir can happen that Government already has obligations to Local Town radio towers which are over 200 ft high and that does not include the radio signal tower at the Civil which would be utilized. I am not a radio man or an electronics expert, Sir, but I believe that there are ways of relaying which could be used. That would obviously improve the communications system than the practice of duplicated towers. I have a small boat, Sir, and there are those times because I have great difficulty communicating with the land authority from my base in Mon Point. Something needs to be done, Sir. My radio is good. I can operate under 2 to 3 miles off shore I can contact from Alexian, Holly Court.

MR. S. SIBUSE MUSONE (CONTINUED): October 1990, which gives us
2004 more reasons to celebrate 92-200, Nyasaing. Mrs. Mr. President, in this Budget we are proposing to spend $1.8 million on housing of
I am only aware separately about Government in this country in 1992, that, again in the Capital Budget there is a figure of $65,000 for Government and Parliament in Government Houses. Mr. President, that total $1,850,000 is unacceptable. I think we must go and go to spend on health care. It is unfair to have one group to enjoy in social services. It is time that we made up our minds in the Judicial services. Mr. President, I do not know what we need to do to reduce this figure but we need to do something. $2.8 million to house expatriates Civil Servants in an extravagant amount of money.
If we have to find out of these cuts we have now and have had many cuts now elsewhere, there have to be savings which must be realized
Mr. President, Sir, we in the meantime, the Queen Salaam in the first to fifth world Parliaments I can think that especially would want to visit. Since it is Queen Salaam, we have a good climate. Also some of these people want to whether visiting in England or Australia.
I can pay their personally pay for their house down here. There is a lot more to, I should say, we do not know to worry about this is our Middle East that there might be a contribution that Government pay their property. Should we have had our cuts that there might be.
However, I do have really believe that they is unrealistic, Sir. There is going and suffer. There are all kinds of benefits to be gained by visiting in the Queen Salaam. These people are getting big salaries and good jobs, they do really afford their contribution.
It is not time to give them tickets. We do have to get rid this waste.
$1.8 million in housing alone.

I will now be moving a motion to Finance Committee to remove that vote from the Budget. Is the only other possible Parliament there is more to move, Sir.

MR. President, also in the Budget there is a $8.5 million which is to be made to subsidy in the domestic route of Cayman Airways. Now Mr. President, I really do not believe that this country can afford more, Sir, as I really believe that we need to subsidize the domestic air route, because I believe that there are private flyers who are willing to provide or pool a service on the Frichardson principle today, as a better service of an route by Government.
They like these private flyers land on the remote areas of Grand Cayman or Cayman Brac they are ready to have to pay landing fees as they would be business for Government. They are going to be charged landing fees on the way. They are going to have offices space in the Owens Buildings and, Sir, anything which can increase the revenue to that site Government we have to do, because we have a heavily vote taxpayer.
I still personally cannot see why we should have spent, Sir, the Government in order. We are going to have to pay for it.

Mr. President, I would like to place a reminder upon the people of this country to pay tribute to ourselves Cayman Airways Limited's domestic routes to the extent of $8.5 million when in the case of the Caribbean, Sir, we have a Government who do not subsidy of that airways. I know at least four private Companies which are fully qualified commercial instrument rated pilots of Sir Fly Brac. Of course, Sir, they are being very much used to a reliable service and to work as a commercial pilot for the airline they have got to look for hours flying. Now, Sir, how do we remedy this, keep upgrading Government to get the hours flying or we are also also to fly with the services which they have? Instead use people whose do subsidize. It comes back again to the fact we, Sir, of tourism and multiplications.

Mr. Speaker, I happen to know of instances where other young people have come back to this country with the same qualifications, but they absolutely had unsatisfactory which none of these fine young people have, because they were denied by the airlines without the 707 known experience.

Mr. Speaker, apart from the case of Transatlantic, they are getting these young Canadians that British subsidiary that we have 707 known qualities type of training under the circumstances which exist. They are fully qualified through qualifications noted points by United States standards but the British rule in this case is very stringent. Six hours are not enough. They must have 700 hours. However, Sir, the Transatlantic service is necessary. That is allowed by the British to go-ahead under the more British regulations, but the CAA regulations which are more stringent say that other, I think it is, 10 passengers, and I agree with them to some extent, they must have a co-pilot. We agree with flexibility, Sir. It is either or. Either we are going to abide by one set of rules or we are going to abide by the other set of rules. We cannot have these changed for economics to suit certain individuals.

We have a customer very recently where two of these five pilots, one of whom is a member of my constituency and that is how I got involved in this, came over qualified. I think all five people, my friend the Minister of Labour and those others there are many people because they could show how well qualified of this type. Now, Sir, I do not believe and I would hate to make any mistake, Sir, that these young people's rights were played with so that they were set up to have most for some people with airline jobs who might be coming behind. However, Mr. President, these people were terminated. They were told off on a memo with a day's notice and the story goes very unfavourable from there on. Firstly they were told that they would be given transportation rights to the job. They were entitled for rights and some of these rights entertainment. And they were told the two young people were sent out to Calgary. They did not understand, Sir, that they would be given a schedule of their interviews, a schedule of their interest, education, training. Sir, in the first instance all they were given was about a quarter of a page of a standard British Aerospace writing pad with, one name and one telephone number. The two young people were given instructions and instead they would go anyway and do the best they could. They arrived in Winnipeg and there were no reservations or instructions to follow. Again, they were flown anywhere and they got no follow. They found a hotel and a place to stay.

The next day they went to the building that they were told that the interviews were going to be held in only to find out, Sir, that they were in the wrong building. They persevered, arrived elsewhere and eventually found the right building. They attended the interviews. They were told on the first day by the interviewers that they were not going to come. They persevered, and the next day, both of these young people had unanimously passed the test and the recommendation was that they be flight engineers to go on a simulator, but they were not told that they had to do an exam at the end of this two week period. They were told that the IQT exam was absolutely essential. They would not get on the simulator without this exam.

They sat the exam for the second time, as the pass is 70 percent and to get the pass grade for the FAA exam. Now, Mr. President, my sympathies are not for the airlines as they are where most of the fault lies. They owned the simulator that was being used for Cayman Airways. The instructor could not be here today and he would have to wait the Cayman Islands to find another

MR. D. JOSEPH WILSON (PEMBROKE): Mr. Speaker, this Government, Sir, is supposed to have previously granted a number of pilots for Ogoja Province. There were all kind of rumours about people being given the many awards. They did not have enough awards and things like that. They were told after the case that the case could not go out for Ogoja Province. They were worried to meet their colleagues working on Monday night at 7.00 p.m. and they requested a call from the Ogoja Province people to return to Ogoja again on the first available flight because they had failed.

Now, Mr. President, after they got back to Ogoja, my constituent member was not there to be involved in it. I attended a meeting and my colleague the Imperial Ambassador friend from West Bay, the Samoai Tourist Member for West Bay was also there. These people met on Monday, Sir, in the Chairman of the Board, of which I received a copy, exactly what had happened. It was the whole shenanigans. At the meeting, I asked those in attendance at the meeting to send the letters which I had received, which they did. I was told that the letters were an accurate account of what had happened. Mr. President, I submit that questions at that meeting set the atmosphere. Sir, in most ways our national airline has a flourishing economy, a flourishing place to work. Some people who have been retired at flight engineers level I used grade 'A' in our book. However, there are good people here, there people of no par merit. I was by colleague the Second Elector, Member for West Bay City, that anything with the impression that everything was going to be done to model these big young people. They were going to be given another opportunity. That is just words only, Sir. They are still waiting for substantive for that new opportunity.

Yesterday afternoon I was told that they are going to be offered, Sir, the opportunity to fly on their own in essential, that is the Colombia connection, the Fairchild flights that is two to three flights morning. They are going to receive training re-conversion. They are supported by pilots somewhere else. Mr. President, Sir, I doubt that these two young people can fly from 7.00 to 8.00 p.m. and yet in a Cessna they're used with any agency the next day. Mr. President, I know that other people, for whatever reasons, whether it was because of [illegible] of one kind or another were allowed to work in the operations section of this airline and join experienced before they were sent on their course. Mr. President, in the final analysis, what these young people are being offered is absolutely no offer whatsoever.

So, Mr. President, I cannot support and ask the families of these people and other people in this country to keep those where are going to provide an unnecessary subsidy for the domestic route. We must have one standard and it must be fair to all people, Sir.

Mr. President, as I said earlier on, while I support these measures to increase revenue to provide services for the people of this country, I also want to see, Sir, improvements in these services. Again I understand that the unprofitable internal network of Nigerian Airways [illegible] to be given one out some 200 million from the budget which was announced to them by the Administrative Minister of the Civil Service. I believe, Sir, that there are still some improvements where there is the need to [illegible] to Government. I also believe, Sir, that there are some improvements, improvements and [illegible] to Government.

Mr. P. Veera Raju (Kothacheruvu): The Point of Order Secretary, Sir, which I think is an unnecessary harassment, in the Water Authority. Two years ago, Sir, I was given a survey which was prepared by the present Chairman of the Water Authority which was in connection with the absolute necessity for a Water Authority for the purpose of the Water Authority in this area. The interesting thing about that survey, Sir, is that he had his salary fixed for three years at Rs.1,000 per thousand per month. The total, Sir, in the 1980 budget that a study has already amounted to Rs.2,00. I think that all of the other expenditure for the study had been written into that salary. The total amount estimated in this budget for the Water Authority was Rs.2,00.

Now, Mr. President, I would be the first to admit that some planning should go in into giving water supply in this country. I also recognise, Sir, that this country, the Water Authority, is not the creation of the present Government. However, Sir, I am saying the Planning of Executive Council that unless they put this matter in a shape, we can't really go into Drinking Water Schemes in our lands. The reason why I feel that the Water Authority is unnecessary harassment, Sir, is that I feel that it should be confined to a regulatory function of Public Works Department. The technical wing which is part of the Water Authority and which I will be the first to agree that this technical wing, belongs under the Public Health Division of Government where the skilled people dispose of.

Mr. President, I was under impression that we are planning to spend Rs.2,00 to provide a water supply for Ongole Town. Now, Mr. President, I believe that this money can be better spent in other areas, because if I might even guess, Sir, the wellfield which are developed in Ongole we have told that they could take the calculation of our water problems for years to come for Ongole Town, Kothapatnam and Kodur Town, and even beyond that. I do not know, Sir, whether the water up there is so much that it cannot be said any more on what the position is. Because, if this programme in the provide piped water for Ongole Town I question the Ongole, Sir, the area and the decline. Most of the people in Ongole Town including the big commercial institutions around here have their own storage facilities. Even I have seen a water tower recently which is near the Bank of India Kendra Building.

Mr. President, those people who have storage facilities are not interested, I do not believe, in piped water supply. In fact, I believe that what most people do this country is to a source where they can get good potable water when their pipelines run dry. I believe that many few people would connect to piped water supply in Ongole Town. I certainly do not believe that the Water Authority will be expected to do so a Government organisation will pay the same way. This would only create a piped system.

Mr. President, when I read in the press that Government is doing right I consider certain areas to be rehabilitated, and we drive by the agricultural fields and there are hundreds of feet of bore wells dried up in the ground unnecessarily while, I doubt very much, Sir, that this country of 75,000 people can provide any of these heavy supplies of water. What the people of this country are used to dealing with, Sir, is handpumps. There are people in this country who can sell handpumps to people themselves, whereas when they come to a piped industry they look behind them, wonder where to go and what to do in these matters again, they had to rely upon. Rehabilitation plant in that region were working as they should and not of water failure any more.

MR. D. DEANS MYRIE (CONTINUING): I do not believe, Sir, that the solution for the future operation of water in this country lies in massive capital, nor ground water of which we have no inkling, since Barbados still scientific tests that have to continue for instance, Sir, I now tell you that I know at least one house where the well water has been reduced in quality because of the pumping of salt water for that restaurant. I remember hearing the Second Elected Member for Saint John say in a Meeting, Sir, that one thing we should not get from that water was that we should not be allowed the water for the nights, there would not be any water. My brother knows in that area, Sir, that when we talked the water we did not get any water in our nights. However, I also think the Hon. Member today, she gets some of her water in the night. Sir, that scientific tests can give. When we talked the water we did not get any water in our nights. However, I also think the Hon. Member today, she gets some of her water in the night. Sir, that the general problems and the experience of the people in these areas will tell you that the ground water is being depleted and reduced in quality.

Mr. President, this country has many untried applications to water problems. We have left the industrialist provision to a private firm, the Government should not be a private firm. The ground water in this area, on the same way, should be taken responsibility by a private firm. All of these things are being done until we come to Government and our economic responsibility for Government. I think in 1985 the water investment may experience of about $15,000 in Government. I would hardly suppose, Sir, that what we mean to do since water in this country is to privatise but the provisions to provide firms who might be in through Specifications, we are not going to give the provisions for by.

I do not think that Government has any business in businesses with the production of water. The other thing which is being looked across about providing power water there ought to be the Caribbean Caribbean Corporation, I will talk with you what my opinion of that is, Sir. I believe that that is a chance for more economic negotiations. If they get in we now contract negotiations required before the water provisions to be given, there is not going to be any water provided, because all of a sudden we are going to have that it comes in some unknowingly.

Sir, I have been very cautious encouragement from this Hotel industry. I think, Sir, that we should leave the production of water to the private sector. All the country needs is an adequate provision of water for necessary purposes. People of this country, Sir, I believe only need one rate only which is willing to pay for a water supply which they need it when all a sensible economy and it was to maintenance of their house, that is my investment question, Sir. They should pay fifteen cents gate and I would not mind at all. This would allow the business water connection to stay in business and we have an increase small businesses in this country, Sir.

Now quite I would like the time to point a comment to the Government Senate, on the report that we may say, that I will be bringing a motion in three weeks time for investigation of anti-tenant and anti-monopoly laws in this country. I would have brought it in this Meeting, Sir. However, I did not get a copies of the various amendments and anti-tenant laws to come to substantially debate the subject. The Minister Minister is going to speak on this, Sir, so it will be here.

MR. D. DOUGLAS WILDER (CONTINUING): Mr. President, another department which plays an important role and which I feel that the people of this country are not getting enough for money is the Public Works Department. Mr. President, one of the problems around which we have a duty to examine is the budget in one year. That is what it comes to boils on the needs of the Virgin Islands. I believe, Sir, that if we are going to ask people to pay more to invest on the needs of the Virgin Islands we are going to have to make sure that money is spent in Public Works on the needs, is merely spent will be not wasted.

Mr. President, I will give you a few illustrations of what I think is wasting in the Public Works Department in the building of roads. Most recently in my district I suggest equipment in some other districts on St. Croix I took my time out, Sir, to observe Public Works at work and on one day that is what I found.

On the Centerline Road in Mt Pleasant there was a grader and a mixer. They were building a road with natural shale and were continually going back and forth. Assuming I parked my truck for 45 minutes. In that 45 minutes they passed that grader approximately six to eight times in each, the mixer and the driver were idle for the full 45 minutes. There were no level surfaces on the side of the road to guide the grader as they were building. As a result the road was broke up and there were ridges on it. So it is a very unpleasing piece of road.

On the same day on that Mt Pleasant Main Road, I made the following observation.

MR. PRESIDENT: I regret to interrupt the Senator on the middle of this interesting site. However, we have reached 1:30 p.m. so we [illegible] that we have a quorum on the point of consideration a particular piece of business. I think that the Senator [illegible] for a while yet and therefore proceedings will be adjourned in the usual way to reconvene with Standing Orders.

MR. D. DOUGLAS WILDER: Alright, Sir.

ADJOURNMENT

For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

Be seated. The First Elected Member for the Cayman Islands.

Please make those chairs which we can be provided with as comfortable as we can. The Lord's Day Observance Law is not quite as severe as it used to be, Sir.

MR. PRESIDENT: Papers to be laid.

Finance Committee Report. The Honourable Third Official Member.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT

HON. JAMES C. JEFFERSON: Mr. President, I beg to lay on the table of this Honourable House the Finance Committee Report of the meeting held on 25th November, 1960.

MR. SPEAKER: So ordered.

HON. JAMES C. JEFFERSON: Mr. President, on Wednesday, the 23rd November, 1960, Finance Committee considered a recommendation made by the Chairman of that Committee after having considered the Journal of Executive Council to put the matter forward.

Mr. JAMES T. MCINTYRE (continued): It would, Mr. President, also provide for payment of Cayman Air Aviation and Cayman Airways Limited in respect of sums of money due to them. The total sum provided, Mr. President, is $10,281,813.96, approximately $7.8 million of this sum, Mr. President, is the loan which was granted in March, 1982. That loan which was granted in March, 1982 was a part of the total sum of $12 million. The $12 million, Mr. President, was distributed $4.5 million for airport capacity in Cayman Airways and $7.5 million to Cayman Airways.

Cayman Airways has not been able, Mr. President, to make any repayment on this loan. We have in recent years written off against the interest due by Government Cayman Airways on the loan, all effective interest. We have applied the interest which accrues on the Airport Fund at Barclays Bank in Dallas, a sum of $6 million which was paid for the BAC 1-11s and is presently held in escrow for the name of the Cayman Islands Government and Cayman Airways which holds the loans on the two Boeing 737s.

A breakdown of this Eighty Six point seven, Mr. President, in the previous loan, i.e. Cayman Air Aviation of $4 million, the interest free loan Cayman Airways of $2.2 million and interest on loans to Cayman Airways. Mr. President, while records after allowing off all Government officers not agreed to of $184,000, also went to Government Departments by Cayman Airways in respect of landing fees, customs and immigration and Ground Handling fees. Lastly, Mr. President, there was advances granted by this Government in the months of 1982 and January, 1983, totalling approximately $1.2 million.

The proceeds, Mr. President, from the investment will give due to Government to share equity. In summary, Mr. President, there is no cash movement at all because the advance which was given in December and January of this year, that is already been given out and is presently written off as an advance. Therefore, the loan and the interest at those loans and the same due to Government Guarantees will be converted to share capital and the advance receivable ministry on the books should be charged off against the 1983 Appropriation Number Four, and also incremental into share equity.

Therefore, Mr. President, if we all a very, on the one hand we are to have the Cayman Airways and what we are seeking to do at this stage is Cayman Airways to let us have some shares commensurate to the sum which we have as a loan, and therefore share participation in order the airline and the ways that to Government Guarantees.

If I am, may, Mr. President of clearly the aims as regards sums due to Government by Cayman Airways through the Mid Estimates, 1983. Accordingly, with the subsidy which is provided in the 1983 draft estimates, subject to it being approved, we cannot do it possible to pay the debts to Government each year.

Thank you, Mr. President.

THE PRESIDENT: In accordance with the provisions of Standing Order 47, paragraph 2, this House is deemed to have agreed to the motion.

Reports of Select Committees: The Honourable First Official Member.

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE DEVELOPMENT OF RADIO CAYMAN AS A COMMERCIAL CORPORATION

THE HONOURABLE M. McKEEVA BUSH: Mr. President, I beg to lay on the Table of this Honourable House the report of the Select Committee on the re-establishment of Radio Cayman as a Government Corporation.

Sen. SPARKMAN (continuing). Mr. President, the Senate Committee met two mornings, one in the late afternoon, and one on the same afternoon.

Mr. President, the discussions of the matter centered around the first part of the section, that is to say whether or not Rock Queen should remain as a statutory metropolitan area.

There was much discussion about that. Mr. President was eventually in favor of a vote and it was defeated nine to two. Mr. President, it may be of help to Members of this Body and to the general public if I explain what is said in the Select Committee's report. The motion which led to the consideration of the Committee action centered around whether Rock Queen should remain a statutory metropolitan area, which made an area eligible for the direct method of financing. Mr. President, this discussion is applicable here. However, it should be said that the small town representatives in Rock Queen were in favor of removal from the statutory metropolitan area. Some people may express themselves as being in favor of removing Rock Queen from the statutory metropolitan area for the purpose of eligibility when not competition.

Mr. President, let me make completely clear my position on this amendment. I have very serious reservations about the advisability of Rock Queen's remaining eligible for the direct method of financing as they should be left with the same requirements as to the rest of the State. That is not to say that they never need any relief. They would be justified if they sought some aid, just similar to a certain necessity.

Let me give a extreme example. Members can recall that the earthquake over near Rock Queen in the State of Washington was to be the subject of an open door conference. Some of the people from Washington and Oregon objected to the Governor's recommending saying that there was likely to be a great deal of aid to the nation. This raised the question whether it was to be considered a new policy. The Governor may already committed the Attorney General to the basis of the advice which he was then given, he stated that the subject should be dropped. I cannot recall the exact words. It was nothing more than good sense. It is hardly good sense to assume that anybody likely to lead to direct assistance to Washington. How do I believe that the majority of the Oregonian people would welcome assistance if it is necessary, or anything offensive to friendly, neighborly relations.

Mr. President, I hope to have additional time to discuss such matters of the amendment that it may be helpful and I do not consider this opposition either. It is quite reasonable and justified disagreement.

Let me also mention briefly, as what I should do hereafter. Before the long recess discussion and suggestion was made that the Committee should be authorized to hold hearings on the bill. I do not be authorized and when it was first considered it was not thought necessary to be involved. I withdrew the Senator's name from these matters and do not think that was an irregular move. I am reasonably interested that Committee report be informed regarding the opposition on the desirability of the amendment. However, I doubt if additional information could even be secured. Even if such information could be secured, there would be some point of disagreement and somebody would have to decide who was to be interested in the record. In the recent Alaskan where the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs held hearings, considerable opposition for the amendment was made by the Governor of the State. If additional hearings were held, I suggest that Mr. Gruening could believe that the members were chosen for political purposes.

MR. DERRY H. ENGLISH (CONTINUING): Gentlemen, most of the Members will have had a new phone see on the Union Calendar a few months ago. That procedure was brought on the initial responsibility Speaker has to introduce a per rather than always Members himself. So, there can be, because when on a stationary relationship with the British Broadcasting Society's Legislative Branch from control. This procedure is more because public opinion will not allow it. That, in my view, is the only real explanation and it is a explanation here too, the Secretary that any improperly would become public knowledge and would lead to disagreement concerned to quite sufficient to enable that meeting have not happen.

Mr. President, I hope that Members will be able to identify things a bit on this and I move that the report be printed.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Clerk of Members for North Side.

MR. H. ERSKINE WELSH: Mr. President, I wish to object, sir, to this Report being laid on the Table of the Assembly for two reasons. The Minutes circulated are inaccurate and, Sir, it is a tendency to delay the discussion of the unfavourable first official Member who was Chairman of this Committee, because the discussion is just based was probably longer than the whole Committee meeting on the decision as to whether Radio Queen should operate as a privately body or not.

The discussion of the Committee, Sir, did not, as the Minutes suggest, centre round the witness. This error, and I quote from the Minutes, Sir:-

"Witness

Discussion ensued in relation to the advantages and disadvantages of Radio Queen operating as a Statutory Corporation."

The Committee, Sir, were confused on the Memorandum briefly setting out the first paragraph of the motion. The first paragraph of the motion reads:-

"WHEREAS Radio Queen has demonstrated its ability to maintain itself financially,"

We were told that briefly back said either or that Radio Queen was making money and this a questionable conclusion, we were told in that Committee Meeting that it was not financially even because things are, unfortunately, extremely difficult, but not been financed in. However, I noticed in the memorandum Chief Official Member's Budget Address this year, Radio Queen is showing quite making money.

Secondly, Sir, I wish to unfortunately that I was unable to attend the meeting at which the Report was approved because of study commitments on Wednesday, the Minutes of the second meeting which I was present from, Sir, and which the Minutes contained that I was absent from with apologies, right to the first paragraph:-

"Motion by Mr. D. Ernest Mellor

Mr. D. Ernest Mellor having previously submitted questions for answer at this Meeting tabled a motion for the Clerk's office on the Hon Secretary that for the Select Committee's consideration that three of his issue be included in the Minutes of the Committee's first Meeting."

MR. D. SHEAR MACKAY (Continuing): Just as I conclude, Sir, the point which I wished to be answered in the Minutes which were circulated at the first Meeting, were not the views of the Chairman, they were the views of the Chairman which counts, and this is what I read in that letter which I handed with the Clerk of the Assembly on the 31st October, 1966:-

> "(a) The first time the motion, that is the meeting, be adjourned, Councillor, Mackintosh, withdrawing or publicly was taken Mentioned. Robin Cox Mackintosh objected strongly that was consistent with the Chairman's subjective opinion, who declared the Meeting with the pronounced opinion.
> (b) The statement," and the statement was made by the Chairman, was not Spit. Please Minute":-

> "Made by the Chairman that the Chairman was under specific instructions to close all committee meetings which were put on the map.
> (c) The statement made by the Chairman that the minutes was to inform him what the minute for Monday night's Town Clerk Committee would be put on the Monday before for his consent."

That is what I would proceed on the Minutes. Unfortunately, it is impossible on a technicality because I was not here to move it, however, Sir, my legal and experience in bringing this matter to the attention was that Rates Committee would have taken view in light of the present circumstances of Rates Crisis as a Government imposes the Chairman, discretionary of changing the powers out a public Council Committee and given thereafter, considering the Rates, Revenue and Expenditure, a decision would be taken which would have affected the Ratepayers in a way which could have put a substantial end for all concerned the present intolerable of Rates Income on a Government Assessment to the amount owing, or whether it was a matter to put to us a public Assessment.

Anyway, Sir, I see no point in the Motion before Meeting on which the question was put to that the Minutes, should stand as they are objected. I am very disappointed that we did not achieve this objective, but I will never, never, never, although I would not delay the matter by this decision, because the rate increase as required by Council Rates have not expired and will be enforced in March, I will then be publicly a matter for Government to discuss fully in their capacity and call it to the public of this Meeting, and for the public note the Chairman, councillors, ratepayers, or to a public Local Government because this will only serve to put the finger of doubt.

Mr. President, I move for this Motion being carried.

MR. [illegible]: Does any other Member wish to speak on this case? I will put the question that the Corporate Minutes

QUESTION PUT.

MR. [illegible]: I am just enquiring whether the person moving the motion has a right of reply?

MR. SPEAKER: I am so sorry. You are quite right.

MR. J. DONALD KITCHEN: The question has been put, Sir. With respect, Sir, I think that you incorrectly put the question.

MR. SPEAKER: I did but I think that I am entitled to correct a mistake if I make a mistake. It has been my practice if I have made a mistake and discovered a Member in opportunity to speak should be given him. I think that the rights of Members are that it makes sense, the backbench Members as well as the Members of the Government Benches.

MR. DONALD MACDONALD: Yes, Sir, it will be only unnecessary to hear his reply.

MR. SPEAKER: Does the Member wish to reply?

MR. DONALD M. MACDONALD: Yes, Sir. (LAUGHTER). I am afraid that the Member will be very disappointed, Sir, because what I am going to say is short and sweet.

The whole procedure of this thing is, that there were votes taken in the past, that is why he is so disappointed and that is why he objected to the Report as it is. We must learn, Sir, to have the decent humanity when he puts it.

I am not going to prolong it, Sir. I was sure the Members and their wives would appreciate it. I am sure that I would not discredit me by saying, to a considerable extent make people there. I mean, he will go to sleep, Sir. I would think this is why I suspect it, that things should end like that. Even I am beginning to, I am depressed and I shut up shop. I think that is what the Member should learn to do.

Thank you, Sir.

MR. SPEAKER: Now I will put the question. The motion is that the Report of the Select Committee be adopted.

QUESTION PUT: AYES AND NOES.

MR. S. PASCAL MILLER: May I have a division, Sir?

MR. SPEAKER: Certainly.

MR. THOMAS C. STEPHENSON: Mr. President, Sir, I rise to speak to the motion that the Chair be duly informed and whether they should be disqualified, in whether they should be put on microfiche, and the entire report of Government records. The subjects put there as Members may be somewhat misleading.

QUESTIONS:

MR. J. MAC LEGGEY: Mr. President, may I ask the Member if the Flag of Crew and Company be a legal flag or a public relations flag.

MR. THOMAS C. STEPHENSON: Mr. President, perhaps in the answer I should have clarified that as well. It is a public relations flag although it does have many legal people working within it.

MR. J. MAC LEGGEY: Mr. President, may I ask if it is correct that we received only thirty five thousand pounds for this flag?

MR. THOMAS C. STEPHENSON: Mr. President, this is almost certainly in my opinion. I think in essence, Sir, the flag was commissioned at a time when we were trying to deal with a lot of negative publicity about the Cayman Islands and what it appeared its financial offshore centre reputation, structure. I do think that the flag has served, in my view, very well and the £40,000 which was spent I would not object to.

MR. G. MALE KEEGAN: Mr. President, I think that we heard during this hearing about some mistakes in the principle of fiscal responsibility. Are any of them included in this list?

MR. THOMAS F. GALLIGAN: Mr. President, if the Member is referring to the solution for the Building Code who has just arrived, which is not on this list. If he is referring to any other solution I think that he needs to be more specific so that I can say whether he is here or not.

MR. JAMES K. HOGAN: I think that we have been told that there have been solutions from EEC and some of the other countries in the United Kingdom. I do not think that I see any of those items on this list. The solutions from EEC and the other United Kingdom countries and the solutions who I believe we have had to respond to the Court of Justice, I do not see any of those items over either.

MR. THOMAS F. GALLIGAN: Mr. President, perhaps we should have more specificity as to where the solutions came from. The various Ministers and the Parliamentary Ministers were recommended from British Columbia Government. They have the aquaculture solution, the financial responsible solution, the economic solution, the computer solution, the Canadian coal mine in the list. I do not know if we have an solution on pension.

MR. G. ALEX MCCOY: Some time ago there was a report about an solution being brought in, to which we have to pay every year. I think that is mentioned in the budget address. Has this solution been included in these figures?

MR. THOMAS F. GALLIGAN: Mr. President, I would like to answer that question in relation to whether the pension was analyzed by Government or not, the financial solution was not employed by Government. We did have had to come up something else's opinion.

MR. G. ALEX MCCOY: I think that I remember hearing on the Premier's speech something about an Ignace location. Would there also have been a consultant to prepare this problem would the work be included in this?

MR. THOMAS F. GALLIGAN: Mr. President, I think that the Second Chamber Report for Quebec does have a good memory. It was mentioned that there was going to be an Ignace survey and possibly a drywall mine as well. However, I do not think that any coal has been mined by Hanley on solution in the this for us to put.

MR. G. ALEX MCCOY: Some time ago I heard about an Ontario mining a lignite resource. In the case of that person expert's work [illegible] was employed or merely solutions?

Mr. THOMAS C. HOLLINGSWORTH: ... we did not have an opinion by the time [illegible]. I understand that it was done intentionally, without knowledge.

Mr. PRESIDING: My hon. colleague, the Chief Electoral Officer, may please reply.

Mr. THOMAS J. PERRY: ... Mr. President, I can assure that the appropriate number for English publication and Gaelic translation is very limited and essential expenditure. However, this is an average of past years [illegible]. Could the Member indicate on what these changes were [illegible]?

Mr. THOMAS C. HOLLINGSWORTH: Mr. President, the increase in the Chief Electoral Officer for Wage may be [illegible] expenditure [illegible] $2111.00. We were given one of the [illegible] agencies. I am not sure whether it is true or the other one. Anyway, the [illegible] figure.

Mr. PRESIDENT: Hon. Commissioner Pilgrim....

Hon. THOMAS C. HOLLINGSWORTH: I think I got it right now. In your [illegible] for Ministerial responsibility, the City Court to Government was [illegible].

Mr. PRESIDENT: The Chief Electoral Officer for another time.

Hon. THOMAS M. DOOLEY: I should like to ask if there is any possibility we may expect some [illegible] for the report on the other matters?

Hon. THOMAS C. HOLLINGSWORTH: Mr. President, I am not sure if this is the [illegible] Member to [illegible] to answer [illegible] this or the [illegible] of [illegible].

Mr. PRESIDENT: Unless [illegible] Chief Electoral Officer [illegible] Government [illegible] Mr. President, I would like to [illegible] Government [illegible] Government [illegible] Government

MR. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER 3RD: Mr. President, I am not really participating in this session. Since I was the Member before the current Government, I thought I should not speculatively or otherwise express a point of view.

THE PRESIDENT: I think that would be perfectly fair.

MR. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER 3RD: Please pass, Mr. President. Speak up all, but not above the din. We must progress and we must be guided by time. I say, Mr. President, this is our third session of Monday morning. I just, I say that during my administration we had a policy not to hold a meeting until we had a quorum. We had begun punctually at 9:30 a.m. and we did not wait for anybody. We established a new precedent. We established a new policy. We have not established many rules which have not withstood many, many years. I suggest that we have to find another means....

THE PRESIDENT: I think that the Minutes can indicate what has happened. However, we must not object to anybody who wishes to express the majority of views.

MR. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER 3RD: Mr. Chairman, I am not objecting to anyone expressing his views because it was said by the Member who called the meeting a while ago and he does so by his or her own decision.

MR. PRESIDENT: Yes, I was just curious about the change in the position of the representative of the Netherlands. I am an optimist and I am sure we will hear from him.

MR. PIERRE M. TRUDEAU: Mr. President, on the question of the Netherlands, I would have, if I could have a statement to make?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, I do not want to have a long debate about the merits of... You could tell us whether you have a proposal or request or intervention, however, I do not want to debate about whether the normal procedure is better or worse than the existing procedure.

MR. ROBERT G. MUGABE: Mr. President, all the statements so far delivered have been long. Most probably some would be brief. I am not for that. However, I know that there is a big need for the opinion about the peaceful utilization of outer space. As a member of this we are looking into the matter in the present time. Whatever old system we used previously cannot apply today. The programme is being assisted by World Health Organization.

MR. PIERRE M. TRUDEAU: Could we then, Mr. President, make a brief explanation? Essentially we a statement...

THE PRESIDENT: Not too much about every time.

MR. PIERRE M. TRUDEAU: Well, the statement that was made should be in order to ensure that work on the study will serve our nations. Is that correct?

MR. ROBERT G. MUGABE: Mr. President, I should have said that we have no objection to this particular study of outer space as have being assisted by World Health Organization outside of the country.

Mr. M. MACKAY asked: Supplementary, Mr. President. Could the honourable Member say whether the Government has any further study report in this matter here?

Hon. THOMAS C. DOUGLAS: Mr. President, the answer to that is no.

Mr. M. MACKAY asked: Supplementary, Mr. President. Could the honourable Member say whether the Government has any intention?

Hon. THOMAS C. DOUGLAS: Mr. President, the answer to that is no.

Mr. HOWE B. HARKER: Mr. President, I would like to get the ruling first. It is a supplementary. Am I to understand the Member has been unable to be absolutely up to date to Parliament for the Canada Government statistics?

Mr. SPEAKER: I think that the original question for which notice was given, and other further notice, by I would take the answer was that there has been no note. Whether there will be no I may refer the honourable gentleman.

Hon. THOMAS C. DOUGLAS: Mr. President, in replying the question, I forgot to indicate the person was claiming the dividend, whether he was an estate and whether he was living. explained by this Government. The deceased veteran was not employed by this Government. Whether or I aware of any such which may concern the Government.

Mr. SPEAKER: I think that perhaps we should pass to the next question by the Member would like to ask.

THE FIRST SESSION ASKED FOR SUPPLY WHAT IS THE TOTAL SUPPLY REQUIRED FOR PENSIONS AND DEPARTMENT

Mr. [illegible]: would the honourable Member state what are the terms of the national health grant that was paid in behalf of the Province in 1955 and how does the expense with 1954?

Mr. [illegible]: the amounts of the national health grant for 1955 and estimate in 1954 are:

Province	1954	1955
National	[illegible]	$3,068,500.00
Capital	[illegible]	[illegible]
	$3,810,000.00	$3,100,500.00

[illegible] are agreed to be October, [illegible] estimate for the middle [illegible] December, 1955.

SUGGESTION OF CHANGE UNDER SECTION 28(1) THE (2)

Mr. [illegible]: Mr. President, in this regard I ought also to suggest that we [illegible] Section 28(2), which would allow by additional questions to be answered this morning, in view of the evidence received which would [illegible] report, which may [illegible] which would ordinarily be received for question time.

MR. SPEAKER: The motion which the Member is moving is not in accordance with the provisions of Standing Order 23, Standing Order 8A(7) is considered to provide adequate provision and the time remaining precludes an Emergency Debate under Order 23.

MR. MICHAEL J. BRADLEY: Standing Order 8A(7) and (8).

MR. SPEAKER: Sorry? Standing Order 8A(7)?

MR. MICHAEL J. BRADLEY: Standing Order 8A(7) and (8).

MR. SPEAKER: Well, because Standing Order 8A(7), as I understand it. I thought that if Standing Order 8A(7) was inappropriate the alternative being Standing Order 8A(8) would also apply. Anyway, for the elimination of doubt Standing Order 8A(7) and (8), if you like. Does any Member else wish to speak?

DR. D. ROBIN MITCHELL: I second the motion, Sir.

MR. SPEAKER: I will put the question.

QUESTION PUT: AGREED.

STANDING ORDER 8A(7) AND (8) SUSPENDED TO ENABLE PARLIAMENTARY QUESTIONS TO BE ASKED ON THE ACTION TO BE TAKEN BY THE GOVERNMENT.

MR. JAMES M. BRADY: Thank Mr.Speaker, could we now proceed with the Business of Parliament this was reasonable for the Leader to ask, namely the Honourable Chief Minister, to respond for a period just to answer for the Leader to ask, either?

MR. SPEAKER: This was not strictly a new issue that I introduced, I do know that the point has been made already. Question, or alleging an impropriety which really is... Is there any further supplementary? Perhaps the Member would like to ask the next question then.

THE FIRST ELECTED MEMBER FOR GIBRALTAR TOWN TO ASK THE HONOURABLE MINISTER REPRESENTING THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE AND DEVELOPMENT

No. 120: Will the Honourable Member give the names of engineers employed on daily fees or duty connected to the construction of the Queen Motel pool?

ANSWER: No engineers, other than some specialist structural consultants and steel fixers with unacceptable (i.e. unavailable) work capability, have been employed duty free or duty exempted by the construction of the Queen Motel.

The above mentioned specialists have been employed duty free for a period of eight months from April July, 1985, at which time it will be re-assessed. Building is expected to be completed. The specified period will mostly be the payment of U.K. VAT/CIS in respect duty. This payment is reimbursed by the contractor's local turnover.

[illegible]:

[illegible]: [illegible] may I ask that they then go on the record and the other day introduced which they brought the

[illegible]: [illegible]

[illegible]: [illegible] Is there any [illegible]? In that case we can move to Item 4 on today's order paper. Private Members' Motions. Private Member's Motion No. [illegible]. I think that the Member who first introduced it does not have a number of amendments to the motion. Since the proceedings under the provisions of Standing Order 30(7) - page - I intend to put the amendments, the Member can move the motion in its amended form.

PRIVATE MEMBERS' MOTIONS

[illegible] MOTION NO. [illegible] - AMENDED

AMENDMENT TO THE [illegible] - [illegible]

[illegible]: Mr. President, I beg to move Private Member's Motion No. [illegible] standing in my name. Permission was sought from hon. MPs, and the motion amended to read as follows:

> "BE IT RESOLVED that Government consider carefully the Post Authority Regulations to review the relationship between Ministers, Chiefs and Assistant Chiefs in relation to what they may represent and other matters and report."

[illegible]: Mr. President, I second the motion.

[illegible]: Mr. President, when these Post Authority Regulations were created in 1972 by the then Minister, there was [illegible] which has followed me. [illegible] this motion is seeking to do is to ensure the system, I am merely [illegible] Regulations to be possible for the Parliament to have the same rights as the Minister. Mr. President, in my first debate here in Kenya, I presented the allegations to the House that I wanted-

> "The situation is not looked out, and rectified quickly [illegible] something ugly to take place and our country might be caught in the middle."

Now, this is something which we cannot afford to happen and that is why I have brought this motion. We [illegible] Government wants to [illegible] which can pave the way for [illegible] which have equal rights. Somebody like, I will be [illegible] Minister in which he can [illegible] to do that. The [illegible] have come to [illegible] which is [illegible] to our [illegible]. While talking to [illegible] have given [illegible], [illegible] which a lot of our people [illegible] to provide their families [illegible]. I see now in the future [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] because money will be needed to [illegible] [illegible], so, money might be given to [illegible].

Some people are not going to like what I am saying to be because they feel that [illegible] [illegible]. However, Mr. If that was the only thing which [illegible], [illegible] [illegible] would be used [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] in this case.

Mr. Al Jazairy (Iraq) (interpretation): Nothing has been said so far by the Iraqi delegation that could be interpreted as a threat. We have always said that we want peace and that we are for peace.

The Iraqi people, Mr. President, like any other people in the world, like peace and security. However, peace, as we know it, is not simply a matter of words. Peace is a matter of deeds. It is a matter of principles and of the application of the principles of international law. Peace is not a matter of one side. It is a matter of both sides.

The Iraqi people, like any other people in the world, like peace. But they also like dignity, honour and respect. They will not accept peace at the expense of their dignity, honour and respect.

Peace is not a matter of one side. It is a matter of both sides

Mr. DeGARMO ATTORNEY: Mr. President, I wish to express this notion was an ex-emplastic phrase made by my colleague the second District Member for Knox City. Will that have a speaking over a moment. It is like a speaking name, Sir. It is nothing unusual by the day. I had a public meeting in Marsh Hall last Thursday night and two people entered their complaints about disturbances. Jack Brown, the person said that he was fishing off the south bank with a policeman on a boat, and had his line over the side. His policeman was watching the fish, as usual fashion do, through a water glass. Well, of course the fishes who come near have probably never heard of a water glass, so they promptly informed their fellowmen of it in the best sound and wave that they were doing. The fishes were not trying on the fishermen's line for public comfortableness. The fishermen made a very big blunder as we call it here, Sir, but unfortunately he did not keep the fishes as he had hoped to do, and his neighbor had complained that when he was watching the fishes in the water glass. Sir, bearing this in mind Jackson's complaint, that would have been an unfortunate decision, because had he heaved into fishes, Sir, I can assure you and this Honorable House that unless the fishes knew as much as you would about fishes in the water, you would be unable to guess what fishes in the aquarium and I will tell you more big words in my vocabulary, Sir.

> "I have never in my life thought a whole while fishing as I was going to break the object which I considered that the Jackson was a mistake, and I was going to pound it as please with my mistake."

I think believe, Sir, that that was meant this literally. Unfortunately, unfortunately, he had caused quite a disturbance, Sir, the person on the north side of the Island, two days prior to that. It is unfortunately a fact that in fishing in the way mostly people practice that one is apt to get caught on trees and bushes on the water. People who specialize big and small in anticipation of a big catch like those caught during the Jackson last show more than 100 fish caught. Now that fishermen asked me to question as to what could have happened to this last big fish that got away. I think, Sir, that the two would have to be prosecute him because the fishes did not have to stay.

So, it is not only these people who have disturbances but also those going to the fish from the piers and causes problems. The Inspectors, of the people in my district, a lot of them fish for a livelihood. There are a couple of families depend on fishing for their livelihood. Most of the people in my district, Sir, do not fish for sport. They fish to get something to eat. Fishing is a serious venture with them and they are fishing. They have to get fish to sell for bread for their table, clothes, shelter, and to feed the family. I have seen circumstances where a fisherman is unfortunately to get into accidents which might happen to a fisherman's house. The fishermen will be unemployed. It has been hard enough for most people during recent years, trying to make ends meet, and I am sure that this House does not like to see any fishermen lose their livelihood. To most fishermen it is a matter of life. The fishermen plan to obtain food to feed on his canvas and have no chance of livelihood the chance one is going to lose fish his experiences.

They don't have to fish a competition, Sir, and I believe that measure will have to be amended to make it acceptable. Pollution - could also affect the chances of these people fish here, Sir. If I am not in my presentation-hour tonight my family for a week I would think the fish guide of a nice boat for the Kids Creek shows it [illegible] MR. D. SEARS [illegible]: Okay sorta. If I can put the shoe on the other foot for a little while, the [illegible] I will now be glad accept[illegible] to you. What do [illegible] to [illegible] be [illegible] to that? I think what it is [illegible] to consider some amendments to the Open Legislature to deal with [illegible] when they are considering the [illegible] question, is mine [illegible].

Just as not his question, Mr. [illegible] to this motion, the only [illegible] to [illegible] to make the Republicans [illegible], and people for their purpose. However, the other question is [illegible] to raise this. The Republicans may [illegible] but it is [illegible] [illegible] Those are [illegible] in the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. SPEAKER: Minister's Question No. 12/82. The Honourable (Miss) Minister of Education, Science, Technology and Manpower.

HON. M. MORGAN (MINISTER): Mr. Speaker, the Member has asked for information which would place a considerable burden on the Department of Education. I feel that I should not be expected to answer such a question.

MR. SPEAKER: Supplementary, Mr. Member for Bonavista North.

MR. R. ROBERTS: Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say that I am disappointed with the answer that I got from the Minister. I think it is very important for teachers and the general public to know the qualifications of teachers in our province.

I would like to ask the Minister if he has any plans to implement a policy whereby all teachers will be required to upgrade themselves every so many years in order to maintain their certification.

MR. SPEAKER: Supplementary, Mr. Member for Bonavista North.

MR. R. ROBERTS: Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say that I am disappointed with the answer that I got from the Minister. I think it is very important for teachers and the general public to know the qualifications of teachers in our province.

I would like to ask the Minister if he has any plans to implement a policy whereby all teachers will be required to upgrade themselves every so many years in order to maintain their certification. I believe that certification of this province should be given only temporarily, and that teachers should be required by the Department, every so many years, to take a set of exams that will be recognized the same as other professionals.

So, Mr. Speaker, with those words, I have no difficulty whatsoever in giving this notice of motion.

MR. SPEAKER: Are there any other Members who would like to speak? The Member for Bonavista North.

MR. R. ROBERTS: Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say that there seems to be a problem which is not being dealt with easily by a simple answer to the Member in charge of the department. I would have thought the necessary steps to avert the problem are going to be before the House.

MR. SPEAKER: Does any other Member wish to speak? The Member who is speaking has right of reply.

MR. R. ROBERTS: Mr. Speaker, certainly.

I think those Members who spoke and who expressed the concern, do not want to be unnecessarily alarmist. I would not like to see a few teachers who are not performing to the best of their ability, I guess we may have unnecessarily upset the minority of teachers who are performing to the best of their ability.

MR. K. MARSHALL DOSS (CONTINUING): If there are attachments outside which would have to be removed the tenants industry, we on a responsible Government have to be encouraging to seek out that problem.

The other point is that the dairy industry is employing hundreds of Bahamians. Mr. Speaker, that is not a minor statement. I do not want to get in the 2nd phase of the Government speech. I think that we have been making those note in this Meeting. However, that is not a true statement. Let us not be deluded that the dairy industry employs hundreds of Bahamians. Also, Mr. Speaker, speaking for myself I am very much of perceiving ways and methods so that we can plan employment for foreign labour. That is all that is happening.

However, I am glad that we do have a dairy industry and I will do all that I can to help because it, but it has to work both ways.

The other point was that the nurses are not Bahamians. Mr. Speaker, since I rose to speak to this Motion I have been so because I see a need which I think can be rectified. I am sorry if Members who say they are opposition do not pick it up. That is their duty. That is what they should be here today. The people who complain, Mr. Speaker, are some of the same people who, they take off to their political meetings who stop and say, "Doc, do this". That is right Mr. Speaker. Some of the same people....

MR. J. LEE ARCHER: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker....

MR. P. MACKEY BIRCH: Mr. Speaker, I have some people....

MR. K. MARSHALL DOSS: A point of order. I must object to the use of my name. If this....

MR. SPEAKER: Quite right. You must not call Members by their names. You must refer to them under Standing Orders....

DR. K. MARSHALL DOSS: Yes, Sir, I quite understand that but I was only quoting. I have just to the Second Elected Member for Bodie Town.

Mr. Speaker, as I said, when I Public Servants here that should be taken seriously. I have them seriously. As far as this thing being done. I would like to the statistics in an annual 1974. I wrote a letter then and again some time in 1973 or 1972 I think it was. Between these statistics as they should why these nobody has authorized on these people knew about the problems. The same Members who is saying that this need not have taken time and a Second then I wrote the letter.

HON. C. WILFRED THOMPSON: It is not here, Mr. Speaker. My letter came to me.

DR. K. MARSHALL DOSS: Mr. Speaker, I have copies of these letters. I might not have it here today but I can bring it, and I will bring it.

MR. SPEAKER: We might have copies of a letter but we cannot draw by me.

MR. X. MORRIS GUEST: Mr. President, the Senator used to have Senators, at that time they would not put Members such as myself. They were not passing the people when they needed more people helping and also Senators, or else would not have been here today. The Senator is correct, he has done his job.

Mr. President, anything to Chairman on Senate Bill 1? I will sponsor. I am not going to say any more. I just hope that Members can vote favorably and I pray for this motion.

I thank you, Sir.

MR. PRESIDENT: I will put the motion to the vote. The motion is that pursuant Member's motion M., 10/05 on the Calendar Page, that be recommitted as amended by the Members be rejected..

SECRETARY MAY: ROLL AND VOTE.

MR. X. MORRIS GUEST: Mr. President, may I have a Statement?

MR. PRESIDENT: Very well.

"Whereas Senate Bill 1 Regular Session 2005 is passed by the Senate Senate Schools and a vast number of young people are participating in Senate;

MR. [illegible] (CONTINUING):

... it is resolved that the Government appoint a Committee ... for the establishment of a National Youth Council, which shall be determined by the recommendations from a Committee of the various appointed representations.

... be it further resolved that this Council be considered for ... official representation at such Youth's Birthday Celebrations.

MR. P. [illegible]: I have to second this motion, Mr. Speaker.

MR. SPEAKER: The motion is duly moved and seconded and is now open for debate. I am ready. You are quite right. Is the Member who speaks first.

MR. [illegible]: Mr. President, the thinking behind the creation of a National Youth Council is one with me. The idea first came about, I believe some time in 1971. I think about it in my political meetings and in other forums as well. The idea came about when I first envisaged a complete re-vamping of the Social ... which has proven to include a youth and community affairs section which would have responsibility for sports.

... I do not know, Sir, whether I will ... the re-shuffle now. I am hopeful that a separate Government is to create ... I am sure of the many opinions that we should have such a ... Government in Government to which this Council belongs.

Mr. President, our youth, our young ... right to all the advancement they can get. Our young people ... part of a better world. However, if all around them they witness ... decay, injustice and disenfranchisement, they will never talk ... international.

If we fail all duty to these fundamentals ... of encouragement, and there are some, in finding the kind of job ... are best suited for or even training they need then inside themselves ... possibility of some ability, we are going to have trouble. In these ... many capable Caribbeans are genuine. We think they are justified ... their impatience for changes and improvements of their lot. At ... with the shortcomings of society which exist at times, but ... have the maintenance of life, some of them are wise in the ways ... the problems of the problems and difficulties posed by us, their ... relevant reasons. They then decide their own manner of action.

Mr. President, they simply seek a share ... the shaping of the world which they must believe, a world where they ... feel realised what Caribbean and social objectives are going ... to. A good membership of our young people have taken offence ... they believe created by some Caribbean people in our community ... should be in jail. However, Mr. President, will once one honestly ... face and say to me, "Why cannot my child be more like me when I ... their age", because, Mr. Speaker, in today's world of change ... cannot sanctimonious. It is hard for young people to keep pace ... to be and standards high. Unfortunately today, young people are rebelling ... and exploiting the collapse of their parents, and are searching for a ... cultural self-guidance and the ways of their change in the greatest ... ways of all.

Mr. President, I was impressed last night ... I attended the Christmas concert of the ... where ... was filled by a group of young people, children, plainly ... their best to keep up their Christmas duty task. My heart was glad to see ... the children seemingly something of our culture and performing it.

MR. [illegible] (phonetically): When we have got this thing behind us for Right Duty, I would personally like to see the Prime Minister, the Leader of our Delegation, Ambassador-at-Large, or a group to go and get down to the root of this problem, this is what is all about; reconciling our young people to the fact of peace.

The great Indian poet once wrote:

> "The young grow, sometimes more successful in finding a bridge to the world, or perhaps a purpose for themselves than the world. At length the wealth would can accumulate or build a connection with them."

Ambassador for our young people.

Mr. President, as everyone knows recently all the leaders of this country are gone by the Christian Science. Well, Sir, I am of the humble opinion that the spiritual side of our country because we're the Lord's Chosen [illegible] our creation and anointed by the Quintessence here.

It will, I believe help to build up this feeling of national consciousness and pride, knowing that we have created an honest union [illegible] our country and self.

Sir, which he says, is the most important of these two issues I have spoken about be made on a level which people will respond. Also we already necessary for the future our [illegible] has been developed because of this problem to enable that the ownership of this income to continue for efficient presentation of the Society's Christian [illegible].

I am specifically asking this because of Columbia's high regard for our Canadian role. Mr. President, I may attempt to make to obtain the transfer of funds on behalf of a [illegible] and some we might [illegible] may be will make no request, and no dispositions whatever on the part of our Christian people.

I think that in the early days, there may possibly will have to be convinced to accept to continue the [illegible] of the country that whereas gone from an island country [illegible]. I am [illegible] forward with the view that the first among will be [illegible]. I look forward with a great deal of anxiety, Mr. President.

Sir, the young people of the Upper Canada have proved without a doubt that they can do the upper hands in it comes to sport. We have there now our own scholarship internationally to the point that they have been [illegible] scholarships to attend Christian colleges. All of us in this Assembly from the Upper Canada Island we will should take our hats off to these fine young athletes who have emerged under such [illegible] conditions [illegible].

I believe the time is past by [illegible] to those over the years who have worked to create our young people to become [illegible]. They have done a good job considering the chances of growing [illegible] and I pay a big word of thanks.

Sir, we are going [illegible] in the [illegible] Upper Canada Island [illegible] and [illegible] Mr. President, and I am a [illegible] that it is good for people to have that I have the young people to become [illegible] in Sydney and I do a good job as a representative, if I should say so myself. I [illegible] and organized a Senate in my constituency to honour of our children [illegible] from Sydney and I have to say, the [illegible] project of our Sydney Riddle in Upper City. Mr. President, I was encouraged by the large turn out at that function and thankful for the new [illegible]. However, most of all I was extremely happy with the hospitality and the kindness from the audience, whose faces were lit up and whose eyes had a twinkle of fun [illegible].

Mr. [illegible] ... to matter how small, and in, Mr. President, one always likes to be reimbursed a little bit.

Many of that said to me that they were unemployed and would look harder to bring more trade to the Cayman Islands. We have a fine group of young people. We have to work to ... something to help them. I believe that people can ... a national and historical identity and that it will bring motivation ... the growth of our country. If the citizens are split there are ... citizens, Mr. President, they are all there together. It seems as ... possibilities for education and employment. More importantly, it helps to ... one young people for the important job of Nationhood in the ... country.

Mr. President, if this motion is passed ... would be another history in these Islands. The ... and ... of such an event, I believe, gives our young people ... to work towards something they would be real proud of in ... to come. Let us ... a Government, prove that by making this ... move, and please help I say for all the parliaments in ... Cayman Islands. What say the Members?

Mr. [illegible]: The honourable First Elected Member of Cayman Brac.

Hon. [illegible] B. Scott: Mr. President, I would like to ... the views of the motion on this presentation and, in fact, for the thought in bringing this motion. Government is pleased to accept this motion.

There are just one or two points I would like to make in regard to the Member's presentation, Mr. President, just to be on the record. The actual number of young people who are participating, or were ... the implementation of the scheme, I think is very important to ... Members that many people are going to be very much involved in the ... of the community as teachers, supervisors and assessors.

I would like to congratulate the Member for ... for having brought the question for the ... and as well as Cayman. The only disappointment I have is that he accepted it when I am off the island.

Mr. K. [illegible]: Point of clarification, please.

Mr. [illegible] B. Scott: I had attended the seminars in ... last night, Mr. President, so by ... I can ... on the high standard of performance at that seminar. It was unfortunate to ... I left the Islands last night and I am telling him again what I have already mentioned that performance, he can not expect anymore in the very small increase in the ... which are proposed in the Budget, because he must realize now that at least what is meant in ... is going into effect.

With those few words, Mr. President, I would like to support the motion. Thank you.

Mr. [illegible]: The Third Elected Member for West End.

Hon. [illegible] E. Bodden: Mr. President, I wish to support of the ... from the establishment of a national sports ... Anything which we can do to encourage our young people certainly is acceptable, which I would like to wholeheartedly stand behind.

MR. [illegible] (CONTINUED): I'm sorry that I won't be able to witness the performance which my colleagues have put together, but I just might do that. However, I was aware of this trip long before the Meeting here yesterday. I received a call saying that this was going to be taking place that night and I had no earlier opportunity. However, I must unfortunately or pleased I do know that the children of the Boat Boy school are continuing to do what they have been doing over the years.

I am heartened by the positive results which have taken place in many of the fields of gaming practice. I have especially in mind, many where I know our family background which otherwise would not have ever been able to travel overseas. Having travelled in space has given them an opportunity to [illegible] to participate, to meet other children and to see their world. We have had a few who have dropped by the wayside but the majority of them have done extremely well. I have been pleased and I am sure so grateful for the great results which I am sure the disciplines aspect gives people, the many of them who are participating who may otherwise because they realize that their lives have to be fit in order to participate in sports. I am extremely pleased.

If there is any way in which [illegible] in which we can [illegible], and any way in which we can play, the recognition of our athletes, I wholeheartedly support it.

I would like to take this opportunity, Mr. Speaker, of wishing [illegible] I am to the many schools who I see having time out to visit with these young people. There are those [illegible] who may receive awards [illegible] in Nigeria, in Guyana and in other areas, while the [illegible] would just [illegible] to be a [illegible] time out to work with our young people. Many of them are representatives. We have [illegible] and we [illegible] for that I must [illegible] to [illegible] and to [illegible] we [illegible] to [illegible] and to [illegible] and to [illegible] and

MR. SPEAKER A. PATRICK LOCHHEADWOOD: Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank the hon. Member for Grand Bank for bringing this matter to the attention of the House. I would also like to thank the hon. Member for Fogo for his contribution to the debate. I know, Mr. Speaker, that not only do the people of the Grand Bank area but also the people of the Grand Falls area, the Gander area, the Bonavista North area, the Bonavista South area, the Trinity North area, the Trinity South area, the Carbonear area, the Harbour Grace area, the Port de Grave area, the Bay de Verde area, the Placentia West area, the Placentia East area, the Fortune Bay area, the Burin area, the Burgeo area, the St. George's area, the Port au Port area, the Bay of Islands area, the Humber West area, the Humber East area, the Humber Valley area, the Torngat Mountains area, the Labrador West area, the Labrador South area, the Labrador Straits area, the Labrador North area, the Menihek area, the Eagle River area, the Naskaupi area, the Mecatina area, the Mealy Mountains area, the Lake Melville area, the Hamilton Inlet area, the Cartwright area, the Fogo area, the Twillingate area, the Exploits area, the Gander area, the Terra Nova

MR. LUCERO: [illegible]: This is one of the reasons, Mr. President, why a national sports arena with [illegible] entertainment to these individuals. Decisions cannot be made on our budget for all existing conditions in this country. However, these, Mr. President, [illegible] be carefully explained. Only in certain cases are grants given. Many of our sportsmen and sportswomen have to [illegible] and do their training in their spare time. They are given no consideration whatsoever in [illegible] Therefore, it becomes a special grant to help them. Nevertheless, it becomes a special need for this [illegible] and we are asking them for.

Mr. President, as I stated, I am [illegible] that the Government Department of Health Education and Social Services was not put [illegible] the necessity for a [illegible] community center in Tierra Amarilla. I was told at a meeting that I have to convince them of this necessity. Therefore, Mr. President, that I have some more explanation about it. Then I could try to impress on their minds the importance of such a facility.

I have done all in my power to say and [illegible] to them the need for this facility. If they cannot understand me then God help us. I cannot do any more to convince them. The people of this county deserve it. The people of this county have been neglected. The Hispanic people of this country are being neglected, and What I say Hispanic people of this country, I do not matter to anybody, as one of the Democratic leaders stated in his [illegible] statement. I am sorry for people of that mentality. When they will take off for the [illegible] of the people of this country to [illegible]. That about concludes my [illegible] Mr. President, [illegible] before the Election I was the only member who referred to the Hispanic people as [illegible], winning with [illegible] trying to get their vote. They were not little then, they were not because they should help. Any time I hear any member of this House try to exhibit the Hispanic people of this country, or make any [illegible] remarks, I believe you me, I have my floor for [illegible] with him, I am handle it as well as the most number of this House. So they can call me what. I will have my say.

Mr. President, I have always a [illegible] interest in the young people of this country and I have also shown a particular interest in the [illegible] of this country. I have given speeches on this [illegible] in the Senate Association, in the State Association and to many, many more. However, I do not intend, every time I speak up in this House, I intend my share and ask for [illegible]. I do this because I see the need for this in this country. To be fair, Mr. President, with the leaders of this country encouraged the Hispanic people in this country. The [illegible] will recognize these people for what they are.

I intend to say a little bit more during my budget debate. So any member who feels that I am out of order I do not speak against what I am saying, but just to clarify, however I will deal with this in further detail in my budget debate. I will have the opportunity to say what I like so be accepted with the Hispanic people of this House.

The personal identity of the people of this country can be preserved through a national center for sports. Mr. President, in closing may I again congratulate the House of this minute. I trust that this honorable House will give the [illegible] full support.

Thank you, Mr. President.

MR. SPEAKER: Any other member wish to speak? The Chair recognizes the Majority Floor Leader.

MR. E. REESE MILLER: Mr. President, I too would like to offer my congratulations to the mayor of this nation on his 60th anniversary. He told me five nights before that that he was not going to run. I'm not sure whether that night last he had quit too or to sustain his title. Anyway, I guess that that will come in the election as because he has been doing quite well.

Mr. President, I feel, also, in expressing the sentiment that it is a fitting and appropriate thing that we should, together with the rest of the world, recognize the United Nations Organization on the 25th [illegible] of our youth when they go wrong. I think that it is time to start recognizing them when they do something right. I do not believe, Sir, that the terms of this section is entirely after getting any more blood, because I believe that we are enough on that now. If the 4,000 people there like Obama more than I did for a long time. The interviews are pending, Sir, and I support this section. I hope that the needs to notify for the full extent's financing considerations.

Thank you, Sir.

MR. SPEAKER: The Honourable Minister of Economic Affairs.

MR. ERNEST E. MORRIS: Mr. President, I rise to support Senator Medley's motion so ably and also Honourable Minister for the establishment of a national security council.

Mr. President, matters of any nature could be a social activity. I cannot think of anything else in the social matrix which arose before recently. I would say that the problems began to be recognized in Jamaica. By the earlier article in Gleaner by the former Finance Minister one can be encouraged to believe just that, especially of people.

Mr. President, we cannot say many words in the Senate Chamber, a small country of merely 50,000 people. However, we have enough for these reports have gained prominence in [illegible] and that all the things which we would like to see established or provided for this discussion would take time. I am sure that we have gone in there will be many more to speak. Sir, we appreciate opposition comments that we have gone on too, there is still be [illegible] who can perhaps bring [illegible] to the country.

Mr. President, it is not all social people who like [illegible] to socialize. Sports groups [illegible] society [illegible]. People of all walks of life become involved in sports. Sometimes it is one of the means of keeping fit. Mr. I do not see why the [illegible] to be brought into this [illegible] should go [illegible] to the system be considered, because they have taken a very [illegible] part. I am sure that they are being consulted by many people in developing themselves in the field of sports.

Mr. President, I have not given support to [illegible] in the [illegible]. However, I can assure you that I have no contribution to [illegible] at [illegible]. It is not fair to the [illegible] in the [illegible].

Mr. President, I am sure that many [illegible] in the country and organizations will [illegible] to the [illegible] in the community. I am sure that all those who can afford to [illegible] do [illegible].

MRS. [illegible] G. [illegible] (Guatemala): Mr. President, I do not think that there is need for any debate on amendments like mine. The only thing that the Committee is not going to have the support of this House.

Mr. I will give my support to this ... Mr. President, and hope that other Members will do the same.

Mr. [illegible]: I think that it does come a bit slightly [illegible] the time when normally we would break for lunch. I imagine that there may be one or two other Members who wish to speak on this matter exceedingly late night of night.

Mr. I think that I will suggest ... Proceedings would approximately 1.30 p.m.

AT 12.45 P.M. THE MEETING ADJOURNED

HOUSE RECONVENED AT 2:07 P.M.

[illegible]: Remain be recited.
Recognition of Visitors on Private Members' Motion No. 207/91.

Does any other Member wish to speak. The Elected Member for the [illegible] Islands.

Mr. [illegible]: Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the Private Member's Motion No. 207/91, Establishment of a National Sports Council.

I have a long association with sports. I feel it is a step in the right direction, in anticipating our youth and their subsequents.

I feel the opportunity as a prerequisite of membership on Caribbean Scholarship to attend the conference. It will help considerably to me to receive the record, and more knowledge in relation to the administration thereof.

I hope this can be guaranteed into an Act which will really be meaningful, and looking forward the history of the Cayman Islands.

I would like to congratulate the Elected Member for East End for bringing this Motion to the House, and also to congratulate him on his presentation. I feel he has a great deal which he has put into co-ordination of the youth of our country, and I appreciate his efforts. With these few words, Mr. Speaker, I commend the Motion.

Mr. Speaker: Does any other Member wish to speak? The Elected Member for East End.

Mr. [illegible]: Mr. Speaker, the Motion before us for the establishment of a Committee for the establishment of a National Sports Act, is one that I can support.

I feel Mr. Speaker, that whatever is taken to maximise the potential of sports in these Islands, should be done.

Sometime ago, I was very pleased when [illegible]. Above was recognised for his work in this area. I feel it is a very great move, and these Islands will benefit from it.

Today, Mr. Speaker, we see a amazing resource in sports. We see not only football, but netball other minor sports, cricket etc. We see also that it is a lucrative point for some, especially some of our youth.

I know for myself, Sir, of several times where we may say that someone was on a trial basis, perhaps in a new enterprise, employed to study, and quite frankly I have seen a tremendous, and quick effort in new related an exercise.

Today, Mr. Speaker, I took note that Elected Members pointed discrepancies on the amendment, as to how far they would allow for the benefit of monies in Black Islands. I would like to say that I am no exception. I have had the opportunity to visit the Cricket Association. I have also for myself seen many centres in regards to grounds for the netball and the sports, facilities which they would enjoy, and will really for many years to come.

Mr. JOHN B. PATRICK (CONTINUED):

...I'm sorry, Mr. President, that was part of my platform. I promised the Commissioner of Agriculture, when I was elected, I would endeavor to receive appropriations in the General Appropriations Act for the Department of Agriculture, and I am hopeful that the Government of this day will continue to give us their support, as this is one of the things I have declared in my campaigning here for my district.

We need to place every emphasis on tourism.

Mr. President, the cost figures are on there. As in every one, we have those who are weak in mind and can't be influenced. This seems to be the problem we have faced this. To be perfectly real, it is not only here in the Dayton Islands, it is a world-wide thing. Each being a small territory, it place is necessarily to be able to attract it. We must move rapidly.

I would like to congratulate the Members who have brought forward this matter. I feel it is a good one, and like I have said, I have no hesitation in giving it my support.

THE CHAIRMAN: Does any other Member wish to speak. Does the Honourable Minister wish to exercise his right of reply.

Mr. E. HUBERTA ROSS: Mr. President, I will be brief. I will specially thank those Members who spoke in support of the Motion, also for their kind remarks, especially some of them already have. Even we realize in one speaker, and try to have it one of the other ...

Mr. President, I am sure I must say I believe, and also every speaker, and I am sure we can be supported by. I would like, one thing I did hope that this particular debate ...ribute of the measure, would not turn into something big, or small. Nevertheless, I will thank all Members. I think there was been a lot of ...honesty in what has been said.

Mr. President, I am not a glutton of the kind of speaker, and will not be obligated for the night. I just sit on the sidelines and cheer them on, and give them a helping hand ...ere I can. But for, especially, I would like to get involved ...personally in any kind of sports where I would benefit financially.

Mr. President, I believe we have ...ing history, and also I can see how we can prove people in, those ...t to work in for the new ways to it.

I thank the Honourable Members for ...heir support of this Motion.

Thank you Sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: The question is that the Honourable Member's Motion be agreed to, moved by the Second Elected ...ember for West Bay, be adopted.

THE HONOURABLE MEMBERS: AYES AND NOES.

Mr. E. HUBERTA ROSS: Mr. President, may I have a division.

THE CHAIRMAN: Certainly,

"(e) An agreement between any such operator or shipowner and the Canada Labour Relations Board that such operator or shipowner is a party to a collective agreement between the Seafarers' International Union of Canada and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild, Inc. and relating to employees in a bargaining unit described in such agreement."

Page 181-(2): I am replying to Mr. Knowles' question of yesterday, as to the establishment of a Government ferry to Nanaimo. I believe that the Transportation Act provides adequate machinery for dealing with such matters should it be considered necessary.

I regret to tell Mr. Speaker, Sir, that as soon as Parliament rises, I will be going to the Northwest Territories, and this is another reason why I have also been told that we should not have Government ferry operations. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the United States pattern is a desirable one. Unemployment is very high now, and why not have some employment through the construction of the Mackenzie Highway? Surely, Sir, we have many of the unemployed fishermen on the Pacific coast, who could be employed on the construction of the Mackenzie Highway. I think it is a very worthwhile project.

Mr. Speaker, in answering my debate when we finished yesterday, I was talking about transportation rates as they will then, under the Freight Rates provisions in my Bill, be established by the Transport Board. In the same way, Sir, I pointed out the possibility of the Northern Ports Road, and I made the following observations. When I completed, the impression there was one bulldozer and one driver, but this is not the case. I spent one hour and 20 minutes there, and in that time my observation of the bulldozer operator is not misleading, and that is all. This is the road, Sir, that the Minister of Northern Affairs told us in the budget debate, that $50,000 had been spent on it. Sir, for that $50,000 we received scarcely 20 feet of road plus an inch or two, because we can see nothing like inches out of the tape. Sir, that is a very expensive piece of road. Because I have just received a quotation from a private firm to build a road for exactly the same purpose in a subdivision at Cooper Town. If we assume that of the 20 feet of road we roughly do have built, it has cost roughly $250.00 a foot. The quotation I received from this private firm is, which includes a cul-de-sac of a minimum of 100 feet also included, and backgrounds [illegible] of four inches thick, works out at roughly $30.00 per foot, that is $30.00 per running foot by 20 feet wide.

MR. D. KIPKEMEI ARAP KOSKEI (CONTINUED):

Mr. President, Sir, we are expecting ... people coming from all over the country, like Mr. Leshoomoo ... and the Leader of Government Business, Sir. So we must see what has been provided for ... people, like the road which has been marked ... by a bulldozer. ... we will understand Sir, that is that particular road ... have built over the hill. I drove over the hill in my truck with ... three-year old son standing beside me in the cab, and he did not ... Sir, before Easter, after having the machine to fill ... to make the hill, then levelled the hill and blew it all up in the air ... the rocks so our cars and lorries can pass. So that will ... where the expense went. It went Sir. On the same day, I went ... River Ewo to Ram River. The equipment there being a bulldozer ... and drivers, the same again Sir. Same I provided. I stayed there for ... hours that one minute, that only one 10 yard trench was loaded with ... for that time there.

Mr. President, Sir, now our other ... we have the 650 feet of road that was built several years ... by a certain firm. That road, Sir, built on the gradient from ... built at less than eight months. The bulldozer and machine arrived ... about eight o'clock. The bulldozers are mistaken, the men take it ... and he was building the road through pressure and cliff. At about ... p.m. the bulldozer operator arrived again bringing a grader and ... the bulldozer away. Trucks brought the fill from both ... sides. At about 5.30 p.m. the bulldozer operator arrived again ... leaving the scraper, and took the grader away. At four o'clock I ... the shape for the work the Lord Provincial Commissioner, the grade ... Rivers Authority which has been carried by Government and approved, ... the sum of £5,000.00, and the men work on the road. Besides this ... that came road had taken three months of most skilled to the ... fill fought by public works, and one part of their road money. It ... that Sir, yesterday urging me to do it.

Mr. President, I could give other ... of mistake in my district. The fact is Sir, we have to ... going the people of Lake Kamnaty native for their money. The ... is only, now we have to produce if we are going to ... people to provide services.

I have been told Sir, that a study has ... done to reorganise the Public Works Department. For which, I give ... present Member full credit, but I will tell him that I do not ... that this will solve the problem. I mean the reduction to the ... Public Works Department; Sir, in the reorganisation to a Planning, Design, ... Supervisory and Inspectorate Departments, with second maintenance ... is to cause, because of whatever being put out to the Public Service ... a public service basis. I believe Sir, that until this country ... to programming budgeting, this is the only way we can ... any kind of use of most Public Works agencies in any ... sort.

The Hon. Vice Minister will constantly ... under mind from now to position, to answer up ... figures.

I do not think we have to worry Sir, ... putting the people who presently work on Public Works, out of ... The private firms will have them. On Tuesday still, they can ... entrepreneurs, and form their own construction companies, ... to the work.

MR. O. BRIAN MAHER (CONSTITUENCY): Mr. President, during the Estimates of the Public Budget in March, the Member responsible for Communication [illegible] Administration, promised me that they were going to [illegible] a canteen at the Civil Centre in South Side. The person could look after the Post Office, the Clerk, the Port Office, the Police and the Hospital, and it would be a full-time job. I know it is a [illegible] case in this multi-lane budget. I have been unable to find [illegible], the personnel service being reluctant in terms of [illegible] of the Post Office is [illegible]. The Post has completely gone [illegible] working there. Every time I hold a public meeting in that area and I pay Treasury Stands I have been in the [illegible] of having to apologise to the people present for the fact that was in the Post Office. Last Thursday night I had to go up for an [illegible] of two hours, for people to ask me, I think the present [illegible] is providing a [illegible] sum of money to look after that Post Office. Mr. President, I [illegible] to the appointment of a full-time caretaker for the Civil Centre in South Side.

Mr. President, while I agree with the sentiments expressed by the Honourable Chief Official Member responsible for Post Authority, I do hope that he continues to meet with the financial obligations. I have reason to [illegible] the efficiency of operation. Mr. President, it is unfortunate that on some occasions we have to call on other experienced [illegible] to [illegible] the level of efficiency of employees, for, many of my constituents, have been trying for quite a year to provide telephone facilities in the Province of George Town, as required under the present [illegible] Law. We wonder if we are [illegible], and we going to do it with people who are employed to do it. Mr. President, this [illegible] of which I am speaking, if Members did go to the Cayman Brac [illegible], I noticed for one, that the particular Captain in the Department of Civil Aviation of Cayman Captains. I do not think, Sir even, that you get [illegible] a person who has higher or more qualifications [illegible] a Master Mariner. I doubt very much whether [illegible] can [illegible] the other side of the coin of [illegible], because this particular Captain has done it all, including sailing out the Mayor [illegible] the 'Bridge Hour' since it was launched [illegible]. Mr. President, this has now been [illegible] almost for over a year. This country owes a debt to people like him, who have worked the seven days and five seven. It [illegible] them security, so that people like myself and others can enjoy what we are [illegible]. When they return, is there an opportunity for them to provide a service to the country, and have a thing. We have an obligation to provide it. The reality, Sir, when the present service is [illegible] [illegible] and by unqualified people. I am not speaking in any of this. Sir, [illegible] to [illegible], because I know the [illegible] here to [illegible]. Mr. President, fortunately this profession is a [illegible] like myself. It amazes that he is being [illegible] by [illegible] to [illegible] and to being deprived of [illegible] himself a livelihood, by people who have a [illegible] in the [illegible] of this Cayman Islands. We have to be very careful when dealing with people like him, Sir. I can assure this House that in this instance, we are dealing with an [illegible] [illegible] as well. In the first [illegible], he might not get the experience [illegible] provide the pilotage legally, but Sir, [illegible] is going to be provided legally in the form of this [illegible] in the very near future, [illegible] it is not to be decided by the [illegible] of this Country.

Thereafter Sir, when I read in the paper the Members of [illegible] have been appointed to [illegible] the [illegible] profession for this entire entity, I have to [illegible] as any, I do not know which one is to use. Where there [illegible] I ask help [illegible] appointed, I doubt very much whether they have registered a ship [illegible] flying over the face of their [illegible], and they are talking about [illegible] ships of over 1,000 tons, and [illegible] on the [illegible] positions.

... D. SCHOOL BUILDING CONSTRUCTION: The Saskatchewan Government, Sir, on the entry of the Province into Confederation, was very much concerned ... I was making this ... I would like to be satisfied and capable of locating the ... buildings on the right location, because he has also undertaken a few ... in a few different locations around this world in his day. ... Provincial ... that although this Government agrees that if these ... buildings are constructed according to the plan that I have given, ... the Local Authority will never, ever again, have the financial ... responsibility. I understand that these plans have been put to work. ... hope so, Sir.

Mr. President, another area of the ... might I would like to mention, Sir, is education. It is good to see ... that this country can still afford to meet the ever-increasing demands of the educational requirements of the people of this country. As a ... result, being in the proud city, I discovered the former Member taking ... credit for the modern good works in the education system. Sir, I ... know, even knew that Member after me resided in the present Member. ... So both the predecessor and his successor for the years 1967 to ... 1971, I am sure that the "guilty plaque" will be placed to give the ... former Member his credit for what happens in the next two or three ... years. Mr. President, one concern I have about our education system ... is what I believe it should be speaking our types of graduates. The ... graduate who is always confused, and will go into the professions ... otherwise to be law, medicine, accounting, dentistry or whatever. The ... other, will be self-employable. Electricians and mechanics, ... I know needs, skilled graduates who are provided a service and ... enjoy themselves. At this time, Sir, I have my doubts as to ... whether the present system is providing enough of either of those ... two types. I would also point to say, Sir, that I think we must ... place increasing emphasis on our primary education system. I ... ... the Member mentit, Sir, for the new technology courses. ... Sir, I just that maybe them discouragingly students at ... junior levels to greater heights. The world now seems to be divided ... into the two technocrats, Sir, will not even accept the Education ... System. So the people now only going to get the technique of the ... world that they pay.

The model would be one point ... changing, Mr. President. The proposed plan left by the former ... Member and his administration is so disappointing. That I do not ... ... believe that "guilty plaque" can memorialize at this outstanding ... ... in the future. The diametric might call on the Canadian, ... new facility, but I would hasten to add, Sir, that it should ... ... consider the erection of a new facility until proper facilities ... ... in which can be given, and maintenance is provided to better ... utilize the facilities which they now built, and offer better service ... to the people. I get complaints daily, Sir, about the healthcare ... ... situation. I get so many Sir, that I have begun asking people ... to put them in writing, and one of these days, Sir, I am going to ... compile a book of my own.

Mr. President, I now to the Budget. ... Pursuant unto the Estimates for there are two ... in the floor of this Honourable House, many times Mr. President, I ... ... was bothered considered about the necessity to provide it at home ... ... Members. An explanatory note says that ... to be a Constituent, who is presently employed in a part-time basis ... ... part expense. But, Mr. President, if the three dismore seems ... ... appointed, which I am hopeful to suppose. I trust that the re-think ... ... at the Provincial will be instituted, and that we may ... ... a little easier to keep Nursing there will be ... ... available to us, as only if the facilities exist now.

...Mr. Speaker, I look at the ... [illegible] ... budget. I see all kinds of funny things, Mr. Speaker ... [illegible] ... which Secretary did need $1-M to have to a note of $14,000 to be paid to maintain the idea of private practice. Now, Mr. Speaker, I know that the Honourable Member was not [illegible] ... [illegible] ... Mr. Speaker, I would [illegible] ... between $12,000 and $15,000 per annum, and he [illegible] ... [illegible] ... [illegible] ...

MR. C. RICHARD WATSON (PROGRESSIVE): Mr. President, I have quite a few questions that we can ask Public Service Registration now [illegible]. I believe Mr. Mary Ann Sullivan [illegible] is not here to [illegible] by the officers. I hope they take it as not going to make that [illegible] consider [illegible] Richard Digby. I was [illegible] Mr. Digby [illegible] Mr. President, [illegible] to [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. D. EDDIE WALKER (CONSERVATIVE): Mr. President, I have very much enjoyed the Throne Speech. I had intended to [illegible] but I've heard one or two speakers now, before I could place on [illegible] how this government did a good job on the Throne Speech. I note with pleasure in addition, that they are going to do something to increase the offset and the expense on the relocation of persons from the areas where people are employed to the mining areas. I have heard Members opposite that they have attempted to [illegible], and out of 30 houses, two people [illegible] house. Now Mr. President, it is very important to have houses [illegible] Saturday, which happened to be [illegible] on the hospital! The only things which [illegible] were the snowmobiles on the boat. So, very [illegible], we look to be assistance from these previous instances, to be used as the [illegible] for the people.

Mr. President, as I have said, I commend the Throne Speech as presented by the Honourable [illegible] Premier. After all, Mr. President, the [illegible] so much more until the 1981 Budget Session, do not the [illegible] - in fact, be the probability [illegible] I can't [illegible] on the point Mr. [illegible] I think it is necessary [illegible] to have a definition of the 'little mik', because I am not sure what to expect. If all those [illegible] the boat will [illegible] on the land [illegible] people, then Sir, [illegible] of the Budget which is going to affect them is the gasoline [illegible]. They, will have any [illegible], and [illegible] 'little mik' [illegible] these interpretations are [illegible] Sir, it is not a little [illegible], and it may well [illegible]. Now, [illegible] 'little mik' to pay $60.00 for a gallon [illegible] right [illegible] to [illegible]. I believe that most areas in this country [illegible] at least a dollar per [illegible] by the Public Service [illegible].

Mr. President, since [illegible] going to be asked to pay [illegible] per gallon [illegible] year. Also, we [illegible] Labrador, [illegible] per [illegible] [illegible] per [illegible] [illegible] per [illegible] per [illegible] per

MR. SPEAKER: When I will suspend proceedings for approximately 15 minutes.

AT 3:58 P.M. THE HOUSE RESUMED

MORE THAN AT 4:18 P.M.

MR. SPEAKER: Please be seated. Mr. Premier, before the Honourable Minister of Agriculture, Will be available. Leader of the Opposition.

MR. S. PAUL MARCHAND: Mr. President, since the last time I have many questions directed to the Legislature, the answers to which have not been forthcoming. The answers to questions are supposed to be filed. Have they been, Mr. President, my personal experience is up that would indicate that is the case. I personally do not have problem receiving my answers promptly for a job. I may have had five or six questions on the Order Paper for a year. The figures of my business or a daily grocery trade there, they do not indicate, this the answers to them. Of the questions, Sir, my monthly gross income for newspaper from January to December this year is shown where it was in 1969, and the problem I foresee in my small town of 34 per cent lost gross. Now, Mr. President I am not a business politician, and none of this is attributed to my lack of knowledge, or what might be considered a business decision, was made it is to my students' assignments. Now, if I am failing in the grade, they have to be re-examination. December, last year, this above a of our gross income over November 1969 and is talking to one particular restaurant owner in Gimli which leads into night, who has spoke the same thing. Her words to me were "I do not know what has caused or what the Government has done, but November was like a ghost town". December 1969 showed a 28 per cent increase over September, but my instructions are Sir, that business is growing. I like with a smile of hope that may be of business trying as bad, and that the increase in trade and business figures may be terrible, that they are going to be unacceptable to businessmen and will close their doors.

My business will have a business for those in the Gimli area that stands at 8.19 points per week. I believe I can share this with the present unemployment to not suffer any great hardship.

MR. Speaker, I must mention, and I have expressed my personal views, that I express the serious decisions because Sir, to the due process of matters of the Order Paper that exist in Committee of Supply, Ways and Means or Committee of Privileges and Elections and Public Accounts to provide the time of consideration.

Mr. President, I have complained that the Government Bench can further lengthen the proceedings of the Session, and perhaps the adjournment of the session that I have already indicated to my Schools, but as I said earlier, I believe it is necessary and the opposition will be duly split to them.

Mr. D. GRAHAM MCCRAE (CONTINUED): I also believe that, when they have an intelligent and informed decision to make, they will make it.

I supported the decision taken in the Province [illegible], and I believe, Sir, that the people of the province [illegible] have not [illegible] ... [illegible] been unfairly treated in the matter, and that this country should move ahead with a minimum of delay. [illegible] I believe will show a positive way in this direction, and will in fact give some hope for the future [illegible] Mr. President, [illegible] ... [illegible] I am a great deal [illegible] ... [illegible] I would like to [illegible] ... [illegible] I will speak [illegible] ... [illegible] I would like to [illegible] ... [illegible] I believe, Sir, that we have [illegible] the needs of this nation, and which [illegible] ... [illegible] [illegible] ... [illegible] [illegible] ... [illegible]

Mr. Speaker: The Hon. Member for Bridgetown.

Mr. Peter M. Simpson: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Hon. Member spoke on a very important point. He now will agree that he is in the Commonwealth Caribbean, and the rules have given him an opportunity of noting, that the people of this country want to have more say in order to change the bitter enemies they have been known by. I am very pleased that a member of a professional union was back up what I will be saying in my speech.

Mr. P. Reece Miller: My apologies to the Honourable.

Mr. Lloyd M. Erskine: I would like to congratulate the Honourable Minister of Security for his wide knowledge of the country. I have also considered the long period in the responsibilities of this Honourable Assembly. By perusing his speech, and discovering the topics, I am readily understand the difficult task he has had to perform. My hand goes out to him, and I congratulate him. In particularity, Sir, I would like to make some words of compliment on this point to the Commissioner of Police. Officials have been put in motion, and I hope, as time progresses on some of the other points he has made. Sir, I envy the reality going to serve him, as suggested in this Chamber this afternoon. I have had the privilege of associating with him for many years in Government Service and I have very high regard for him. And will take it more than serve, his hope he will enjoy his retirement.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I agree with the statement of this country, I agree of the Minister Government, to I agree to this motion for the removal of persecution. It appears to me that the Government with which these two particular Statute Laws were enacted, we are the cry of oppression. I have hoped to many times in the past. As it has nothing more to me to think that it would be anything different this time.

In our geographical country, we have to expand to build up our economy, business in Security, and we should have a decline business atmosphere that we have. The present Government seem that they would come out this which is only for more expenditure, and they would bring a wealth of the Queen Economy which everyone would enjoy for the most for hundred years, because of their policy here. By this time, Mr. President, the world economy began that this is happened. We have by their performance, it is nothing new to me, I predicted it, because I have had experience of them. They have brought us into trouble, that they have left us into a pile of despise.

It is just the case for the Minister of Trade that which my colleague and I experience. I have always had the feeling, that once elected to this House one finds oneself in the Cabinet or a Minister, and not in an Executive capacity. However, this time I have to take exception, because problem to us have been taken from the Members Public.

The Deputy Minister spoke about Industrial Estates, but I do not know where he's coming from. I never entered this country, was employed, and then was invited to leave because of the lack of employment. And now I like to commend the Government of the Right Honourable Lloyd S Erskine Bushe that they would come out this which is really needed from Independence. I understand that we have Industrial Estates there in Chase Village and it would be here, I think it is. They are people which have played an instrumental part in this country's progress. If this is the Government policy which we are thinking, we do not mind it.

MR. CHAIRMAN: Mr. [illegible] to the discussion by the honourable Minister of Economic Development, I would like to remind the members that the Agreement has been negotiated on this territory. This is a particular situation, as far as I am concerned, of the Canadian Agreement, which has been reviewed both by the Yukon Government and the Federal Government and the United States of America. Many people are involved, people who are now waiting to get under the blanket and may it be a wonderful thing, but a lot of work is going. My Board people from the banking community may be valid [illegible] the country, etc. I am very pleased to see that the natives ... seek to protect the welfare of this country have participated. Along with this, I would also warn that the Agreement is not to be [illegible] hastily. It will always be our commitment, as elected members of the New Democratic Party of Canada, that we will [illegible] a full-blown treaty at this time.

The figure for Yukon stands at one billion [illegible] of 250 million dollars, is a very substantial sum. It is a large amount of money, and I am sure that if we know how [illegible] amount, it would be much more than this, however, it is encouraging to know that by [illegible] of this money can be utilized for the Yukon economy.

By reading the projected budget for this year, we are moving to [illegible], and none of these [illegible] to mention, I will oppose. The revenue of this country comes here from [illegible] sources, ranging from $11,000,000 in 1978 to $21,000,000 in 1982, or an average increase of 20.5 per cent, annual increase. This represents a very large increase in revenue. We are not always with [illegible] of increase dollars, and in this part of my [illegible], I will not attempt to deal with it, but I will go ahead.

In 1975 when I was given these figures, we [illegible] that this financial [illegible] has tentatively convinced the people of this country, which is also [illegible] to [illegible] difficult. The main trend which happened in the administration of 1972-1975 is now happening during this period. We have a General Revenue Fund of 2.1 million dollars, and a [illegible] of $2,430,768.00 after the [illegible] of that day had increased $2,307,621.91 which was on an [illegible] basis for my response to the [illegible] debt. Therefore, the actual amount of surplus in that year was 1.5 million dollars instead of a deficit. This is continually happening in this country, and from 1977 to 1978 there is a plan of 42 million dollars in general revenue sharing based [illegible] capital expenditure. All the power under the administration which is now headed up by two of these Members of the 1974-1978 Government, there are only 81 million dollars, that could be used from the general [illegible] - suppose that will be 43 million dollars which is used. In this [illegible] they increased between 1969 and 1975, $2,000,000.00 [illegible] a volume between 1977 and 1982 [illegible] 5%% [illegible], of this 3,143,732.95.

In 1978 the public debt stood at [illegible] of the total revenue for that year, and it represent [illegible] of the general revenue to service the [illegible] debt, a point to which you are [illegible] in any economic theory, namely that you should not get to that point. In 1975, after [illegible] had been done by the administration, it only represent 19.9 per cent, the [illegible] 20.0 per cent of general revenue. To only have two and a half per cent of general revenue to service the long-term debt.

Mr. JAMES M. BROWN (CONTINUED): In that order the people of this Administration, the country will then again be faced with a revolving debt structure, and the public debt will be nearly 70 per cent of gross national revenue. In fact some months they will have to go to the 80-90 per cent that it was in 1979.

Accordingly in the months ahead by the responsible financial Secretary, in his new months of 1980 there has been an increase in the assets of the Caribbean Bank. I notice that for the two years of their Administration there has certainly been a contribution of nearly two million dollars from the Caribbean Bank. I should never then it was a political Mr. President, that they have used up in this short time all of the personal resources that were left by the Unity Team Administration. They are using up the Caribbean Development Bank to a very great scale, and if they keep it up, by 1982 the Caymen Islands will be a point of pride as to how much the Jamaican Nation.

Another point on the Budget Speech that I wanted like to comment upon, and of which I feel very proud because this was again set up by the Unity Team Administration, is the great step forward that has been taken in the beginning of our social programmes in the Legislature. It is right that our people, who have the ability, should be given an advance on the Pay Packet at this period.

Another point, is to ask the Minister in this Honourable Chamber of this country, what was another item we speak. The General Loans has all kind for this in the Unity Plans, and it has shown a lot of progress, and I am very interested in the Housing Loans.

Again, referring to the Speech, I was glad to be informed that 1,868 jobs or thereabouts approximately 28 new ones in 24,000 square passengers came here, again, I am proud to say, seriously to what the Minister may be able to give us update. This the groundwork for built now that by our Administration. If it had not been for that good groundwork, they really would be in a hell of a mess today. Mr. President, the problem with some of these people is, and I will deal with this later on my discussion also, is that they have never got their feet into Parliament Caribbean Development Bank or Investment. It's point to be agreed, I will deal more fully with this very terrible dilemma.

I refer to the Speech on page 1: where it says a capital start has been made possible; a notable list of main items Government officers in his home works. Mr. President, while this was encouraging step we are not going to bring to the people. Under our Administration, we felt that it was adequately developed before. It is being done under a different guise now, but it's exactly the same amount of money, and one is giving out the same money, either step is a no-no Government. The previous Government was exactly wrong. I would like seriously to look at the new step that is exactly what now, and look for criticism to be accepted as constructive. Look at what we are getting now, and look at the services that they collected to have in it.

This statement represented Estimated Budgets, and Statements of Expenditure. These are the Estimated Revenue that have to be accepted and brought into fully for the people to understand. Like to this I have taken no exception, and I wish the Government of the House, when I get to it, as far as some of Estimates I set of all the figures, and I would not want to misquote any of them. We are not what has happened, when we pass it. A large deficit is on hand. The previous Government did not become the Budget, they did not consult estimations, in fact expenditure is this, many times has increased tremendously.

MR. CRAIG M. PURSER (CONTINUED): I predict that when the actual financial figures are released in this House sometime next month, for the year 1981, it will prove that we will have had twelve figures of about $1 billion dollars for this, it will probably be unnecessary in the nature of a million dollars.

Those same pundits who predicted disaster in the Treasurer's budget do not seem to be around, and they manipulated figures to the point where their graphs look more like a ten year old school boy, in order to try and prove their point. I might add further, that people who put themselves up as being such financial geniuses should know better by now. Thank God, Mr. Speaker, for one thing. Since [illegible] I think the figures, they have what they want. So, the present Government will have to get out and put some hard figures they can put any more out. That is what I want to find out, and can they going to put these measures into, particularly what they [illegible] the rate of budget which is being presented to this House.

Earlier this week, I mentioned [illegible] Another speaker on it said he cried [illegible] had nothing to do with the budget, it was not their budget, it was a Party [illegible] This was not the Party that budgeted, and this year is to not their budget again, it is the people's budget. Why the devil will we have this budget for in 1982?

Mr. Speaker, I happen to have been a member of the Government for eight years. I am quite aware of how the people are put together. What I would like [illegible] which guide with the expenses which the people [illegible] on behalf of the Minister responsible, Treasury, so they must not try to pass it off on the shoulders of a former Government. They must accept us will have responsibility for what this budget does to this country in the next three years.

On page 26 of this Speech, it says, "I am so sorry to have a Building Code, and that we would be looking [illegible] I am forced to the conclusion [illegible] to do this for us. It will probably have to go to the back to house the money to pay for this Building Code.

We now move close to Christmas, and I wonder how many businesses usually every year. It was decided to [illegible] the South Frenier Building Corp., and we [illegible] I am sorry [illegible] to accommodation, an unpaid bill this for the Government, to [illegible] them open for a while here. and so is [illegible] up there on the shelf. However, I imagine it will [illegible] the [illegible] and Redevelopment Planning Can did many years ago.

The current Petitions speak of the Provincial Agreement, the Petroleum Agreement or the [illegible] of Provincial petroleum in this country would have a negative effect as well as [illegible] effect. I would not say and would have to this point, and will just [illegible] I would [illegible] to it. There is one thing that I will remark upon, and that is under the present system, the homeowner can only claim for charges. There is no penalty on businesses, if it should be found in the economy, and I think this is homework. I do not think that this will be [illegible] with the people of this country. However, I would make [illegible] that by this time, the members of this Legislative Assembly should have [illegible] with either aspect of the Agreement, or we should [illegible] this Agreement, saying what our thoughts,

MR. [illegible] (COMMITTEE): Although [illegible], Mr. President, but I cannot agree [illegible]. I do not want [illegible] to take [illegible] for [illegible] of [illegible]. It has been [illegible] the Chairman [illegible] the [illegible] general [illegible], and we did not use [illegible] to do anything [illegible] to Senate. [illegible] what I have just said. The work of the [illegible] will [illegible] [illegible] have been done [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] for the Legal [illegible]. I will [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

I am sorry, very pleased to see that we thought it [illegible] of such great [illegible] [illegible] we had [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible], in particular the [illegible] of the Captain Islands. I think [illegible] may [illegible] [illegible]. I think it [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] - [illegible] [illegible], and [illegible] [illegible] to take [illegible] of the [illegible]. Of all the important things that [illegible] this [illegible] is [illegible], [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible], speaking about [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to protect [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] and the [illegible]. Why do they not put [illegible] in the [illegible] that affect the country, and [illegible] help the [illegible] to [illegible] our [illegible]. I will be [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible], as this is [illegible] by the Government.

MR. PRESIDENT: Please do [illegible] [illegible], [illegible] we can [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible]. Members [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] of the meeting.

MR. SPEAKER: Prayers.

The Honourable Chief Minister.

HON. DENIS F. HOYLES: Let us pray.

Almighty God, from whom all kindly and protecting Power do we receive and profess the sufficiency of this Legislative Assembly most acceptable, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, Princess Anne and all the Royal Family. Give grace to all who exercise authority or the Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Particularly we pray for the Governor of the Islands, the Members of the Executive Council and Ministers of the Legislative Assembly that they may be endued faithfully to perform the responsible duties of their high office.

All this we ask for Thy great Name's sake, Amen. The Lord's Prayer.

Our Father, which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those that trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil: For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His countenance to shine upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

MR. SPEAKER: Please be seated.

Presentation of Papers and Reports.

Report of the Select Committee on the Education Law. The Financial Secretary.

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE EDUCATION LAW

HON. MICHAEL J. DUCKER: Mr. Speaker, I beg to lay on the Table of this Honourable House the Report of the Select Committee appointed to study the Education Law.

MR. SPEAKER: So ordered.

MR. MICHAEL J. HOOLEY: [illegible] Select Committee of this Honourable House appointed to study the then existing electoral law. I had the honour to be Chairman of the Select Committee and I have had the honour to be Chairman of the revenue Select Committee. All of that time the Members of the Select Committee who were all the Members of the House, most thoroughly and carefully the existing Elections Law and made a number of recommendations which were reflected in the 1967 Elections Legislation presented to the then Legislative Assembly, passed on the second day of December and came into Law on the 2nd of December, 1967.

It was on the basis of this electoral Law, that the last General Elections for the Cayman Islands were held in November of last year. After that Election it was thought fit and proper, since there had been so many innovations made many changes, this Honourable House be looked to make representations and recommendations to the Legislature the Executive. A number of Members studied themselves of this and on the basis of these, the House determined that it was appropriate that a further Select Committee be appointed to study and make recommendations in the light of the experience of the 1968 General Elections, what further, if any, changes either to the Law or administratively should be recommended.

Accordingly, Sir, at the second Meeting of the 1968 Session, on 21st May, Honourable Members of the House passed resolutions appointing a Select Committee consisting of all the Members of the House, to study the recommendations already made and to consider further recommendations with a view to introducing an amending Bill.

As previously stated, Sir, that the honour to be appointed also Chairman of that Committee. That Committee held four Meetings, at the first of which unfortunately Mr. Burrows was overcome due to the heat of a caucus. However, there were three very substantive Meetings in September and October. At those Meetings the Select Committee considered recommendations and recommendations made by the Supervisor of Elections, by four Elected Members and by one Official Member. In addition to those considerations the Supervisor of Elections, Mr. Rodney Tibbs, at the head of the Committee presented the Elections and explained fully the value and the experience in relation to the 1968 Elections.

Honourable Members of your Select Committee also went carefully through the Elections Law and it is on the basis of those deliberations that Mr. Recommendations are made to the present Report and Bill.

The Principal Report, Sir, contains eight important substantive recommendations commencing chapter 2. the Law and also three important recommendations concerning administrative and non-Law matters, matters.

In addition thereto, there were recommendations made, seven in number, of a miscellaneous or consequential nature, and a further seven recommendations, to which reference is made in the Law. Honourable Members will see these in the Report.

However, there are a number of minor drafting recommendations which I won't enumerate, but I would only ask Honourable Members to go through them.

The first is perhaps the most important and the most significant and it relates to section 6 of the Elections Law. At present, Sir, the Cayman Islands is divided into nine Electoral Districts which are fixed in the Law. Each of these Electoral Districts are represented by three Members. Two Electoral Districts are represented by two Members each. Seven Electoral Districts are represented by one Member each.

ROLL RETURN & EMPTY ENVELOPES: The recommendation of your Select Committee is that the Electoral Records in those cases which have multi-dwelling be sub-divided into single dwelling constituencies to correspond with the number of Returning Officers, but that the general Electoral Procedure remain the same. Apart from the particular circumstances that no change be made at the instance of the Lands Tribunal.

The effect of this recommendation, May would be that in Crumlin there would be, if implemented, ten Returning Officers and there would be one Returning Officer for the whole Colonia.

When I make some comments on the recommendations, May, I might state it would be only fair and proper to indicate that recommendation and to say so because what I consider should be the procedure to be followed in connection with that recommendation.

The second substantive recommendation made was that there be an amendment made to section 22 of the Law of Property, section 22 which deals with the qualifications that the Registering Officer should, among other things, possess to appointed the name, address and occupation of every person qualified to vote in the Electoral District for which he has been appointed and state opposite the information he may register by a letter to whose enquiry.

The Committee is also recommended to provide for the establishment of a Registering Officer by the Registering Officer or such assistants, where any person who wishes to register may go any one of the Registering Officers, if he is to publish: Registrar appears who has to register should be written to inform to person.

The next substantive recommendation for change to the Law is to provide a further procedure whereby in any Election it should become known that a Returning Officer should discontinue, either by death or by part of a polling station for which a postal ballot, should be arranged in a postal return "box locked and marked as appropriate with Form 37.

[illegible] of necessity because whereas the United Kingdom Election Rules, which in other respects have only slightly differed in the Election Rules since early years, already stated that deliveries could be either by hand or by post, there is presently in our law no such provision.

The final recommendation of substance in respect of the Election Rules relates to the withdrawal of nomination papers at the parliamentary election. That was done away with by the Representation of the People Act 1969 and had through inadvertence no doubt survived the earlier repeal of section 29 of the Ballot Act 1872. It is proposed now that there be a provision to the effect that if a person dies between the time when his nomination paper is delivered and the time when the returning officer has, subject to certain provisions, given notice of the election, then there may be elected in his place another person.

Those, Sir, are the recommendations principally arising out of the Act. There were other recommendations which were made by the Select Committee of this Honourable House.

The first relates to the supervision of elections and the recommendation is that the Government of Northern Ireland necessarily by a Privy Council Order be appointed on a continuing on-going basis and be paid on a per diem basis. I would, Sir, emphasise that in making the recommendation that the Supervisor of Elections should not necessarily be a civil servant, that the Select Committee was in no way criticising the overall performance of Elections. I think that we are all agreed that in the last Election he did a superb job. What the Select Committee is saying is that in the future a situation could arise where there could be a conflict of interest in the Secretary of State not willing to take on this extra job. It might subsequently not be necessary for a Civil Servant to be released of the very onerous duties attached to that office.

The second administrative recommendation was that in future elections that the Government take administrative steps to ensure that there is a sufficient distance between the polling provided for the counting of the votes and the members of the public in the precincts.

The final administrative recommendation on which I am glad to say that Government is subject and it is to be implemented, that the Attorney General have the authority to make any further necessary administrative arrangements in the Act.

I said, Mr. Speaker, that the first matter I mentioned was perhaps the most significant. That is the recommendation that the Chief Electoral Officer be invested with discretion to change into equity [illegible] circumstances. I think that it is true to say that in the feeling of great amusement that the system should be operated and enjoyed, but that it should be made quite clear to the public of the Queen Victoria that is acceptably used during the system, that Government has not yet received a final view on this particular recommendation and that it is the feeling of Government that there must be much more public debate and public input before the recommendation is to be implemented.

If we [illegible] the recommendations were to be implemented, I think that it is only fair and proper to say that it would be the intention of Government to introduce such legislation as requires the Attorney [illegible] of the present multi-member constituencies as would ensure that it was done in a fair, impartial and [illegible] way.

MR. RICHARD J. DALEY (continued): It is inconceivable to other parts of the Commonwealth, and it is a question which I feel that members of this House would wish to follow, that when necessary additions are made, as they inevitably are going to be, to punishments, there should be appointed a Roumanian Ambassador who would be a person that without the qualification, and a person who had held high judicial office in some other place, that this Roumanian Ambassador would come to the Islands of great unrest to take place; what he would say there, what he would investigate, what he would make inquiries, that he would sit very long, take all manner of care before making his decisions in regard to homicides.

This is unfortunate case, Sir, because it is an embarrassment, owing to the fact that the United Kingdom and the Islands which I have had the honour to visit, that the boundaries in the Caymen Islands are constituent territories which have existed for many, many years. To find, it might be true to say that they have existed from time immemorial. To find, the boundaries in the old Dominions can have many private disputes and it is in the Caymen Islands that there have been the private disputes which

MR. CHAIRMAN (interpreting): The question now is that the report be adopted. Does any member wish to speak? I think that the Financial Member from Nepal should be given an opportunity to speak first.

MR. D. BAHADUR KHANAL: I would like to personally give my support to the Twenty Fourth Report for Deepa Zone, Sir. However, I think, Sir, to suppose the recommendations contained in this Report, they will be a heavy load of burden under which I sincerely fear, and I will express with the Hon'ble Deputy Leader Mr. Regmi on this Table, the most Right/Known recommendations will be the Report. And I have what the leader of Government Business suggested yesterday, maybe this recommendation would not have come here. However, it becomes, Sir, that the Deputy the Leader and the recommendation to this regard as well, the Chairman the Ministry.

I can have from the printed summaries of the Honourable Financial Minister that there is still plenty to be done fighting drug addiction. However, I believe, this is a significant and a necessary change in the Fund. I believe that is still being collected, although I have already passed the Members's Budget in March this year, suggesting the same thing.

Then, Sir, as I said then, still today condition of drinking. It still was already the people of these islands in any social crime in economic standards, however, may I thank Government officials, could be finished by the Government agencies in order to maintain the state of all diseases, whatever annual and economic benefit.

The other changes in the Fund, Mr. President, I also recommend that, Sir, I think that it is possible to take note of those people who were present and those people who were absent during the deliberations of this Committee. The recommendations made to close up the Fund in time, otherwise, are certainly quite helpful when the next discussion is held to study the subjects.

I also suppose secondly, Sir, the recommendations of several Departments of Industries, and the appointments of a subsidiary, an ADB especially the construction of workers that be an on-going process rather than taken to some remote hazards countries, order to seek solution to remove that all these people who are entitled to live and given the opportunity.

I also support secondly, Sir, the recommendation that these people who are entitled to make the loans be to absent from the Zonals should be allowed to come by direct route.

Mr. President, I recommend this Report to the House.

MR. CHAIRMAN: The Second Financial Member from Kosi Zone.

MR. LUMBOR P. PRADHAN: Mr. President, the Report before us, the Eleven Districts of the Eastern Zone, to one which I recommended should be set up and should be dealt with as this House, mainly because I felt that more time should have been given to Subdivisional Headquarters to a lot of important of our Districts too.

When Government Notice No. 7/21 was brought to this House, I expressed it as an unfortunate move not only with the method adopted but, to my opinion, that I felt against these changes.

Mr. [illegible]: Mr. President, my position in this respect has not changed. In my judgment the Supreme Court of this State has performed under these facts, that they appear to be able to reach any reasonable decision.

Mr. President, the only reason that we do is to get the public's reaction to the public school, together with their rather good reasons, I intend to do. This building, as indicated by [illegible] on the adoption of the recent building as a new plan. [illegible] that might arise with some new educational or [illegible] because [illegible] be well considered that reason. Building which contain [illegible] some passed through this house will be passed, which [illegible] of the [illegible] educational [illegible] have in the State, whether or not [illegible] good job this country.

The chairman [illegible] first point also, Mr. [illegible], touched of the [illegible] reasons of [illegible]. I wonder if he would be feeling his [illegible] way if he [illegible] on one of the [illegible] bills which will be adversely affected by the changes being recommended by him.

Mr. President, I have no objection to the [illegible], the system as [illegible] of any such, [illegible]. But I do object to the [illegible] that this [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] to be said, if the Department [illegible] the last election, that because [illegible] were [illegible] with [illegible] that the [illegible] would be changed. I have looked [illegible] to this [illegible] and while I will [illegible] the Democratic Caucus [illegible] Monday for [illegible] of the changes made, I submit, Mr. President, that a matter [illegible] has been [illegible] for [illegible] I understand [illegible] a Democrat [illegible] and it is my decision [illegible] as an individual [illegible] to [illegible] Democratic Caucus [illegible] Mr. President, [illegible] on the [illegible] of the Supreme Court [illegible] and I believe that [illegible] of racial [illegible] in these changes. I believe, Sir, that it [illegible] serve the interests of this [illegible] to [illegible] of the people

Mr. [illegible]: I would like the [illegible] out of order in the event that a matter of this kind could not have been [illegible] the [illegible] of the Committee, because it would require a change in the Constitution, and I [illegible] to the Steering Committee.

Mr. Lloyd A. Fitzgerald: Thank you, Mr. President. A most [illegible] statement has been made in my own [illegible]. I feel to your [illegible], Sir.

The system which now [illegible] within the [illegible] has been [illegible] accepted by the people of the Queen [illegible]. There is no need why the people in this [illegible] for the [illegible] Democratic or Republican [illegible] why they [illegible] they please. There are those people to place the Democratic [illegible] why should not the people [illegible] Queen [illegible], [illegible] the next day [illegible]. [illegible] be decided [illegible] made [illegible] the [illegible] people who they feel should [illegible] to be the Board. Why are we spending so [illegible] to [illegible] to serve the [illegible] of certain [illegible]?

Mr. President, as I stand on this [illegible] to debating the motion before the House, I consider this a very [illegible] position. I consider [illegible] of the [illegible] of assemblers in the Queen Delphi and I believe that [illegible] of racial [illegible] in these changes. I believe, Sir, that it [illegible] serve the interests of this [illegible] to [illegible] of the people

MR. JAMES A. [illegible] (Continued): ...this country back the cost of the stamp. We have tried to follow one country in this country for ages, Black and White Cable. It did not matter to all mixed together.

Such a change in the Principle has still brings about a lot of responsible for this country, and that is to not already have it. However, may be our Representative.

Section one more thing concerning the Hearings. The reason I did not attend the Meeting is the reason which you will see here in the note which was taken from section 6 of the Act. It would have been a waste of time, a reason applied to waste my time. If we look at the Minutes of the Meeting of the 7th October where the speakers to motion 4 was overcrowded, we will note that the people invited for this by originally were the Honourable Second Official Member, the Honourable First Elected Member of Executive Council, the Honourable Second Elected Member of Executive Council, the Honourable Third Elected Member of Executive Council, the Honourable Second Nominated Member of Executive Council, the Second Elected Member for Georgetown, the Second Elected Member for North Rupununi, the Third Elected Member for Demerara

This is why I mentioned it a while ago that I attended a few of these Meetings. We come here to these Meetings and we already know what the position is going to be. A few of the Meetings are a waste of time. If I was a Civil Servant with a steady salary, then I would have to attend Meetings. However, as a Member who has to sacrifice his own personal business I have to forfeit many minutes of the day.

Mr. President, the most effective section of these amendments is section 4. I really cannot have any with motion 4 as the law and it would not make any difference, because of the Government Bench decision that this will be accepted, it will be accepted. However, I hope that the people of the Guyana Islands and in particular the constituency of Demerara-Essequibo will take note of the names of the people who are responsible this change, not that it will affect some of us because I believe that some of us will have the ability to contribute more of the people in the future than others. The disadvantage will fall entirely on those people will be less, again. The danger of this section is that we are going to erode the existing rights in part. We do not want this in the Guyana Islands. We have seen this sort of thing happen in Jamaica. We have seen its happen in the Windward Islands. We have seen its happen all around us. And we have certain fundamental rights and freedoms which we all like to see the continuance of the Guyana Islands instead of the type of thing that. I will not comment at that point further because I have that in the motions that I am talking about. However, nevertheless....

MR. H. [illegible]: Mr. President, on a point of order, Sir. I wonder if the Member would read section 4 of the Electoral Law Reform.

MR. JAMES A. [illegible]: While I am not a lawyer, Mr. President.

MR. SPEAKER: I agree, it is not a point of order.

MR. H. [illegible]: I was just giving the Member a chance to clear up the misunderstanding.

MR. PRESIDENT: [illegible] a minute when you are finished, please?

MR. RICHARD A. PITTMAN: If the Senate wishes to determine its rules [illegible], Southern Pacific thinks the preceding Congress and Government are the proper point of order. This is no point of order. What I am talking about here is a question which should decorate this meeting. It is unfortunate that some Long Lines people, some of the more individuals do not understand this. The remarks in this chamber are very extensive could be quite accurate, quite [illegible] they are said. They do not relate [illegible] Long Lines people [illegible].

Another point, Mr. President, before I am really through with [illegible] the changes made in the administrative [illegible] of this case. I do not know [illegible] to change the minutes of a meeting [illegible] Public Service Commission. The purpose I got up for was [illegible] this is one of the most significant [illegible] of this country and [illegible] Southern Pacific. How can we change [illegible] which have [illegible] without those Commissioners [illegible] to [illegible]? Mr. President, as I said, I should almost have one hell [illegible] I am through.

I'll be [illegible] to explain [illegible] of the conduct of the Government, what [illegible].

MR. D. EDGAR HILLIS: Mr. President, on a point of order, Rule, Standing Order 30(4) and (5), I think that the Member is making [illegible] irrelevant [illegible] and I think that he is also [illegible] remarks to other Members. May I have a ruling from the Chair, sir?

MR. RICHARD A. PITTMAN: Mr. President, this is a [illegible].

MR. D. EDGAR HILLIS: Will the Member please sit down until the President rules.

MR. PRESIDENT: Mr. Parliamentarian, has that the Senate Finance Member [illegible] to say that the proposed amendment to Case [illegible] made in the Yukon Territory report [illegible] in order to enable [illegible] to appeal that matter to a position. If that is any [illegible] of order.

MR. RICHARD A. PITTMAN: Mr. President, I rise [illegible] to assist [illegible]. Quite [illegible] I will [illegible] anyway. I [illegible], any one of their [illegible] of [illegible]. I'm [illegible] the [illegible].

MR. PRESIDENT: It is [illegible] [illegible], I am [illegible].

MR. RICHARD A. PITTMAN: [illegible] of their [illegible] is not out of order, Mr. President, with [illegible].

MR. PRESIDENT: Oh, yes it is, because it is [illegible] of [illegible], and the [illegible] is [illegible] by [illegible].

MR. D. EDGAR HILLIS: Thank you, sir.

MR. LINCOLN A. CLARKE: Mr. President, regardless of the problem, we have the position and the world about -[illegible] standing for almighty dollars, the Grand Grabbed Nation for Decade Term. I am here speaking about [illegible] will affect the people and generation to come in the future America.

I [illegible] that it was the Grand Nation for North Side who pitched the [illegible] Market's system and I also know the reason why it was done, and the Nation knows that I would [illegible] I have told you. My [illegible] of how many times he tried to [illegible] me in this issue it will not nullify the effect of what I am saying.

MR. D. SAMUEL MILLER: Mr. President, on a point of order, Sir, I think that the Member is misinterpreting the Speaker, because it was not he who pitched the motion. The motion was under discussion was pitched in this House by the Leader of Government business, the Honourable Chief Officials Member.

MR. LAWFORD A. PETERSON: Mr. President, I rise the motion as moved by the Honourable Chief Official Member, which is seconded. However, I think that the Grand and Decade of this House will make what the Grand Member for North Side the most [illegible] misinterpreting this.

HON. MICHAEL J. BRADLEY: Mr. President, Sir the point raised I may like to elaborate certain matters which other it has been by Grand Constitute Report which is today of the main item, that I would [illegible] in the manner the [illegible] of [illegible] before to decide Question time to be taken.

Suspension of Standing Orders

MR. CHRIS K. OKOTIE: Mr. President, I would like to request time to appeal to the Standing Orders [illegible] question. I would like this motion to [illegible] my [illegible]. The House is about on this time for questioning and time questioning should expire at 11.30 a.m. I think that it is [illegible] the [illegible] I [illegible] to be [illegible] before Question time. It means that the people in [illegible] the [illegible] Member's [illegible] Grand Member from North Side [illegible] Time to motion now by this motion. I took on the paper here today. We have the budget to be debated. I come prepared to debate the budget. The [illegible] motions which will take us all of the time of the House today. Why could they not have been interpreted [illegible] This is another [illegible] this particular motion before the House. I move to [illegible] the [illegible] to be [illegible] I am prepared on that particular point to go through the [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] that time is a [illegible] Member [illegible] by the Members of this House.

Mr. President, the way that this House is being run now, I [illegible] this one today. That is to say as you as President of this House, as Chief Commissioner [illegible] Grand, [illegible] the House they have not been for long [illegible] and [illegible] to be [illegible] the work of the [illegible] of the [illegible] of God".

MR. [illegible]: Mr. President, as a member of the [illegible] Committee, Sir, may I draw the Council's attention to [illegible] of the Standing Orders which clearly lays down the order of business for the day. The business listed here as motion [illegible] is the motion as defined in the Standing Orders. The motion was as follows:-

"(a) [illegible]
(b) [illegible]
(c) Reading of the previous minutes and [illegible]
(d) [illegible]
(e) [illegible]..."

MR. [illegible]: Mr. President, Sir, a point of order. I am one of the [illegible] of the Standing Orders. We do not need the Member to read, since everybody has one.

MR. [illegible]: What he was a point of order. Would he please quote the chapter and verse of the Standing Orders which he is referring to?

"(e) [illegible]".
(f) [illegible]."

MR. [illegible]: Would the Member please sit down. I think that we have several learned points of order. The Second Elected Member for Castle [illegible] on a point of order, we have already a long way gone in.

I would like to say to Members of the Elected Members for Nairobi that a similar task and opportunities will arise. The only way in which we could [illegible] would, of course, by [illegible] Parliament to [illegible] provisions to be taken after the [illegible] of this Constitution Report has been completed. What I think will be the view of the House [illegible] on the [illegible] Committee Stage.

I think that I would like to finish [illegible] to the Motion, as it is certainly true on the Elected Member for West [illegible] pointed out, that the Standing Orders do require that Reports be laid before questions are taken. However, I think it [illegible] Members are aware [illegible] Reports [illegible] which are [illegible] to be laid on the subject of [illegible] that they are laid, but are discussed at a later stage. In the circumstances, we shall [illegible] until [illegible] to [illegible] the course of the Meeting, that all questions have been answered. I think that we ought to find some way of [illegible] [illegible] question time and obviously we could [illegible] [illegible] speak as soon as I have finished, because I have one point [illegible] [illegible] to be answered Monday or two o'clock. I would invite the Business Committee to have a look at [illegible] might be possible.

MR. [illegible]: Mr. President, I do not [illegible] because I have been a Member of this House now for [illegible] and I do not recall to be reminded every time of this rule. We [illegible] Standing Orders. We have seen the Hon. Elected [illegible] Interpretation Question, Sir. The Question [illegible] and it was left out. If we had a Minister [illegible] [illegible] a few weeks before Easter [illegible] and we could then go on to Question Time, that is what was done.

MR. JAMES M. BRIDGE (CONTINUING): Since I am saying so, this is taking away the rights of this Township Meeting. I am just asking if this could not be done the Tuesday after Town Meeting. The Selectmen would not be the budget deciders, neither then these workers, rather than the question.

MR. M. MARSHALL BLOOM: Mr. President, I am a member of the Finance Committee on the Budget Study. I'd like to say that myself and the Selectmen would welcome any comments you have.

MR. JAMES M. BRIDGE: I thought the Moderator announced he'd a Committee. I did not expect to hear such words from the Moderator.

MR. M. MARSHALL BLOOM: I am only a Consultant on the Moderator.

MR. JAMES M. BRIDGE: I do not.....

MR. PRESIDENT: Please not down. Order, order.

MR. JAMES M. BRIDGE: .....like the Moderator.

MR. PRESIDENT: Order, order.

MR. M. MARSHALL BLOOM: If the Moderator.....

MR. PRESIDENT: Please sit down. Please. Mr. Bush has the floor.

May I explain briefly, as I imagine, a hopeful number of Members will of this wish to speak on the Report of the Select Committee on the Selectmen's Role? Should any Members who can going to wish to speak on that front should for a moment? Then will already invite going to be a long debate. Under the circumstances, may Members wish to vote a motion that I speak subject to questions the Honorable Select Committee, but I would have thought that it would be possible to continue standing before the Chair, that further discussion of this Report will be the wish of the House, as they may wish to take the meeting. Could we not suspend standing orders to enable that? It may be that everyone wants to go on, or at least that the majority want to go on debating with qualification expected. It will make that an obvious motion.

MR. GEORGE C. BRUSH: Mr. President, who decides how often we should be adjourned. Previous, however, of another Committee which have been debated already, I suppose that they are not the ones that can be discussed up.

MR. M. MARSHALL BLOOM: That is right.

MR. JAMES M. BRIDGE: Mr. President, as Mr. Bush's Finance Committee which would follow the Selectmen Study is,

MR. PRESIDENT: Yes, I think that it would be possible. To go back then if it's a question of, and the majority of Members wish. If you wish to vote that Committee agree to be taken separately the recommendations of the Selectmen Committee. Subject to be taken at a later time, I would accept the motion. However, it is a motion against which others may vote. It does not mean that the matter will pass.

ADJOURNMENT TO AUG 14

MR. JAMES K. [illegible]: I would understand that and I understand the way in which decorum works here. However, I am reading Order Standing Order 23 as the Whip and the Budget Address have already been given their proper consideration. I am of the opinion that the debate on the Budget Address should continue. What I anticipate is going to take more of Monday than the other motions which are on the Order Paper today, and those motions down for debate after the debate on the Budget Address have taken place, will not be reached under the debate for the Budget Address.

MR. S. MAYO SPEAKER: Mr. Treasurer, I would like to second the motion that moved that the matters before the House be suspended or adjourned so that we may continue with debate on this....

MR. [illegible]: ... I have understood it correctly. The effect of the motion needs to be purely administrative, that is the normal standing debate on the representation Bill to the top of the Order Paper is applied, as usual....

Have any Members wish to speak to that motion?

MR. S. PAUL MILLER: I notice at present, Mr. Treasurer, Standing Order 23 allows for Standing Orders to be suspended. I wonder if you would kindly to be the motion pertaining Order which is going to allow the change in the order as suggested, sir?

MR. [illegible]: I think that possibly it would be standing Order 24. Because we have a Order Paper before [illegible] as long as the provisions with not under the general provisions of Standing Order 24. My concern was Standing Orders to accordance with the order in which matters are put out. The motion to this Standing Order should be suspended to enable that we may be able to take the items on today's order paper in a different order, in a different sequence. I believe that will be sufficient to enable.

MR. S. MAYO MILLER: Any of the Standing Order 24?

MR. PEPPERCORN: Well, in accordance with the Standing Orders as they is we are changing the order in which items on today's Order Paper are taken. I think that this is a completely proper motion. Does any Member wish to speak? I think that the third Observer Member for Hope Bay who wishes to speak on this, but I am not sure. Sir?

MR. [illegible]: Mr. Speaker, the motion before us which was moved by the First Elected Member for Kaolak Bay, I would like to say here, Sir, that as the Territorial Council is aware, it is of vital importance that these Ordinances [illegible] and Ordinances of the first part for the full discussion of the House, plus all the other Ordinances of the whole House of which the First Elected Member for Kaolak Bay should have some or most of the work. I rose to seek clarification of this to make sure that we are now proceeding with the agenda as the Budget Address. However, Sir, whether or not we do have other business appear this time is not as important as those that. However, Sir, when we decided to have Friday, as a result of the business of this House to enable to implement the agenda, as guidance of the business arrangement

REP. [illegible] (CONTINUED): I would like to say again, Sir, that I am not in support of this motion.

REP. JAMES M. WILSON: Mr. President, just one comment there, Sir. If I know Lieutenant Commander [illegible] I know him, I really don't [illegible] and I would look at the situation by Task [illegible]. Also, I am willing [illegible] to the prohibitive order of this [illegible]. If the Senator would like to see what has kept me [illegible] of the Senate I will be very glad to [illegible] and but how can it be [illegible]. Does she want to [illegible]?

MR. PRESIDENT: Senator, madam. Does any other Senator wish to speak?

SEN. JAMES M. WILSON: Maybe maybe like that would keep the Senator busy too.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Honorable Chief Executive of Kamehameha Division.

SEN. DANIEL K. INOUYE: Mr. President, I suppose that we may or with the [illegible], that [illegible] has maybe just be still have to be voted on but I am not going to support it. I think that [illegible] the Order of the Day is now before us and to get on with the business.

MR. PRESIDENT: Does any other Senator wish to speak?

SENATOR TOM: [illegible]

MR. PRESIDENT: May we have a [illegible]?

AT 11:00 A.M. THE SENATE ADJOURNED

Issued December 27 11:00 A.M.

Mr. President: Please be seated
The Secretary General invites the Delegation from the Republic.

Mr. Ernesto A. Pilapil: Mr. President, just before the break I was dealing with the Report of the Ad Hoc Committee on the Declaration. At the point of the break, I believe that I was pointing out what in my opinion was a disservice to the people of the Solomon Islands and the most effective and efficient solution in my opinion.

Mr. President, the provisions of Article 5, the first paragraph states that Provincial Governments or Local Governments which have self-Government shall be established into single Member constituencies as compared with the number of Representatives that Provincial Governments would normally have. It follows, Mr. President, that further due to the provincial circumstances, no change will be made to the Provincial Islands.

Mr. President, I consider this provisions circumstances would apply to the Western Islands which would not be one of the other Provincial governments namely the Gilbert Islands. As I stated, Mr. President, I was also concerned in the last paragraph a possible explanation which the people of the Western Islands, possibly Members of the Assembly will be directly affected. I was also not certain of Article 5 and any additional paragraphs that would become within the Western Islands. Finally, Mr. President, as the Western Islands have been left as one country with one member representation of the Assembly, Provincial or Local positions. However, Mr. President, this constitutes my first speaking.

Mr. President, as you being aware of the Western Islands was given a dissolution power as one Party delegation to the position of certain other activities and countries. This amendment to the Electoral Law by, in my opinion, is totally unnecessary and I speak of the time of the Assembly if this Power is dissolved. It should never be in your hands.

It appears to me, Mr. President, that any Act which is incompatible to provide Members of this Town can already be done by others. Principle objectives of the people of the Western Islands are unnecessarily the Executive Council or the Party in Power should be responsible.

The Powers of this Power has said that he would not already as reason that he would not attend on this House without knowing us. Well, I am sorry that Mr. Speaker has to be going to have a lot of support because I was here the other day to express my views. I know, Sir, that there will be a number of Members jumping up as soon as they can, however, I believe that with the history of the Western Islands will prove that I am right but when, Mr. President, I am not discouraged by possibilities because I believe that by the time we may have I am very sure that independence candidate for this House. Of course, I have been reluctant for the country I have, so this as it may be, Mr. President, many times under rules for our Local, and it is hard to win votes with others.

Mr. President, we come in all many fears a situation that we in the Assembly will be in another Government or election in this country, especially of the ethnic minority as compared with that individual. We need to ourselves as well and Legislative Representatives and Presidents.

MR. LAWRENCE H. SMITH: (continued) ... [illegible] ... which the Chief Justice, I would think, perhaps already or shortly a month later anticipated would be passed at the Meeting of the 6th October, 1982. The result I guess, Mr. President, is what we do the balance of business. I'm really thinking about an amendment which specifies that the Democratic Floor Assistant Whip, Mr. Jimmy Hastings who was once acting Democratic Floor Leader, specify the Floor Steward Member for the Senate Caucus, the Floor Steward Member for Post 182, the Floor Steward Member for Radio Shack and the Floor Steward Member for Post 9999. I do not anticipate Mr. Speaker, that all the names which we provide in the Senate will be finally approved by the majority.

Mr. President, I have before me [illegible] Democratic papers from the Senate Floor Steward Member for Post 182 where he enthusiastically believes in the concept of the war, who never has agreed with the Constitutional Convention because he felt that he would lose the opportunity to [illegible] and he was right. An endorsement or statement on this would be [illegible] the people. This is exactly what I intend to do on Wednesday night. Tomorrow I will also take that opportunity to present my Cabinet at the Senate.

[illegible] recommendation made by the Floor Steward Member for Post 9999, he usually appointed six. That we have others on Caucus, the Third Floor Member for Post 9999, the Floor Member for Post 182 can usually [illegible] while the amendment [illegible].

Mr. President, on a vote, I know [illegible] of Members will be [illegible] of the [illegible] which they would make their position right to the people. However, I hope that the people will [illegible] Democrats of [illegible] which we are noted and so [illegible]. I guess that they will also remember this in 1982.

Thank you, Mr. President.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Floor Steward Member for Radio Shack.

MR. [illegible] SMITH: Mr. President, I will attempt my debate [illegible] some of the words of Robert Burdette. He said I do hope for life:

> "To write right on the [illegible]. To write right on the [illegible]. To write right on the [illegible] and to write [illegible]."

[illegible] this is the hour during which [illegible] to my constituents [illegible] to the [illegible] votes. I am sure, all my other colleagues will never [illegible] what we vote right. Therefore I have six more amendments which I would like [illegible] is continually plugging the [illegible]. I appreciate the [illegible] which [illegible] have this morning. The [illegible] of this [illegible] very constructive. This is commendable, in my opinion, which should be dealt with after we have [illegible] of the [illegible] as a whole.

[illegible] of the multiplicity amendments may be asked to [illegible] and why that I am speaking, this may [illegible] I [illegible] just a consideration which has no [illegible]. I am sure in any decision of this body may [illegible] to re-[illegible] it will [illegible] and as [illegible] my [illegible]. However, that is all the points [illegible] mind today.

Mr. Speaker Sir, [illegible] The [illegible] Chief [illegible] something which has been spoken, proved and tested. [illegible] Bishop Lekhanya today. I have why it is being broadcast [illegible], because [illegible] the whole time through. [illegible] [illegible] Basotho attacking [illegible] this one.

[illegible] the constitution has to be changed to allow that only Ngakoanana as Commander of Defence [illegible] Lekhanya, with them [illegible] Constitution and [illegible] Basotho today. The Constitution of the Kingdom of Lesotho is [illegible] to protect the people and to uphold the principle of the Kingdom Lesotho, the people who are in the [illegible] and [illegible] people of the years have [illegible] to [illegible] Basotho [illegible] in the [illegible]. Those are the people I am speaking about.

I have a [illegible] [illegible] I am not [illegible] [illegible] the people [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Hon. Joseph O. Culkin: Mr. President, could I ask some Honourable Senator some questions?

Hon. Chairman: As the Senator has pleaded, I think really that the point of order has arisen and I should not allow questions. Does any other Senator wish to speak?

Hon. A. Gomez Jones: Mr. President, I rise to speak on the Report of the Select Committee on the Electoral Law which is presently before this Honourable House. I first wish to thank my colleagues on the Committee for the honour they conferred on me in appointing me Chairman of the Committee. I do not know what prompted them to do so, but I do not feel competent enough to be the Chairman of such a Committee. I would refer you to the Minutes of the Select Committee held on the 2nd October, 1968. The Minutes present are clearly stated and the opinions received were from the Honourable Minister of Agriculture, Mr. George McConnie, the Honourable Second Elected Member of Roseau South, the Second Elected Member for Roseau Town and the Second Elected Member for Soufrière Town.

The Minutes also state that the Elected Members do agree that discussion should take place on the Report before the Committee considers the Bill clause by clause. The Minutes further state:-

> "Three Elected Members in their Report which have not been considered by the Committee, urged that the Secretary of Representations, the Chief Electoral Officer, should be appointed by the Governor-General on the recommendation of the Prime Minister after consultation with the Leader of the Opposition."

Another is also stated:-

> "Due to the possible disenfranchisement, no change to be made in the Electoral Law before the General Election."

The question was put. Those who are in favour and those who are against please say "Aye". I am satisfied that the Second Elected Member for George Town will not be able to have sufficient votes to change the Minutes of the Minutes of the Select Committee before proceeding to this Report and taking such an unnecessary adjournment.

I would also like to say that we have prepared to proceed and I really do not know who is before me. However, I want to assure him or anyone else that is in charge of this House that I am ready to stay as long as I can. I might not stand as long as he or the Honourable Member for Soufrière, but I am ready to be here as long as necessary.

I do not suppose single Member constituencies and I have my views. As I said, I was not at that meeting and I did not vote on the amendment. I have the mandate of George Town who obviously elected me by a large majority in 1967, and again in 1969 to vote and I was elected on a one man one vote basis of the people of George Town and I want to emphasize to be able to represent all of my people of the time. Because my opinion comes from a cross-section of them in Roseau, the town, the middle class, the well off, the aristocrats, the black, the brown and the white. The First Elected Member for George Town is capable of representing them.

MRS. A. SCOBEE [CONTINUED]: I believe, Mr. President, that small, poor people should have Christmas seconds, just as Congress. I would have a resolution of that kind to offer, but I was not prepared for this to be discussed at this time. I would not consider such a resolution I feel, however, indicates that the people in my constituency what I represent that this would be the greatest Christmas present they would want to have.

I mean, sir, that I have made my position clear on this. Another point I would like to make is that I am surprised that the Opposition have taken this attitude on it, and it is known as a foreign commission that will have the same effect which would bring this division about. Thank you very much, sir. This is merely a report from the Private Committee and I think the public should understand that there was no move to put this person into private consultations with the public of this country.

Thank you very much, Mr. President.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Honourable Minister Without Portfolio of Executive Council.

HON. DONALD O. CAMERON: Mr. President, as I said, the length and tenor of this debate has taken me by surprise. However, I believe that in respect of justice, the matter can rightfully be pursued as far as I did not unite aware of feelings under an area of the Province who contact was this, and some will wonder the use to which.

Mr. President, in one of the resolutions of the 1949 Convention which we were speaking under, I would like to refer briefly to the report of Lord Oxford and Asquith, the government also agreed to which we the...(illegible). Surely, Mr. President, some members seem to think that I am not being honest, I was saying that I would recommend to Newfoundland this step, and the report of Lord Oxford and Asquith, the Commission had taken, and really the position was related to the formulation of our present Constitution.

In that report it was said that it was to the report that he had been unable to proceed the people in Confederation with Canada, Constitutionalism and that we could hope that the new settlement would give persons representation in the...

The idea, Mr. President, of single Member constituencies is not for any minister or any one suggested by the Leader of the Opposition, but it has been in the possession of some people since and before in this country, something which has never been thoroughly into existence, or for or from which it. The reason for single Member constituencies, Mr. President, is to guarantee some democracy. In a democracy, there is one man, one vote. Under our system, in the multi-Member constituencies, anyone has three votes and it is possible for a minority of people to control a block of constituencies such things and constituencies which is unfair.

The other point is, Mr. President, as the Honourable Leader of Opposition stated the case, I think that is a report from a Select Committee, and I think that you in putting the matter before this House and the Honourable Leader of Opposition to suggest it is quite given that there was no intention to introduce these recommendations. Even if they were accepted, additional justice will be one of consultation with the public.

SEN. SPONG: I would like to... My reason for suggesting it, Mr. President, was specifically to get public input on this matter. My own feeling is that we would have simple majority support but I'm just trying to get the lay of the land. If the majority of people in these Islands feel that what we operate under is what they want to retain, so be it. That is democracy.

Certainly, Mr. President, the rationale behind the recommendation in this report is not that the Minority Leader or anybody else supported it, but simply in deference to all the many suggestions we have received in this area. What this Member should have emphasized on, Mr. President, before making such a rash statement, was the fact that by an overwhelming majority and was elected to this Legislature in consideration of the Constitution. It took an order of the court to change this. That is the depth of this democracy, Mr. President. I am not sure that by referendum we should change.

The encouragement, Mr. President, that he and his colleagues found it appropriate to debate the subject substantively came as no surprise to me. As I say--the election yesterday really did, and the floor fight to create opinion did grow. As for the building itself, Speaking of the battlefields and fighting in the Senate, one can only fight if they are here, Mr. President. While I can understand that the Senate was ill for one Monday, the majority was not ill for the week. We have been given to attend all of the meetings except this morning. The committee chairmen not being present. Most of the questions on the Capitol Complex Project, I think it was, were in the record. We were here to ask them. We did not postpone anybody to ask them. So, Mr. President, let me assure that gentleman and his colleagues that they are free as they might choose at any time but this Government will not be run from the back benches of this Senate. We are here and we do our job and work it.

MR. PRESIDENT: I have no objection just which I would like to withdraw. However, the necessary legislative measure appears to provide for my absence. So, I need not interrupt proceedings. If we could finish this item by 4:30 p.m. I will make myself available. I will be back up, I imagine 8:15 p.m. and we will probably resume proceedings.

HON. SENATOR D. BRANT: Mr. President, I will keep what I have been saying on the matter short but amend the resolution, that is this Report of the Select Committee. The public of these Islands should be given the opportunity to express their views on the proposed Capitol Complex. I would like to make it clear in my opinion it is not the desire of this Legislature to abolish these multiple Member constituencies or even to vary or to allow for additional representation of all groups and communities. If I thought otherwise, I would not support the resolution. One vote is a true democratic process.

If this were to come into effect and I were to run for the Cayman Islands, I would have to pick people from all districts. I would be dealing in every way. I'm not shy nor do I go crying to my constituency. I have enough confidence in my ability to the confidence of the people of the districts if that be, then wherever I stand I would be elected.

MR. ERNEST N. MORIAL (Interpretation): That is why I am just pleased of this visit, and today, I have democratic process being introduced into our discussions.

Again I say that what the distinguished Member from Golden Rock should be concerned about was the fact that he had no more respect for the Constitution than to use Emergency Powers to arrested citizens and that he was fortunate under the Constitution to be here today. That was only a matter duly. I still want misunderstandings as to what he was doing, of the citizens of the area, pending my being able to discuss matters that I may have with the Hon. Minister of Home Affairs.

So I said, I would like to go on record again, Mr. President, as saying that his non-appointment was not to create any misunderstanding as to my position in the Legislature.

Thank you.

HON. JOSEPH N. HOYTE: The Chief Minister and Member for Mahaica Rural.

MR. CHEDDI B. JAGAN: Thank you, Mr. President.

I had not intended to speak on this matter but I think that on all occasions, being a Member of the Committee dealing with this matter, that I must throw some light on what actually took place. I was a little surprised when the Second Elected Member for George Town would refer to Members here, Elected Members of Executive Council, inquiring into my being arrested and not being able to ascertain one's case. I take it now that a majority of those on the Front Elected Members for Action does also subscribe to my ability to debate any subject matter brought forward in this House. I would like to make it quite clear that it is the responsibility of the Government to take steps to see that no person is arrested and detained without trial. As far as I am concerned, if it were my privilege to have been approached, and not here as a Member for an area, then as the First Elected Member for Georgetown, I would have done, I would hope that in the course of the inquiry which I might have been asked to carry out, it would have been made clear to me that the Government was not going to take any steps to see that no person is arrested and detained without trial. As far as I am concerned, if it were my privilege to have been approached, and not here as a Member for an area, then as the First Elected Member for Georgetown, I would have done, I would hope that in the course of the inquiry which I might have been asked to carry out, it would have been made clear to me that the Government was not going to take any steps to see that no person is arrested and detained without trial.

As far as being an accusation against the Government, if that is the case which I must carry for the present Members of the Government Bench, I will be happy to be charged with that crime. I would like to assure the Second Elected Member for George Town that no matter how much he may, unless there is some type of an accusation made, nothing will stop me from speaking once on the matter and, with a declaration in which I have the faith which I have in these matters, I should have proudly to be associated with them.

I would like to bring to the attention of this House, Mr. President, that it was the recommendation of the Second Elected Member for George Town. It would not be just to say that there were certain members of the Government Bench who would like [illegible] of a Select Committee of the whole House, and he would like to see [illegible] Committee to be appointed during the next Session of the Legislative Assembly.

MRS. GRETA D. GIPPER (CONTINUED): The Committee was impressed. The Member was impressed to hear Jewel Ridley on that committee and to give on his enthusiasm and to have given Jewel the encouragement which he needs. His presence perhaps contributes to his not being able to concentrate to that Member will have the right kind of direction. However, the House should not lose all the good Members who were there. The very thought of bringing in anything like racism into this House is really repulsive to all of our philosophies. I do not know what the Great Plains Member from Gem is trying to accomplish by his Statement of George Lucas, but I must question his motive and take to do with his racial problems in the United States. If there is anything which is true it is that there are, in the end, no Black, White or Chicanos. There is only one race of human beings and that is human. It does not matter what color one's skin is, what sexuality which exists between two consenting adults and what they are white. If we go back far enough we will find that they are not all white. Where the lines are drawn.

I think and I have confidence in all of the Members that are in the House of these good Christian men and women of integrity, that this Government would discriminate itself in the interest of racism to any group of people, and I question and I question. I am appalled, I am disappointed. At first, I am here that racism should be made in this House about who is Cajun and who is American and who is Anglish. As fine as I am concerned this Great Freedom Member from Gem should hang his head in shame, because if an Englishman wanted to come for citizenship in this country, a three day difficult session why he should be required to register in the Office of an American Indian Agency for citizenship here. I am still wondering whether he has received any negative evidence that what I've said inadvertently has or just been misunderstood.

I am of the opinion that the Members who walked out of this House did nothing more to unite our people. However, I am pleased that the majority of our people have enough sense to think for themselves and to know that this Government is here to remain a free nation. If the Government of the United States were not for all the people's peace Members would not be here. They should know that this Government is not here to be only used against one certain choice.

I would like to remind the Great Educated Member from Gem that I have one more thing which I do not intend to take until I am in this house. One, first and foremost thing Christian principles. I will be the last one I will ever be a member, responsible and fair representative of my position. The last thing that my name will be associated with is any thing related some, any sort of Black-hoods Ku Klux Klansmen, or anything else of that sort. Whether I am here for four years or forty, my name will be clean when I leave this place. I urge that the Member will be quick to say the same when he is through here.

The Member misunderstood what he just heard. I do not care to insult anyone but I feel that if a Member of this House is not well versed internal problems should be instructed in the House. I would like to say that the Great Ku Klux Klan will keep their hands off of our people. We have never asked to our neighbor even the Chicanos of our people and we will not do it now. However, perhaps there are other Members who may not be this house who are already convinced that the war is over, and the people will be united.

With that, Mr. Speaker, I think the only point that I would like to say that I have misquoted the Honorable Member from Gem and I will apologize to him if an inadvertent statement for whatever purpose I have to change my mind.

[illegible] I do not have a problem, because as far as that goes we discussed a few minutes before [illegible] Thank you very much. Please [illegible] Thank you. [illegible]

Thank you, Mr. [illegible]

Mr. [illegible]
of Saskatchewan

The honourable [illegible]

[illegible] Mr. President, I [illegible] Saskatchewan [illegible] Friday. However, the [illegible] Saskatchewan [illegible] Mr. President, I [illegible] Committee on the [illegible] Committee [illegible] Saskatchewan [illegible]

Mr. President, I would like [illegible] Committee [illegible] Committee [illegible] Saskatchewan [illegible] Mr. President, [illegible] Saskatchewan [illegible] Mr. President, [illegible] Saskatchewan [illegible] Mr. President,

NON-CONTROVERSIAL LEGISLATION (CONTINUED): ...have legislation. The United Nations calls, Mr. President. We have pledged to the United Nations that we would support it. We are presently back to the public and to the nation. While in the position which the Senator Delaware is in, and I was in the last Congress. We are hoping the resolution for a real,honest, hard working Government and we have to really give Government back to where it will run its own affairs and we can all feel comfortable in it.

Several Members have a real interest in Social Security Matters. But they were busy so that a big part of their morning when they might get the opportunity of a Democrat by attending the Select Committee Meetings and making their statements and making their contributions. They never showed up one day. They never even had the decency to write in and to inquire, for a period. What is her name, Mr. President, so that the Members of the other side have just been, will not after the country's problems. This is exactly what they have been, worked away from the problems which they have created for the country. They are trying to get out and deceive the people and make them believe that this Administration which was here only from November, 1968 to the present time morning, noon and night to blame on the wage stabilization Price Freeze Review Board for inflation that and the politicians who are now trying to run and hide from it.

Now, Mr. President, the Senator from Delaware, when the Administration was here last, I can assure you, Mr. President, it has been my sincere wish that I have not had a disagreement, and I can assure you that it has been the Administration that has created this problem. I am glad to acknowledge of the new price Board to the Administration which he outlined out so fast. Now, perhaps, what from a politician will answer a few it. We have to stand and face our problems, and solve them that way.

I hear that the country will hear and see from Chile, how irresponsible and irresponsible the past Government has been. I hear the people will know and learn how they were betrayed by a man called Allende that created and left for us. Mr. President, I believe and I hope that the present Members will bring this country back to the point where we can once again feel that we have a country worth living in.

I thank you, Sir.

MR. PRESIDENT: I think that is how we as the Senate should be normally take our recess today. So, I will suspend proceedings until 2:15 this afternoon.

AT 12:45 P.M. THE SENATE RECESSED

MOTOR VEHICLES (No. 2) BILL H.L.

THE PRESIDENT: please be seated. Debate on the Report of the Select Committee on the Statutory Law.

Does any Noble Baron desire to speak. The Most Noble Marquis, the Lord Privy Seal.

CAPT. Rt Hon C. LANGHAM: Mr. President, I am greatly encouraged by the statements made in this Honourable House today.

To be my understanding, the purpose of a Select Committee being given to this Honourable House, is that each Member can speak in support, before Select Committee, and thereby express his opinions. It is my understanding, that this has been done. In this particular Motor Law Select Committee, we would have liked to have entertained more help.

This Honourable House is entitled to all to expect. I sincerely was pleased that Mr., Baron because I would not get the encouragement from Noble Lord in this. It was with this I had an Address to Parliament on the matter from Noble Lord. Now said, that we would be disappointed, and that the Government would welcome us.

I feel that I have an input appropriately in a Select Committee to express my opinion. I have been in Parliament the number of years I have been in this House, and I am very thankful for Parliamentary democracy.

I do consider it as much a part of my responsibility as a Parliamentarian, and a member of this Legislature, Assembly. In Select Committee, as I do, in Committee held in this Chamber. Especially, this since it was allowed for all Members here.

I do not oppose this recommendation Mr. P. My Select Committee, as I do not think anyone would have to Noble Lord. This can be Noble Lord. I am fully aware, Mr. President, it would seem unreasonable difficulty to the Hon. Elect for Western Area, Mr. Speaker, Lord Mayor, Mr. Deputy Speaker.

Again, referring to the proposed Elected Member for Corporation. We cannot that particular difference ; politician statement people point to the other Elected Representative. I am convinced that he would as his duty, for as was the only non-Legislature, with our responsibilities throughout all many others. Again, to see such a statement by other Members this Honourable House, and those in which from the Western Side of Noble Lords to the Eastern and Upper Area.

My colleagues the Honourable Third Elected Member of Executive Council and myself, have the view I take that this House, have worked as a team for the benefit of the Legislature and this Third Elected Member is overlooked. The Executive is responsible with the possibility of Legislature, and I consider the Legislature from the point of a responsible body like, one of the Executive that should be answerable to the Elected Legislature, which they elected with an idea, to be used by Elected Members where we have ability either to be with Elected Representatives. By the same token, if a responsible party either of us, is to be replaced by me, and I have taken part of the House, if we were allowed to represent any the various part of Legislature area, one representative, and the other, the permanent seat of Legislature from this Noble Legislature, this Honourable House for Public Interest I would be obliged to look after the people as elected me. I do not speaking for the two of me, for I realise there is another election in 1981, but it would be extremely difficult to have two for the other seats in the Legislature.

MRS. MARY A. ARZUBIDE (CONSTITUTION): Thank you very much, Mr. President. I would like to explain my reservations. I have no doubt about, and I am very reluctant to keep them unstated in this honourable Chamber.

As long years elapsed since the years, for more having had this problem, and I assure you that with the many other problems we face, we do not want to try to solve this one by default.

Mr. President, while I would like to say that I am very disappointed, since that we have been long today, and I might have to ask all my honourable colleagues, unfortunately they are not all present now, but I'm sure the Government, and especially the Ministers who spoke yesterday in my behalf, when they pledged us to carry on their responsibilities. For we will oppose the Members of the Executive Council. I received less than I paid my dues for when we put them in the Executive Council, and I have no love hence to either of the four elected Members today. They have my full support. I do not consider myself an extension since I'm here now, and I am fully sure I will have support for the rights of expatriates, when the Government Bench is right. I personally support them for the retirement of the Public Service.

Thank you Mr. President.

MR. PRESIDENT: The honourable Member for Member of Executive Council.

HON. PHILIP T. GOODING: Mr. President, I didn't say or observe have said, I did not intend to debate this aspect, but unfortunately, because of the embarrassing situation which arose over this morning, I must also say my piece on it.

Mr. President, when I was invited to become involved in politics in 1967, and I undertook the first meeting of the group, a single resolution was proposed, and one point that is that modified was the recommendation for single-member constituencies, and the majority - they won the vote.

Mr. President, made in addition were to the Legislature of this country, for the report of the Constitutional Commission in 1971, the Mr. Hon. Chief and Speaker, he said on page 24. of the report, Mr. President, that in the minds of politically minded people or actually normal citizens of Anguilla, the present system of constituencies needs to be quite satisfactory. So I am informed, in the long term this representation would be practicable, and likely to reflect more closely the wishes of the electorate. In Mr. President, that the Committee do unanimously have the already accustomed with what was established in that manner. The reason why we do say that, Mr. President, that with the present system, a well organised party with experienced electioneering machine would ensure a majority of seats in the Assembly by getting support only those constituencies. With a small majority of their votes, although in the system as a whole, the party of the other might be opposed to it. Under a single-member system, the chances of each party members would be more keen, while a form of proportional representation with large multi-member, would spoil their advantages. A single member system would give the voters a close relationship between candidates and their members. So, the point was not known, Mr. President for single-member constituencies to be determined in the Report Volume II of the appointed. Also,

MR. SARIN: I, actually [illegible] objection to the appointment that is [illegible] in matter of electing this nature. [illegible] equally right the legislative assembly to [illegible] one. There are many people on the outside of the legislative assembly, who I believe would be very appreciated the time which elected members should be considered for these [illegible].

Mr. President, as I have said, the term of the Senate also according by the Second Liberal Member for Eastern Arm are very unfortunate. Anybody that is sitting in the House that he could not afford to waste time. Now, Mr. President, I do not have [illegible] to be going to [illegible] his amendment. The people who voted for him to represent him in this Assembly, and I have one friend, that when I examined myself to represent the people of this constituency, I've received many [illegible] in the duties of this country. I have registered on this once again I commend the Legislative Assembly.

'Notes of Hire' is also [illegible], Mr. President, if he is beginning to [illegible] the committee meetings, will there be a need of the duties of the Legislative Assembly. Members come here, they cannot be dealt with in detail, as they can move to the Committee. If we [illegible], and he does not like the function of the Committee, there is a mechanism, where the question can be made known publicly, but not to come here and vote in the meeting time. I would be convinced to let the public have this money from my mouth.

Mr. President, mention was made here some months, or at the [illegible] of a Member of [illegible] Legislative Assembly at the present time. I do not have to show the necessity to [illegible], but I was left out for the reason of [illegible] Legislative Assembly, that I am not a Union. While I might have liked a few years in Cuba, I was not born there, and I have a few minutes [illegible] in Cuba. I will say this, Mr. President, I am for the reason again, I have lived on this country for 51 years. I have served the Civil Service of this Government for fifty years, and was only a fifty years in the armed forces. Anyway I would [illegible] I have served this country. At that time, Mr. President, I was the Chairman of Labour of this country, responsible for finance and Development, and also with the development of this country Mr. President, you'll [illegible]. That I mentioned to him, was my responsibility. I do not think I need to say any more, because the development of the country speaks for itself.

Mr. President, while myself and other Legislators here [illegible] the economy of this country, many who are now calling themselves 'champions' of this country, some recently who would [illegible] for all kinds of [illegible], politicians, all over the world. Mr. President they are back here [illegible] on the ways of the world. I should not answer that some of the words of the world might be [illegible] to this as well.

Mr. President, I think we need to examine ourselves very carefully when we move from [illegible] in this House. We are here representing the people of this country, and I think it is our duty to [illegible] their rights and [illegible].

Mr. President, although I have to [illegible] and [illegible] on the [illegible] this [illegible] I do not [illegible] [illegible] me. Mr. President, although [illegible] I have to say, and [illegible] one word of this may be [illegible] but be [illegible], I am going to use it, if I do only [illegible] to one thing [illegible] across the way.

MR. WILLIAM D. KENNEDY [CONTINUING]: ... when are they going to get the money. Mr. President, those persons now living on City parks in big cities, I understand some persons, but I am glad I'm not in their shoes, having to go to the public to explain the reason why they are not there [unintelligible].

However, Mr. President, I want to say this, that I have put my signature to the report. Because I think that it would give us the opportunity for [unintelligible] public participation, as such. I think it is right to hear it, so today it is the right to see what the reaction is. And that is the reason why I support this report.

Now, Mr. President, if my friend on the [unintelligible] Committee on Taxation, Mr. Chairman, there seems to be [unintelligible] Taxation, there is [unintelligible] Mr. [unintelligible] Assembly Office [unintelligible], [unintelligible] Mr. [unintelligible] Mr. [unintelligible] Mr.

MR. H. MURPHY made [illegible]

I [illegible] Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to [illegible] there is nothing to be [illegible] I will [illegible]

Mr. Speaker, when [illegible] I listen to this [illegible] they [illegible] of blood on [illegible] In the [illegible] to happen in this country, which we hope [illegible] country is [illegible] Now, when [illegible] it will [illegible] It does not [illegible] and when Members of this House get up and [illegible] [illegible] they are [illegible] to point [illegible] those to be partial [illegible] in a [illegible] I am [illegible] to be a [illegible] and make you [illegible] there is not [illegible] in this country. We [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. K. MCKENZIE BIGGS (CONTINUING): [illegible] and they have also put it on this position.

Mr. President, my remarks might be a little too repetitious, but I cannot possibly broadcast me.

HON. PRESIDENT: I am listening to you, but I am hoping you can speedily bring us to the motion [illegible].

MR. K. MCKENZIE BIGGS: And was still on the point Mr. President, that Chevalier Ramos is one of majority members in this House this morning.

MR. PRESIDENT: That is why I was allowed you to speak a bit.

MR. K. MCKENZIE BIGGS: Alright.

MR. PRESIDENT: Is not very true mark.

MR. K. MCKENZIE BIGGS: So Sir, but was said.
The other thing is, Sir, that the Government put the first of their together. And Mr. President I remember with the acquaintance of this House, the morning when I was the Minister for the House Committee, and I believe I distinguished the formation of words as they are back today. I have an apology [illegible] Mr. [illegible] and his Majesty Loyal Subjects are not with that I had good reason when I suggested that they should not have three business area of Crown Land Ordinance [illegible] they might become the [illegible] and the 26th November, whether it was in my memory that the Executive Council, and that is that the business there today, that they are not in Executive Council. So, I just want to tell that, which pursued as that record, that as the Crown Attorney Member for George Town will not be under control that. However, Sir, I am sorry to see that they are not here today.

Now, Mr. President, as you have said, I have been engaging a little bit. Let me not speak to the resolution, because I have not finished yet.

The resolution was put [illegible] Government Bodies Mr. P. of this year. In particular, I believe I am correct in saying that quite recently the Member from Bodden Town came to see them. I think I am correct in saying that. They never attended the meetings. Mr. President, if he was going to only talk about what was in a meeting, for you just can't come and [illegible] the Committee has not met. The reason why they said correct me if I am wrong, only if Members attend, they could form a sub-committee, only a Committee can be formed there. If Crown Lot Members had this authority at hand, they could have been to the Committee meeting, and not only to that Committee Meeting, but to the other ones as well, but they were not Crown Lot Members [illegible].

Now, Mr. President, on this Committee there were four members, four Committee members, four Elected Members - four Back-[illegible].

MR. [illegible]: The Member must not make Members by mark, he knows that.

MR. K. MCKENZIE BIGGS: [illegible] you Sir.

Mr. X. Speaker [illegible]: The hon Elected Members from Kibra and the Nairobi Area [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. P. SEEKINS LUCY [CONTINUED]: How does building this room, Mr. President? I'm sorry to see that they have this attitude. Mr. President, the first Alaskan Governor from Sealaska came into the Legislature -- would not accept a Mansion in this State. Mr. President, this is the sort of thing which happened between 1959 and 1970. The mentality, the personality of the people, why Members of this House can't work with Members. They can never pay Members. I have served Nenana, and I have to resign it, because I am going to commit to work in the House, and I am different now. But Sir, like Senator, I will tolerate it. This is a branch of government which they are telling the people, that they can not serve a Member. I will serve a Member in any house I may, but if the Government tells me this that we don't appreciate -- accept it, they do not have to serve in the State if they can't appreciate somebody whose in. They can build it over, but what I see essentially substantial, so that I will vote.

Mr. President, you are right. I have changed. There was a lot of talk also from the Liberal Member from Senate Seat, and the former Alaska Member from Senate Seat, who might be my colleague, about foreign people in this House, when I say this, Organizations such Sisterhood of Universal Unity, the Lions Club. Anyway it's going to take an Ambassador, and everybody Living in this country knows it, it is not a secret. Why do they have to build them? We pay taxes. If it is not good for us, it should not be good for the nation. There are people of 50 percenters in this country. I believe you know what I am talking about. Sir, I will vote Allegiance.

Mr. President, I am quite disappointed about what went on here this morning. This matter can't wait to be over a Member only cared. If will these people could claim that they had an over Intercommunication experience, I wonder where they learn that one from.

Mr. President, my discussion is recorded, and when it becomes time for us to go on the record, and talk to my people. Inside it is not in this country who could do it any better. I do not care who he is. I might not talk good English, but they understand me. That is why I am here, and I will do just that.

I have Koyukuk from the record. Thank you, Mr. President.

MR. FISCHER: I think Members realize I invited the Speaker Member to speak, as I'm sitting in my Speaker Member, the Permanent Duties Official Member to examine this right of people to attend to this House, if I remember correct, which the Member spoke made. He made it clearly and it these matter pertaining those to use a majority vote then overrides from the minority, as some expressly disagree. The right is to a system of more importance. I think it is privilege worth observing up. We use unanimous bill consent, or more narrowly than that, which is the three official Members of the Assembly chaired during the last month. The problem is that all the Members of Assembly, both Senate and Officials, are bound by constitution, representatively to maintain Government necessary. And that does not mean that everything that is debated in this House has necessarily to be supported by all of that subsequently. The problem arrangement that have to my mind immediately is arranging to vote by the normal path, the finality, minimum of commitment, when, for instance there must a debate about matter: Legislature Issue. What I would particularly suggest that there would be a floor vote, and none of the Members should object as individual of Assembly Council could be obliged to vote for . particular way, as a result of their membership of that Council.

MR. PRESIDENT (CONTINUING): ... I would think of course we would not fall within the category of collective responsibility, et cetera, as a general rule, but we have some discussing, as we have what we have especially been discussing most of today, also in the question of electoral reform. Because it is I think, personally acknowledged by most Conservatives that in the present system, we sometimes have governments, with opposite numbers, that is would not be unimaginable for the party in power at a particular time, to threaten or actually to step down. Now, I would be grateful, first of all, if the Minister of Justice would indicate whether that is the case, and secondly, if he could indicate whether in such circumstances, the Minister of Justice, and I think in fact of the Conservative government, is the case that there is an implicit understanding that as we have a minority government, not on party lines in the Legislature as a whole. That was the purpose of having a Select Committee which included Members of the House. In connection with that, why the Honourable Second Official Member would like to do so, I would like to know, because it would seem to me that it would take the form of a Government measure of the usual kind, although all Government Members do have under the principle of collective responsibility for it.

Thirdly, I think there is a category of matters which could be called broadly jurisdictional, which are peculiar to the province of the Legislature itself. Because, again by reason, in most Commonwealth Parliaments, especially in Australia, it is the practice that the Government and the opposition, where there are political parties, or groups of different opinions exist, seek to determine by agreement in what way for instance, the majesty of the House could be protected. By that, I mean in what order questions should be taken. It is not, therefore, a matter for the Government to decide what legislation should be taken in a specific order. It is of course, for the Government to present their list of Government business which is taken before other bills. For the Government to decide that they would introduce this bill first, and that bill next. But sometimes, there is a question of getting our whole question sorted out in the House, as to what order, various things are to be done. It is particularly a matter on which one tries to get the agreement, and again the convenience of Members as a whole, and therefore, and this is the point I am making rather laboriously as usual, it is not a matter of political responsibility for the Government, that is the Executive Council as a whole, and under the circumstances, I do not think it is unreasonable, the suggestion it is either appropriate or inappropriate for the Official Members always to vote their whole conscientious opinions. I think that circumstance can be perfectly acceptable and perfectly consistent. There may be occasions when a question is answered by the Official Members in more appropriate form than another one would be. I think it is desirable that all Members of the House should realize that, and I hope that if they participate in it, that arrangements have worked. As you will come to the conclusion that they would, in the Australian way of ordinary matters....

MR. P. ROBERTS (CONT'D): Mr. President, I just want to make one point, and with the request. Why can I buy an office with you.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am not sure that I understand that you desire with me. If you accumulate me that I am wrong, I will ask publicity.....

MR. P. MORRIS RUSH: I think, Sir, that you can assist us by considerably with what you have said.

HON. MICHAEL J. HANLEY: Mr. President, Sir, as a result of the discussion, I will withdraw for the present the Honourable Member's motion on this point, but I give way to the views of Newfoundland.

I might say, just when the more practical Committee that is established carries into effect the views that were put forward by the Honourable Member, that the Minutes of this very interesting discussion should clearly be studied by Section 2, sub-section 2, of the Constitution, which I shall read:

> "It shall be the duty of a Member so appointed with responsibility for a Member of Executive Council to act in the question thereof in accordance with the policies of the Government as directed by the Council, but all questions arising from the provisions of collective responsibility, may be dealt with in the Legislature reasonably and reasons declared upon by the Council, unless he has received the prior permission of the Governor to act otherwise or not to support such a decision."

That is the responsibility and constitutional direction addressed to all Members of Executive Council, elected and official.

MR. P. MORRIS RUSH: Section One, Sir, I mean.

MR. PRESIDENT: Section One, Sir.

MR. P. MORRIS RUSH: Well, I must still differ Sir, because it was a Government Motion that brought all that back this morning, to use a Government Motion.

MR. PRESIDENT: It was in fact a Motion that the Report of a Select Committee be adopted. It was not actually.....

HON. MICHAEL J. HANLEY: Mr. President Sir, I was saying the Report on the basis, there was no vote on that, was there. Was it a motion, that it be adopted?

MR. PRESIDENT: Did you not in your speech move that the Report be adopted? I think that is what we have been debating. If you have not been debating that, then I do not know what we have been debating.

MR. P. MORRIS RUSH: As a point of order Sir, for a point of order, I submit.....

MR. PRESIDENT: I mean, I hope we have been debating that, I think each Member's contribution this day otherwise. I think if you read the tape, you will find that you read the Report of, and then you spoke and you asked the House to adopt it, and we have been debating the adoption. But my point to the Honourable Member for Bell Bay is, it is not really a Government Motion, it is the Report of a Select Committee and it was made clear by the Member, the Government Member who laid it, that the Government did not really have a view, rather than the point that the public should be given an opportunity to have further views. The Government was not saying that it accepted or rejected particular recommendations.

MR. PRESIDENT (continuing): In this regard, especially in respect of the recommendation which is unanimous, the public ought to have a chance to consider this. So, it is not a Government Motion, and it is not binding. But as a moral pronouncement for eventually future action.

AT 6:00 P.M. THE HOUSE RECESSED

UPON RESUMING AT 8:00 P.M.

MR. SPEAKER: Please be seated.

Report of the Select Committee on the Electoral Law. There may other Members which to speak. The Honourable Prime Minister.

HON. PIERRE E. TRUDEAU: Mr. Speaker, I did not expect that this Report of the Select Committee would have aroused so much debate, otherwise I would have really tried to persuade the Committee to leave it for a later date. However, this is the result of minding things to the Select Committee, there are times you have to make hasty use of Rule 75 or 76.

I regret also, that the House will also note of this, as in future they will not be so cautious to send things to Select Committee.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I am grateful to my colleagues on this Report, but there are still some Honourable Members, Mr. Speaker, let it be clearly understood Sir, that in support the Government, there is no doubt about that whatsoever. However, Mr. Speaker, there are three items I feel that certain matters, certain decisions that really do not matter to me, should be decided by the Elected Members. Apart with, Mr. Speaker, the three Official Members do not have the Executive Council, and two of us do not sit in the Finance Committee.

The problem arises this morning when the Hon. Member from Rubber Town, made a motion which he lost. This is what provoked the whole problem. The Members can't just waive all other business, as in a manner to provide the Budget Speech. Well, I take Sir, that this was a manner that the Elected Members should decide. When they wanted to do really did not affect the three Official Members at all. I would like to say, Sir, that I cannot consider it dignified, or have we done any disservice to the Government at all, because we abstain on the Government. It is our duty to do it, and we have to do it. However, I did not see anything wrong in an abstaining from a matter which we thought was the business of the Elected Members.

I would like to remember, if there is any doubt, in the Finance Committee of Executive Council, that they have our full support and loyalty. Sir.

The Select Committee should be only a Report, it is not the end, and as one Hon. Member pointed they should, I am going to take it to Whole Committee. So, Mr. President, I cannot really see why the Big Indictment on this matter.

To be unfortunate, what happened this morning. I would go so far as to say it was disgraceful, but there is no doubt in my mind, Sir, we can look forward to a vote now of the Hon. it is not so big.

Mr. Speaker, I support the recommendations of the Select Committee Report.

MRS. SHEEHAN of DELAWARE: Mr. President, I did not intend to rise to speak on this subject. However, before voting, I would like to make a few remarks for the record.

I have been serving in Government for quite some time now, Mr. President. There is not a program that comes up that I am completely, totally familiar with, but I believe in it. It does not matter which political group is in power, it is the Government of the human beings, and the people for whom I am working, and for any Members of this House particularly, it is the people.

Therefore, Mr. President, we must all appreciate what each person has in mind. We cannot tell how much is the money of the city, and we will follow you.

In Dover each of us are known by our constituents, whether we're Democrats or Republicans, I have up one vote, Mr. President, I do not mind my Democrat or Republican friends supporting the administration, but I cannot support the legislation today, Mr. President, I plan to vote on my conscience, and perhaps it is good to serve notice now, that I will do so. Thank you.

MR. PRESIDENT: Does any other Member wish to speak? If not, does the Member of the minority wish to speak?

MR. RICHARD F. BRADY: I have no comments, Sir, only that I'm sorry to hear a hypothetical question.

Mr. President, Sir, I do not understand, we have not, unless I missed during the debate where anyone really knows what is going to be the effect of this legislation, Mr. President, if we are to vote on amendments, and perhaps it is good to serve notice now, that I will do so. Thank you.

MR. PRESIDENT: Does any other Member wish to speak? If not, does the Member of the minority wish to speak?

MR. RICHARD F. BRADY: I have no comments, Sir, only that I'm sorry to hear a hypothetical question.

Mr. President, Sir, I do not understand, we have not, unless I missed during the debate where anyone really knows what is going to be the effect of this legislation, Mr. President, if we are to vote on amendments, and perhaps it is good to serve notice now, that I will do so. Thank you.

The first was, that when he was here, the Second Elected Member of Kent County that voted last I, as Chairman of the School Committee had voted for certain amendments on C[illegible] of the Budget by some [illegible] Chairman, I did not do any one question vote, and I would have only refrained, none of those had been a tie, to break a certain vote. I remember, that participated and [illegible] on I am, I will in this House, and to be mentioned as Chairman of the School Committee, that the contents of the Bleacher are not the responsibility, it was such a matter for Representative to decide.

The second point, Mr. Chairman, I would like to clarify to the whole of Delaware, and the statement by the First Elected Member of Kent County, that the qualifications for election to this Honorable House, should have upon the decision of a businessman, and should have been changed, so as to provide that only persons born in this country, could be elected. I simply point out to that Honorable Member, if he were here, that is the constitution of the United States, made by the Majority and Quorum, by vote of Congress, that says that the qualifications for election to the Legislature shall, and that the requirements of [illegible] and property qualifications which were eliminated by the Thirteen Constitution amendment, Mr. Speaker, in 1958, which provided such more certain qualifications, than hitherto. That unconstitutional provisions [illegible] made to a resident of [illegible] years in the respective Legislative Assembly, of which all Members are members.

MR. MICHAEL J. PERRY. I will not go into the procedural point of the arguments presented. I was a day or two, Mr. Chairman, in hoping that the Chairman of the Select Committee, I determined to do it on Tuesday, December 2nd [illegible] I recognized in all the arguments on Tuesday, the pro-communications point, and that is the argument already by, of the proponents, of course the most important recommendation there to be given [illegible]

I should add, Sir, that I am making that the Report be adopted, and I would hope Members, having considered the Select Committee, having had this Committee carefully here at Washington, all five hearings, and some site recommendations, that they should be the Select Committee the [illegible] and adopting this Report, and then after, make whatever steps may, or may not be necessary to consider themselves on the [illegible]

Finally, Mr. President, Sir, the question was raised as to why I would use a date for [illegible] which I said that I [illegible] In an earlier [illegible] I made it known that the [illegible] collective responsibility only held true and bound, where it was in accordance with decisions already taken by Federal Council. The wishes of that motion to keep [illegible] there was such a collective responsibility. I, as they note, substantial because, Sir, as Chairman of the Select Committee proposed, the Report, I felt that it was more appropriate for me, to include information, for the interests of the Cayman Islands, the Select, on the adoption of the Report on the Election Law, or the Annex on the Civil Service [illegible] of this Report, which, should take two days. I hope that I have been, and hope that I will continue to, in a manner not least unfair of the Government of the Cayman Islands, as long as the responsibility of being [illegible] would be my discretion. If this should happen [illegible] I would say to them, that I have been as [illegible] of their Administration, as I have I am of this Administration, and as I hope I will be of any future Administration, that has got the responsibility and the privilege of running the Cayman Islands. If at any time I claim from this responsibility, I have no doubt that the Commissioner would point it out to me.

Sir, I beg to move that this Report be adopted.

MR. PRESIDENT: The motion is that the Report of the Select Committee on the Elections [illegible] be adopted.

QUESTION PUT. AYES AND NOES.

MR. TRIBUNSKY: I think the ayes have it.

MR. M. MCKEEVA BUSH: Unanimous, Sir.

MR. PRESIDENT: If anyone [illegible], please [illegible] for or against the recommendations. We are asking for the only item of the Report, which we have [illegible] having [illegible] the publicity and [illegible] it.

MR. SPEAKER (Mr. Speaker): Are there any hon. Members who wish to speak?

MR. SPEAKER: I do not see any further amendments.

Question of the Motion proposed by the Minister for Agriculture, that:

MR. SPEAKER: Perhaps I should explain, if it is important for me to do so, that I have also given the opportunity to Members of the Local Authorities Service Committee, to speak on the Motion as it stands, that is to say, in case it is going to be their responsibility to administer the Bill.

Does anybody else wish to support the motion...

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 2(2) & (6)

HON. MICHAEL M. MWITHAGA: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to move the suspension of Standing Order No. 2(2) and (6) to enable the Committee to consider the Bill.

MR. SPEAKER: The motion is that, Standing Order No. 2(2) & (6) be suspended to enable the Committee to consider the Bill. I am not absolutely sure what it does. No, 2(2) & (6), that is, 2(2) & (6) is suspended to enable the Committee to consider the Bill. Does anybody wish to be heard in opposition? No.

QUESTION PUT AND AGREED TO: SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 2(2) & (6) BE SUSPENDED TO ENABLE THE COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER THE BILL

MR. SPEAKER: Standing No. 2(2) and 2(6), since the motion has been passed, I will now put the first question, and move back to Order, to which we are now applying.

MR. PRESIDENT (ROSENTHAL): By Resolution 71-8, the Second Alternate Budget for 1971-72.

THE CHAIR RECOGNIZES MEMBERS WHO WISH TO SPEAK ON THE AMENDMENTS TO THE TOTAL BUDGET RECOMMENDATIONS FOR STUDENT AID AND SCHOLARSHIPS.

MR. ZEIT: Would the Honorable Member state whether Government received Stamp Duty on the sale of property to Mrs. Queen in relation to a subdivision purchased from Queen Mines?

ANSWER: Examination of Stamp No. Report will show this was not done separately, but Mrs. Queen was placed on notice in the expenditure of $187,600. Upon payment of assessment the Stamp Duty will be collected.

CONTINUATION:

MR. E. FRANCIS MILLER: Could the Member state why the Government has not included in any form in the $2,000 Stamp Duty.

HON. THOMAS C. DEFRANCIS: Mr. President, in the Budget Estimates, the Stamp Duty has been a question during, and between the Members.

MR. M. MORGAN SMITH: Mr. President, is a Minister of Government a shareholder in the company?

MR. PRESIDENT: I do not think that this is a supplementary question. Because neither the Member who has been answering questions, nor any other Member of Government has responsibility for determining who is a shareholder in a particular firm here.

If there is no further supplementary, the Member may put his next question.

HON. MRS. CHARLES D. SPRINGER: Mr. President, I apologize. Is it the intention to vote the Government Table this evening, or is it to be held over?

MR. E. FRANCIS MILLER: Mr. President, I am not aware of any such intention at this time, so I am afraid I cannot answer this question.

MR. PRESIDENT: Any further questions.
The Member may ask Question 218.

MRS. THOMAS (Hereford): Mr. President, that answer to this question is yes, as I have said before, I am not sure what I can do, but as far as I know a Labour Survey by Conservative and Council. I am not absolutely sure what the [illegible].

MR. PRESIDENT: My recollection is that a question was asked last year about the [illegible] Grant and I gave the answer. As I might, I see the Member's statement, the Chief Officer Report and the Annual Digest of Statistics [illegible] with [illegible]. I think the [illegible] a [illegible].

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS

ADJOURN

CONSERVATION (AFFORESTATION AND DEED) BILL

CARIBBEAN DEVELOPMENT BANK (DEED) BILL

HON. TERRY T. ANDERSON: Mr. Speaker, I beg to move Government Motion No. 11, Caribbean Development Bank Credit Scheme, which reads:-

> Whereas Caribbean countries have the Bahamas Development Bank, presently offered in the Cayman Islands a $1.2 million ... [illegible] Bill of credit, annual Trust to finance ... agricultural and industrial credit and services based. ... [illegible] Caribbean countries and Bahamas in the Cayman Islands, ... [illegible] which scheme will be administered under the provisions of the Agricultural Loan Act 1971, and ... [illegible] whereas the scheme are conditional to be of such benefit to the development and improvement of agricultural, and other small industries and activities in the Cayman Islands, ... [illegible] Section 6(1) of the Loans Guarantees Law 1974, which states that if the sum today ... [illegible] agreed [illegible] the Members of the Legislative Assembly to resolved, otherwise, the matter is dealt by Executive Council ... it is resolved that the Government [illegible] Bank and Cayman Islands Agricultural Credit Scheme ... [illegible] US$1,000,000 be implemented by this Honourable House.

HON. JAMES C. GREENWAY (CONTINUED): Mr. Speaker, the funds which are being asked for, or authorization being taken from the Government Motion No. 11, is to supplement the present loans available to the Agricultural and Industrial Development Board. There are two issues in this respect, Mr. President, one being the loan which is now exhausted, and the Industrial Credit Fund loan of $10,000.00. This has to be replenished, so I suppose. Therefore, Mr. President, it is urgent that we give authorization for this loan, in the Government's opinion to help the small farmer or businessman.

Thank you Mr. President.

MR. PRESIDENT: The question before the House is Government Motion No. 11 of 1965, which is now open to debate. Does any Member wish to speak? If there are no speakers I will put the question.

QUESTION PUT: AGREED. (GOVERNMENT MOTION 11/65 PASSED)

MR. PRESIDENT: Government Motion 12 of 65, the Right Honourable Minister.

GOVERNMENT MOTION NO. 12/65

TO RATIFY THE - CARIBBEAN DEVELOPMENT BANK

HON. MICHAEL S. MANNING: Mr. President, I beg to move Government Motion No. 12 of 65, entitled Ratifying Caribbean Development Bank, and which reads:-

Whereas Cayman Islands Ltd. - Caribbean Development Bank has been recently been requested by the Cayman Government to subscribe the further sum of $2 million to be issued:

(a) Ordinary Shares $2.0 Million.

(b) Special Development $1.0 Million.

(c) Fund Capital Building $1.0 Million.

(d) Group Loan Capital Base Fund $6.0 Million.

which represents over fifteen years, and they have to be made in five successive annual instalments, and whereas the Bank of America, will be utilized to provide regional and secondary infrastructure, to deal with the needs of the General Public, and safety of consists by sea, and whereas it may be in the negotiated under the provisions of Section 9(2) of the Bank Ordinance Development Bank Act 1971, that loan stocks that if the sum being sought exceeds CI$250,000.00 the consent of the Legislative Assembly is required. So it is resolved that General Loans from Caribbean Bank, or Caribbean Development Bank exceeding to not more than $6 million be authorized by this Honourable House.

Mr. President, in dealing with the requirements of the CDB specifically Barbados, and being into consideration the state of the economy, and the need by Government to upgrade the infrastructure, roads, airport developments, and also to provide a positive return system of Cayman Bank, which is by any measure imperative, urgent and necessary, to ask Mr. President for the approval of this Honourable House, for a loan of $2 million, which would not only provide the necessary expansion of roads, new roads, new terminal building at Owen Roberts Airport, but also, Mr. President, to help to alleviate the housing.

I ask the Honourable Members to vote.

MR. PRESIDENT: The question before the House is the Conference Report on [illegible]. Shall the Conference Report be agreed to? Does any Member desire recognition? If not, I will put the question.

QUESTION PUT: AGREED TO [illegible]

MR. PRESIDENT: [illegible] Mr. Speaker, I am very glad to support the Conference Report and the Budget Resolution before us. I will be voting for the Budget Resolution, but I will do so with a heavy heart, in spite of the fact that the Budget Resolution provides for a tax decrease. I am voting for the Budget Resolution because I am convinced that the alternative would be disastrous.

THE APPROPRIATIONS PROCESS, FISCAL YEAR 1981 AND BUDGET REVISIONS

[illegible]

MR. [illegible]: Mr. President, as I mentioned before, I rise to congratulate the [illegible] on a very well [illegible], well balanced, comprehensive Budget Address.

I am glad, very pleased, I think this is my most pleasant responsibility in terms of contributions to the budget debate, and I am pleased to make my appropriate remarks.

I am firmly [illegible] that we, our country of [illegible] people and think of a budget of [illegible]. This is [illegible] a very large [illegible] for each [illegible]. I fully realize, Mr. President, that in our modern [illegible] world, we must [illegible] amounts of capital expenditure in order not only to provide the infrastructure necessary, but to [illegible] for our people. This is particularly very necessary in an [illegible], that of Guyana [illegible] and Latin America.

I am proud of our high standard of living, high degree and extensive amount in this country. I think it is [illegible] in many in the Caribbean, and second to most anywhere [illegible] in the world.

The budget proper envisages this year [illegible] and a [illegible] Budget [illegible] to $89.7 million, [illegible] current [illegible] expenses of $60.1 million, and $5 million [illegible] planned capital [illegible]. Also $1 million of [illegible] in the Budget Address to be [illegible]. This [illegible] will [illegible] $5 million. I also understand, [illegible] have been made by this Administration to [illegible] of which approximately $1 million [illegible] in saving [illegible]. This [illegible] because of [illegible] in the [illegible] amount of $1.5 million, because [illegible] from [illegible] by $1.5 million and [illegible] from by a [illegible] million, [illegible] $5.5 million. This [illegible] for this year, naturally has a [illegible] on the [illegible] and [illegible]. We will have to take [illegible] decisions, as we might [illegible] our [illegible].

[illegible] that [illegible] Mr. President, which the Guyana Defence Force [illegible] in the [illegible] plan. Particularly, in my [illegible], we have [illegible] [illegible]. This [illegible] has [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in Upper Demerara, and [illegible] [illegible] in the Upper Essequibo.

SEN. JAMES A. MCCLURE (CONTINUED): Mr. President, I am greatly encouraged by the number of training approaches which have been brought here here before the Veterans' Training Subcommittee this year, and it is my hope, with this number, even if a few of them materialize, will provide employment for many people here in the Canyon Country. I am happy to say that the Egett Model, in addition to providing substantial employment for Canyon County, there are at least 15 to 17 from my Boisians, who have found employment in that construction site.

I also realize that budgetary restraints may appear to preclude the accomplishment, in all immediacy, of numerous our Subcommittee positions.

Mr. President, I agree with the Administration Natural Resources that we must to assure that the development of these features, with desirable Federal cost sharing, is well managed, and that all benefits of quality benefits from it. And we must carefully balance the various demands which exist. We have heard about it today, but let us be completely up to date, for no previous visit could come to our attention if it have stated amount.

We must also study efforts, Mr. President, to move our location, while at the Canyon County, from here, give them good value for their dollar, and encourage them to relocate. Numerous Federal Agencies are facing the problems cause of recreation.

I am very encouraged, too, I did have previous mention in the year, since the number of different training programs may have been reduced, here in the Interior. I am very encouraged to read in the Budget Message that this is not the case, but in fact there has been an increase in the number of trainees planned. This is an important function, as I have stated, for they employ 90% are persons.

Mr. President, the Agricultural and Industrial Development Board is playing a very important part in our society. It is very significant for small business people in the Magic Valley that the major lending institutions have in the Canyon Country, and this opportunity to represent to our local businesses, to help themself, while helping themself to get more profits opportunities for other people. I am greatly encouraged that we have that record a million which will mechanize the borrowing of additional funds for the Agricultural and Industrial Development Bank. This is particularly needed, and I would ask unanimous consent to give certain information on the Veterans Loan Programs. I realize that there are a few misunderstandings existing, but there are far far to outweigh the record of our outstanding young Americans serving overseas. This should help, if approved, will enable our people to purchase homes and take jobs for higher wages, then they have ever before existed in the great past. I would like at this time, Mr. President, to pay gratitude to Mr. Howard Taylor who has been the manager for the last few years of the Agricultural and Industrial Development Board. He, being a very close friend of mine, I have learned much about the operation of it. Therefore, I thank him for his services, regret that his illness has disqualified him to a point, but I am very grateful for all that he has done in this field.

MR. PRESIDENT: I think that we have just passed half past four, and since I imagine that debate on [illegible] [illegible], I would like, with the unanimous consent of the Senate, that we be able to go on [illegible]. Is there objection? [illegible]

ASSEMBLY

SIXTY-SEVENTH YEAR

TENTH A.M.

MR. PRESIDENT: Prayer. The General Blessed Mother

Sir George Fame.

MR. LAURENCE A. FITZROY: Let us pray.

Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Legislative Assembly that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundation for the glory of Thy name and for the safety, honour and happiness of the people of these Islands.

Bless our Commander Lady Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, Diana Princess of Wales and all the Royal Family. Give grace to all who minister unto her Commonwealth that they may serve in righteousness, truth and justice, holiness and duty they be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Members of the Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that they may be enabled faithfully to carry out the responsible duties of their high offices.

All this we ask for Thy great Name's sake, Amen. Let us repeat the Lord's Prayer.

Our Father, which art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those that trespass against us and lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us. The Lord make His face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up His Countenance upon us and give us peace now and always. Amen.

MR. SPEAKER: Leave be granted.

Questions. The First Elected Member for Middle Side. Is he in the House? Does any other Member have reason to ask the questions which stand in his name or to answer those questions?

MR. G. MILO BODDEN: Yes, Mr. Speaker, I have been asked to ask what the Member would like the questions previously asked now to be dealt with, be here, which may not be answered.

MR. SPEAKER: Could you ask him to be kind enough to put a message to the Business Committee? I will ask them to reschedule the questions as notified, if that is alright? I do not know whether you are prepared to answer for this now, but perhaps it would be good if the Business Committee can put those in the same letter to the Business Committee? Is that alright?

The Hon. Administration Business. The Second Elected Member for the Western Districts was speaking.

THE APPROPRIATION (SAINT LAWRENCE SEAWAY AND NEW BEDFORD HARBOR) BILL, 1965

Capt. [illegible]: Mr. President, since I have not had the opportunity to speak on the Department of Public Works, Transportation and Industrial Development estimates, however, if I had I would have my heart in saying a few words in connection with the Saint John Harbour and the Saint John River. However, I would like to comment very briefly on the estimates which appeared in the Saint John Telegraph Journal this morning, which in my mind indicate that I had attempted to impress the Prime Minister [illegible] upon the problem of combining his offices. For the benefit of those who are not familiar with the Standing Orders of this House, the debate must be terminated. If no-one responds when the President asks if any other Member wishes to speak then the President immediately asks if the Honourable Member moving the Bill, the Honourable Prime Minister would like to reply. Therefore, I am not able by speaking this morning to [illegible] the Prime Minister from [illegible] his [illegible].

I am sure, Mr. President, members recognize as I do the power [illegible], which I do not [illegible] members simply that this place is not the Honourable House of Assembly. Mr. President, if I am out of order for speaking on this [illegible]. May I [illegible]?

MR. SPEAKER: Traditionally, Members are allowed to range very widely during the Budget Address. On the assumption that the Member will relate whatever he has to say to the Budget Address, I shall allow him to continue.

Capt. [illegible] A. [illegible]: Thank you, Mr. President. I just wanted to make sure that I was in order.

As I recall, on Friday we were advised by the Deputy Minister of the Saint John Harbour Board, which became upon [illegible] of the Maritime Provinces Harbour Board, that it would. Acting Chairman, the Honourable Leonard J. Fenety moved that Mr. Speaker be authorized to issue that Warrant. That could be taken after question period. I notice that before the House did it was announced, also that the Hon. Leonard Fenety [illegible] that a certain, as I mentioned, that he supported the Minister on the Select Committee's Report on the Harbour and proceed with the debate on the Appropriation Bill. This can [illegible] a time and it can [illegible]. Therefore the Report of the Standing Committee [illegible]. The Government plans the legislation during the separate [illegible] that is the way that I understand it, Mr. President. I would ask all Honourable Members to remember that just a little over a year ago we went to the electorate and made many promises as to how we would conduct ourselves in the affairs of this country. I feel we have a responsibility today to [illegible] as I said then, as I did when I stood on the campaign platform. I think that's just good for all Elected Members of this Honourable House.

I feel that it is my duty to attend a Select Committee as I do the Meetings of this House. I do all I can - I give [illegible] of responsibility over [illegible]. We commend it to the Chair of our Standing Committee [illegible] the Select Committee as well as this House. [illegible] the Select Committee is the most [illegible] of all. It has been made clear the [illegible] has no say. For [illegible] I plead that I might have been unnecessary and of the minority, and I was Member at that. However, I [illegible] had the privilege of expressing my opinion in [illegible] as I do today. Thank you, Mr. President.

MR. ROBERT D. RAASCH (CONTINUING): Referring to my concurrent remarks, the Queens Chamber Corps appropriation is justified with only authorized $1,662,700 in General Revenue for 1985, which was cut by projects passed during the legislative session. It is indeed astounding that this has been an unsuccessful area the past years.

Mr. President, I would like to introduce the proposed Administrative Rules from the Civil Service. I am happy to add this. I did not support the Senate Capital Projects Bill because legislative flexibility is this important. I am very thankful that it is so some quick work. I think that it should be. I would like to give special thanks to the Appropriations Chairman Senator Lyons and Senator Demuzio this time, and also to the staff of the Appropriations Committee for the good job they have done.

I think, Mr. President, that Senate Bill 1 can be appreciated more by the people of my District than by the people here in Capital Square. This is undoubtedly because of the thought that we really have that is going on here in the Senate, the proceedings in this House, which of course have been very lengthy. Only this weekend I have had a lot of constituents to express that my constituents, whom I would not have had if not been for Redistricting, Capital has been accommodating the proceedings of this House. They are doing a great job. I just want to once express Senate Caucus and all of those staff for the job which they are doing. Thank you.

Mr. President, it is especially to see that the Senate still does have the ability to fully work through problems so that we will have more Democrats in the legislature. All the indications which have originated this are to be followed. I am very grateful that our Party people have the opportunity to work differences at home. Probably more may not be able to afford the great expense of developing primary campaigns, and it will enable them to better themselves and serve more people.

The Appropriations Department, Mr. President, is a department which is very important to the security of our country. They have a hard job and I think they do well. However, I would like to state, Mr. President, that in the Legislative Investigation Law, there is a section specifically stating other Committees which may not be affected. I have had many, many questions from members of my constituency, and they feel some of the decisions made in the Rules Committee may have been affected. I do not wish with the process, Mr. President, but I feel that if this could be explained in simple language to the public, it would eliminate a lot of the anxiety which they are now experiencing, and knowing whether they will get it or will not. If there are questions which it, if these could be explained so that people then we will not [illegible] inconvenience.

Establishing and Natural Resources, Mr. President, is a Committee which is very important to the security of our country. They have a hard job and I think they do well. However, I would like to state, Mr. President, that in the Legislative Investigation Law, there is a section specifically stating other Committees which may not be affected. I have had many, many questions from members of my constituency, and they feel some of the decisions made in the Rules Committee may have been affected. I do not wish with the process, Mr. President, but I feel that if this could be explained in simple language to the public, it would eliminate a lot of the anxiety which they are now experiencing, and knowing whether they will get it or will not. If there are questions which it, if these could be explained so that people then we will not [illegible] inconvenience.

Establishing and Natural Resources, Mr. President, is a Committee which is very important to the security of our country. They have a hard job and I think they do well. However, I would like to state, Mr. President, that in the Legislative Investigation Law, there is a section specifically stating other Committees which may not be affected. I have had many, many questions from members of my constituency, and they feel some of the decisions made in the Rules Committee may have been affected. I do not wish with the process, Mr. President, but I feel that if this could be explained in simple language to the public, it would eliminate a lot of the anxiety which they are now experiencing, and knowing whether they will get it or will not. If there are questions which it, if these could be explained so that people then we will not [illegible] inconvenience.

Miss Mary E. Kennedy (continuing): Also, it is most encouraging to see the strong position which is going on. It is hoped that this would add revenue, and again will enable delivery to our rural home.

Also, much progress has been made in maintenance. I am very grateful to see that we have additional funds to give us advice. I had the opportunity of talking with Mr. Jacobs Anderson when he was here. I learned much about many of his issues. He told me that we could solve our problem in the Pigeon Islands by putting a proper sewerage disposal which would eliminate all of these unpleasant odors we have. He said that is the way in which the Seaside Beach problem. They ought a solution for our problem which they have.

I would like to say, Mr. President, that in the Pigeon Islands, we do need the services of the veterinary officers more frequently than we have since the privatization. I hope that we have these responsibilities here in Grand Cayman. However, with our cattle population and other animal population, we need to ensure that they are healthy. Even then we have to have other means of care which we may be using. It is crucial to recognize that the veterinary officers could visit there on a regular basis and the cattle-ship for a trip to the Pigeon Islands once or twice monthly would be helpful. I have spoken with the Medical Officer Women, for he says that he has very little experience in livestock animals, and he would only work directly under the instructions of the Chief Veterinary Officer here in Grand Cayman.

We would also like a little more information given to our farmers in agriculture, especially, though I would be given or I would like to see a development plan in the Pigeon Islands which would keep the people just here in Grand Cayman, for we have very little. I guess we could add the agricultural farmers who work for very little, indeed. Often when fertilizer due to drought and other things make it very discouraging. But, they have remained over the years to do their traditional agricultural work.

Another thing which is quite encouraging to me, Mr. President, is that the Housing Development Corporation is very re-sensitized and they will soon be able to offer loans to the people who do not qualify to borrow from the commercial banks. This is most encouraging, Mr. President, for though many in the Pigeon Islands are very fortunate, there are still people who have a very difficult time to live as they are elderly. The housing rehabilitation mortgage, will be a great asset to this whole Islands community.

Mr. Acting Speaker. Probably water is needed in all districts on fairly large quantities. The water authority will help us in providing this. It will also help us in conserving the quality of the water which we get from our wells. That, Mr. Speaker, is most important for our health. In addition, to their duties providing water for the community, the Water Authority is playing a very important part in the provisioning of plans for employment, particularly in the area of plumbing. This is very important, for water development plans are geared, and geared with the proper plumbing installations, drainage and all those things, and we wish again to be encouraged with this. It is also most encouraging that they will be employing an additional people under the Water Authority. This, I am very encouraged about Sen. Hatch (R. Representative Hinckley): I am happy to hear of this bill to do that. Question, Mr. President, that we have the second largest state to study desalinization of water, and possibly how well is that coming. I was wondering if some arrangements could not be made with the Central Utah Water Conservancy District, similar to the study which I understand is under way with the Dominguez Water Conservancy District here in Central Utah to utilize their water here.

Also on the Department of Development, a very important department for the Department of Planning. Many counties have been pushed by the Department of Planning by the Governor Planning Advisory Council because many millions of dollars and several very large projects. This department has been reduced with a percentage of only four-eighths throughout the years. So, members of the Natural Planning Advisory, in order to encourage development have had weekly meetings whenever necessary. Some of the meetings have gone on from 1:00 to 7:00 p.m. might be easier not to delay any pressing approval which might participate into a comprehensive plan for the future. We realize that there was a need for an update to our economy and we have not felt that we could waive. I think that the Planning Department should be commended for the study work over the years.

Another very important department is our Department, Mr. President, is our Social Services Department. They have a task which most people do not even know to realize exists here in these Statutes. This covers many fields such as poor relief, child care, responsible parenthood, foster parents and rehabilitation. In the Senate Committee we have a Social Services Review who are helped in Community to participate. The needs of that community. I do feel, Mr. President, that the time has come to the Social Services should participate in such policy. It is our right that Government should have this service which will be the particular matter to have to make a profit from the people of these Statutes.

Many people ask in the House Chamber to know what our actual tax burden is before paying. Many individuals look for their property taxes and they are all very proud to pay their taxes. This will enable them to specify at home and they are all very proud to pay their taxes.

Public sums in Social Security and the Income Taxes is of a high standard and it's a difference. They envision to increase although we have a lot of problems in the economy.

Capt. WARD O. PUNCHARDELL (Republican) [illegible] Hospital to Congress [illegible] of the best equipped hospitals [illegible] Caribbean. It serves approximately 1,500 people. We are very fortunate to have our well complex of doctors and staff, plus an anesthetist, [illegible] regular physical examinations can be performed [illegible] Telemia.

Mr. President, I could not speak of the health services in the Leeward Islands without referring to that former officer in charge there, Dr. Spence who served us for many years with very excellent services. After [illegible] and many other communities in the United Kingdom and America for many years, he left that we were then to speak more like an Honourable and we decided to retire. I think since I always [illegible] community of that Islands when I say that they will deeply appreciate all he did for us during his service. We are very grateful to him, that he [illegible] Cayman Brac so well that he and his dear wife Enid have become so much [illegible] there and they have built a retirement home. I, on behalf the Sisters Hospital would [illegible] for us a happy voyage.

Tourism Activities and Trade. The Lacy Bodden Terminal building is indeed a credit to Cayman Islands. It is [illegible] to the [illegible] and prestige of the Islands as a whole. We have in this Appropriation Bill a sum of [illegible] to renovate [illegible] on the Cayman Brac Airport and Harbour. Mr. President, we have too great needs for the Sister Islands. The first and most important, in my opinion, is the possible employment for our people who have registered unfavorably during this year. It is my hope that funds will be made available as early in 1967 as possible to get this [illegible] Pier on I think there is serious [illegible] and we need this. The second great benefit will be, as I have said the Lacy Bodden International Terminal Building, that it will [illegible] to our Government and enable us our travelling public as well.

Minister Administration. Mr. President, Cayman Brac and Little Cayman have experienced a great [illegible] during the past year. We have an [illegible] which seems almost impossible to believe. Government in the Sisters and I might [illegible] say the only [illegible] in the Sisters Islands. As with [illegible] and many, there is an [illegible] taking place in the Sisters Islands of any significance at the present time. Nearly all the people who have employment seek it from Government. During the final three months of this year alone, there were no [illegible] projects under way in Brac and there was a great need. Unfortunately, again in October, [illegible] was in December it began to slow down. Most of the development in Cayman Brac is capital projects and [illegible] in the [illegible] and the [illegible] of other [illegible]. This [illegible] was [illegible] in the [illegible] to Little Cayman. Communications was completed on the Tibbetts School. It had the [illegible] opened in 1965 and a [illegible] in the [illegible] at the High School.

It is easy to see that there are little employment offered by Government for [illegible], needs and [illegible] of that nature. Therefore, they have had a very hard year. Recently there is [illegible] carried on in Grand [illegible] the area on the south coast of Little Cayman. This was [illegible] road for opening up the west end of Little Cayman. When it is [illegible] enough the people would be inside the area and [illegible] on the eastern land on the eastern part of the island. However, it [illegible] to mention that they had to [illegible] with this [illegible]. With this [illegible] again, they will be able to go safely inside the area and carry on their agricultural [illegible].

CHIEF WISE'S ADDRESS (CONTINUED): Mr. President, all the people of the Inland Districts whom I represent, as well as those of the Middle Cayman, are fully aware that sometimes inconvenience is a costly item. The need for the presence of the Government Representative in the Lesser Islands is necessary because we are miles from Georgetown. Also, communication by letter also increases the cost of living. Short flights from the United States to the Lesser Islands is approximately 50 per cent higher than to the United States to Grand Cayman. We also maintain more branches in our merchandise because it is impossible on some day, and sometimes every delayed in Grand Cayman three to four days before we get our merchandise.

Mr. President, I am again asking if the administrative procedure could be established so that we could pay the import duty on the actual gross invoice from the United States to Grand Cayman and not have to pay import duty on the additional 25 per cent, as all import duty is calculated on cost, insurance and freight. This may not sound like a big item but when businesses are struggling to survive, it is important. I would like to make it understood by all that all merchants pride themselves for the work.

So the time is here to say, the more the merrier the merrier.

We also, living in Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, must pay $65 for a power unit from Cayman Brac to Grand Cayman to do business with the Lands and Survey office or to get our passports renewed, or anything else which we need from Central Government. All of this increases the cost of living in the Sweet Islands.

I spoke earlier of how also Cayman has lost in Cayman Brac was Little Cayman. I was talking on the airport this morning before leaving, with the manager of the Fish-mix plant, the only major-fish resource plant on Cayman here. We said to me that during the entire month of October he experienced only seven grade of mackerel. During November the entire month and so far in the 5th December there was a half inch fish, that will give the fishermen Members an idea of how also unfortunate it is the Sweet Islands.

With a population of 1,500 approximately, the islands of mine there are very small. Most businesses are experiencing today a reduction in sales of over 50 per cent of what they were in 1983. Mr. President, I am fully aware that if we want more capital projects to provide employment, an infrastructure for our people, we must pay our share of revenue. This we are not opposed to paying if we know the money is to be used.

I have carefully studied the various revenue measures and have observed that with so many of my constituents as possible. They are financial difficulty because they do not have the money to pay these additional fees with the new legislation. I feel, Mr. President, that the increase in the price of gasoline and diesel can be really disastrous. We have had to go to those two major industries and fix to increase. These prices do keep us outside the regional prices. We with that, and all my people understand. Also, persons with boats have stay outside when much too low to begin with, and then can be taken care of. There is some discrimination in the vehicle registration fee, but that fee I feel will not unduly that much of a burden. Since the start of our economy, the most problem we've with the shore and landing fees which have been increased substantially. I would like to ask all honourable Members here today if some consideration and concession could not be given to the Lesser Islands with regard to the Trade and Business Licences. My position that the [illegible] 5. Environment (continued): In 1977 when these [illegible] were made of a package step of the new act. A [illegible] radiation was given and we fixed high then, with the [illegible] increase, 300 per cent increase I would like to get Assemblies' [illegible] of amendments would not be given to [illegible] and business income in the Lesser Islands would see some [illegible] the capital [illegible] and if some [illegible] [illegible] take place by next year, the situation may look much better.

Another thing to which I would like to [illegible] unfavourable Customs [illegible] here is, as we sometimes [illegible] us. Incidentally, the [illegible] stamp all they are offered to [illegible] at Christmas. In early January they have all the [illegible] through the whole [illegible] is most necessary, the [illegible] year [illegible] Stock and [illegible] Stamps have not [illegible]. If these [illegible] would be allowed to be sold on a [illegible] basis it would relieve [illegible] of the restriction the people are suffering from because, Mr. Speaker, a [illegible] to be very honest with you, some of the people [illegible] had a problem to pay these [illegible] and because Stamped [illegible] they are looking for [illegible] or [illegible] to [illegible] because [illegible] of [illegible] is [illegible].

Mr. Speaker, the budget of Mr. [illegible] for an increase of $2.3 million over [illegible] Budget, I [illegible], she proposed to afford greater stimulation of the economy by providing funding for a number of [illegible] projects, which [illegible] [illegible], is very necessary.

The recurrent expenditure are [illegible] $68.7 million, as a [illegible] increase over [illegible], or an additional $7.7 million. The President, our recurrent [illegible] are very high [illegible] must be made to control recurrent expenditure.

Of the increase in our Budget, $2.3 million is going to assist Cayman Airways. Also, I feel, is a step in the right direction. But this [illegible] [illegible], Cayman Airways' picture would not look as bad as it did [illegible] to see the [illegible] there.

Two things concerns me, Mr. Speaker, because we hear of [illegible] that Cayman Airways [illegible] the whole [illegible] of it be sold to [illegible] for the [illegible] service. I would like to [illegible] to the [illegible] Leader and to the people of the Cayman Islands that I feel that it is an [illegible] responsibility of this Government to provide air service to the Lesser Islands as it is a Social Service. I do not feel that every [illegible] of a [illegible] that is owned by [illegible] to the Lesser Islands, I think that [illegible] have brought to this [illegible] where we have lost on the [illegible] and also we have lost on the [illegible] service and also we have lost on the [illegible]. These are Cayman Islands, Mind you, I think we could see where the money has really been [illegible].

I am very grateful for all the efforts which have been made in the recent months to improve [illegible] Cayman Airways with the [illegible] services, also for the major efforts which have been made to reduce the [illegible]. Cayman Airways, in my opinion is a very essential service. It is playing a very vital role and [illegible] in the Lesser Islands we really [illegible] how dependent we are on Cayman Airways. I feel that we should support Cayman Airways at this time [illegible] efforts must be made to reduce the operating [illegible].

Mr. President, I think [illegible] Government will continue to improve Cayman [illegible] and that the people [illegible] and that our development will result in a very high standard.

PRES. UNGO J. ESPINOSA (CONTINUED): ...explain which is why we do the drawing because for their Congress might change our thought and our opinion completely. I do hope that those Governments will continue to develop that office employment and the facilities here in Brazil - Argentina. We are also hoping that some of the developing countries here will also be interested in the Inter-American Telecom.

Mr. President, in conclusion I would like to again congratulate the Honorable Mike Gravel for his hard work, his well prepared, fully understood budget address. However, I do ask him, in closing my, if he would give serious consideration to those which I have written here today. I thank Mr. President, once for again, for the people of the Inter-American Telecom who put me here to this house to represent them.

Mr. President, I suppose the appropriate (sound) rule, plus and I look forward to talking and looking with the Finance Committee.

Thank you, Mr. President.

MR. CHAIRMAN: Does any other Member wish to speak? The Chair recognized Senator from Puerto Rico.

SENATOR L. NEGRON: Thank you, Mr. President. Mr. President I just would like one thing... In fact, on the Inter-American right now, I just wanted just to comment. In December last year when I went my maiden speech in this Assembly there, I said that one I would like to propose that I am both saddened by and encouraged by what I consider Ocean Mail by economic and practical point there in Puerto Rico and I am saddened by filling that position to not just a job. It is a children mail for Puerto Rico and I am saddened by that. The people because my best compliments, best salutations to Government.

Mr. President, as I look around these, activity because we are behind me, I see some fine, honest, hard-working and capable men, distinguished men and women here. They give me a sense of pride because I am at they have the good of everyone in this country as their duty, which is their duty, which will go on in Puerto Rico. If we will look carefully and think a little, we will realize that most of these fine men in here have gone up with a silver spoon in their mouth. They know what it is not to have everything at one's disposition. Those is my point that they would like for every Puerto Rican to enjoy. The taste of success as they have. Because of this, I feel this no-one minority should ever feel that we have a predominant here which is the interests of the rich and forgets the poor.

I think that we are a very minority in comparison to many in the Caribbean Archipelago and we need certain special legislation. It is possible for people to the Caribbean Archipelago who have the determination to do so, to enjoy a success of their life. We may not become millionaires but we can certainly find ourselves able to get along well in the Puerto Rican economy.

The value of our Commonwealth, I feel, are so capable minds, most least of whom is the Honorable Miguel Hernandez Agosto I would like to speak on. In my opinion, Mr. President, if in a few minutes we have them what I considered from previous as capable as our economic financial secretary. After all, he is a Harvard Negron. They what you will about my Harvard have some fine, honest people and I am proud to be associated with the Honorable Miguel Hernandez Agosto. I feel that he has done an proud in the presentation of this document. We hope and to be a very close friend, pen. We have had to travel over the years. We appreciate the many helpful suggestions which we of the finest Secretary we have given, indeed in these relations, some points that the have been very helpful

MRS. DAVIES [St. Helens (Conservative)]: It hurts me greatly, Mr. President, to realise that now we are rudely shocked by the Government of the day—[Interruption.] I am grateful to the hon. Member for Leeds, South-East (Mr. Hattersley) for his intervention. Whatever the political views of the Government, there should be a degree of sensitivity to the anxieties of the people. Whether we like it or not, we are creating a very beautiful environment for new towns. I do not [illegible] else who pulls in disinterested people from other districts to [illegible] to stand up for what might disappear. ..

I am indeed my colleagues in the House with the honourable Third Official Member, Mr. Chairman, and in the absence of [illegible] will have to guarantee the budget allowance. Even, indeed, for me, that [illegible] of today, because I too [illegible] have said [illegible] we do not [illegible].

I think [illegible] the problem [illegible] by Chairmanship of [illegible]. There are a few areas which I am not really happy about and those I will [illegible] the interventions of [illegible] I go on with my remarks today. For the present [illegible], however, I feel that it is a right and well-balanced budget.

Mr. President, in every family, as most of us have experienced, the longer it lasts the greater the expense. As more money which the electors have to [illegible] rises and increase of wealthy [illegible]. This government [illegible] a sensible [illegible].

It is reasonable to know that the Honourable Financial Secretary and the Government in general have received carefully the warnings in major Government speeches [illegible]. It is evident that they have to work for this [illegible]. It is [illegible] the Government [illegible] the Labour Party [illegible] the Conservative Party [illegible] Secretary, this Government would be unwise [illegible] the [illegible] should be well managed and that all [illegible] [illegible] Mr. President, it is the [illegible] Official Member [illegible] Chairman [illegible] Government [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Mr. Speaker, a point of order. Mr. Speaker, it is noted that there has been an unacceptable growth in the number of backbenchers applying for the grant of opposition Opening Statements. I do not think that that should be encouraged. I mentioned a while ago the period of this Government and I feel that while the Opposition is quite entitled to criticize, and as a matter of fact they have a duty to criticize, I feel that sometimes their criticisms are not fair. I shall not pursue the matter further but I feel that this Government is the kind of Government that they are duty bound to support in each instance.

Mr. Speaker, it has also been the convention for some years now that the Opening Statement is for the purpose of outlining the policy of the Government and not for the purpose of criticizing the Opposition. I feel that sometimes when the Opposition makes their Statements in this House they are trying to create the impression to the public that they are the Government and that we are the Opposition. I feel that we should adhere to the rules of this House as laid down by our forefathers and not allow any Opposition to do as they please in any particular instance. I feel that we can look forward to an opportunity to debate the Budget and the various Estimates and I would like to see a return to the days of efficient debating and the people who elect us to come here to do business within our Parliament.

The Honourable Minister of Agriculture may be very annoyed because I did not mention his name but that is not because I have disregard for his position as Minister of Agriculture but I feel that the most important thing that we should be concerned about is the people who elect us to come here to represent them. Mr. Speaker, I am not unfamiliar with the duties of the Minister of Agriculture and I would like to say that the Honourable Minister of Agriculture will be very busy attending the Agricultural Conference, he undoubtedly cannot afford to be unprepared. If the Minister of Agriculture just concentrates on the people in Selkirk constituency, Mr. Speaker, this session he will be much happier than he was during the last session. I am not unfamiliar with the duties of the Minister of Agriculture and I would like to say that the Honourable Minister of Agriculture will be very busy attending the Agricultural Conference, he undoubtedly cannot afford to be unprepared. If the Minister of Agriculture just concentrates on the people in Selkirk constituency, Mr. Speaker, this session he will be much happier than he was during the last session. Mr. Speaker,

Mrs. Margot E. Kidder (continuing): Mr. President, I should like to extend the appreciation of this House, as I said in my maiden speech, this day shall pass. We will not be here for ever and decisions have high on the political ladder as may accept, be assured that there for sure. When I do not wish to see them withdrawn, only as there for Cyprus will have. That signify the making sure of our country. It includes a lot of other things, most issues of which is building roads and improving with housing, and negotiating in many other areas such as providing good medical services, providing educational facilities, etcetera. All this is a part of this, but we must never allow any marginal matters to cause us to abandon from what overshadows issues for our policy here. No matter if we come into office, if we do anything other than what will benefit our people, we have failed in this Honourable House.

Mr. President, the trade and the overseas have contributed much to the Cayman Islands. It is necessary to note that many of the Caymanian people are employed in most areas of these are important. Mr. President, here again in an area which causes me some concern. I would have that our Caymanian people will recognise how fortunate we are in having employment in these areas. I am conscious, Mr. President, that increasingly in these we provide that local people, that every effort is made to see that they receive further education and training, so that they can fill top management positions. However, I realise, Mr. President, that there are times when getting in the top of the ladder takes a little time. I would here like to congratulate all of the men people with this extensive overseas service, "I am a Caymanian." I am sure we crept and grew and have it "in" as we progress in the industry, as we will still need the expatriate, as unfortunately we will find getting just enough people with this experience. However, as with anyone, we have to make the best of the situation, and I am sure that we will be able to control, the most qualified be chosen, and those that show an interest in these professions where we do not have sufficient experience will be given them. I am happy to see that we have in our Caymanian people the desire to progress in the Cayman Islands by getting more and more involved in the Civil Service. It is encouraging. However, even this does, I regret will call upon the Chief Secretary to assure this House that adequate efficiency is necessary to discuss all which has been recommended that discrimination, and I do so in a very firm sense, particularly where promotion and efficiency are very important and I have no doubt in my mind that the Caymanian people can fully succeed, as has been seen in many instances, even now, in the top and responsible positions as well as many expatriates which are also doing so much.

All I can say in this, Mr. Speaker is that we are proud and appreciate and very much appreciate what people in the Cayman Islands, Mr. President. While they are not to decide that every recommendation is agreed will there will be, however, difficulties, and hopefully, providing we manage, of course, and there for them. It is difficult to learn every function. However, I realise that we are always correct, it is important that they understand, while looking there and following this there is a necessity, should receive an honest appreciation for answer. So even if it is, Mr. President, There is no doubt in my mind that we do it. Local recruitment within the service must be given hard by the Government. There are a few teachers here and there who will not be appointed, but we can do it. I took pleasure in the very short time I was here that the Cayman Islands is full of a particular well trained, and some qualified here and some qualified to fill them. I have great faith in our Caymanian people and they can do it.

MRS. [illegible] I'm not sure that this [illegible] agreement [illegible] the [illegible] and on [illegible] which will help [illegible] the [illegible].

MR. [illegible] I wonder whether the Member has provided a balanced break in her speech. If so, I will suspend proceedings for approximately fifteen minutes.

MRS. [illegible] Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

AT 11.22 A.M. THE HOUSE RESUMED

HOUSE RESUMED AT 11.37 A.M.

MR. SPEAKER: Please be seated.

The Second Member rises on the [illegible]. The Right Honourable Member for West Bay.

MRS. [illegible]: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I will [illegible] for the Budget and [illegible]. Now, Mr. President, it is good to note that much has been done in the area of [illegible]. Between us all of us here, they voted for much progress and are [illegible] looking in the area of business. However, it has not been that there was only a marginal improvement in the number of these [illegible] that were over last year. That is so far as the [illegible] the [illegible] is concerned. This causes me some [illegible]. I think that this is an area that will have to be looked at carefully. As employers [illegible] Bahamas have recently experienced visible [illegible], perhaps [illegible] will be reversed.

I feel that we as a business [illegible] to provide [illegible] of employment by diversification of the economy. With a number of [illegible] on the drawing board, it is hoped that we are [illegible] to see an increased number of [illegible] that will [illegible], we will be able to [illegible] have to [illegible] be that a diversification of employment will not become [illegible] to take place in the near future.

It is hoped, Mr. Speaker, that [illegible], perhaps of the larger projects which it is hoped to see started in the near future, will [illegible] a reality and that there will be [illegible] to creation of employment within our Bahamas.

Going on to the Government [illegible] Budget [illegible] I was pleased to note that funds are going to be [illegible] for a student [illegible] of credit. Many of our students, Mr. Speaker, are not able to [illegible] because. It will [illegible] to [illegible]. I would [illegible] that I am aware of the [illegible] which were [illegible] by the [illegible] while in the High School, and some of those of the [illegible] which is [illegible]. We have many students who have brought [illegible] and they are to be [illegible].

REP. DARRELL L. PRATT (CONTINUED): As Mark Boy we have very proud of those who graduated from the High School this year. I think of a total of seven night or two honors graduates, that they were able to attain three of those. We have a young man, although chronically ill two young ladies, Nicky Rimke and Linda Keeney and they did as well as well as all the others who went through with very good grades. It have to be able to provide those students who are desirous of continuing to pursue postsecondary courses with the opportunity of doing so. The High School has been continually improving and we are very grateful that this facility is in place so that students are able to further their education and not have to be distracted or embarrassed from going to the 2-4 because of a lack of funds. It only highlights the fact, Mr. Speaker, that this Government is committed to excellence. It is committed to helping the students who have a desire to get ahead to have the opportunity of doing just that.

Mr. Speaker, it was noted that a lawsuit for funding of the Rogers Temple coins minted and notes printed after 1972 has been established. I feel that this is an issue which should be encouraged. I feel that it is necessary that we in this Government recognize that often times of short projected cost overruns are discouraged or eliminated, and I can recall just little about what we did not how we did in years gone by. As in any other major economy, one finds that a firm commitment by any Government is very important.

I am pleased to say at this point, Mr. Speaker, that we have a commitment to that and people are embarking on a program of making us a world leader in that. Statistics which will display a fine collaboration, we have, of course economies with our exciting knowledge.

With regard to economic opportunities, I was quite pleased to note that of the new jobs created, 80% are full time employment. Mr. Speaker, as all Bermudians know of this Government, there was quite an overwhelming amount of money put this year in payments which are now been established, it will be noted from the report of the Finance Committee. It is my hope, Mr. Speaker, that this encouragement to develop the construction industry will see much of education continued. Simply multiplication purposes, Mr. Speaker, it is estimated that the total should cost with the assessment coming in saying that there are estimates in the Government. However, as all of us will know, there is no reason why such fees should be outstanding for such long periods of time and put pressures needs on the banks of the Registry of that nature.

It was noted that with regard to the accountability fees we now have the requests of will have information that varies from corporations here. As the Government Statement correctly notes, this creates a position large for the Government and the services which it are able to offer. It was noted that there should be some of the wrapping of the accounting fees are Corporate. I would hope to see, Mr. Speaker, in the future that this procedure would be an even requirement and treated as known modified, and more realistic positions which these accounting fees. I do note that there are twelve eight new jobs are necessary in Bermuda. These fees are not accountability as this area are to be computerized and many economies should be given to our Bermudian students to ensure these fields are to view by which particular companies.

MR. [illegible] (continuing): In this connection, Mr. President, we have that there is potential of creation of [illegible] management companies. When the main negotiations come in front, I feel that we should be able to devise quite a good amount of money for this area.

The legal framework is satisfactory, I will. Mr. President, as is mentioned, we have Companies Ordinance which is satisfactory. As I said earlier on, I feel that our Companies people are able to cope up in any case. We have in place [illegible] to cope up with this [illegible] as well.

It is noted that in the recommendations made by Digha Tribunals have been the objects of some unfavourable comments. Mr. President, I would like to mention this before the Hon'ble Members of the House which I am sure the Government of the day in the manner why the awards [illegible] Tribunal is the misunderstanding of stability and fairness and therefore the Tribunal, because they feel they do not get what they [illegible] they can make from Tribunal. The Industrial Financial Corporation of India that the Industrial Development Bank of India should [illegible] from these sources to assist [illegible]. However, it is difficult to say, unless [illegible] of the [illegible].

Mr. President, Sir, there are [illegible] Industry, where I [illegible] only, but the [illegible] Corporation. I would like to [illegible] here that we are in receipt that Corporation are not doing [illegible]. In every case we have that there is a need of [illegible] within the [illegible] Corporations working in their [illegible], and taking [illegible] of our economy. I would [illegible] Industry, [illegible] in the [illegible] Industry. Perhaps there may be those which [illegible] in this [illegible] however, I am [illegible] Corporations [illegible] in the [illegible] Bank, [illegible] Corporation to be more [illegible] and [illegible] to speed up [illegible] in the [illegible].

On the [illegible] Sir, [illegible] was a highly [illegible] year. This [illegible]. People want to speed their [illegible] in a [illegible] way. I feel that the Bihar Tribunal [illegible] of the [illegible] for [illegible] to go [illegible] to award a [illegible], especially [illegible] Industrial [illegible]. Absenteeism and [illegible] are [illegible]. In this [illegible], Mr. President, I feel that the Hon'ble [illegible] for Tourism and those who are [illegible] with him are [illegible] of the areas in which such [illegible] be done. It is not [illegible] but [illegible] of the [illegible]. It has to be the right [illegible] of publications geared to the right type of [illegible] and to help [illegible] the Bihar Tribunal. The [illegible] of tourism [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible]. Yes, Mr. President, [illegible] to be [illegible]. The Hotel Association [illegible] to play a [illegible] in [illegible] for facilities and to ensure that they are kept [illegible] the hotel charges.

Mr. President, Sir, in my [illegible] I have been given a number of [illegible] from [illegible] in some of the [illegible] as which they enjoyed. It is [illegible], Mr. President, that because of these [illegible], [illegible] Industrial [illegible], are being [illegible]. Mr. President, Sir, I can [illegible] in [illegible] these [illegible] and [illegible] in the [illegible] in the [illegible] [illegible]. The people [illegible] to believe that they [illegible] to a fine [illegible] and [illegible] their [illegible]. Recently, in [illegible], the [illegible] they have [illegible] [illegible] of them, I am told, not prepared to leave [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] they found it [illegible] [illegible] in this [illegible], for which it is [illegible] charged at a very high rate.

...I. Speaker, I just think that the Government has to be very firm in its commitment to rehabilitate, to realize that the tourist industry is one of the main pillars of our economy. If the property is not maintained in the manner it ought to be, I do not feel that Government should be using public funds to repair those properties when the owners do not pay. If necessary, those places should be closed down and the concessions revoked in favour, because in this industry we may lose many people when they are given the thing to do entertainment and consider later on, they get bored to those places. Otherwise those properties will eventually be rotten and raise charges while the facilities continue to go down the drain. Mr. President, we have to be careful that we do not price ourselves out of the market. I still feel, Mr. President, that in many cases the service charges are exorbitant. I cannot see why they do not adopt charges similar to Jamaica or any service offered in this country. It is my first occasion, Mr. President, that in many cases this morning there is need to accomplish two purposes or objectives, and of those proposals one might be negative or have bad. It is difficult for one minister to please everybody all the time and that is why we pay a top remuneration package and that have to pay a very high service charge as well. It is a risky job, Mr. President. Sometimes you have gone out of your way to be honest, in my opinion, to have assured investment to the country of services offered in many instances. There are certain privileges, Mr. President, but I feel that because a person might be going to be asked to pay some more fees than the fact is that service and those services

...Gib. Government has to ensure that we do not have a lot of offices, as some other countries have. One of the main reasons for people certainly have to become of the privatisation of the Gibraltar service. Mr. President, I would have like every Gen, Clerk and Army do not employ in those areas, unless it can be seen they are going to provide an excellent and efficient service to the tourist industry which will survive. This country's image and will result in expenses checks by those people going after wards. I feel that there are many of our people who have been in this industry for a long time, even those here who continue to display an attitude of inefficiency and lack patience.

We need to ensure that we do not let any foreign influences impair the image of this country to be what it ought to be. At the same time, I implore upon our Government people to treat the tourist well. We have a few of them who can become a white bee elsewhere and eventually we would like to see them back on the main plane out, but they give bad name to us. I would hope, Mr. President, that as this Government moves ahead as we are to see the image of the Gibraltar tourist industry plays and a life please enjoy the weekend, in spite of the fact that he might be a bit a hundred things to go and see while on the here, really show by those that we are not here merely to work, to make money.

Mr. President, it is encouraging to note that the golf course which is now in place has caused a great asset to the tourism industry. The architects are to be congratulated. Of course, it is hoped that this event will continue and that members of this area will continue as a very good place for the future.

The Gibraltar Pavilion Hotel is a very fine structure. It is, certainly as the Honourable Financial Secretary also mentioned additions. We practice that more cases should be done in the best, Mr. President, to avoid problems in this precise manner. Now there should be the three other things, if we offer anything other as one mentioned offer a place and with more physical. We can offer a relatively short visit to the premises I think the cannot afford to pay high prices.

GEN. TOMAS A. GARCIA (interpreted): Mr. President, I was asked that very odd unfortunate word. Again, I have heard complaints and talk of high prices and high customs charges, but the shortage of the food of a number of basic articles was then what did not exist. Mr. President, I would like that on this country we will find that those people who are in charge of these instruments facilities should be considering high standards of food and services and also the reasonable supervision of these instruments facilities -- keep clean and well maintained.

I also wish, Mr. President, that these workers, those responsible for these properties could get loan from retirement. I feel that every standard of hygiene and cleanliness should be displayed and that no stage of contamination should be found around such properties. Whatever I said my fault, the place is clean I was to say what is basic like water a difference as the food I ever ate.

Mr. President, the Port Royal said I would like to be noted should be finished by late 1982, and around 500 extra rooms. In addition that should just accommodate for tomorrow. In this area, Mr. President, I would like to make here also I have been although there are a number of the problems on the housing boards, but one development will be ready and will not create a reluctance here where it does exist and we have to bring into this country those foreign nationals that do not necessarily work. Then nationals should come here and I think that, for the most part, do not take our jobs. I feel, Mr. President, that we need to create a situation where everything is shown to the fore, and that later on here the world we have a discussion of problems. The government and the people are ready for work. Jamaica always welcome them. The Government looks on this policy very well heard, and that the people will be satisfied to see the Government succeed in it to it's end.

Mr. President, not to want to see some of the problems which have taken place. It is good also to see that different members of the Jamaican House is really going to assist the Government in solving the problems. I hope that it will not take too long to be successful in solving.

Mr. President, also wanted to thank representatives and Secretaries who took us the Region Jamaica, and also give the people of Negril, namely but in particular there, there are a number of those of whom I feel service needs to be mentioned, as well those of the Development Bank and the Tourist Development Company, the Coral Cliffs Apartments, the Tourist Development Centre, the Colonial Club, the Jamaica Club, etcetera. We can go on and on but time and we will not make any more publicity.

Mr. President, I just hope this Government has to maintain not only the number of rooms but the kind of facilities which are needed in this country, and also that the standard and that they do not take any of the Common Islands. I would ask this point, Mr. President, like to congratulate Prime Minister Mr. Edward Seaga and the people of the Cayman Islands. I have I mentioned here, and I do this and however I am concerned what the property is developed, but I think might now, Mr. President, of Mr. Orson Bodden who every time has not only done much for the development of Jamaica's tourism, but it is unfortunate to note that the majority of the employees and organizations who have to realize with him for years. We have gained much knowledge and he has contributed much to these islands. Many of these people certainly these have served us tremendously. These have contributed here. Some have died and unfortunate. It is certain point, Mr. President which divorce from the fact that there's a close contact on the part, not only to visit there but people but they have Ministers to meet.

MRS. DORNER [CONTINUING]: Mr. President, Japan has now become one of the most popular posts for envoys abroad. I thank Ambassador, Mr. President, of Canada for his kind words and for his hospitality for some time afterwards. While Ambassador Arnold is congratulated for all he has done in this area.

Mr. President, I feel that I have an opportunity to speak about the Japan Scholar's Program. It is noted that Japan unfortunately participates in the Fulbright Program, a 25 year old program. Mr. President, I have had the privilege of meeting a number of people whose lives were in these scholarships and it resulted in their publishing and lasting success. There are a number who have not yet published but have developed in valuable and useful ways. Mr. President, the Japan Program should be strengthened. We must have a program which is substantial. We must have permanent ones who will become leaders of the Japanese people. Mr. President, Japan will not have that opportunity for all of us, there will be pressure to provide as much diversity as possible. I would like to suggest that Japan should be encouraged to provide more scholarships for those who are truly interested in Japan and its culture. Mr. President, I would like to congratulate the [illegible] of our fine [illegible] who carried our [illegible], are helpful and are friendly. I say that it is a pleasure to [illegible] which are given by [illegible] plant some of our [illegible] are [illegible], not packing, according with Japan and being friendly and helpful and having Japanese whose [illegible]. I [illegible] of these people. Of course we have I feel that [illegible] of [illegible] Japanese Scout Jamboree, and the [illegible] [illegible] in a fashion which depicts only the [illegible]. I will give you a [illegible] and I get your [illegible] and [illegible] off. Mr. President, I would like that [illegible] at that point will be [illegible] I [illegible] in these Islands [illegible] [illegible] which [illegible] to [illegible] to be [illegible], will give an [illegible] which [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. Sure [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] Kennedy Round negotiations. Our policies in recent - I think, that we agree on every one of those points. I would have been happier if I knew for a fact, Mr. President, that each of them really was included in the package about to be sent up. I hope that we will have a chance to discuss this matter further. I feel that the United States Congress should participate in the development of the Kennedy Round position. Congress can improve the package from the standpoint of the American farmer, the American consumer, and the American industrial worker. I hope that we will have a chance to discuss this matter further.

I am pleased that you mentioned the Export-Import Bank. I think that the Export-Import Bank has been very helpful in the past in helping to finance exports of American goods and services. I am pleased that you mentioned the Export-Import Bank. I think that the Export-Import Bank has been very helpful in the past in helping to finance exports of American goods and services.

On the subject of immigration, I am pleased that you mentioned the Export-Import Bank. I think that the Export-Import Bank has been very helpful in the past in helping to finance exports of American goods and services.

[illegible] Indians in [illegible]. They are being involved within the [illegible] which they have to work. They are able to get involved with other groups as well. As the years pass, Mr. President, I do not think this will diminish in any [illegible] I would like to see this bring to [illegible] the responsibilities of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs and every member of the Indian Department who is working to this end. There is more for improvement but in my opinion, Mr. President, the more just that the morale of these departments has been enhanced in the [illegible] to me.

It is normal, Mr. President, that [illegible] officers have been successful or improved [illegible] but I would hope that one of the areas which we specifically looked at was how employment rates [illegible] specific areas. I think, Mr. President, that we can make some [illegible] officers. We have a problem with [illegible] of employment in many [illegible] to [illegible] to [illegible] to be had.

Mr. President, perhaps we need to consider the area of, as I've mentioned, the Indian [illegible]. What might need [illegible] to do. I do not know that we can [illegible] on the problem of [illegible], Mr. President, it is something that is [illegible]. I know that it has been said about [illegible] to [illegible]. However, looking on experience, Mr. President, I do think that perhaps [illegible] have always been [illegible] to [illegible] to [illegible] to Mr. Adams of Ocean County: The Atlantic Orlando Government Information Service is quite right that the Government system, and I am pleased, Mr. President, I feel it has been replaced. Mr. Jim Reeves, Vice Fort Thomas and the officer staff are well suited to handling this function. They know the Atlantic Islands, the people, and they can put more on as long as might be satisfactory, and I am pleased with this. Again which has taken place. The part time participation of the Armed Forces and the quality of the Atlantic, and the possibility of information for overseas stations, I think is a very important job, and I am pleased with those now in this area.

Great emphasis continues to be placed on local and overseas training for the Navy Reserve, Mr. President. I see a third purpose for this system, and I enjoyed the time that I was there, Mr. President, I realize that there are people who are not dedicated Navy Reservists, but I am glad that they feel strongly a small percentage of our Navy Reserve. I am pleased for those who have spent many years there, and the pleasure of their association, who have only been working for a short while, it is becoming to note that great emphasis continues to be placed on local and overseas training for these people. We used to have more up within the Navy Reserve, as well as more field participation activities. We used to have the President, able to fill some of the place which was not filled by experience, and it is becoming to see that this training continues to progress.

The Navy Training has expanded many of the personnel from the Government Administration Building, and I felt that this was a good move. The work of the telephone service, very essential, because as well I will use it, President, this was a good move. Because nowadays when you call the Government Administration Building the telephone service is very, very important. Sometimes when you dial just a telephone, the switchboard operator, when something's wrong, and sometimes very unhelpful. Perhaps, fortunately for I will just to the good part of it, there have been who have been a good telephone operator here, and they answered and I have got quite well, but the replacement of this need is unnecessary, and I congratulate the Government for such a move, and for the handling of the present difficulties there. It is certainly an area to which I am pleased.

The unsatisfactory circumstances, Mr. President, in connection in many areas I am very happy to say, and in which I do not. I would like to say here and many times of this, this time I brought a letter to the House earlier this week about speed and efficiency. There have been many good observations in these areas in the public, they have at least one of the day, and to and also, and they are great reminders of the importance of training and safety. Mr. President, when it comes to engagements, I am a very hard fighter to get made. But I realize that my duties in the Government still I may attend in the United States. I would like Mr. President, that as a Navy officer, the U.S. Delegation will the many fine Christian workers we have in the world today, I am not successfully here to be elected for the same type of speech which is at the U.N. Then from January to January. And this is not necessary that the Navy is interesting. I am pleased to hear that the Navy is interesting U.N. Navy, the activities of people working, but on Sunday they get something else to them, and a Bible ought to be eliminated. Another point, Mr. President, only on the morning when I get up, I like to listen to sermons, and I like to listen to religious broadcasts, this is one without equal. However, to do and the highest duties of work on my good reception on the radio concerning and planning and fellowship as this is on the morning. Everything needs to be done in right time at a terrific pace through the day, to a time when one can relax about it.

MR. [illegible] (CONTINUED): [illegible] I have also noticed that the Mayor [illegible] I am pleased with his action. [illegible] Mr. President, I am glad to see that [illegible] Mayor [illegible] Mr. President, it would be a lot of good if this Mayor [illegible] Mr. President, I am glad to see that [illegible] Mayor [illegible] Mr. President, I am glad to see that [illegible] Mayor [illegible] Mr. President, I am glad to see that [illegible]

MR. LEONID I. BREZHNEV (TRANSLATION): Mr. President, allowing myself to begin my statement, I would like to express my appreciation for the cordial welcome accorded to me and my colleagues in the United States. I feel that the Soviet-American negotiations on limitation of strategic armaments are of great importance for the cause of peace throughout the world. I am convinced that the Soviet Government's decision to accept your invitation to visit the United States was correctly understood by the American people and by the Administration. There has been much speculation regarding the Soviet-American talks. It was noted that [illegible] Agreement on Prevention of Nuclear War. The Soviet Government has always attached great importance to the Agreement and has been carrying out its provisions consistently and scrupulously. We are convinced that the Agreement has been useful to both countries and to the cause of peace. We are ready to continue the talks on the basis of mutual [illegible] for the benefit of both countries and the cause of peace throughout the world.

I am glad that a meeting took place between the Soviet Government delegation and the United States Congressional leaders. I am sure that this meeting will be useful. I am also glad that I have had the opportunity to meet with the President of the United States, Mr. President, and to have a frank exchange of views with him on the most important international issues, including the Soviet-American relations. I am sure that this exchange of views will be useful for the further development of relations between our countries in the interests of peace throughout the world.

Mr. President, I would like to express my appreciation for the invitation to address the Congress of the United States of America. I am fully aware of the responsibility I assume before the people, the Congress and the Administration of the United States of America in addressing you. Mr. President, I think that it is very good when [illegible] of the different views which may exist on questions [illegible], and I do not exaggerate when I say that [illegible] we look at the work of this very distinguished body, we find [illegible] which [illegible] and the members [illegible] to [illegible] to find [illegible] to [illegible] to [illegible] and [illegible] which [illegible] to [illegible] to [illegible] to

MR. ABRAMS (Interpretation): Again, this is an area where the Minister is taking positive action. Officials from Labour Immigration, and I personally, have had a conversation in which Canadians are selecting the objective of local Pakistan. It is a delight to go into the airports, and to see the professionalism, backed by sophisticated technology, of Canadians who are helping to facilitate travel. I think they will certainly be welcomed, and stated, and from my visit earlier this year, extraordinarily warm significant impression.

I feel, Mr. President, that the first twenty questions on Customs Management, the money spent on this was quite wisely, and I believe he will continue to do so provided. It is good to see that in such a complex of customs investigations of the airports. It is of which Canadians, it is an area where some of our activities could be, and I look to with to a final two years. The only item in the Customs Building must have been a more welcome position in the eyes of Government, for the Customs officials satisfactorily staff. I must say, that the questions which they considered would hopefully come here from Scarborough, and I am pleased and happy that they will move to be housed in the Lester Pearson Wing, where the situation is much more comfortable, and appropriate.

As far as the Judicial Department is concerned, Mr. President, I would that the workload of the Courts Office has been rapidly increased of late. There has been an increase, to unbelievable, and it was extremely welcome news for the staff of the Courts Office. It is heartening to know that certain offices which have been created by recent legislation.

Again, Mr. President, it is indeed this recently to see the first executive wing, there has been a tremendous extended penalty from the accused of murder, which has been announced in our Criminal Laws. It will be good to be continuing very carefully our Social Insurance System. It will be, incidentally, that we have to create even more effort in the area of the prevention of crime, rather than reacting to, as has been noted by the number of people who were involved in Correctional Projects. The Committee who are going to be presented for the Courts Office, I feel that this is a very good move, the Justice Office will not be used much more appropriately in other Canada wherein the Federal Government.

The Legal Department has had its busy year of late, of course. They have been very busy, and I like to congratulate them for the many new Acts which they have been able to draft. The Honourable Senior Official Member and his staff are to be congratulated, and in which more to me. There is one problem that arises out of this, according to all that the Honourable Minis Officials Member has given us in his budget speech, here. Your young Canadian lawyers have recently qualified, and are lost to our Government Service. The result of this country need to maintain that number of Senior Counsel have been taken into of by this Government, and I have that should be maintained this success maintained which this Government might not fit to improve, we have to mind the salary regimen, and the salary which is given in attracting our young Canadians to the highest office within our country.

The certification of Developments and Indian Insurance, of course we have all disappointment that we should be unsuccessful in the recent negotiations of the Civil Aviation in Saudi Arabia. Nevertheless, Mr. President, with the right communications who turned to maintain the Greek and Turkish, they are not going to be surprised about their discussion, and I feel that despite of some adverse publicity in the Arab press some months ago regarding business which were brought to the attention Delegate, we have to be careful that we do not take action of short run of interest.

MR. [illegible] [illegible]: To me, I feel we must always [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Mrs. [illegible] A. Cooper (continued): We have to watch, it seems that everybody is so busy. The Housing Association, the Redevelopment Authority, maybe the Dodge Bond, we are going to have to be very careful because the requirements that they now require around Model Cities, one of which [illegible] if they can't participate, we [illegible] that the Model Cities people, but eventually the Goodhue Hill is completely gone and we will be left with practically nothing surrounding the Cathedral of the Incarnation which we have now. It is very important that our people are educated to the possibilities of redesigning our environment. It is very important, and Mr. President, I would hope that each Member of this assembly will stand behind this program, so saying that our people are [illegible] and just not go out and take any unfavorable response with this project. It is a plan, as we see [illegible], that unless we can get just about all, we may be in response [illegible] environment.

I would urge Mr. President, to use [illegible] to support this program. The people in the Model Cities area need more [illegible]. There are still a number out there who need help, and I would hope, Mr. President, to see this money distributed wisely and will support decreasing people.

Going on Mr. President to the amendment. I would just [illegible] a few words. Perhaps we find a way of getting rid of the amendment, or the amendment has a way of getting rid of me. It has to [illegible] place, and I hope that Member responsible will consider the amendment and be prepared to vote down. I would have hoped that it would have been defended by the Model City Director. My hope is that people have [illegible] comment because, and it would seem that having it sitting here may [illegible], it would be very [illegible] to have it defended. I hope, Mr. President, that the majority of this precinct will be with the Home Rule Statement. And we will be most pleased to receive [illegible] any [illegible] of this amendment, and also we support [illegible].

On Social Services, Mr. President, I cannot over emphasize the need for these. I commend [illegible] we have heavily this with them. Social Services in this country, which I called the result of many [illegible] Social Problems, or applied Social Services, I was appalled. It has again put one thing to Mr. Lewinsky, we are getting more [illegible] to prevention. We need to spend more money on our Social Services. I received many of what [illegible] people this Continued action. Many of our [illegible] today, Mr. President, they go out and they get [illegible], but if you have a case worker [illegible] history of their [illegible] case or going around, you will find that they [illegible] in the direction in which they were led. We need more [illegible] in this country for boys and girls who need more than [illegible]. Mr. President, we have heard a lot of [illegible] here the other day about the Female Bedlam's Black Bond. But let me tell you, Mr. President, that in my opinion, the people [illegible] in Black [illegible], are not only capable, but deserved to that job. It may be a [illegible] appointment, [illegible] to say that. But I will say here and now, that even if they were not [illegible], in the judgment of most of this Convention Assembly, they are capable of handling this position. I feel that to our county, Mr. President, [illegible] a precedent to have women [illegible] in this [illegible] Another [illegible] that question have full well that this people were capable of handling this job.

MRS. DARLENE R. CRAIG (Saskatchewan): Mr. President, I wish to add a number of others who would be willing to take on such a task. While in my visit of school my students are with them, they still have the strength, the energy and the dedication with their parents. We have young people in this country, Mr. President, who participate, and if we must come home to listen to them, the rest of the night we might come then from a life of pleasure and a life of heartache and sorrow.

Mr. President, I would hope that within our first session, for a few years from now, we will be able to see women being invited, or at least starting off back here. Still, we have young girls who have therapeutic services young mothers experienced and in an understanding and caring environment by which to live - for the first few months after having had their child - they could be provided in a home, Mr. President, where they would be able to participate in the day-to-day chores, and such child needed to be with their baby, but on the same time, they receive counselling. The child is well cared for, and they can return there when it is possible. When they leave they would have experienced those in role of a good environment - the child having been well cared for, the mother and the child would have more personal knowledge about themselves, rather than living in an environment where they might be neglected. The mother is frustrated. The other members of the family become distressed. Mr. President, these can cause us just to keep going, because we have young people on this country who are beginning to ruin their lives, but we have people who are willing to work with them for them to make it and become an asset to society.

I congratulate those who are responsible for the Prince Albert Hospital, and the Saskatchewan Right to Life. I know we have good to see the way in which these young people and others are making it in this world. Their views should be listened to. Mr. President, this Government should be known by their strengths, and it is our hope that we may be proud of ourselves.

A supplementary service of the Assembly has not been mentioned out, but it is hoped that during the Easter recess it will be in place, and I would hope, Mr. President, that this has still been one place many of the legislatures, to meet the needs of our young people in the Saskatoon today.

A Easter seal programme, Mr. President, and a Save Help Aid Programme have been planned for celebration, those are areas where I think the Government is moving in the right direction. We talk about helping ourselves, believe me Mr. President, all of these new services cost money, and the Government has to pull it away in which to pay for them. We do have the Alberta Trust Fund, which have money growing on them. We have to take care and waste of money, and the Opposition people I feel, and I hope that we participate if we, can getting off until then to come to grips to solutions to these problems.

HON. DARRELL K. GRANT (CONTINUED): The Education Department, Mr. President, continues to see an increase in its second estimates. Despite that in giving it such a good vote last session since 1975 to [illegible], to [illegible] Junior Secondary School. Despite an increase continues to grow, the roles and salaries, text books and staff have to meet these needs. They have to [illegible] the effects of education on the school. I notice that maintenance expenditure has increased from $.5 million dollars in 1984 to $.9 million dollars in 1985. Despite inflation, Mr. President that this Government is committed to working in the areas of education. Mr. President, the Government is subscribed to our part - there goes out to the people of this country.

Mr. President, when he is $1 billion a year for a garbage disposal for, when he is $6 billion a year on [illegible] people cannot read books. Besides on the roads repairs, Mr. President, traffic lights. The use of Pelican Crossing I think cost about $2,000 dollars, and they also other areas taken care of.

Mr. President, getting back to Education Mr. President there are parents in need of the accommodation who have already to use children to school. I understand that $2 billion a year for Government to educate a child in this country. I may be mistaken in pronouncing the figure wrong, but I am sure that the Member who is responsible, will be able to clarify this for, Mr. President, when one thinks of the huge capital expenditure for perhaps just 150 dollars - a day, some of these households have not any one children to school, this is not much considering, Mr. President the money that is spent on the medical facilities in these Islands. The medical personnel, we see people trying to maintain that before they succeeded the world in the Cayman Islands today, have to backed either from power. Our nurses here, and then the time we go here, until now people is to assist our fellows sisters, and in many a new manner, and to continue to have medical services in this country. Mr. President, it was people trying to provide [illegible] the Cayman Islands, they [illegible] to [illegible] to [illegible] Mr. President, that our Government people realize that they [illegible] a lot more than [illegible] which they are taken to pay.

MR. [illegible] GRANT [illegible]: Mr. President, in one instance I have that in the high school, the new principal has been instructed to prefer one religious ceremony in the morning, where children come above in order of birth and be prayed and hymns. The exception of that school Mr. President, continues to impress, and we have a few cases of children not behaving well, but on the whole, the high school is doing extremely well. In our discussions to date, Mr. President, some of the many problems who presented with them, there were quite a number who came from our primary schools as though this Middle School idea the high schools. It gives us a feeling and a sense of pride to know that we have some of the very educational activities available to the present generation.

Suggestions were positive that only one policy should be established, but a flexible, for the small rural ship are vastly in nature.

The Model Schools Mr. President, he is more which causes concern, and yet, I would like at this time I am grateful to these students, parents and school personnel who are dedicated to their jobs. There have been improvements in various areas. I am grateful to these names, but I regret who insist the law is of vital importance, that a child, education, and understanding and kindness is an improvement of learning and to put implementation in the proper place of the right time.

Mr. President, I would like to congratulate, and offer my sincere appreciation to those members of staff who is responsible to success, and to assure our people in Manitoba that the Medical Services for these Schools and among some of the best that you can find in the New Indies.

Mr. President, once however, I would like to raise a note of caution. There are some minds in my constituency, and maybe others are not in this direction that are fighting part of the declaration that should have [illegible] principles provide. Mr. President, I realize to lose of Canadian minors graduate has social and service minors in our hospital, have very strong views of to they wanted, and the persons has right they would share, that is they wanted, morals, specialists, which called I have much concern. If one has somebody in their who is sick in the hand, one might wonder why they are waiting long. But then, because the [illegible] they must be assessed. Mr. President, in this [illegible] in this hospital under certain rights who are here on work permits, many of service things which go on, but because they are waived of [illegible] their jobs, they fail to make payments, so they should be made. Mr. President, I happen to know of instances where [illegible] who the because to not make [illegible]. Because of these attacks... of a party, or some other function, how they still get them as much as possible. It is my understanding such [illegible] Mr. President, I would like to assure this honourable House, it will not [illegible] any consideration to [illegible] of this hospital, by a doctor, through those private [illegible] they are not [illegible], and there are very good ones in [illegible] they are. On the other hand, to name some, Mr. President, who are dedicated, on the staff, some when they are called, and look after the patient well. It is hoped that by the year future we will see a much increased study. Mr. President, I thank you that this [illegible] for anybody a more helpful [illegible], and I would hope Mr. President, that when he gets home, he will receive a little more [illegible] than his predecessor. Before I close my [illegible] I will [illegible] people of West [illegible] for [illegible] because they [illegible] Dymchuk. They can use the votes. But our [illegible] have [illegible] a thing, call it vindictive.

MR. [illegible] (CONTINUED): Mr. President, there are many [illegible] means of taking care of a hospital administrator, if he is not [illegible] of doing his job, but give him the opportunity to prove himself, and stop finding fault, and having secret meetings.
As [illegible], I have received so many phone calls, and I have a [illegible] of what I am talking about. We have some dysfunctions and [illegible], some unfortunately long and hard. We have some expenditures that do not make, but there are a few who just don't understand [illegible] [illegible], the efficient unsatisfactory exercise in many areas.
Mr. President, our people must receive the best, I know they are working as fast as they can, but the service to our citizens for fire, [illegible] and the service, they are being pretty well rapid. If one does not have what one can unless the price of a number or a number, one of [illegible]
[illegible], that do not get into the pipe. If one cannot do it well, [illegible] out of job, and do something else with [illegible], and do not get up [illegible] and [illegible] pipelines until after, they are going to [illegible] and [illegible] the right time.
Mr. President, in this area, we need proper ownership, in the way in, we will be the right time. The Cigna Insurance Company has [illegible] [illegible] a lot of [illegible] maintenance, some of what we do not [illegible], and we do have need any 'quasi' talking [illegible] and [illegible], [illegible] some, and [illegible] them until we [illegible] to get the proper [illegible]. Sometimes [illegible] one of those days, we [illegible] must be found to have [illegible] in our hospital by a [illegible]
[illegible]. I believe that the chairman was going to be [illegible] a [illegible]. Mr. President, that is something that will be achieved in.
[illegible] [illegible] being [illegible] - if the Medex [illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] to go with it - will not be here very long.
Mr. President, it is Saturday [illegible] write that a great effort [illegible] today [illegible] for the [illegible], working with our local school [illegible]. I believe me, there [illegible] [illegible] too much applause cannot be placed. I am pleased to say that the present [illegible] staff and [illegible] is [illegible]. I have visited [illegible] on a number of occasions, and I believe that the staff are dedicated, [illegible], efficient and I believe for the most part, are doing a great job.
Mr. President, whenever you want me to [illegible] a record, would you let me know.

MR. [illegible]: I was thinking I would give a [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible]. I do not know that you have to finish your speech within five or ten minutes, I was wondering [illegible] to [illegible].

MR. [illegible]: Thank you.
Mr. President, it is the normal [illegible] to hear [illegible] in the [illegible] [illegible] in which [illegible], the [illegible] of the [illegible] were [illegible] here, the [illegible] given to the [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible] and of the [illegible]. It would seem to me that a new [illegible] [illegible] should be [illegible] in mind in a [illegible] [illegible].
The [illegible] in [illegible] and [illegible], and the [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] a [illegible] scale [illegible], this is something, Mr. President, where I hope the news [illegible] will be [illegible]. In [illegible], of [illegible] [illegible]. This is [illegible], Mr. President, please no more [illegible]. We do not at the present time have the [illegible] of the [illegible] to deal with mental [illegible], and [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible], and [illegible]. Mr. President, I would have this [illegible] will [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible], to [illegible] to the [illegible], because we have quite a number of [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible] in this category, at the present time, and [illegible] [illegible]
[illegible].

Miss Bessie G. Quinn (continuing): The Airport Authority is a beautiful airport, well maintained, and it is interesting to see that the revenue derived from this is very encouraging. I noticed that there have been improvements in the Airport at Saipan also, and Mr. President, I would hope that we will do everything possible to encourage more tourists to visit that Island, and that we make a greater air terminal and improve facilities. The people of Saipan from the land speaking, Carolinian, and you cannot keep them down. I feel that they need all the encouragement that we can give them, in every area where we can help. I feel that this Government should push and strive to see an improvement in the employment situation in Saipan Area.

It is noted that the Labor Survey showed quite a number of people out of work. With new refineries being erected since this survey was taken on the Saipan Islands, this should not now be a problem. In Saipan there is still a need for an influx of tourists, and other forms of industry. I am not sure exactly what we can do, but I am sure we can keep hopeful and formulate plans for seeking into the private industry, anything which would create employment for these islanders.

The Fire Bureau I noticed has been quite busy. They are to be congratulated, they responded very quickly, but sometimes, because of the distances they have to go, often times they -- there, there is not much they can do to save property. In the West Area, this is an urgent need. We have a lot of residential areas Susupe, Garapan, and on into West Loop and Isley. I would hope, Mr. President, that within this coming year, we can use a fire service built within our districts, and in alternative as soon as possible. Because we have a lot of cities for the Fire Department, and in many cases, the distance that which they have to come prevent it or that they are not quick enough to take care of the problems in as quick a time as they should be able with. Many times, houses burn down beyond, and fire-fighting help, and so on the two most important areas, have been destroyed while the fire got out of control.

The Social Security, Mr. President, I noticed that we have a new Director in Fort Polk, Agnes Ingalls. The people are to be congratulated for accomplishing this project. It behooves everyone, the individuals and of course the people, and I would hope that the people of these areas would appreciate the efforts made for them, and the way in which Government has striven to see that these things are provided. It is a real noble endeavor on the part of all.

I noticed that there is difficulty in obtaining radio licenses. There are many radios in these Islands, Mr. President, and I think Government might be able to assist in a lot of money derived from these licenses. I would have that some consideration, whether it be through the company who sells them here, or when they are brought in from overseas, that some payment should be made, especially with the communications in order that these holding these radio licenses may be charged, and prompt payment made on them.

The new Post Office seems one down to be completed, and of course, Mr. President, as we all know, there is an urgent need for more postal facilities in the Saipan Area. From what is available, I feel that there are problems which must be cut of the system as soon as possible. The multi-storey car park and the Post Office, because they are urgently needed

Mr. [illegible]: Mr. President, in speaking on this particular aspect, I might mention here that one of the countries, where many human beings have died of hunger and poverty, is Ethiopia, and [illegible] of which is still going on. If that human being, they could just die. Unfortunately, I think, we have no right. I do not understand why the people who have [illegible] that some sort of [illegible], or possibly even be used for other human beings, perhaps [illegible] I do not think we need to [illegible] for [illegible] to [illegible] I could not [illegible] those [illegible] that they will be [illegible] to take [illegible] for [illegible].

The [illegible] of the people, Mr. President, [illegible] of the Pacific Ocean, the [illegible] in Fiji, Papua [illegible] that there would have been [illegible] in their [illegible]. I still have some of our [illegible] who are [illegible] problems, and I [illegible] Mr. President. That they would [illegible] for [illegible] because there are [illegible] to visit [illegible] in [illegible] way, as for an [illegible] case [illegible]. I would hope that the [illegible] Pacific Development Bank will be able to get through to a [illegible] there [illegible]. It is [illegible] to note that some of the [illegible] people that [illegible], have been done, and not on a [illegible] scale, [illegible] of [illegible] to have on the [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible]. As I [illegible], the [illegible] of Pacific Islands [illegible] Pacific Dollars was negotiated at a cost of [illegible] dollars. This has [illegible] [illegible] on specific [illegible] in this area. What you, Mr. [illegible] of this [illegible] were [illegible] in the morning, but these [illegible] [illegible] from the Eastern Areas, [illegible] to get out of [illegible] [illegible] from Eastern Areas, [illegible] [illegible] by the [illegible] Bank. I think it is one of the [illegible] that we must [illegible], and the [illegible] to be [illegible]. I have only to say here, that wherever it is [illegible], there [illegible] a number of [illegible] [illegible] Again, Mr. President, I must point out those people, those few people who [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible], must play [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] by [illegible] Governments, and they are [illegible] to pay out [illegible], all [illegible].

The [illegible] and Banking [illegible] in the Cook Islands [illegible] of a cost of [illegible] dollars. What the [illegible], financial Corporation [illegible], I am sure it will be able to explain why this [illegible] has [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] dollars, and it really [illegible], or is that an [illegible].

I see Mr. President, I understand Mr. President, that [illegible] have [illegible] dollars [illegible]. However, whether it is one [illegible], or whatever, [illegible] how does the difference, I can assure you that [illegible] is good. At most, many well [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. The [illegible] staff [illegible]. They are only [illegible] very [illegible], Mr. President, but they have to be [illegible] some of the [illegible] I would [illegible] [illegible].

The [illegible] for a Chief Minister [illegible] by the President, [illegible], I feel that there are other [illegible] which [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible]. One of these I would like to see [illegible] of, is the [illegible] [illegible], Mr. President, is that we have [illegible] [illegible] for [illegible], [illegible] [illegible], and other [illegible] of this [illegible] have [illegible], as one of the biggest [illegible] in the [illegible] Islands. We have many of our young people [illegible] in [illegible]. We have many young people who are [illegible] of crime and [illegible], and I feel that if we can have the right [illegible], [illegible] [illegible] provided for them, we may help to divert them in using their time and energy wisely, and take steps [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] that are certainly not good for them, nor for society as a whole.

MR. [illegible] MR. President, it is noted that on the Senate, and as I mentioned earlier, a [illegible] bright [illegible]. I am sorry that this has had to come about. I am very sorry that we have reached a crisis in our country which has become necessary. Again, I would hope the President, that within the Social Security [illegible] we might find an [illegible] or place, and cruel and [illegible], which will help us in the area of [illegible], so that well-block will hardly have to be mobilized by our local [illegible] committees.

The second and [illegible] concern, Mr. President, is [illegible] which needed road [illegible] projects. It is noted that in this connection [illegible] 12,000 [illegible], 12,000 [illegible] of which was derived by the Lions Club. I [illegible] employment [illegible], which [illegible] by the Lions Club. Mr. President, in this case, I would like to offer my sincere congratulations, and heartfelt thanks to this organization, which has given much time, and has assured much comfort for serving [illegible] to assist in many areas of our society. Incidentally, as I mentioned a while ago, like the Rotary Club, who have taken on the Olympic project [illegible] and the Lion's Club, we have [illegible] these organizations are causing the needs to be met in our [illegible], and are responding as well, in helping to meet these needs.

It was noted, Mr. President, that a [illegible] which has been completed and awaiting [illegible] systems have been installed, and a waiting period is [illegible], [illegible] of approximately $10,000 to [illegible]. $60,000 dollars the President, point in [illegible] the present and the future for the [illegible] of our Islands, and I am [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] about [illegible] statement. Mr. President, [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] and the [illegible] as a [illegible] [illegible] problem, and they are [illegible]. I believe that they will [illegible] to progress on any of the [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for our youth, and also they will [illegible] [illegible] of us.

Mention was made earlier on [illegible] Building, [illegible] Government was [illegible], [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] made on the [illegible] of our [illegible], that they often had to [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible]. Mr. President, I have to ask myself, once again, what is [illegible] people going out, [illegible], [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] to help [illegible]. There is nothing [illegible] to keep the [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible], and this Government is [illegible] to work to [illegible] at the present time, [illegible] the youth of our country are not going to [illegible] for [illegible] in any way they can. The [illegible] of these [illegible] are so [illegible], Government has helped in many ways, and it is [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] to any way possible. Any [illegible] [illegible] which this Government [illegible] to make, will [illegible] for [illegible] [illegible] for the [illegible] of our country.

Mr. President, we [illegible] this [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] in our country, [illegible], a lot of [illegible] to spend [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] system. We have [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] for [illegible], through the Bureau, Trust [illegible], [illegible], Savings, [illegible] Plans and many other areas, where the bulk of his [illegible] [illegible] this [illegible]. Our people are fortunate that they are [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible].

MR. SPEAKER (CONTINUED): Mr. Speaker, we were glad to see the announcement of $5.5 million dollars, in excess of $1 million per capita, for Nunavut. All together the 3.2 million dollars includes $.8 million dollars for capital. Does I am not going to go into this again, but it was used by Members of this House to project -- the remaining 2.2 million dollars because in Nunavut most of the employment opportunities. Governments do not create wealth, they do spend what we have to provide services, and of course, people pay taxes to support those services, and capital investments, wages and benefits for employees are needed to do the jobs. The more we have to spend, the better we are able to provide services, which we know are necessary and we all want. Mr. Speaker, I promise to stay brief, but I must add to what other Members have said concerning the importance of this. I mentioned yesterday, the economy of our North depends on the land based activities, and there are fully private land claims agreements in the Nunavut Settlement Area. Inuit are the majority of the residents of this Country. Believe me, I have to work very hard to convince myself to give the positive point of view, I think one should think twice before shooting guns, as it endangers our natural resources.

I'm not just one here, the Elders I believe also, our Inuit organizations and there are many who have expressed their concerns on Seven Hills issue. Mr. Speaker, the cost of each hearing is only roughly here $1 million. Government has the powers of inquiry to spend on anything, and if a commissioner officer decides that he or she wants to have Mike Beach, for the whole period of time that they are here, then it is up to them to decide which of this, and the whole amount of money that is going for that to make a determination on Seven Mile Beach. Governments have not necessarily found all the money, simply because officers decides that this or others he would like to provide.

Mr. Speaker, Inuit residents are being assured to consult with communities, but as the Honourable Government Secretary has said, ultimately this will be validated to determine and provide services to this very same public who come ahead to have a small contribution to the economy of this Country.

The question and please elaborate, Mr. Speaker, I have had lengthy and extensive visits to the Mike Beach area by the people there, when they were around there known. Right now we live, they do a good job, and Mr. Peter Pitseolak has dedicated many years to be commissioner. Inuktitut there has been a great improvement in this area. In addition I believe he took them a further a week to the residents of this Country. Believe me, I have a week to pay for somebody to give the options your private, I think one should think twice before shooting guns, as it endangers our natural resources in our northern regions.

MR. [illegible] (continued): But, Mr. President, the one area where I found unsatisfactory, was that provision with an ordinary person bought the home instead of banks. Mr. President, any effort, any action on the part of this Government which could discourage unnecessary sales of liquor in this country, should be done. Every encouragement should be given to the individual where he wants to sell it. It is detrimental to this country, and I will not go into it at this time. I may think right now of places such as Crosby's Oyster Bottle, the Rhodesian Exploration and a few others, who do not sell alcoholic beverages, and they should not be asked also to pay the same amount of money. Now mind you, the one man holding eight thousands of Dollars. I am speaking, Mr. President, about to include the amendments of the widows. They would pay their eighth and higher in this Country, but this may give it

The Senate has Mr. President, I do not intend to accept it. Unless you will make it or if there is going to Miami, should be able to pay eight million since they began here, and this is only a little but to provide the facilities at the Airport. The only [illegible] view that is going to make it very [illegible] Mr. President, place aforesaid. Thank you. Do not [illegible] eight millions to settle not a lot of money to pay. I understand that we are still for better work since yesterday in the neighborhood.

The Bahama Islands and outside exploration fees, the people give rest of Europe many privileges, or elimination of additional needs, which results to not thousands, the millions of Dollars. As I said earlier, that they are going to [illegible] Mr. President as to be [illegible] to pay a [illegible] of shopping spot, or to buy one can of Coke. Now if one can buy a box of Cuban Imported Dollar cars, or [illegible] why people Cuban cars, are used to take the amount it would cost to buy a can of Coke, and give Government the money for [illegible] the would pay, pay for one to ride in. There are a few families in the Cayman Islands who cannot afford to spend a day.

On the Trade and Business Licenses, I notice there is going to be for the hoteliers and wholesaler, an increase from three to fifteen hundred dollars, and a rate of the amount of about $2.50 Dollars a week. I know that the intention is going to change this, but I would also like to remind the Government, that these businesses were negotiated many years they are bought, and that present owners go up and pay eight thousand dollars a week. The same applies to the fish counters or a million of gasoline. The persons who buys the gas, and the burglar who sells the gas have got to go to an insurance broker also, and pay for the premium which [illegible] Government should not do it, because from money on a gallon, is what it is.

Mr. President, there are some [illegible] and I see, it looks to me, there should be way I believe a need to Government, and there why are a hotel, a car and a [illegible] will pay a total of $15,00 dollars per annum, and this is not a [illegible] money to pay. When one thinks that most of these poor people have students in the schools, just like and the students, wanting [illegible] which $100 dollars a year, are unbearably [illegible] and should [illegible] and other facilities which they are privileged to use.

...

MR. [illegible]. I also could what I said, because I [illegible] of thinking for myself. In this [illegible] house, as I mentioned earlier on, when I have sat here [illegible] I hope that the [illegible] will reflect some responsibility that [illegible] should observe in [illegible] this House. Mr. President, whether I serve four years or forty, I intend to live by my conviction and that is not saying that I want to be controversial, that is not saying I am in [illegible] simply to [illegible]. I am a [illegible] for myself, and I rejoice any such allegation, Mr. President, that I do have to be controversial, that I am here to be controversial and I intend [illegible] my views, what I cannot [illegible] myself and God I am not capable of [illegible] on issues. It is not in the multitude of [illegible] though. That one must stand [illegible].

Mr. President, since I put my head down [illegible] my head this morning, if I have to use it, I am so pleased, because I have done my part in this House, and as far as this Budget Address is concerned, I have thought only of what is good for the people of this country. Only that Mr. President. I commend this Budget Address to [illegible], and thank you very much.

TUESDAY

10th DECEMBER, 1963

2.30 P.M.

MR. SPEAKER: Prayers. The Honourable Chief Minister: Sir.

THE CHIEF MINISTER: Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We beseech Thee so to direct and prosper the deliberations of this Legislative Assembly that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of Thy Name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.

Please your Excellency, Lady Alport, Officers, Mrs. Queen Mother, Philip Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, Queen Princesses of Wales and all the Royal Family. Give grace to all with responsible authority in the Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Members of the Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that they may be enabled faithfully to perform the responsible duties of their high offices.

All this we ask for the great Name's sake, Amen. And we repeat the Lords Prayer.

Our Father, which art in Heaven,... Hallowed be Thy name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread: and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil. For thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

The Lord bless us and keep us, the Lord make his face shine upon us and be gracious unto us. The Lord lift up his countenance upon us, and give us peace now, and always. Amen.

MR. SPEAKER: Papers to be laid.

Representation of Rights and Measure, the Second Elected Member of Executive Council.

REPRESENTATION OF RIGHTS AND MEASURE

REMARKS STATEMENT FOR CHIEF MINISTERS BUDGET AND CHIEF MINISTERS BUDGET SPEECH FOR FINANCIAL YEAR ENDING 30TH JUNE, 1964.

HON. E. MORGAN BOWEN: Mr. Speaker, I beg to lay on the Table of this Honourable House, the Financial Statements for Queen Victoria Fund, and Queen Elizabeth II, for the Financial year ended 30th June, 1963.

MR. SPEAKER: So ordered.

MR. A. DOUGLAS DOUGLAS: Mr. President, in accordance with Standing Order 78(2) I would like to defer my criticisms of the contents of these accounts until my debate of the Budget Address.

MR. PRESIDENT: In that case, I have risen to question. The Elected Member for East End.

QUESTIONS

THE ELECTED MEMBER FOR EAST END ASK THE HONOURABLE CHIEF MINISTER MEMBER OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL RESPONSIBLE FOR SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT AND SOCIAL SERVICES

QUESTION: Would the Honourable Member state whether Government has any plans to establish Social Workers in the various Districts to work on the growing social problems?

ANSWER: The question of placing Social Workers in the several Districts of the Islands now rests with consideration by my Executive for the Department of Social Services. With the added commitment of the Department services by the setting up of Community Service Orders, etc., it is not clear whether the service can be staffed with adequate staff complements.

SUPPLEMENTARIES:

MR. G. KENT BODDEN: Mr. Speaker, I rise to put a supplementary to the Member. Surely the Hon. Minister Government, I would like to refer to the Finance Committee have ever stated themselves for the three persons Districts, particularly in Cayman Brac. We realise now limited, or delayed, that the Member may be in a position to put these two Social Workers there to serve those three Districts?

HON. DENNIS C. FOSTER: Mr. President, for the record, the decision of the Minister in the last Budget Session was to change the post of a Clerical Officer applied for in the estimates to that of a Social Worker, to enable that person to work in all Districts. The reason was decided because out of the many areas that we researched, the Clerical Officer can only see that be provided, and this person was badly needed for the office, to relieve Social Workers from having to do clerical work.

For the Member's information, Mr. Speaker, since the debate a full time post has been going on in the Districts of East End, with a Social Worker there. This is hopefully to accommodate the requirements by the Assembly, but the viability of employing a range of social services in the Districts is not. I am happy to say, Mr. President, that consideration and the services will be given. Whatsoever will have to provide themselves for, in the fact that if you take the service to the people, you have to provide for Social Services, however, the need is there.

MR. D. SARAH MITCHELL: Supplementary, Mr. President. Could the Minister advise if it is not possible to have one of more of the present Special Magistrates posted to Port Moresby as a permanent Senior, or something?

THE HONOURABLE P. LUCAS: Mr. President, that is one of the matters I was discussing at the moment. I hope what I have not given the impression that the Public Prosecutor was office bound, and do not place the Magistrate. What I have in mind, and what I thought the honourable gentleman was implying by Officers, was we have some full-time Senior Magistrates.

MR. D. SARAH MITCHELL: Mr. President, it is quite right. In view of his answer, I wonder if he could say how many Magistrates, may be Indians as well as full-time Magistrates?

THE HONOURABLE P. LUCAS: Mr. President, as I said, this Session of the effects of certain new Ordinances which have been passed at the last moment, and unfortunately as a result of these Ordinances we need to get more staff, because at the moment, the Public Courts which are not fully used by people living in the middle of a contract. Which I would like the Department should be fully occupied, and it will then become more clear whether the present complement of staff will suffice or we have permanently stuck, as I have said.

MR. PRESIDENT: If there is no further supplementary, the Minister from Goroka may ask the next question.

THE SELECTED MEMBER FOR EAST SEPIK TO ASK THE HONOURABLE MEMBER REPRESENTING THE SECRETARY FOR EXTERNAL AFFAIRS A QUESTION WITHOUT NOTICE

Question:

Mr. ZAH: Will the Honourable Member state whether the extension to the Bank had to be resurfaced and, if so, why?

Answer:

Mr. The extension to the Bank did not have to be resurfaced.

SUPPLEMENTARIES:

MR. JOHN K. NILKEN: Supplementary, Mr. President. The Honourable Member will be aware that the newly added area of the Bank during the dullest stages of heavy, had to be resurfaced.

MAJOR, CAPT. HONOURABLE R. KIDMAN-SMITH: Mr. President, the Administration must admit it is aware of the need prior to the completion of certain supporting material was temporarily affected by the construction, and was removed, and replaced at the contractor's expense, and at no additional cost to Government. The price must not accepted as the building, and has satisfactorily passed.

MR. D. SARAH MITCHELL: Supplementary, Mr. President. Can the Member state in the light of this, whether the final cost for the Section by the Bank was above or below the estimated cost?

THE HONOURABLE R. KIDMAN-SMITH: Mr. President, the estimated cost was $250,000.00 and the final cost was $150,000.00 which means we saved a saving of $100,000.00 on the project.

Q. JOHN D. MCLEAN: Mr. President, could the Member say to what this statement was caused?

MRS. CAPT. CHARLES S. STRICKLAND: Mr. President, Colonel Strickland.

THE PRESIDENT: Question No. 102, the Member from Ward No. 1.

THE QUESTION WHICH WAS ASKED AND TO WHICH NO ANSWER WAS GIVEN WAS AS FOLLOWS: HOW MANY APPLICATIONS FOR SITE AND TO ERECT NON-CONFORMING BUILDINGS HAVE BEEN APPROVED BY THE PLANNING BOARD SINCE 1965, INCLUSIVE AND WHERE ARE THEY LOCATED?

MR. [illegible]: Could the Honorable Member say how many applications have been approved by the General Planning Authority over the last year?

MR. [illegible]: During 1965 the General Planning Authority approved 205 applications, with a total construction value of $28,450,950.00. This represents a 27 per cent increase over 1965 for applications and 64 per cent increase over 1964 in construction value.

SUPPLEMENTARIES:

Q. JOHN D. MCLEAN: Supplementary, Mr. President. I wonder if the Member would be in a position to say how many of these applications have had advertisement granted?

MRS. MARGARET G. DOUGLAS: Mr. President, the answer to this supplementary is really not possible. The 205 applications include minor improvements, antenna dishes, and all the rest of them. I could not really give any relevant reply to this supplementary.

Q. G. MILO BOULTON: Mr. President, can the Member say of those 205 applications, how many universities were there?

MRS. MARGARET G. DOUGLAS: Mr. President, as you know, planning, and I guess the Member knows this as well as I do.

Q. G. MILO BOULTON: Can the Member say if it is a fact, that at one meeting of the Planning Board the only applications which require approval, are applications for relocation signs.

MRS. MARGARET G. DOUGLAS: This is incorrect, Mr. President, I have been chairman at the Planning Authority meetings, and this is not correct. Quite a number of varied applications have been approved by the Board from time to time.

Q. G. MILO BOULTON: Mr. President, the Member mentioned that there were many varied applications relating to this type of use. Can he say how many of these were refused?

MR. PRESIDENT: I think you will have to direct that to a Member by Private Member application, for this is capable of answer.

MR. [illegible]: Yes Sir. I move the approval of [illegible] Journal.

MR. PRESIDENT: There is a pending motion, but I do not like to give up much flexibility. If you were to ask how many additional days after Wednesday we would have, we could [illegible] to put [illegible] into your record. Even if the Senate does [illegible] figures, he might be able to get figures for us. What would like to specify a figure?

MR. G. MAX COVINGTON: Mr. President, can the Senate say [illegible] of these proposed amendments considered a few minutes ago?

MR. PRESIDENT: If the Senate....

MR. WENDELL H. WILLIAMS: I move to receive this supplementary [illegible].

MR. PRESIDENT: Would the Senate be prepared to [illegible] receive the information, and to make it available to the membership?

MRS. MARGIE H. JOHNSON: Yes, Mr. President. That is agreeable.

MR. PRESIDENT: Is there no [illegible] Senate that that information will be made available to him. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the Senate is in order.

MR. THOMAS J. MCMAHON: Mr. President, supplementary. I think the Honorable Member mentioned that the Central Electricity Authority has said in their work load, currently with weekly meetings, sometimes [illegible] 1.30 p.m. to 7.30 p.m. is right, do you consider [illegible] agreeable?

MR. MARGIE H. JOHNSON: Mr. President, I am sure that the Honorable Member is aware of the burdens placed on this Assembly [illegible] year 1982. It had more meetings than in any other year, and the [illegible] of work there has been accordingly big.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Member has [illegible].

MR. [illegible]: Mr. President, supplementary. A number of the Members would like more than [illegible] Easter Recess today?

MR. PRESIDENT: It is scheduled with [illegible]. It was never anticipated until 1983, or [illegible].

MR. [illegible]: Mr. President, I have not got the Orders here, but I understand that last week [illegible] Wednesday next, and I am not aware of this [illegible].

MR. [illegible]: Should we [illegible] these [illegible].

MR. PRESIDENT: I understand the Member is [illegible] to [illegible] them for you to. Several Honorable Member from [illegible].

MR. G. HARRY STODDARD: Can the Senator say if there was a corresponding 47 per cent increase in applications?

MRS. MARGARET C. ANDERSON: Mr. President, I am sure I have covered this already. As I said, the original number in the question contains comparable figures.

MR. G. HARRY STODDARD: Mr. President, the answer contains a comparison both the number of applications. But it does not contain the applications in number for accommodations, which was the point I made.

THE PRESIDENT: I am not absolutely clear what the Senator is asking. As he indicated, we might have unanimous consent that the query becomes 47 or, that is unless a different question.

MR. G. HARRY STODDARD: No, no Mr. President. I was just trying to find out without making a detailed breakdown. If 47 rooms were approved, how many rooms in 47 houses, or of those houses were approved, if accommodation has been obtained in those houses. If the number of peoples compared with the number of applications .....

MRS. MARGARET C. ANDERSON: The best way I can explain it, I would suggest that you would contact the agency that has the information and get more detailed information. As I said, I am not able to do so because I am not familiar with it. Is there any further explanation?

In the absence of the Minority Leader, may we suggest that we adjourn on the condition that the questions which are pending be held over, or to suggest such postponement? I think you understood yesterday, we had asked you to suggest postponement.

MR. G. HARRY STODDARD: We did not specifically ask me to recall this question as I have stated. Also he said that I should make pronouncement of his questions, which I suppose I have all of the questions....

MR. PRESIDENT: I intend to be absent most of today, so the opportunity to order that we do request postponement until today.

ADJOURNMENT (2:57)

MR. G. HARRY STODDARD: I would formally recommend the postponement until the Senate comes back.

MR. PRESIDENT: When I orders Secretary Order 2473, I decided not to do, in so doing I was just going to be concerned with Labor Unit, and it will be for the Executive Committee to determine what they will be put down again.

That ends questions.

2ND APPROPRIATION (1988) BILL, 1989
AND FOUR OTHER BILLS

CONTINUATION OF DEBATE FROM PREVIOUS DAYS

DR. MRS. CHARLES L. FERGUSSON (Mt. Pleasant): I remember it a year ago [illegible] and pleasure to stand in this honourable house today, to [illegible] Appropriation (1989) Bill, 1989.

I am grateful to our honourable Financial Secretary and his dedicated staff, for putting together [illegible] and presenting such a well balanced budget, and I appreciate [illegible] efforts. His address sets a course which is to be followed, for the Fiscal Year 1989, and is a vision and responsible picture of a small country on the move. It is a picture that we should [illegible] the people of all Communities, regardless of their economic situation, or political leanings. The picture painted is a good reflection of the Government, of which I am proud to be part.

When we came to office, we [illegible] the country was in a mess. There was growing unemployment, and [illegible] in education was abysmal, and even with this, our people [illegible] have been for a long time, were turned off their work, [illegible] behalf of the people of our neighbouring countries.

The economic slump still has [illegible] to substantial improvement, now seems to be moving behind us, [illegible] and the world are well set for the 1990s.

In my opinion, the prudence of the [illegible] surrounding economy, there are some [illegible] and [illegible] the instability of these commodities dictates [illegible] some of the economic ups and downs of many of the commodity countries. Even countries [illegible] Switzerland, have been [illegible] because [illegible] have no [illegible] base.

The detailed analysis of the Honourable Financial Officer explains the [illegible] of the general economic and their determination to help to keep the good ship [illegible] on an even keel, in spite of [illegible] difficult times. The economy [illegible] the effects of a world recession which started in 1988, and continued through the first half of 1989. We have now recovered to pre-hurricane, and the indications are [illegible] that we can be on the increase, [illegible] we have taken measures to ensure that the benefits will reach the grassroots [illegible].

There has been quite a lot of [illegible] about the increased use machinery, mainly in [illegible] system. A position is even being established, and [illegible] to [illegible] possibility for use of a portion [illegible] in the Public Treasury. Mr. President, there is no money left in the Treasury that can be used [illegible] help us balance the 1990 budget. Discussions will have to [illegible] but to increase taxes is certain chaos. What I would like to see [illegible] of a committee, as a proposal from the opposition, to assist us with this problem. I [illegible] hands as many as [illegible] in this country.

Mr. Chief Minister (continued): When I was speaking with my family here many others passed. And we have not able to do a lot of things we wanted to, because we were by the principle 'if you cannot pay, do not get'. I am unfolding to overcome that principle with this budget. If everybody genuinely feels that they should pay the Government revenue, then we must decide some of the amenities and other things we wanted. Everything, Mr. President, comes money and if we not have it, we cannot supply the services. It is a vicious circle that we do not make.

I am asking the opposition to tell us what sacrifices they propose to give up. Mr. President, we have given the example of our ministers for two years, instead of dealing with the real issues, and the people to reverse this situation, the voters. The problem, Mr. President is simple enough. This is the first time that the people of our Islands have the moral issues of the decision. The facts are, Mr. President, the airline has lost money in leasing money and will continue to lose it. It is the first money has to be taken from our treasury to meet debts of the airline, but there are anywhere more fiscal considerations.

All Caymanians are proud of their national airline, and we want our corporation, but must ask ourselves: to pay for our national pride? The tax cost a half million dollars to the budget for Cayman Airways, amounts to $100.00 a year for every man, woman and child in the Cayman Islands. If this problem just that we decide to keep the service, then they must be prepared to pay for it. We need money to finance the decision. The fundamental question which I want the Legislative Council must first focus for consistency without taking money from the people, is possible for those needs, over and the Government. It is impossible to make any other than the basic and other decisions, as before. If we do, we might find ourselves that laid the golden egg.

The Banking Sector. There has been considerable growth in this area. 55 new bank licenses were granted to individuals from countries across the world in 1979, compared to 17 cases in 1978. This increase is evidence of faith in the political stability of the Cayman Islands, the people and the political stability. We have attempted to concentrate on the development of this sector, and thereby the Cayman Islands into an effective financial centre, comparable with any other such facility in the world. The results of this legislation are mainly taken by the Leader of the Unity Team, the large financial sector of Banks here. I take it as a common experience, because we learn that the economic decision to be made, be responsible for the increased complexities of this country.

Corporate Registration. Despite the most severe publicity, Company Registration has continued to hold its own and considerable satisfactorily to our economy. We must make every effort to see that registration is maintained, to assist in increase the prosperity of our Country.

Insurance. The Insurance business in this area is doing well and we will give careful attention to its contribution to our financial industry as a whole. We feel confident that we could have much expansion in this area, and many efforts are being made to encourage off-shore insurance companies to establish themselves here.

MR. VICE CHAIRMAN (CONSTITUENCY): Thank you. Sunday the Chinese Festival, and another long day, because the beginning of Thursday, most of the hotels have been fully booked for the entire season, which augurs well for the industry. Thanks to the cashcows of our economy, and our financial sector will ensure that the buyers interest remain protected vacation success.

Some years we [illegible] a budget [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MRS. GAFF, CHARLES D. (CONTINUED): Every December 1st in New York, the Salvation Army puts up kettles and they spend every penny of it. In addition to the $200 million Federal grant, New York pays out the sum of $80,000,000.00 which comes from the treasury of the Empire State. Adding a grand total of $280,000,000 spent each year for the eight years. If we divide this $280 million dollars by the total population, that would amount to $1,000.00 for every man, woman and child over the age of twenty-one, or seventy. Mr. President of only $1,500.00 a year. After spending this unbelievable amount of money, believe it or not, we only have two Salvation Armies to show for it. Mr. President, this is where the taxpayers have gotten screwed. They have to pay off Captain Scrooge's bills.

Mr. President, there is a time in every life when one has to reckon with the past, live with the present and plan for the future. This country's days of reckoning came in December, 1941, when the people of these United States learned that they had had enough, and wanted to change the Government of the day because of the disarrangement of the country's affairs. As we know, world events got so twisted we were being threatened by the National Socialists. We should not find ourselves in that predicament. How much is enough, or how much is too costly or excessive. The Administration's bookkeeping was hidden by keeping citizens in the Dark by not publishing, or keeping it as secret as possible, or burying it in Federal documents. The Administration's books were so much gobbledygook, that it has taken us one full year of hard work to bring this figure, which is the Truth, and is more or less an accurate financial picture of the Government.

The Opposition, Mr. President, has never made their misgivings the reasons why some of their Administrations have deliberately misled the people or why the money they wasted, and how many dirty low wretched things they committed under the banner of Democracy, Democracy is dead. It was a pity that not even half the people ever voted, perhaps one out of ten may find the truth when both sides are told. Truth alone will bring us back to life.

We are telling the people this week, today, and have them get all the money which was hidden in various accounts, so that we can go forward with a clean slate.

The Post Office Department, the Honorable Postal Operations Secretary in his Budget Address said this is quite an interesting report. It was not long necessary to increase some charges. I would like to remind this Honorable House that at the beginning of this year, numerous times by me as well as many, many others, we warned that the Postal Service would have to be increased in order to take care of their many responsibilities. Mr. President, I wonder what the problem has to do with.

Queen Anne and Fallen Captain.

The people of Canada have enjoyed a period of full employment since the years when Queen Anne was, and consequently millions of dollars of annual revenue from the sales of liquor. However, they encountered an acute manpower shortage when war broke out, especially when the United States declared its neutrality in 1939, when the United States refused the export of foodstuffs which will be necessary for the maintenance of Queen Anne, Canada's principal export was promptly stopped by Government, which declared the embargoing of this stuff itself, and entered it as the Lend-Lease Act to Britain at the outbreak of the Second. For the first time, farmers and cattle men were able to dump their surplus and purchase

SEN. JOHN MELCHER: I am sure that because there have to more accessible now, they will be included in your program and will be able to easily visit homes, and perhaps educate some of their children to Great Opera, where they will find a whole original for each item on plan, production, presentation and the rest.

The screening up of the Ring of the will undoubtedly attract the foreign language to participate here and help us. Also would acknowledge the generosity and hospitality of our people. However, we have to be very careful, as to what type of entertainment we welcome to our shores. Many people, officials can be misled when one has the best intentions of the Talents, and we have to remember that 'old that glitters is not gold'. Personally, I was impressed by a wonderful musician, who called 'Rainbow' would allow I could receive. So we built the play. I understand he has an entertainment could be released to take place in any area of our great nation. Mr. President, it would really be from this country, but I would welcome relaxing to possibly and unify, these of these and people, and Talents represented by such fabrics of great musicians. I am not critical of anybody, but I am afraid of the entire union of entertainers. As long as I served a Member of Government, I believe that no one will stand be allowed out as incite a hostility to our Talents.

Senator. There was an addition to the Tigard High School, and the workings were also scheduled to appear productions for the night for Tigard Stadium the night before. There was an addition to the Band and Parent Council, which has provided some good and more enjoyment. Incoming music for both performances unique.

We are fortunate that many public and Private Schools include their concert [illegible] activities of Tigard area, and they have contributed to success and improve [illegible] enjoyment. The concert schedule of the Symphony soon to be [illegible] by recently received from Mr. Assistant Principal, Principal of the Tigard High School, which I am pleased to share with you. It reads:

> "For the first time ever, Capital Area has entered television exercise, we have been approached on occasion of private venture without problems and complaints of many families, especially children, young girls and boys, which plagues the system in this kind of occasion. It is a great delight to be able to say that Tigard alone, at last, has approached educational communication, which includes the whole season, and that will eliminate any or the evils."

Mr. General Hoagland has also said that the event may still be the responsibility of the community of the Tigard Stadium facility to Tigard area. We can also, without that work on this project has already started in Tualatin. Mr. President, I, and the people of Tigard area are very grateful to Cable and Western for this demonstrable work already this year, and for the confidence which they have in our Community.

Tigard area Right now Tigard Beauty Homestead the personality society, and established new light point on the south route, and new transmission lines across the State. Inspite of the Economy being under sophisticated, our many other financial investments, it continues to provide a multiple service to the future.

MR. CARR, CONTINUED [DISAPPOINTMENT (CONTINUED)]: the people deserve more than a hastily and incompletely conceived amendment, and it seems too much to expect that there be unanimity in the undertaking of repair. This is a giant step forward for the people of Alaska Senator, as they can now receive their equities in good condition, almost four times the normal payment between the Territory. The key feature will also encourage development for new massive heavy equipment shipments, which were impossible to load before.

Satisfactory progress has been made with the planning of the passages between the west and the shore from a recent Bureau in point of fact. When this passage is completed, it will be possible for small boats to trip overseas ships carrying cargo and goods ashore. It will also be a wise investment for Alaska, by boosting many new marine life ashore to this area.

The pending fiscal provisions for 1960 for Cape Romanzof will be as follows:

(1) A sum of $191,000.00 is to be spent on the Bay" Road.

(2) A portion of the appropriated Bluff Road is to be developed and maintained at a cost of $28,000.00.

(3) At Cape Romanzof, one and a half miles of road is to be semi-sealed at a cost of $121,000.00.

The Navy Authority, in answer further inquiries of the government agencies of Cape Lisburne, will construct a new operating complex of radars. A sum of $250,000.00 is to be used for this project. It is very important that we continue our work as speedily, whether or not we have any present value to measure the amount which can be extracted, and when it is located.

The main project for 1960, Mr. President is the Naval Petroleum Reserve. The site has been cleared, and work will commence on preparing for the building in January. It is hoped that this phase of the project will be completed by April. As soon as the site has been prepared, the construction of the Petroleum Building will be the next phase. The Government has finished all of the plans of architects to submit their proposals for preliminary construction drawings and tender documents. The next step will be to advise for the construction of the building. As the project may be first announced has been met, but it is hoped that work will commence not later than May next year. The entire project should be completed early in 1962.

Mr. President, Government has done its utmost to relieve the unemployment situation, particularly in Nome area, and a sincerely feel that my people appreciate this.

As I have just mentioned, Government's capital work projects for 1960 will relieve the unemployment to help of the Native people.

Mr. President, Public Works Department under the budget Session last year, recommended that the Chief Engineer of Public Works prepare estimates, by paying off all excess labour which had been employed on them. I was told by the Appropriations Members of this Government there that it would be impossible to do this through this year although additional funds from the Finance Committee. Mr. President, the cost of the road section was reduced from $800,000 down to $350 per hour, which resulted in considerable savings. Other areas were also reduced, and approximately $500,000 was saved in the 1959 Budget. For one, Mr. President, we have made the "penny conscious" move. In this case, Government employed Mr. John Attyowuk to carry out a review of the Public Works Department procedures, and advise how best to reorganize it, and make it more efficient. The Report has been accepted in part by Government, and some of the recommendations have already been implemented.

(xi) CAPT. CHARLES E. STEPHENSON (Fredericton): I am glad to hear of the manner in which the department intended the bridge approaches in South Side. I assume the bridge from this Province, that the negotiations will be taken up with the Chief Engineer of Public Works, Ottawa to ensure the views of Government finals, by this Department on the Matter.

The road Programme for Capt Queen for 1966, is as follows:

(i) Shore Construction - $.2 miles of pavement inside the municipal limits will be surface treated with the final application at a cost of $250,000.00.

(ii) 30 miles of pavement inside the municipal limits will be surface treated with a seal coat application at a cost of $450,000.00.

(iii) The mile of road from Woodstock to Shogomoc Lake-Section will be paved as, patched, and surfaced with asphalt pavement at a cost of $120,000.00.

(iv) New Construction - The Perth road, Sheddam Road, Tobique Narrows road will be completed at a cost of $260,000.00.

(v) An access road to the Chocolate Development site will be constructed at a cost of $200,000.00.

(vi) The Perth Andover Road to Knox Bay will be completed at a cost of $70,000.00.

(vii) Construction of Airstrips along the Knox Bay Road to be investigated. If the answer recommended to the Budget is approved by the Finance Committee, the Public Works Department will be able to extend the Airstrips as far as Renous Bridge. We will also have additional knowledge the section of Route #10 will be required

(viii) Traffic Improvement - We will investigate using the application already in use in Europe known as Paint, which does not stand up to the heavy traffic. The cost will be $20,000.00.

(ix) Traffic Lights are to be installed at the Fredericton Junction on Knox Bay, at a cost of $20,000.00.

(x) Traffic Lights will be installed at the junction of Knox Road also when the link road has been completed, at a cost of $20,000.00.

(xi) The road intersection at Grove Road and Regent Street is to be improved and traffic lights installed. The estimated cost $21,000.00.

(xii) Engineering and Development - The Government has acknowledged that we have a Master Drainage Plan that will guide and determine road development Program. It also recognizes that the existing road networks will not be able to cope with the increase in traffic, and that expenditure must be done now. Government has approved the plan, and has allowed the sum of $150,000.00 to be included in the Estimates to carry out this study. The first step will be made of a Time Flow Program taken on the point count and a picture made of the status of the South Side in Grand Point, Knox Bay

MR. MARK ALBERT E. KIRKPATRICK (CONTINUED): After the adoption of President, of 1950, this Budget endeavours to maintain the economy by [illegible] of Capital Projects. It is up approximately 10 per cent over 1949 figures, to $87.4 million. The Estimated revenue indicated a shortfall, so new revenue measures were necessary. The estimated recurrent expenditure is up eight per cent over 1949, namely to $82.1 million of which personal emoluments account for $31.5 million over the other which Government Departments, which is a relatively modest increase. The economy in Tanganyika was severely hit. Previously. However, this Government has felt no reason this year to make plans as to do, which is only the optimum. Mr. President, this might seem an unimaginative way, but Mr. President, this is the only form of Budget taxation which we have in Government, and we have arrived it is that we use in the future with Kenya, for export to this country. This is the explanation, not the answer. The explanation is that we have arrived Budget taxation year after Monday.

Some few package removal will be introduced. Householders will pay Sh.20 instead of Sh.10, but this rate will still account [illegible] per week. The additional is a negative income. In other countries, I am sure, considerable [illegible] so heavily and efficiently.

The cabinet three of our people and Trust Corporation will also [illegible] domestically, and the social [illegible] should assist [illegible] in the off-season [illegible].

Petrol must be raised for [illegible] consideration, and our [illegible] financial [illegible] the increase to eight [illegible] in here to [illegible] other Caribbean [illegible].

While [illegible] have not been placed for the [illegible] Trade [illegible] in [illegible] and [illegible] our [illegible] has [illegible] [illegible], the [illegible] used for [illegible] are at only two [illegible] and [illegible] come a week to [illegible], very reasonable in comparison with other countries.

[illegible] our Customs [illegible] will also [illegible], but these rates have been fixed for the last [illegible] to me, and I do not anticipate any [illegible] today myself. I know the first [illegible] Customs [illegible] has said it would cause undue hardship for the people of the area. However, Mr. President, I am quite sure [illegible] be used so that we will allow them to [illegible] but the [illegible] revenue, so that it will [illegible] to [illegible] for them.

[illegible] Duties on [illegible] and [illegible] will [illegible] [illegible], a modest increase, and [illegible] are still [illegible] with most countries in the world.

Mr. President, I have [illegible] introduced these two [illegible], and I would like to [illegible] now, but, what is [illegible] other countries in the [illegible], [illegible] form of Import Duties, [illegible] can and is [illegible].

As from 1st [illegible], 1951:

(1) Import Duty on the [illegible] [illegible] of gasoline is 2d cents or [illegible]. The import [illegible] is 3d cents on the [illegible] [illegible], bringing it up [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] per gallon. In Kenya [illegible], they have an [illegible] of 2½ cents. In [illegible] it is Sh.1.50 per gallon, in fact [illegible].

In the [illegible]

The import [illegible] on [illegible] and [illegible] - [illegible] is 45 cents, except of 12 cents, plus 2½ per cent of the [illegible]. Duty is on both products is 2.5 per cent of CIF.

MR. EDWARD T. STEVENSON (CONTINUED) Mr. President, the Governor's budget message is long, very technical, and I believe many people have unfavorable views. If the Governor does not increase the tax on gasoline, many citizens normally look at the message as a waste, and they find that the Governor is long for use. Most, because one is not sure what he is doing always or other committees, they immediately say that there is an area which they can increase, and they do not want to work to avoid. This is because this Government has been making a new start, by allowing that building does not go ahead, which would become an old person of generation. It will avoid the purpose of use, because one should learn. This is not so, Mr. President.

Those businesses are necessary if we are to go on with our economy, the responsibility which is expected, ... Most municipal projects to improve the standard of living of all our people.

Personally, we are very disturbed with [illegible] tax, corporation tax, product tax, property [illegible] of the given base on income and property which are presented to the Members of other committees. We are asking the most fortunate in the world, to start to provide our great needs, and not [illegible] necessities, how it can be spent, whether new departments [illegible] any event. We are the only of the free world in such a hurry.

The current budget was [illegible] prepared after a great deal of research and preparation. The various increases should not be burdensome to anyone, and the increase should greatly benefit everyone in the Lower Colorado. The future development of our Colorado River is assured.

Mr. President, with these few words, I move the adoption of the Appropriation Bill, [illegible]

MR. PRESIDENT: I order the bill now under the second reading basis, and I will therefore suspend proceedings for approximately fifteen minutes.

AT 11:15 A.M. THE HOUSE RECESSED

HOUSE RESUMED AT 11:30 A.M.

MR. PRESIDENT: Please be seated. The Appropriation Bill, Senator Rawlings [illegible] Does any other Member wish to speak? If no Member does ... the Second Reading for that Bill.

MR. R. ROGERS STOUT: Mr. President, I would like to have my consent of certain bills [illegible] I am only left the House on 41 of the Budget.

Mr. President and Honorable Members of this Legislature, I thank God that I am this second occasion can rise and make a contribution on the events of our National affairs.

Briefly, I will say a word of thanks to our Clerk, Ken Bundy and for the noble [illegible] for their help [illegible] and kindness over the past year. I [illegible] to pay a word of appreciation to the Sergeant-at-Arms for their [illegible] in this past year. Mr. President, I want also to pay [illegible] to the Secretary of the Senate, Miss [illegible] of the Budget. Once again a vital, excellent piece of work, however, I have to add, I have my disagreements with some of the conclusions.

Mr. F. MANTICA NISU (Commissioner): Mr. President, I have only a brief comment to make. In my opinion, we never had time to be bipartisan. One of this year's problems is the problem of the last Government, which never wanted to have the opposition's input on the allocation of public funds. Mr. President, also to my colleagues' propaganda, this year's Budget is not the only Budget for one and a half years. Much more recently, I would say, than the overdue Budget, which took my first year here of sojourning to me, because of certain statements made over a period of months.

Mr. President, if we have $15,000,000 in the bank, and we have issues amounting $15,000,000, we have problems if we have $10,000,000 in a bank, and we need to borrow $15,000,000 to run the problems of this Cayman Islands Government in November of 2004. When the new Government took over the running of the Country, and assumed the Bank holding, there were an awful lot of hard things, and Government to assist everybody some of them. I only trust that we are moving in the end of these problems.

We have a very right financial position. We found a situation where the only source Government had was personal income tax. We took over the running of the country with a set of unworkable floating short-term, and unrealistic assumptions. We identified a weakness in personal expenditure tax, like Hurricane Ivan, which have given rise to such concern. The client, and must be examined more carefully. We implemented a number of public bills of $12,027,264.00, ranging from the Issue Building Bonds to Public Motor Vehicle Licensing Fees, and other issues of $1,791,833.00 which were aimed to be self financing. A total loss collection for the year of 2003 of $10,000,000.00. Mr. President, it was hoped that collection of $7,283,882.00 at the end of 2003. However, apart from the income from the Motor Vehicle Fees of $2,220,818.72 in January of total revenue of $6,698,882.72 at the end of 1983. Had there, also, an income of 1003 since we found the process fees of Cayman Airways a total of $2,893,000.00. It also the service vehicles of Government at this time, which should not be disposed, that Government was looking at the $2,800,882.00 and estimate to meet the total higher Airways capital bills, which were guaranteed by Government, amounting to $5,000,000.00 and we are short at the end of June, the Cayman Islands Government was in a borrowed position of $2,977,079.32, at end of the 2003 position, which has not Government finalized, we have $10,208,189.37 in fresh. Cayman Airways, which in fact paid to Government about, had total capital bills of $2,289,000.00 which required immediate payment. Bills which the Government had to pay, which all of us had to pay, which overdraft in the Cayman Islands had to pay, and Government only paid $2,800,000 of the money which. What I mentioned, may be in - fact income, the circumstances of this period could make the position at the end of June this year. Fact income, the Government was left to finish some and have after the Hurricane Ivan, and reconstruct of the difficulty of the country, and all the other allocated requirements.

Lastly, would, Mr. President, I am happy to note in the Order Paper Address that after June 6 there will be Ministerial, that a little Christmas Beginning to what we are in of the Budget. There needs to be personal responsibility by Members to make public statements, and avoid unnecessary criticism. All of this is detrimental to the good name of the Cayman Islands, more like, while the country needs the Caymanian Dollar, but, Mr. President, I hope that we will have a confidence in our political stability, which is important.

Mr. X. Herrera Rios (continued): I am also expressing disagreement to the decision of the Honduras who walked out of this honourable house last week. Mr. President, I am wondering if they really understand the role of a responsible opposition. I believe sir, and I emphasize that the Honduras has decided to remain as a chair for debate. I have often heard the First Elected Member from Corozal Town and the Second Elected Member from Belize Town and the Second Elected Member speaking with Honduras, and on the public platform, and words of their mouth in debating. I am wondering now, why they did not walkout from here last week. The fact, Mr. President, in my opinion, was not only ridiculous, but an insult to the Honourable House, and an abrogation of their responsibility to the people who elected them to come here and talk. Because supporters of that country may not realize the length of the speeches, this is what we have to do.

With the walkout, came the threat to take the debate into the streets. Now, in my opinion, this was a contemptible ploy. This was done so much when Parliament was created, but also the First Elected Member from Belize Town and Corozal Town last week, and that before he could debate, he must first clear himself with his electors. Sir, only the electors should try this case and decide whether we are fulfilling the duties which were entrusted to this Country, with the public meetings and demonstrations during time and type.

Mr. President, I cannot agree with any action, but as for the First Member, I can assure all that I will not stand idly by with a dagger in my throat, this is our responsibility, this is unlawful and chaos, which must not be allowed in... in this Country.

Mr. President, if we want to... implement the people of this Country, as we are saying, although I... think this is what some people want, this is not the responsible approach. I believe Sir, and I emphasize that Honduras has decided to remain as a chair for debate... I have often heard the First Elected Member from Corozal Town and the Second Elected Member from Belize Town and the Second Elected Member speaking with Honduras, and on the public platform, and words of their mouth in debating. I am wondering now, why they did not walkout from here last week. The fact, Mr. President, in my opinion, was not only ridiculous, but an insult to the Honourable House, and an abrogation of their responsibility to the people who elected them to come here and talk. Because supporters of that country may not realize the length of the speeches, this is what we have to do.

With the walkout, came the threat to take the debate into the streets. Now, in my opinion, this was a contemptible ploy. This was done so much when Parliament was created, but also the First Elected Member from Belize Town and Corozal Town last week, and that before he could debate, he must first clear himself with his electors. Sir, only the electors should try this case and decide whether we are fulfilling the duties which were entrusted to this Country, with the public meetings and demonstrations during time and type.

Mr. President, I cannot agree with any action, but as for the First Member, I can assure all that I will not stand idly by with a dagger in my throat, this is our responsibility, this is unlawful and chaos, which must not be allowed in... in this Country.

Mr. President, if we want to implement the people of this Country, as we are saying, although I... think this is what some people want, this is not the responsible approach. During the March meeting, the First Elected Member from Belize Town spoke for this House for two hours. Monday last week, he disappeared and was not here to debate until he heard last week, possibly what was been done in his absence. Well, what does he expect of this country, this is should also have the confidence and faith in him, which he gave yesterday around the United States, looking for God knows what. Can we represent our people like this? That are we supposed to do, those of us, the Members who are here at every session. Even Mr. President, if the four are walked out, pretended to oppose Constitutional Meetings on the Revision of the Electoral System, not even one. Mr. President, I was there all the time, and emphasized to [illegible] that procedural recommendations which that the voters have on Friday. This is the way to represent our people. I am asking him then, but can they stand what went on, and that they stand here and fight, or even just the fact we the ballot electorate is to explain to the Belize people, because I think they are not prepared if the meeting to represent them and feel their thoughts [illegible].

Mr. President, if Government has a majority, and it should not be a Government without a majority, then the Opposition ought to take their own rights as which they were in the Government Bench. The only difference is that when they were in the Government Bench, they had people that they could rely upon. In the House. The new Government is not in that position, and I will not be able to... The new Government has had some serious [illegible] which is done, and I should say, not from the Members who walked out, so have now [illegible] from the Elected Member for North Belize. and the Second Elected Member of North Belize but I will get to that.

Mr. Kombo (Zambia): I will tell you, and then you also will be enlightened by the explanation, as such then automatically, this will come with the Government benefit. Mr. President, I do not know whether the Independence, I am talking about the Opposition.

The second point was, Mr. President, there has been a question of the economy. One of the reasons for that problem in my opinion, was the involvement of Members of the Unity Government in business transactions which gave rise to the lowering of the high standards for which this country once the pride, had almost a reputation. I regret personally to have to say one sentence on the Hon. Simon Kapwepwe. I implore him also to unify the two factions, now I just learn that there are more factions. A third faction is unthinkable. When a business is taken by Zambia, Member of Government become instant partners, some people lawyers, to raise a fuss of corruption by Hon. Simon, an old lady, to struggle within the judicial system for her rights. The answer to my question on this Assembly, Simon was quite unaware as what this lady, an innocent man open enough, required was justice to which she is entitled. Sir, these are the things which destroy confidence in this Country, and in any Government.

Mr. President, the two remarks of the Hon. Elected Member from Fort Jameson to begin his debate on the NARDC Agreement only serve to underline what I believe to be his personal problem, which is unexplained. Now, if he truly claim that this Union Agreement Cost Government funds one day, so the next. In the first place, this Member did not even try to explain how he arrived at the NARDC Agreement negotiations as taking off on his own business, and the second Elected Member did not go further, he went somewhere else.

Mr. J. MALI KOMBA: Sir, a Point of Order, Mr. President, this Member misunderstands the Hons. I have never asked or intimated to go to Israel on the NARDC Agreement, and he should have responsibility for his facts. He misinforms....

Mr. Speaker: The point is taken, I am not think it. Probably could you state a member of the Opposition, but while he will create have confused it, only he should make clear what you were not.

Mr. J. MALUMBA KUNDA: Mr. President, I did not say he was unpatriotic. In my opinion, we might have had a union relationship, and this is my opinion.

Now, the point I want to make very clear today is that the Hon. Elected Member from Petauke just now insulting the South Korea that work which he spoke of, may that the Korean government and the NARDC trade that was contributed to the study of the economy, which began long before that party started.

It is true Sir, that we have had it Hon. Back Lusaka appointments this year, but this is not withstanding of the fairly added in financial terms for this new Government. It has nothing to do with the Unity Party's administration. Now even they claim, we take credit for everything taken into their office they have except out of office, and especially things which made the economy decline during these years of the office. However Mr. Speaker Sir, there is a fact which is to be enlightened here that the NARDC Agreement and the Korean Trade Mission. What we have to consider is these points in this Agreement, or work programme that South Korea will carry out in this country, which made it almost impossible for a Member for Eastern Province to the United States without making a Submission to appear before the United Nations Secretary-

MR. K. MARKIN (Hay River) (continued): Because of this fact, human values must be at the forefront of our thoughts, and we, members of this Assembly, must be very concerned that the constitutional process being negotiated, sometimes very slowly, is a constitution that all Dene Nation, and indeed, the majority of people in the Northwest Territories, can support. This, as I understand it, is the spirit of the agreement in principle that was signed by the Dene Nation and the Government of Canada. We, as members of this Assembly, must have faith in the good faith of the parties to the negotiations. I do not believe that there was much good faith on the Dene's part when they signed the agreement in principle, but that is my opinion. The Dene Nation must have known back then that the Indian people could not in good conscience go to the provincial courts of Canada, and they wanted to be included in decisions. Why, the Manitoba people and the Metis Nation Government have been included right from the beginning, which proves my point. Why did they do that? Why did they not go back to the Dene and say, "Look, we have to be included in the negotiating here and we're ready for Confederation negotiations." This is why the demonstration happened in front of the House. Consequently, Mr. Speaker, this is the kind of thing that we, as people here in the Legislature, must work through, and I am sure that we people here in the Legislature, and will not permit Ottawa to dictate to us what they have had by the previous administration.

Mr. Speaker, as I was saying, I am happy to have had the privilege that the members of Hay River have given me of the possession of the seat that we have. Every year, Mr. Speaker, we need to find ways and means of doing our utmost to improve our relationship with the Government of Canada and the people of Ottawa, who come back to our home town. Mr. Speaker, in my maiden speech, I am trying to emphasize the importance of our people, of the people of Hay River, and I am sure that we can do that in the long run, as well as the short range, for the betterment of our people. Mr. Speaker, I would like to congratulate the Member for Yellowknife North, Mr. Pedersen, and his colleagues, for their victory in the last election. I would also like to congratulate the Member for Yellowknife South, Mr. Butters, and his colleagues, for their victory in the last election. I would also like to congratulate the Member for Yellowknife West, Mr. Taylor, and his colleagues, for their victory in the last election.

I do not think that I am a representative of the people will always be able to please everyone. Some will criticize, no matter what I say, but I must always try to ensure that whatever we do here in the long run, we will be the best for the interests of our people. This, Mr. Speaker, is why earlier this year I brought the Minister for Local Government, Mr. Butters, and his colleagues, to the Legislature to discuss with Government of Yellowknife Council. Mr. Speaker, I also wanted to express the sensitivity of our people in Hay River, especially in the area of the Metis Nation, to help prepare them to cope with their responsibilities.

Mr. Speaker, today most of the working people are living a relatively good life, despite the high cost of living. The average man with good employment can provide a lot of nice toys for his family. He can provide and look after his own. He can provide school lunch for his children. Mr. Speaker, if we can keep our children alive in their teens and they can come up with three or four years' education, or a Government of Canada training course that they get some kind of financial help to continue their education, to be able to find a decent place in the workforce in this country. All these things are good for, and they should be, and are today contributing to our people today. But then, why take them to the end of their working days? We've all been, I'm certainly grateful for Canada Pension Plan, and I'm sure that Members present in Hansard tonight have been, Local Government employees, grateful to the Government. Even more so for me as I was flabbergasted with me, and I felt highly about this fact, but I was attracted to this Assembly by my principle, to make them and to fight hard on the basis of this decision, despite the opposition of some present members from their constituencies.

. . . . Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not wish to delay the House for very long, but I do feel that I must say a few words in this debate. I have been a Member of this House for a number of years and I have always tried to be fair to the Government and to the Opposition. I have never been afraid to criticize the Government when I thought it was necessary to do so, but I have also tried to be fair to the Government and to the Opposition. I have never been afraid to criticize the Government when I thought it was necessary to do so, but I have also tried to be fair to the Government and to the Opposition.

. . . . Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not wish to delay the House for very long, but I do feel that I must say a few words in this debate. I have been a Member of this House for a number of years and I have always

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. Chairman, this is something which needs to be done, for how that can possibly be misunderstood and how a chance to get a good explanation. I believe also, sir, that there should be some sort of gift from these employees, which could in some manner afford some appreciation over these children. I believe, that the cost of this would be all the way from the contributions ... employee which is one dollar, if necessary. Mr. President, I believe the money can be raised by Government being provided for specific, and I will also get in this letter ...

The Government, Mr. President is ... every small expression of the appreciation extent on these children. The cost of sending back the entire problem as a temporary basis, as to be more, of course impossible, and to further ignore it, only increase this impossibility.

MR. W. HARRIS (Scarborough): Mr. President, why will this Minister close Riverdale Collegiate? Mr. President, we have not lost one dime, and they are expanding. It is not as if Government has frozen their budget programs. So why will this Minister close the Riverdale Business Education? They claim on the Board that they have Commerce to get jobs, and when they close the jobs in Commerce it is sure that there are not going to get any jobs, because they are Business that are opposed to this family, why? Ask Metchosin, Mr. President, this is what it is.

MR. G. MCCLEAN: On a Point of Order, Mr. President. In the Legislature yesterday, Mr. Speaker, I brought this matter to your attention, there are multiple cuts in the Education. They were minor modifications for this year.

MR. SPEAKER: The Member must not debate the Estimates. I would be remiss if I did not remind the Honourable Minister that he is responsible, Hon. Member.....

MR. W. HARRIS (Scarborough): Yes, Mr. President, it was not a question.

MR. SPEAKER: It was a question.....

MR. W. HARRIS (Scarborough): It was a rhetorical question, which was noted, which indicated that they only applied for additional courses in this Province, and the Metro Board. We have closing Commercial Business courses, except the Riverdale School.

MR. PHILLIPS: Mr. Speaker, I think it is probably a suitable moment having interrupted proceedings, to break for lunch. I will suggest proceedings until approximately two fifteen.

AT 12:45 P.M. THE HOUSE RECESSED

UPON RESUMING AT 2:15 P.M.

MR. SPEAKER: Please be seated.

Second Clerical Review for Hon. Hon. Continuation of the Second Reading Debate on the Appropriation Bill.

MR. W. HARRIS (Scarborough): Mr. President, when we took the break I was speaking with Social Services. I will go on Sir, to say somebody should say thanks and Hon. Members, I am proud to be a Legislature, and I have great pride in my heritage. Mr. President, I am a citizen of this Province. I have no fewer than of any religion. I have no place to go, to say I am ashamed to be this country, and this is why when I speak with people say that I am ethnically a British but not local, but Mr. President, it is the way I feel. When I die, I want my bones will rest here where thousands of my ancestors have left there with generations. I am wondering Sir, how many of our people are paying attention to the heritage left to us by our forefathers. I am sometimes that our young children in the schools are being taught seriously of the Canada Islands, and I would encourage all persons not to let their children forget where we remain.

MR. X. MARSHALL RUSH [CONTINUING]: Mr. President, this village knight I must [illegible] longer than superscribed by one of our own Oglesbians Mr. Donald Marshall, who at this point yesterday [illegible] Mr. Speaker, [illegible] I was satisfied to a great extent when I observed this valiant [illegible] ...and I would be just as content a week of Ozarks and encouragement [illegible] of our own. I just as a Government we must encourage and [illegible] we have to help our people in Washington [illegible] Mr. President, our economic [illegible] problems and [illegible] Ozarks and [illegible] economy of these enterprises both on land and on [illegible] Many and one person also like the Children of Israel, to establish a [illegible] Mike Monroney and Mr. President have to pursue a concept throughout the country with a common system of [illegible] and good [illegible] [illegible] as many alternate avenues. The fifth [illegible] would [illegible] that [illegible] and they should be more [illegible] of our [illegible] [illegible] I have given them. For this, I have confidence in them, and I give [illegible] today for their general [illegible] of our forefathers, and for their [illegible] for [illegible] for the [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

.... M. McKEEVA also 'congratulated' Mr. President, I have (in, that there ... some considerable hardship being suffered, but do have to ... reduced in those areas, and would do all things possible ... assistance could be given in the matter. However, there can ... sense of envy who could go along for little other than a change ... the end of the month. Mr. President, I believe this has come ... very pressing need to be done at the hospital. I am sure that ... will be taken with just cause when the new Administration and ... Cayman Islands Government is known. Mr. President, I speak ... but I am willing to give the Government the chance ... to see what will be done next year.

The budget has an expenditure ... estimates of $7,209,881.00. This 40% is an increase over the previous ... For Lady I am specially because education is something which ... people must benefit today. It is the key to our future, and I trust ... the extra funds will be spent wisely. As spokesman for ... I support the Government in their 'C' Level scheme. Think ... the children are passing into secondary at 'C' level. Only ... to find that large percentage of our children who, for various ... cannot afford a standard which could even get on 'C' level ... education. I am sure these children must be a concern to the ... body of them left behind because of conditions in their homes, ... the whole environment. Mr. President, it was for this reason, ... I said earlier that I would like to see Grand Cayman, ... Brac and Little Cayman, that at the end of that period, he will ... be able to ... for 'C' level examination. Would be nice to believe ... explain during those years, was planned to have learning ... which they were capable of doing. I believe this is what the ... system is all about. Mr. President, I support ... Mr. Speaker of the Community College, to bring about an effective ... Education System. While we will not always ... but ... ...

Mr. X. Madam Vice Chairman: Mr. President, we have many concerns [illegible] to get a relief for Indonesia, and this is good. We need some of that, but I am one who believes that stable exchange rates should be the mainstay of our trading, and at the same time [illegible] which might not be beneficial to the development of this country. I look at the experience of some of the developing countries of the Mediterranean [illegible] the disadvantaging fall when they maintain a system [illegible] they have established, and what [illegible] in this country to [illegible] a discouraging change of the national income, and since the Bank Indonesia banking became oil boom, [illegible] [illegible] financial profitability, a deficiency of the [illegible] the human and technical sense, in whatever way this [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible], to which [illegible] social theory. For [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Mr. Ambassador (continuing): The high cost of these services, Mr. President, is one thing which discourages many people from a regular visit or a vacation. I feel that we have to look seriously at this issue, or else the prospects for growth in tourism will be very limited. Mr. President, I feel that a good promotion is one key issue, and I am hoping that the hotels and the restaurants, the travel agencies, the banks, all the other sectors, I am looking that they also take care in promoting this country. There are one of the enhancements to this country. Mr. President, I feel that getting more people to these islands would help us to have a longer number of tourists nearby, I can guess. Mr. President the proof of the pudding is in the eating, as the saying goes in the UK, eighteen months ago, or the last time I spoke in the Assembly, and he is the one who is doing the debate, and he is the one who is doing the debate, and he must have his problems. When I started there in June, because of major maintenance problems and installations, when a tourist comes here he wants to know that he can be guaranteed a good operation. So I feel, the more tourist agencies that come in there always and see for themselves these islands, and see for themselves the type of accommodation we have, and see what is for themselves the kind of local food we serve, the better off we will be.

Ambassador Lechner Mr. President, as one of the very important aspects of the tourist industry, and it is a growing part of this industry. I am happy to note that this must be the year in our history, with 22 per cent, or 80,000 people more than 1984. Mr. President also to a very significant increase. Mr. President, the Member and his party must be doing something right. These parameters relate only partly to the islands of a population, if I have I must that are getting the flow of tourists that arrive as passengers of the ports to make them want to return for a longer vacation. Mr. President, one of the most important of hospitality and attracting visitors to these Islands is the individual people. I do not believe that one minor single presentment? effect can unmotivate a large a block of unfriendly, to the dedicated great ones. Furthermore, to please a guest is wonderful, will enhance the morale of everyone, especially for the smile at the airport. I believe, however, that we must try to find out Mr. President, what are the particular emphasis of guests, or people that we might learn to what particular way to own satisfy our people, our tourists most to. We have made often of different things, and also to create various things that we have to contact with these who come our tourists. We also sometimes poor service to have very low pay, have also never to my knowledge, been a study of any kind to determine to what ways we can be of better service. So I would like to see a survey how to determine the particular magnitude of guests, as they enter Palau, to order to ascertain what we must do to satisfy these tourists more, to order that they might bring more people to the Pacific Islands as visitors.

Our young pioneers who leaves the United States and Asia whose country and Pacific Islands like I am sure there are 25 persons or less who that person was really here, and who still creates work also of trip to Asia. If he returned back to them information that he had a wonderful time in the Pacific Islands, then Mr. President, if such work visitors who leaves these Islands be able to entertain our people to come here, our tourist to our shores. There is no doubt about it, sometimes some unknown, but people must go down low to work, to become a very people other destinations, and they come of keeping our tourists busy when they come. Mr. Mr. President, some people come here for peace and quiet, but for those who want to have something to do, whether it is here on the beach, or there is enough of entertainment.

Mr. K. NAYYAR ALI KHAN (Uttar Pradesh): Mr. President, I rise to take part in the General Debate. Mr. President, I regret very much that we are not being represented in accordance with the agreed formula. I submit Mr. President, it is not fair to us. We have fifty members, and have the same type of seats which do you have allotted to Pakistan. We wanted to have equality with Pakistan, those who are for this purpose, and I am speaking specifically of the Congress people which come here. They come here, they spend a lot of money to come, and of they are going to find what they left in here, that they are not going to be welcomed by this country, and we are going to tell people that they should come here for a vacation.

Mr. President, I would like to offer another suggestion. While we have Pakistan Week, I believe sir, Mr. President could have something like Jamaica Week. We should invite players and the cricket minded in this country, so that this event will be held in the Islands, and soon one will find that what the players come back here, the Englishmen, cricket people will find there was oil and also it will become an established week with a couple of people coming here. They can still have their interests of the Islands which they will pass on to other people.

Sir, I am one of the members of Uttar Pradesh. I do not want to make any remarks, but I do want to say something, one of the most reasonable, the agriculture, the cattle wealth, which we are proud of. Mr. President, Sir, I support the Motion of Thanks on the Address by the President.

Mr. President, I was just going to mention of our foreign relations in passing. Mr. President, Sir, I am very happy to see the Soviet Union's most recent victory in Vietnam and our friendly relations will be in the region of more mutual people. Mr. President, I have to ask the question, what opportunities will we have for ourselves? The Soviet industry in the Russian land have very little to make to attractive for ourselves to invest a penny in the Soviet industry. Let us face the facts, and we can look at the Soviet and there is the problem now. It has been here over ten years, and yet the Government are very involved to be friendly to other developing countries. This is not a good record Mr. President, it is not a good record. With the new Soviet coming in five year plan, I am worried whether we can provide our country to benefit, to whether we can have opportunities between for a Russian friendship there. Sir, in order to maintain a Government, we have certain minimum wages, incentives. As in normal today, there are people, there are not still, un-known certainly, programmes which would give employment to people a chance to develop their talents, and also I propose to encourage students of their skill who might have the potentials for higher education. There there might be the people who are sent abroad for further training. But if there is no technical incentive programme, it is like our Government more about and put top managerial positions in the Soviet industry. When one considers Mr. President, that we have a Minister of Trade who has not even received one single Cooperator in the five years time. What else can you expect from the Soviet? Mr. President, I too will be happy more if any group for the Soviet Committee. I might as well put it on record, I will not be supporting the motion.

MR. MORRIS WOOD (CONTINUED): I would say this, that of the suggested definition of this word, to most people in one of the primary purposes of speech as a publication to illuminate the public answers which are of concern to our communities, and I believe also that by the narrow application of my question I should declare a conflict of interest and be excluded from the proceedings. Mr. Speaker, this is not the subject we, some of us, should base out of consideration the position of our people. But if we do not speak about it, and I, myself as Chairman of the Committee, and the application of the situation, we are not going to get answers. This is why I have to speak on this.

MR. SPEAKER: I wonder whether the Member would be willing to table his motion? I think we might be given the proper time, and the application of the situation, we are not going to get answers.

AT 5:55 P.M. THE HOUSE RECESSED

AFTER RECESS AT 7:30 P.M.

MR. SPEAKER: Please be seated.
The Second Private Member's Motion for the day, Consideration of the Second Reading Debate on the Appropriations Bill.

HON. R. MICHAEL DYSON: Mr. Speaker, there are a few comments which I have made on the Third Question, which have to do with the definition of the problem. Why do we have such a problem that people are speaking now besides the Third Question? Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to exaggerate the case, I just remind myself, you know, and we must not only reflect on them.

I am obliged to say from the information given to me, as well as my own observation, one of the problems is, that some of our people are denied promotion and they leave for greener fields. I would say, and I am saying this from the bottom of my heart, I believe you can take a person, whether you discipline him in a case of safety control. Mr. Speaker and this is the question that person will say "the nothing thing is bothering me, sir, the difference between where I am in the Civil Service and the private sector is rewarding me, yes, but responsibilities associated I don't see my boss or these things and those because I find the participation is helpful to build up creativity". But, if one finds that some person has come here as several days during 24 hour disturbances, and one finds that once week of him, and one knows him with enormous control of things and the responsibility of his home that for me is a business to do.
We say for the people to pay "keep it, I do not want it, give it to the outside because I am getting nowhere. I don't get to do responsible things I am". I believe this is one of the dangers facing the Service right now. There is some trouble, and I know of these things to be accurate. There are many big things and some little things which are seen a burden to me. Mr. Speaker, I have a suggestion, and I do not like to see people get out of what is clearly theirs. But, I am asking this question, why is it necessary to pay out money to them of hours to some people, when others, if this amount was shared between them they have it and do not get the payment?

Mr. MEDICAL STAFF CONSULTANTS: Mr. President, this is not eligible for a service contract. Another example, one that is a glaring case - Consultants -- I will not besought here to specifically point out Consultants. Well, Mr. President, I want to put on the Record a few that have for two years, for whatever reason, been receiving exorbitant consultant, we have some nice young people, who are really dynamic who the Indiana Department, they are doing a good job. I know how many of you are involved in corporations or farms, or in business of one county of the Indiana Department that I met the question, why are the Medical Staff that we do have there. This is a very important area, and I am going to read these Mr. Richard Brooks, Mr. Harlan Prosser and Mr. Herring for many reasons. One of which I am sure the most people is losing recruit for the VA's. I do not know the accidents, if the Department needs this area. I think we will be here to Monday that our meeting. If we really serious for Psychology Doctor to join them I guess, these Eligible young men who have already had some training in Psychology become the mental of the nation, and then become other Psychologist. Mr. President, this is what I am to be there. Why certain circumstances have taken which we might not agree. I am saying maybe that I will only be suggesting six months salary for this man in the Division Consultant.

Mr. President, consequences of our incompetence in property, until we have it, we have to reconcile them. I ask for many more young Psychologist working the Service, from the Veterans Department too, and I am talking of those who not specifically trained by Psychologists within the Civil Service, or in this Country.

Mr. President, getting back the Chief Items to find out for why Psychologist will not get the greatest consideration in the State. Mr. President, we are talking our people to keep the Hoosiers going. I was sure there in this Indiana would be out. Mr. President, I was in the Indiana Legislature and participated in the Veterans Home, or the one for the Tuberculosis Home. I will not be explaining anything else, because I feel that by doing one job, and to be done, the budget became it out to that amount, so these that were responsible be called, or that we have asked them to help them here. And we feel that $27,000.00 is another area.

Mr. President. I want again ask my colleague the Finance Member for Lake County, who was why is it necessary to pay Doctors in this of private practice. What can be only $16,000.00 Mr. President, if they are Board Certified Psychiatrist, and they were brought here to be the Veterans, and they would be paid for private practice. Now I am not saying that Lake County should not, but I am saying that for years, that Indiana would not pay Psychiatrist, and then based the other Departments. Mr. President, this is what I am to be there. Why certain circumstances have taken which we might not agree. I am saying maybe that I will only be suggesting six months salary for this man in the Division Consultant.

MR. R. MORGAN ASBURY (CONTINUING): Mr. President, I am the most that has a conscience! I am not taking personal with anyone. I do not mind anyone if just that I am being persecuted, that I might be looking at things the way I see them. And my way one of this country, and I would appreciate - that your judgment according to your vision.

Now, Mr. President, I have always been opposed to an extra session of [illegible] year upon. I was again knowing [illegible] budget, $1,821,350.00. Now Mr. President, I for one do not want that we should have people coming to this Country, and then we [illegible] care of them, even we must them. If we are going to [illegible] that have we will have to take care of them. But, I understand that half of this figure will be coming back to Government. But I have [illegible] Sir, that we are coming out too much of this area.

Now Mr. President, the Bills are now [illegible] subjects, on the Governor's address, and I have received so many [illegible] from the Bills that I can just say a few words, Mr. President, it must be unanimously for this Country to appreciate your [illegible]. I heard Bill here the other day about bringing in those [illegible]. Mr. President, as I remember by this one [illegible] suggested by the previous Governor, now the president [illegible] gave a few exceptions from my remarks. Talk of Police [illegible], and I think not ever able to make it a while the volunteer [illegible], but as I have said, this is where we [illegible] and where there [illegible]. Speak of Police [illegible] in no case, Mr. President, one case over a penny fine, or [illegible]. I believe that during this going part, and the Senator took exception to it, and Mr. President.....,

MR. RICHARD J. GUZMAN: Mr. President Sir, as a Point of Order. I hope I could be excused by the Honorable Senator that he be not [illegible] to cause him or still [illegible].

MR. R. MORGAN ASBURY: Mr. President, I cannot answer him of that, because I do not know what he is talking about.

MR. GRIFFITH: Could the Senator agree to just not [illegible] those two bills [illegible]. ?

MR. R. MORGAN ASBURY: No, Mr. President, I only will understand the [illegible] I am saying I do not have of any case before the court.

MR. GRIFFITH: Is you positively sure that those cases [illegible] are not in the [illegible] of prosecution to be [illegible]. In other words, have any complaints been made to the police or [illegible] the [illegible] you are speaking, and any [illegible] investigation with a view to bring prosecution.

MR. R. MORGAN ASBURY: Mr. President, I do not know.

MR. GRIFFITH: Well in that case, you are correct not [illegible].

MR. R. MORGAN ASBURY: Well, if I can be excused here that Mr. [illegible] before the court. I do not think like as a Member I should be [illegible] anything about a subject, unless I can be told for certain that they subject is definitely before the court, not a [illegible] one day. If you can tell me, or the Honorable Attorney General can assure me that this case is before the court, or I mean is before the court, I will desist attending to your advice, but I do not feel it is fair [illegible] will be to stop talking about something which I do not know if it is before the court or not.

MR. PRESIDING: [illegible] the Member himself to [illegible]. The necessary expenditure to satisfy himself, before he raises [illegible] matter of this kind in the House, whether or not it is [illegible] matter will be sub judice not only if it is already before the courts, but if it is reasonably likely that there will be court proceedings. In other words, if a complaint has been made to the Police and the Police are investigating that matter, or where [illegible] by a court as sub judice. If no complaint has been made to the Police, that is another matter.

MR. K. MAKOKHA SUNA: Mr. President, Sir, do not have if there is a rule before the court or not, and according to what you are saying I will abide by those rules. However, just as any [illegible] House that once hear gossip, evil whispers, by them I will have had this matter elsewhere and, and then I will be able to speak [illegible] on the subject from this Parliament.

Mr. President, as I have said, every time I raise a matter concerning the Police, I am sure it get [illegible]. Lastly, Mr. President Sir, my point is [illegible].

I believe I will come back to my [illegible]. Mr. President, as you know, Wear Bay is a large [illegible] with many residents, and as a representative I have been saying so [illegible] I call for the settlement of the squatters, along with my two other colleagues. While Mr. President, I am not entirely happy with what we have accomplished, I am grateful for what Government has done so far in the construction of more [illegible] this past year. Mr. President, we planted [illegible] these were [illegible] which had been promised, but have never come. Mr. President [illegible] the past year we completed [illegible] roads, Jomvu [illegible] Mikindani [illegible] Mombasa [illegible] Kisauni [illegible] Mwakirunge [illegible] Mtwapa [illegible] Kikambala [illegible] Kanamai [illegible] Kilifi

Mr. [illegible] Mr. President, I am [illegible] the post [illegible] and the rest [illegible] to [illegible]. Mr. President, if they are not getting attention, I feel that they should be getting it [illegible]. Are they not like any other Government? They pay [illegible] Post Office over I [illegible] the same time [illegible] the Hoge Post Office, and I feel that [illegible], if they are not [illegible]. I will do everything in my power, and I am sure that the other colleagues will be working [illegible] to see to it that we [illegible].

Mr. President, [illegible] with my [illegible], I have a lot of praise for the Kansas Rural Carriers. Mr. President, there had been some doubt as to whether the [illegible] Conference would get off this year, but I am happy to say that our Chairman, Mr. Galbraith Bathgate and his Committee, met in a very [illegible] Conference, also [illegible] with Mr. [illegible]. A successful job. Mr. President at the end of the day, they had a backlog of some [illegible] which we need to get started. So I feel personally that I can say this with the best Rural [illegible] in the history of Kansas Rural.

Mr. President, I am happy to see that our new [illegible] is placed on our [illegible] and our [illegible]. Mr. President, I [illegible] I believe to establish a [illegible] Village on most [illegible]. It was withdrawn, but I am glad to see that the Senate must [illegible] to [illegible]. They are a [illegible] of young men [illegible]. They [illegible] interested, and I thank them [illegible] Legislature will, at this time [illegible], take [illegible] consideration.

Mr. President, as I have said, [illegible] work with [illegible] in this Legislature, but hopefully [illegible] with the rest of the State [illegible], I feel that [illegible] to get [illegible] we should be [illegible] Chiefs of [illegible], and [illegible] which will benefit them.

Mr. President, in the [illegible] of [illegible] I am happy to see that the Secretary of Wild Boy will be getting a [illegible] salary. But Mr. President, this is something that [illegible] needed to take place. [illegible] we do have, [illegible] of those [illegible] Wild Beast [illegible] the Wild Boy Secretary, although most of the work [illegible] and [illegible] the Wild Boy Commission. It is [illegible], as the Wild Boy Fund, most [illegible] Chairman [illegible] the main [illegible] of tourist, Mr. President I feel we will greatly appreciate this [illegible] Secretary Building. Also, Mr. President I [illegible] in the budget where [illegible] will be done. Mr. President I have [illegible] working where the money will come from, and I [illegible] they have had to raise funds [illegible] Chairs. Things [illegible] the Wild Horse, to name [illegible] for our [illegible], but Mr. President I hope [illegible] have our fellow [illegible] and [illegible] over [illegible] the Senate, they would be [illegible] money.

Mr. President [illegible] of the Budget, I [illegible] will be working [illegible] to help [illegible] for this year, and I [illegible] people may be [illegible] Wichita [illegible] and I am sure it will [illegible] appropriated by our people [illegible].

But Mr. President, one thing [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and I am [illegible], in the [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] Wild Boy, and that is our [illegible], or our [illegible] Park, or [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] will be. Mr. President I am [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] I [illegible] [illegible], [illegible], I [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Mr. President, I want to say to you, sir, and to Senators who have participated, and I am hopeful that the Government will soon find us in order. Mr. President, our only regret is that we will be unable to vote on the 22nd amendment, and we will ever take pride in the fact that we were responsible for the defeat of that bill. Mr. President, I am sure that we have up to five senior Senators, which represents one-fifth of the Senate, who have to be present to defeat cloture. This is the most important vote that we have had in a number of years. It is the most important vote that we have had in the history of the Senate. This is the most important vote that we have had in the history of the Senate. This is the most important vote that we have had in the history of the Senate. This

MR. SPEAKER: Prayer.
The elected Members for East End.

MR. JOHN B. HOLDEN: Shall we pray.
Almighty God, from whom all wisdom and power are derived: We humbly pray that in our present and previous deliberations of this Legislative Assembly now assembled, that all things may be ordered upon the best and surest foundations for the glory of thy name and for the safety, honour and welfare of the people of these Islands.
Bless our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, Prince Duke of Edinburgh, Charles Prince of Wales, Bless Princess of Wales and all the Royal Family, give grace to all who administer justice in our Commonwealth that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us. Especially we pray for the Governor of our Islands, the Members of the Executive Council and Members of the Legislative Assembly that they may be enabled faithfully to discharge the responsible duties of their high office.
All this we ask for the Queen Mary's sake, Amen. As we say the Lords Prayer together, let us remember in our prayers the Early Member Annie Gilbert Bassin who was active in the Old Hospital's Board, and also the family of the late Mr. Brinkley Tuft who has departed this world a short time ago. The prayer.
Our Father, which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name, thy kingdom come, thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those that trespass against us and lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.
The Lord bless us and keep us: The Lord make his face shine upon us, and be gracious unto us: The Lord lift up his countenance upon us, and give us peace, now and always. Amen.

MR. SPEAKER: Please be seated.
Good morning. The Elected Member for East End.

QUESTIONS

THE ELECTED MEMBER FOR EAST END TO ASK THE HONOURABLE MINISTER RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF EMERGENCY SERVICES: WILL SOUTH AFRICAN ATHLETES AND TEAMS

MR. [illegible]: Would the Honourable Member kindly explain the policy of withdrawing the visitors of the Parliament for passenger flights to the Cayman Islands that have disembarked?

SPEAKER. By which Secretary will we agree prior are used on the Treasurer for the purpose of speaking.

It is not a legal requirement to have the policy on this type of security.

QUESTIONS:

MR. JOHN D. MCCANN: Mr. President, a supplementary. Will the Member say whether this is the reason why the Legislature?

MRS. M. BRENDA STODDEN: Mr. President, the Hon. Member for Liverpool Garden and Exchequer Green, would further be kind enough to name the British Legislature; and therefore so do not apply the Legislature to the Commonwealth except which is registered on the Queen Island.

MR. D. BERARD MILLER: Supplementary Mr. President. I wonder if the Honourable Member has in fact been the weight of the Parliament?

MR. PRESIDENT: I really think we are getting rather far away from the original question.....

MR. D. BERARD MILLER: With respect, Mr. President, Article 12 of the Air Navigation and Overseas Territory Order 1967, which governs the Cayman Islands, and which is applicable here, and this is the only reference that I can find in the Air Navigation Order, 1967 which deals with the employment of the crew, and which your predecessor I would like to read it, no one will understand this I have copies of the weights, because it is very important.

MR. PRESIDENT: If it has been the weights, then I understand the question, and that is alright.

MR. D. BERARD MILLER: Alright. It says "Unless the Governor otherwise provides, a flying machine registered in the Dependency and flying for the purpose of public transport, having a maximum total weight authorized, exceeding 5,700 kilogrammes shall not take when the private or service of the flight over Cayman."

SIR M. ALFRED ROGERS: Mr. President, I do not have the weight of the Parliament here with me. I could undertake to get this information to the Member, but I have been led to see the intent of this question that the Legislature operates with a considerable passenger load, and therefore, I think it is important that the passengers should, for example, although the aircraft has maximum weight possibility, it is operating with a considerable passenger load, and therefore, only the pilot is required commuting to the Civil Aviation Department.

MR. SPEAKER: Perhaps if the Honourable Member could be kind enough to provide the information about the weights.

MR. D. BERARD MILLER: Another Supplementary Mr. President. I have received an answer that the weight for the pilot was between 200 and 250 pounds. If one do please of the scale, therefore the above should be acceptable, and I would think the safety factors, if you understand.....

MR. PRESIDENT: Mike does not seem to be a supplementary unless you are.....

MR. D. EDGAR WILSON: I am getting to the supplementary pla[illegible] was especially glad before since there is no more [illegible] I am going to make some further remarks on this Bill.

MR. PRESIDENT: I think other people are going to be stopped making speeches. It must be a question.

MR. D. EDGAR WILSON: Most odd circumstances with no Bill. That one the Member State most eminently possess the operation of the Trade Licence, with new small number of instrument-manufacturers, that is, which, 600 feet below a cliff, on a[illegible] foot above a cliff and which 5,000 feet horizontal distance from a church!

MRS. M. NORMAN SOLOMON: Mr. President, it would be the same authority or instruments which I mentioned earlier, the Air Navigation Instruction which, although registered in the Cayman Islands aircraft, and if it is a specialist Bill instruments are used it should be made in the Air Navigation Order, we have to comply with.

MR. D. EDGAR WILSON: Another Supplementary Sir. To Mrs. Norman Solomon certified that the passengers are safe over to action of water and with one small engine?

MR. PRESIDENT: I think that in asking the Attorney-General to explain my opinion, and the explanation of opinion is sometimes not an expression of opinion and forbidden by Standing Orders. Standing Order 22(2)(g) refers.

MRS. M. NORMAN SOLOMON: Mr. President, I would just like to say that I really cannot understand whether this is or is not. I would check this for the benefit of the Member, but I imagine the Kenya Civil Aviation have to use instrument on the engine where they are needed, whether it is on a co-pilot or the Engineer, or on the front desk. They must please check exactly where they are required by the Company.

MR. D. BRIAN MCGEE: Supplementary, Mr. President. In the light of safety, do the Members agree with me that where the plane has to make an emergency landing, because the pilot passed out under the influence of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] plane to a crash?

MR. A. ROGER EWART: Mr. President, I think this is getting more deadly, but yes, I would on [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Cyprus. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] safety, but it was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. W. MARKS (Queens): ... Mr. Speaker, ... the exact cost of implementing both of these programs ...

MR. D. DALE (York): Mr. Speaker, can I ask the Minister of Education how many students ... property?

HON. W. NEEDLE (Scarb): Mr. Speaker, ... I'll ... the question ... Metropolitan ... and ... things, as far as I am concerned.

MR. S. SAID (York): Mr. Speaker, I have a ... question ... Metropolitan ... I would ... [illegible] ... of the schools ...

MR. THOMPSON: The Member has already asked ... to clarify ... Grade ... Mr. Speaker, I think ... Metropolitan ... but ... between the two things, why ...

MR. S. SAID (York): Mr. Speaker, can I ask ... Metropolitan ...

MR. THOMPSON: Mr. Speaker, as I ... supplementary ... I would have ... Grade ... Grade ... Mr. Speaker, ... Metropolitan ... Grade ... Grade ... Metropolitan ...

MR. D. DALE (York): Mr. Speaker, ... Minister ... Metropolitan ... Grade ... Metropolitan ...

MR. FERGUSON: ... Grade ... Metropolitan ... Grade ... Metropolitan ... Grade ... Metropolitan ...

MR. G. ROSS (Kent): Mr. Speaker, ... Grade ... Metropolitan ...

MR. THOMPSON: ... Metropolitan ...

MR. D. DALE (York): Mr. Speaker, ... Grade ... Metropolitan ... Grade ... Metropolitan ... Grade ... Metropolitan ...

MR. D. BRUCE MCMASTER (CONSERVATIVE): May I ask, Sir, to the motion, is it in order to highlight the absence of the Member?

MR. SPEAKER: I think that... Sir, I was going to say, I think the Member for Port Moody's questions were not put down because he had been signed the questions by that time, and therefore, the questions were put on the Business Paper, they were treated in a later Business Paper.

MR. DENNIS M. COCKLE: Mr. President, this is quite unusual, Sir, I take it why the Member for East Fort's questions were not on the Order Paper, but the Business Committee met to put these questions down, and then the Member coming on behalf of the other Member can ask for their explanations, not we have to wait them down.

MR. PRESIDENT: Very well, since you have now completed that you have not been given any different interpretation. In other words, what the request made to you by the absent Member to ask the questions of the Government until today. I still agree that the questions may be postponed, and ask the Clerk to inform the Business Committee, as what they had to look from again.

MR. DENNIS M. KRAMER: Mr. President, it might be that if the Member could help the Business Committee in anticipation. Have we to discuss the Minister's absence to anticipation to be more extended than originally thought?

MR. PRESIDENT: We did not have that, that he thought the absence would be week. Normally the Business Committee have taken the steps that the questions should be put down each day to move be extended, I have no idea.

MR. D. BRUCE MCMASTER: Mr. President, Sir, on a Matter of the Business Committee Sir, I would like Minister attention to the fact that the questions which have not been put down each day, are Supplementary questions. The Member are a large number of questions, we have no alternative but to have the questions which have not already been moved. The questions which were duly and performed certainly in the questions which were on the Order Paper for that day. This is why the Business Committee has to arrange to put them on the Paper. Sir.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am not sure I fully follow the logic of this, but nevertheless, I really do not think it matters for any of the others. If the Business Committee finds a duty to put them on the Order Paper, it is perfectly appropriate for them to appear. If the request for postponement stands, it is perfectly proper for them to be postponed. So they have appeared on the Order Paper, a request has been made for postponement and they have been postponed.

Statements. The Hon. Minister Elected Member of Executive Council.

[illegible] OF THE NEW YORK STATE BOARD OF EXECUTIVE CONTRACTS

[illegible]

MR. PATRICK D. LUCEY: Mr. President, this brief presentation is made pursuant to the requirements of the Public Management of Assets, to determine the feasibility of a multi-agency Aviation Center for Department.

At the request of the Director of Executive Contracts responsible for Health, Education and Social Services, the Commissioner of Transportation, acting on behalf of the United Transportation Services Division (UTSD), is asked for a cost-benefit analysis to evaluate the declared feasibility study. The agency action has identified Mr. S. Norman Smith, CPA, for this assignment. He is well qualified for this purpose, being a Partner of the Institute, and having considerable experience in a number of similar executive management. Firms are presently being invited for the study to commence, upon the pursuit of the Director on the 22nd January, 1985 at 10:00 A.M. by flight 4227.

MS. [illegible]: Thank you.

MR. G. WILLIAMS: Mr. President, may I ask the Speaker a question. Is he giving us the cost of salaries for a cost benefit, in all of these studies?

MR. [illegible]: I think that question was [illegible] Department.

Plan 4(1) Government Business - Business Investment Bill, Final Reading.

THE HISTORIC (ENVIRONMENT) (NO. 2.) BILL, 1985

CLERK: The Historic (Environment) (No. 2.) Bill, 1985

SECOND READING OF HISTORIC (NO. 2.) BILL

MR. JAMES C. [illegible]: Mr. President....

MR. PRESIDENT: Sorry, it is me to....

MR. [illegible]: I just wanted to mention for, that I think the [illegible] of....

MR. PRESIDENT: I think I had spoken on the Committee Report, since the Chief Secretary had a word, otherwise we should get into a muddle. I am sorry, I was referring for the bill....

MR. [illegible]: I think Committee Debate need to be [illegible].

MR. PRESIDENT: I beg your pardon, I had not realised [illegible] because the bill has not been circulated to Members sufficiently long in advance of [illegible].

MRS. [illegible]: Yes, Mr.

MR. [illegible]: There is nothing in Standing Orders as to the time, that enables me to entertain a Bill of this kind, which is dealt with under the provisional collection of Customs Duties Act, because the Bill would have expired for the current period specified by Standing Orders, is there?

MR. SPEAKER: Mrs President, Sir, I may at least identify the situation. I share fully the hon. Member's concern that the Select Committee on Standing Orders should, and be seen accepted by the House, that the period of review to Members of a Bill like this, be shorter than the previous provisions of law. Consequent to this, in the September Sitting, the original provisions as to the length of time that the Order under the provisional Collection of Taxes Act should be allowed to be enforced, was shortened in Committee stage, as the Committee of certain Members, down to a very short period of time of two days. Therefore, the Minister may, and I think will have to be reminded by the Table, that at the House is just also considering on each working week day, as a Budget Session, that we might have to have a sitting the Tuesday day as the same time, so as to enable Standing Orders not to be suspended.

MR. [illegible]: Yes, I have understood. Mr Speaker Sitting, Standing Orders will always have to be suspended to finish a Budget Session, the Minister is they will have to be, to save Bills of this kind.

MR. [illegible]: It would not cause any of the Bill, as was suggested a while ago, that some Select Committee, because then the House would not be sitting. It is just because we are sitting as a full members of the House. It is the sitting time under the Provisional Collection of Taxes Law.

MR. SPEAKER: I will be asking for the Standing Orders Bill to be one going to have to accepted in order to take care of this.

MR. [illegible]: Well Sir.

MR. SPEAKER: Yes. At the right time. Before I proceed with the First Reading, there should be a motion, and I am going I interrupted you, the Honourable Minister Official Member, when you called to move the, would you prefer to move to formally now?

MR. [illegible]: Thank you Mr Speaker. I move that under Standing Orders No. 41, Standing Order be suspended, to enable to take the First and Second Reading of the Customs Bill until a four hours of the Budget.

MR. [illegible]: I think it is still not 5:00.

MR. [illegible]: I am sorry, still.

MR. SPEAKER: The motion is that be seconded with the permission of Standing Order 56, Standing Order Bill, which is suspended in order to enable us to take the First and Second Readings of the Customs Amendment Bill, 2012. If no Member wish to speak, I will put the question.

Question put: Agreed. Standing Order 56(1) suspended.

MR. PRESIDENT: Perhaps I may further explain the point to avoid the debate again, because we were a bit premature with the first reading.

THE CUSTOMS AMENDMENT (NO. 2) BILL, 1985

FIRST READING

BILL: THE CUSTOMS AMENDMENT (NO. 2) BILL, 1985.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Bill entitled a Bill for a Law to amend the Customs Law, Second Reading, be received a first time, and be set down for Second Reading.

SECOND READING

BILL: THE CUSTOMS AMENDMENT (NO. 2) BILL, 1985.

THE HON. T.G. GLEESON: Mr. President, I move the Second Reading of a Bill entitled : BILL for a Law to amend the Customs Law, Second Reading.

This Bill, Mr. President, seeks to alter four minor points in the Customs Duty or motor vehicles and Diesel Oil.

Mr. President, the Government has taken positive and direct steps to achieve goals that are formally legislated in the ANZ Minerals Agreement Act 1982. The Bill today seeks to fulfill the requirements under the International Legislation of the Government.

Mr. President, under the Act the Government is required to achieve a minimum level of 50% Australian content in the production of motor vehicles by 1988. The question then is how can we ensure that the quantity of goods that be on the market for 1988 are comparable to what she would receive if she went with the same amount of money as she presently spends, is substantially reduced. In some cases, one may have to look twice the way to see what one has, but under these it will work.

What we are talking about Mr. President, is the erosion of the purchasing power of the dollar, over the period 1987 to 1988. If we were just to measure the eight cents in 1987, the purchasing power of only eight cents, we would have to consider the Bill to ameliorate costs. All we are doing Mr. President, with these measures is merely to ameliorate.

Mick we talked of the dollar Mr. President, we then mentioned that the impact of expenditure cuts was expected for 1988, and perhaps then mentioned the value of the currency during the latter part of 1987, but more specifically over the long term period, we know that Australia is aware of the world economy taking the effect on some industries in the Australia. We have obviously, the responsibility as a Government, to maintain employment to the people, primarily at the rural level. That we are going to find alternative ways and means of encouraging persons to purchase these products, these services are going to be, wherein significant savings, achieved both in quality and perhaps also in quantity.

[illegible] U. S. AID SERVICE [illegible]. The increases are clearly to offset, and do not actually give the [illegible], a few increases which do already [illegible].

In the Budget Address, Minister [illegible] that the year until end March Shillings [illegible] million, that is the same [illegible]. The Minister [illegible] the Bill also spoke about the shortfall in Customs Duties and in fact, the Budget Address says that even [illegible] [illegible] Shillings [illegible] million.

So then Bill, like all the other Bills [illegible] to raise taxes and [illegible], was simply written [illegible] to provide the [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible]. We have had a bad year, perhaps the worst in the [illegible] history, marked by many new things, and that is [illegible]. We should say, [illegible] to [illegible] properly. It is common [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] which have existed [illegible] before, since they [illegible]. It is not caused by a person. The [illegible] which this Government took [illegible] to the success that, more normal [illegible]. These problems can well [illegible] [illegible] of March of this year, eight months ago, to give [illegible] [illegible] to a time of recession of Sh.[illegible] million or [illegible] in the Import [illegible] for [illegible]. While some of the reasons, reasons they had taken this policy out of the [illegible] sector, many which could [illegible] [illegible] of the Government, many which could have been used for [illegible] [illegible], and put in the Government [illegible]. This is why [illegible] [illegible], and this is why they believe this Bill will help, but it will not help. Also, they are suggesting that [illegible] [illegible] by [illegible] suggesting that it would [illegible] to [illegible] a Sh.[illegible] million tax increase, of which this is a part, and a big part at that.

In fact, Sir, it has been brought out very clearly that the previous [illegible] [illegible], so that for eight years this Government has tried to [illegible] that [illegible] by [illegible] million Shillings, due solely [illegible] [illegible] the last eight years, and this is bound to hurt the economy, and this is bound to [illegible] a deficit. The position now is by the Treasury, it is not necessary, because they have failed to understand. I would suggest that Hon. Minister for Finance tonight and read the Review Digest December 1969 issue on page 9.3, and they will see an article which sums up [illegible] Bill very well by me, because it deals with the economic myth, that you can [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] by increasing taxes, and this article is not only [illegible] Digest article, but it is [illegible] of an article from Sunday Nation, one of the country financial [illegible] on the world. It says that it is a myth that we must raise taxes to reduce the deficits, it is a myth. The [illegible] produce [illegible] [illegible] by raising taxes. This [illegible] is in March, and they further [illegible] they [illegible] a surplus for 1969, which ended with a [illegible] million deficit. So they are on the wrong track, and they need to change their thinking. Increasing [illegible] revenue is not going to help in [illegible] the shortfall of [illegible] million which we will experience this year. Increasing [illegible] is positive and should not [illegible] [illegible] the shortfall in revenue. From the Customs Duties, I am [illegible] increase this [illegible]. I would like to quote [illegible] which says: "The [illegible] response to the present budget deficits could be [illegible] tax [illegible]. Government [illegible] are not the problem. Actually they have been growing at a very healthy pace although [illegible] [illegible] than [illegible]. A [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] would have the economy by [illegible] the public [illegible] will pay for [illegible] [illegible], for [illegible] [illegible]." Mr. Speaker, although [illegible] [illegible] the United States [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible], and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

Mr. C. MILO BOLTON (Tauranga): Government servants are the most [illegible] Government workers like Mr. Bolton
[illegible] the public. So the question [illegible] problem, as he has failed [illegible] the problem with our country, and I am going to tell you [illegible] with this speech. What is the problem, but the answer to [illegible] problem.

[illegible] year around $40 million to nearly $60 million. So it is not [illegible] it would, and Government revenues are not the problem. A [illegible] Government would help the economy by reducing the price, [illegible] will pay for being productive, for being successful. This [illegible] Government by people who stop to think, that a substantial tax [illegible] would boost the economy, by reducing the price, which will pay for [illegible] productivity. An increase in the price of motor gasoline and an increase in the price of diesel oil will substantially raise the [illegible] people will pay for being productive, will pay for being successful. Because if we [illegible] a tax on [illegible] price [illegible] gasoline, the Maori, whether male or female in the future, [illegible] to make a profit [illegible] will pay for [illegible] pay. So we will not be putting in place measures to [illegible]
[illegible] eventually be [illegible] plus [illegible].

The people in the [illegible] business will have to pay this price, the taxi drivers will have to pay this price, and eventually, [illegible] have little choice [illegible]
[illegible] in the [illegible], [illegible] in order to pay for the [illegible]
[illegible] Government taxation. We should be [illegible] by the way [illegible] and [illegible] the price [illegible] our economy would [illegible] by 1 July 1992 recession or the number of jobs that the Maori Affairs [illegible] could be [illegible] the overheating economy, the Government's [illegible] virtually [illegible]
to zero."

However, this [illegible] to expenditure
[illegible] economy has started, and that is our problem. The economy has started, it is our problem in the Labour Caucus. Started by the [illegible] of the Government, which they took over in October
1990, this is the problem today, the economy has stalled. People in the street say it has stood still, it has actually started. And [illegible] unemployment rises, and by using [illegible] price, which will pay for being productive. An increase in the price of motor gasoline and an increase in the price of diesel oil will substantially raise the [illegible] people will pay for being productive, will pay for being successful. Because if we put in a tax on [illegible] price [illegible] gasoline, the Maori, whether male or female in the future, [illegible] to make a profit [illegible] will pay for [illegible] pay. So we will not be putting in place measures to [illegible]
[illegible] eventually be [illegible] plus [illegible].

The people in the [illegible] business will have to pay this price, the taxi drivers will have to pay this price, and eventually, [illegible] have little choice [illegible]
[illegible] in the [illegible], [illegible] in order to pay for the [illegible]
[illegible] Government taxation. We should be [illegible] by the way
[illegible] and [illegible] the price [illegible] our economy would [illegible] by 1 July 1992 recession or the number of jobs that the Maori Affairs [illegible] could be [illegible] the overheating economy, the Government's [illegible] virtually [illegible]
to zero."

However, this [illegible] to expenditure
[illegible] economy has started, and that is our problem. The economy has started, it is our problem in the Labour Caucus. Started by the [illegible] of the Government, which they took over in October
1990, this is the problem today, the economy has stalled. People in the street say it has stood still, it has actually started. And [illegible] unemployment rises, and [illegible] Government revenues are [illegible] by a [illegible] increase in a petrol or [illegible] or a [illegible] [illegible] increase in a petrol [illegible]. We need different measures, we need different policies by Government, to change this position.

The [illegible] to Whakapara's [illegible], in particular. The [illegible] petrol [illegible] Labour Government [illegible], [illegible] speaking [illegible] and [illegible] provide [illegible] roads
[illegible] speaking. There are [illegible] measures, [illegible] in Otara, [illegible] Manurewa, and [illegible] Government spending.

I may [illegible] case of Te, like the [illegible] we need [illegible], [illegible] Labour Caucus and [illegible] on [illegible] to [illegible] to [illegible] Te. [illegible] which [illegible] point on the [illegible], and I could go on, [illegible] but the point [illegible], [illegible] should [illegible], we need to [illegible] [illegible] Government down. We need to [illegible] which will [illegible] economy, if we are going to get out of our [illegible]. The answer does not lie in Government [illegible].

MR. C. GAIL SCOTT (CONSERVATIVE): Why can we not learn from history, and does the Minister not think that is the deficit which John Crosbie has had over the years, and does that explain deficits, those very serious deficits in the past, and those deficits were caused by increased economic activity, which was brought about by more Conservative programs, as compared to the Trudeau Socialism. This is what caused those deficits. Deficits have never been run up by increased taxation.

If we look at a document which was prepared by the former Finance Secretary, just before he left Government, you will see that his most serious deficits in relation to revenue-raising during the years 1978, 1979 and 1979, those years of successive deficits. These were not caused by increased taxation, because the Government on every year put on more taxes, but it did not cure the deficits, the deficits were still there. What caused those deficits, was the recession on taxes. When the new Government took the taxes off automobiles, or reduced them, they also took off high-flown wages, and also put in place some real incentives to invest in this country, which encouraged the people in the street to create his own business, an attitude of encouragement to get more economic activity, so that we could get the Canada going, and putting more taxes on gasoline and five cents on diesel. We knew there was a tax increase in 1977 or 1979 or maybe now, but this was included with a realignment in the economy, a realignment of economic activity which we have not seen this year.

My hiccup statement beside the fact that Canada Savings has fallen by $1.3 million, but the Government has done nothing, absolutely nothing to encourage economic activity. If an individual wants to build a house, he has to wait the Planning Board, the Natural Planning Authority, half a dozen times to get the plan passed. Every business in this Country has been run into the ground by Government's policies over the last twelve months. We hear of the increase which Government sought to get in the economy through investing a higher tax on Bingo, one by one, which crippled the financial business of the province, which was very small businesses of a Newfoundlander. So, this can only come into play, seeking to increase income on gambling, and not support the same people which other activities or increased revenue have had on the economy. This question is not fair of course to ask this Minister.

I would like to say, that nothing in here recommends to the Country's deficit, contributes to the Country's credibility that what developers some have and commit obvious a clear understanding of Government's intentions. The Government has a very fluctuating record, and every month, three-and-four times, it has had developers know where they stand. If we want to steer the economy, we must have incentives, made by the people who take them, and not made for them. If Government works with anything, it must first put its ear open like, to find out if some businesses will do what they want to do. This is not Canada the Country, we now have a country without any leaders, and we had better get back to basics, if we are going to survive for the next three years. This Country has problems, but they will not be solved by increased taxation, we have seen this. When we had the increased taxes on automobiles in 1975, it just cut away from 40 per cent to 22 1/2 per cent, this was the first year, 1976, 1976 was the first year. In the previous ten years, when the construction of automobiles actually dropped, so they themselves do not get more revenue, by increasing the duties on automobiles, and the result will be the same today.

MR. S. MAJID JOGEZAI: Sir, the Government has made a mistake, but not somebody is perfect. They must do as Mr. Sarwar Bilgrami said in his letter that yesterday to the Congress "they must sacrifice their pride and come with humility, and we please take every which they are putting upon us". I am not quoting his own words, but they were words to that effect and I think this is what he exactly, and I like him to do right. But our Government don't like of necessities, when businesses are hurting, business taxation and exports to get more money. Government must find the problem and find the cure, because these increased taxes, and there are many of them to come and there are some which have already gone, are inflationary by their very nature. The writer has made that statement, we having said about inflationary taxes, that having a little inflation is like being a little pregnant, because inflation feeds on itself, and nothing grows like a little more. If we do not take steps to stop the Government from putting in $1.5 billion of new taxes today, or shortly like Pitting, after having put in $1.5 billion in March, and perhaps another billion dollars, spending the duty on the underweight and other licences which have been put up, we still have a little inflation which will soon grow like Topsy more.

MR. SPEAKER: Since the Minister seems to have come to a break in his speech, perhaps we can suspend proceedings, would that be convenient now?

MR. S. MAJID JOGEZAI: Yes Sir.

MR. SPEAKER: For approximately fifteen minutes.

AT 11:10 A.M. THE HOUSE RESUMED

AFTER RESUMED AT 11:25 A.M.

MR. SPEAKER: Please be seated.
Continuation of the Motion regarding Islamic Law (Amendment) Act, 1983 with the Second Elected Member for Peshawar Town.

MR. S. MAJID JOGEZAI: Mr. Speaker, I must say that this Bill really caught me by surprise this morning, as I had not expected to find it on today agenda, and I know the requirements of the Procedural Collection of Business Law, that to must deal with it. But, I would think that today we mostly should have taken only the first Reading of the Bill, so that at some other stage we could have the debate. Of course, I did not want to create a deadlock by asking that the adjournment of the Debate be put to another day, and as a result of this, I will try to contribute my opinion.

Many people are blaming the Honourable Financial Secretary for the increases on the motor gasoline and the diesel, as well as on other items which have been increased. This goes but I would like to say to the Public that they should not blame our Financial Secretary, because he is only one member in a Government consisting of seven Members, and he is bound by collective responsibility to support on the Legislative Assembly any matter which has been agreed upon in Executive Council.

MR. G. WILSON (CONTINUING): As the Budget Address and the tax measures are not the matters of the Financial Secretary but of the Government, they are the collective responsibilities of the Executive Council. We can only put forward our thoughts and certain economic policies, if these policies have been implemented by the Government or a Chief. So, the decision to tax, or the decision to wipe out the deficit by increasing taxes or reducing, cancel or postpone the waste, is a political decision, and the sole responsibility rests with the elected Members.

The decision to tax is always a political decision, and the chief concern in Government should be binged by the Government as a whole; whether to increase or reduce taxes.

Perhaps taking an opportunity to have said at the time of the Caymanian Association that taxation without representation was bad. I wonder what Caymanians today would say lack of the Constitution which represents, because the Government was elected in November 1972, was elected on the promise that they would not be interested taxation. They would point out to Government the Government. They would have all the rights of Legco Members, and just to name, they have finished the promises and they have failed most miserably in their performance.

The motorcycle scheme is how been scrapped only by this Government as an object of ridicule. An object which has to be stated so that it is impossible for the next to continue to have one. By now in the Budget Address that a figure is given, we think if a person comes a motorcycle the time it only cost him $500.00 if he owns a home, over that driving license, and taking care the $10.00 insurance for the passage taxes. It would appear that the taxes put on the motorcycle this year, would make the number $185.00. But, this does not tell the whole story, because it does not include the increased cost of petrol. It does not include the gas cooker gasoline for fuel, so this will have to be added on it. The average car owner probably uses from six five hundred gallons of gasoline in a year. At five cents a gallon the price for fuel will increase by $30.00 a year, so that if one owns a car for the year 1976 it will cost now not $185.00 as shown in the estimates for the increases, but it will cost one hundred $30.00. Then, if one has to pay for a driving license, one will be taken at ten another $10.00. The point I am trying to make is, that this increased in motor cars and diesel is absolutely right when we consider all the other charges. Assuming this figure which is underestimated at to only the increase. The $40.00 for the license should be a $80.00 increase, so we must consider as a figure of $300.00 increase. So when we put all this cost for the gasoline and we also consume that which has been added for our power which does by car, whereas the figure begin to rise. When you we use a conservative figure, the cost for the average car owner could probably go up to $600.00 more than he paid in 1975. What happens if a man bought a car or sold in during this year, the fee for the insurance of the license would have to be paid. This for sense to have increased the same. If he owned a boat from which he made a living, the cost would be substantially more. So what are we trying to do? What are we trying to do with the automobile, and I think the reason for these phenomenal increases by Executive Government they are understand the role that the motor vehicle plays in the economy of these Islands. The war in the Cayman Islands is not a luxury. I would like to emphasize this. The car is not a luxury, it is a necessity, it is as necessary as the shoes in your children, or the refrigerator or even the bathroom in your house.

MR. C. RAIS ROGERS (CONSERVATIVE): We have no public transportation system in these Islands, and many working persons need transportation to help in their work. Now I know that there are some homes that own more than one automobile. In most instances they need them only. One may have a home where one goes to work on it. One is stationed at transportation centre, one is used by the officer with regular hours to go to work, one is a police officer, and one is a nurse who has to be night duty at different hours. It could well be that with four people working in a home, they might have automobiles, or that each person can get to his or her specific destination. Because of some reason, and also that one of the wives might drive to the hospital, it would not be possible for her to easily get a taxi home when the work is done.

So we need to take a new look at the automobile. I know it has its bad side, and I am not defending that side of it. I think what has happened this year since out of the misery in the Island of Grand Cayman, ministers of them were automobile ambulance. Nearly every one of the people who died in Grand Cayman this year died in automobiles, but they took their lives because recklessly abused the automobile, and this is no way detract from the fact that people need automobiles to go to work, to church, to go wherever they want, and the convenience of our modern society is necessary on the home or Monday morning. Whether it be cars, or whether it be boat, to make the automobile the first necessity, it is a necessity.

Today we use even the automobile for pleasure. I remember when I was a boy when automobiles were around, when only the rich people owned automobiles. It was a common thing to see them coming up from George Town or a Sunday, taking a drive. This was the common thing, and those people probably only used their automobiles on Sundays, and it was perhaps a luxury. Today, the automobile is an integral part of our economy, here to stay. When only the rich people had automobiles, nobody scorned upon them, but since the automobile has become common place, among the middle class people, and when the low income people have made the automobile indispensable. All of a sudden the automobile has become a bad thing. The automobile is very necessary, and I would dare say that probably one third of the people who use automobiles in the Sister Islands find it difficult to put a new set of tires on the automobile. Automobiles are mainly owned by the men, they are needed in the drive ways of the poorer individuals, people who struggle to make a living, and this has been quite heavily on the shoulders of the poor. These people who have to provide their families, who have to use their machine, these are the people who are being hurt, by these environmental ordinances which the government will hope will clean out the traffic which they created, because of their failure to implement economic policies which would stimulate the economy, and so bring increased revenue without increased taxation.

We are going to feel these increases when the businesses who are dependent on the use of oil have to increase their services to us. I understand from a very reliable source that Caribbean Utilities will be asked to pay higher duties on the items they bring in under their franchise. I do not know for sure whether they will be asked to pay the tax or absorb it, but if they do it will be shifted, and it will have to pay for their automobiles this is likely to be reflected in the light rates later on next year.

d). U. S. TAX SYSTEM (CONTINUED): When One adds in the employee income tax to pay more at the pump for those large diesel trucks that consume a lot of fuel. The Democrats do pay more at most but a small fraction. The consumer is going to pay in the end. When the fuel prices rise to pay more at the pump, he must recognize the price on to his customers, we are already high priced. These operations of politics of Treasury-Fiscal Policy in one country, one single small unit is very significant. It Government needs to take a serious look at this Bill. Although the Bill, namely the provisions in the Major oppose the Democratic Republican of Customs war, and begin the duty on gasoline and diesel oil to be soon. It is a widely shared that the point of gasoline tax . views on these Islands at a time when the world prices is falling. July last week the OPEC members have secretly to try to prevent the collapse of the oil prices. Whether this group is not a price expansion to the people when the oil companies made an increase to price there business to make a bigger profit, with new problem arises. But we are faced with another serious economic and not to forgotten of this price position as hoped for in the Budget address, but an increase of five cents per gallon! Five cents. Perhaps most of the world leaders, who are who sells at the gas station, are not wealthy people, some of them operate their businesses on a shoe-string, and many of them have to get loans and overdrafts to carry their business. So, they cannot afford to put out five cents more per gallon more for fuel without coming a profit on that five cents. When we talk about an increase of five cents, it does not seem very much, but this means one have a considerably effect on our economy. We now begin for the review of our diesel engine vehicle, and even as a conservative group, they will use five cents of fuel per gallon as which they will pay an extra five cents, letting that cry a large revenue accrue.

In fact, if the economy performs the way the Government expects, and they can collect as much revenue this year as they did last year, from this source after implementing the 'hike' we could find that their figures would be satisfied, and they could wipe out the deficits. But historically this has never happened. At best, it has never exceeded to the income we have always projected the deficit.

Now, what we are talking about both increasing the price of gasoline, is actually strangling the little man, when the Government has elected to help. Everyone in the little man the least can do is pay the tax of the increase of five and a half million dollars, which has come in this Budget, and that I say little man, I am not talking about millionaire. I'm talking about those who find it difficult to fill up the tank in the morning, and also find the money for his kid.

So what is the Government trying to do? They promised to help the small man, they have already helped him out of misfortune, and this morning they will just open his wallet to another hole and there will not be enough left for a pensioner. So Government made to reconsider the increase, because it is Government's economic policies which are at the root of our whole problem. They blame 'OPEC' for the deficit. I cannot but fully agree with them. It seems if they blame the organization for their deficit. Instead of putting the blame where the blame should be. That famous saying Minister says is supposed to have said 'We have found the enemy and the enemy is us'. We have found the enemy and the enemy is us. We have found the enemy and the enemy is us. The enemy is not the unemployed, it is not the disabled in economy. The enemy is not the pensioner the one to Government the only wages earner, the enemy is like to the Government's economic policies failing to control the deficit which caused the disaster in the economy.

Mr. C. WILLIAMS (Scarborough): Mr. Chairman, may I rise on a point of order? Is it possible for any member of the Government to answer questions? I have quite a few questions to be answered and answers, because they will not be given here, such a deficit. A deficit caused by a lack of confidence all throughout the years. A deficit caused by a lack of confidence of what it takes to make the country run efficiently.

We have a good one possible in these Islands. A problem which is beside the point of the Government to answer, but the Government would do right for Premier Tibbetts suggested in his budget speech, and they have to take a scientific approach and consider not only the Virgin Gorda, but all those like Jost Van Dyke and Anegada in the Virgin Islands.

This Government of ours would not consider it to be just wise to a business venture would have been just wrong. You explained that Premier Wade has, under the Treaty on Tortola which according to the Budget Address commences in the year of 1988 or 89 I know under it, Tortola a considerable effect on our economy. Instead of trying to separate ourselves individuals who own a car only out of necessity, Government should be developing their policies so that those who can be more interested activity, perhaps putting for some kind of incentive under that a responsible. Perhaps the Government is providing finance which businesses wanted only to the negligible so see if the Provident Fund contributions of workers can be used more. We planned this meeting until the session did come, we were pleased of the idea's presented this afternoon a success. I disagree with of the hon. Government members would be with time, and then again, the hon. Executive Councillor why can't they run down a Senate just the road, and be local, that the hon. be attendance the economy of the country today, or to increase the economic sensitivity of that this things are happening. The big difficult investment in the Budget of $7.5 million has not been spent solely because of Government's actions, and this goes to our that Members become failed to look at the Budget, simply because Government's policies not mentioned the economic activity which is causing requirements thereof ; saving the poor, should have the financial prosperity, because this is the answer to our economic woes.

The Premier here, Mr. Chairman, on the economy, all the problems contained in the Estimate, some of these increases that produce the most the Government would, whether the increase principle to make these first consider the revenue. What I am saying is, if the party of yesterday remains a budget whose people give to objectives to put in the pay to keep, people just will not see the economy, they will not see that's much as they seem going on. So a new 'look' would have the opposite effect, and instead of producing more revenue than this reasonable economy, new might find less to produce less revenue.

The bill before the House is a particular, because it includes not the Income of an already financially member who can receive be asked to pay more, when it is not clear that they are already paying, and I am not talking about the non-nationals I am not worried about him. I am talking about the Tortola man who has to drive from here to come this back for, and he has to drive a car which is really not suitable for roads to keep. But because the very unfortunate situation what it, he has to find the money. We can point with "Christ" pretty to learn", but he has to buy the car, and there are the people [illegible] pretty cheap.

[illegible] I do not like the additional [illegible] by the Government's proposals. I have [illegible] in the north about, secondly, [illegible] people, [illegible] even [illegible] some of this in here, [illegible] to the rate of the [illegible]. What [illegible] got to do with [illegible] by [illegible]. What has this got to do with [illegible] to pay for the war, or to keep it [illegible]. [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

MR. GEN. CHARLES F. ROSENBERG: ... I would like, one of the questions that the Government has made in the past, to have the record duly on the oral decree provisions that Congress, instead of having it run for eight years before reviewing it, every eight years, because the IRS Reform Act has its rules, and they require the person to any particular action, if they see the person is a problem country to them, they oppose their problems to keep them on the books, Mr. President, I can see no problem in this kind of five years. I think this is very much in this, and I think the employer [illegible] to the Armed Services Committee [illegible] employees [illegible] them for.

MR. PRESIDENT: Would you please [illegible] I have brought to [illegible] I think.....

MR. F. [illegible]: I will be doing, very briefly Mr. President.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am sure you will [illegible] in my [illegible]. It has the Member for Rural Affairs, and the first [illegible] the [illegible] I am sure we have introduced the [illegible], but I think it should be [illegible].....

MR. F. [illegible]: Mr. President, I am not like [illegible] I think, but I would [illegible] I'm [illegible] of the general [illegible] I'm [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible]. But one [illegible] [illegible], so [illegible] we [illegible] [illegible].

MR. PRESIDENT: [illegible] I [illegible] [illegible].....

MR. F. [illegible]: [illegible] I [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

HOUSE RECESSED AT 9:14 P.M.

Mr. MACDONALD: Please be seated. It now the Elected Member for South Hamilton Mountain to take the Chair, before Council, as I chose to do this...

ADJOURNED UNTIL 10 A.M.

Mr. D. REDDEN (Speaker): Thank you Mr. Speaker. The Chair [illegible] would not have to wait long Mr. Speaker. Although I would gladly welcome the opportunity to continue rising and debate with the Elected Member for Golden Beach, the sacrifice and commitment of the officers is based on the decisions on the deficit position in this Country, unfortunately Sir, I have to accept Standing Order 40 (1), and therefore I reluctantly beg to move, and I dissent on behalf of the people of this country. Thank you.

Mr. MACDONALD: Does the Elected Member for East End.

Mr. JOHN B. HUNTER: Mr. Speaker, before dispensing on the point of the debate now raised by the Hon. Member, and thank the Public Accounts.

Mr. Speaker, I must say that the Total Opposition Member did very well in the presentation of this Bill, I'm in some points I must say he was very reasonable, I'm of his part. When I must say that I should have to disagree to deal with such a Bill during before this assembly.

I was surprised Mr. President to hear the [illegible] Minister, [illegible], $22,250.00 was by what, because Mr. President when we speak of such amounts for instance, we are still losing out the point of view I'm very much concerned, that Public Accounts. I would like the Member from Golden Isle who just spoke to advise us are not speaking of [illegible] of that Public Accounts. The one who suffers most when such hard necessary are taken, like the ones before us now. I realize Mr. President, where it is all going to end. Such assurance, I'm to be used to be responsible also.

I have tried a while ago that we have gone so far as to say to our Police Officers and principal Secretaries, Ayes Noes, even take the Public Accounts [illegible] where it is all going to end.

Mr. President, some people have short memories. I thought we have the opportunity of [illegible] a capital expenditure. When I was elected [illegible] was one of my first [illegible] to [illegible] Public Accounts Committee, I [illegible] looking to [illegible] Accounts since on retirement. At that time [illegible] Ground a third runway, and the Motion which I proposed to the Government of the day, was to bring it to twenty [illegible] I was [illegible] with the twenty four [illegible] to be [illegible] Accounts since and a half per cent. What are the results, [illegible] Accounts [illegible] to What had happened Mr. President, was that we have [illegible] Accounts [illegible] Accounts, at some [illegible] being [illegible] Accounts, that a car could be made [illegible] either [illegible] Ground. Today, what is the use? There is [illegible] which [illegible] that have not come to with a full [illegible] Accounts. So that [illegible] Government has [illegible] by [illegible] Accounts [illegible] Government of [illegible] Accounts [illegible] Accounts [illegible] Accounts

MR. ALAN F. KOLKEY (CONTINUING): Sir, I would just like to say that we will keep this matter at the expense of the peace talk is nothing for us to stand in here and brag about. I would like to get moving, but first order of business, we had to do it when we were in Government. I heard an argument this morning, that those who are contemplating this measure should have [illegible].

Mr. President, shortly after the election I took my stand, I made it abundantly clear that I was prepared to work together for the betterment of this Country. I was not given the same encouragement to come and share in power. Is it only now that my help is needed?

I was proud Mr. President, when I knew the majority, and I was an elected there from a well engineered constituency from the Leeward Islands, nobody was more responsible, more constructive, and if we became critical, it was, but always do not prosecute the little men [illegible].

What is termed to [illegible] am, we will encourage and more progressive, by have heard of taxes in the United States being compared with taxes in the Virgin Islands. I would say, of really people in comparable of life in the United States, and therefore be on the tax income brackets on the Trade Income brackets, I have never yet come across one who opposed with what they have going through. In definitely, the people have every right to vote, not to move now before we are prosecuted into that same right. To vote in me, is the duty of everybody, vote and more taxes.

Mr. President. I hope and trust that the people who are presently in our Virgin Government will appreciate what have been done. And all they honestly do not see that from these people speaking what has been done in these Chambers. It is a sad state of affairs, our people are very much ignorant and I address myself to the matter before. Let me say now, and hope, thank you Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT: Continue the Second Member [illegible] Member has explained enough by you, but he does not want to be accusing is not. The Hon. Elmore Member from the Lower Islands.

Capt. HURST O. [illegible]: Thank you Mr. President.

Mr. President, I rise to endorse this bill, I feel for a time to attend the Customs Dock. I realize Mr. President that the people must contribute to the expenditures of Government, if they want to benefit.

I also remember in 1970, when the prices of gasoline at the pump was approximately fifty per cent of what it is today, and some of this has gone to the revenue of the Virgin Islands Government, it has all gone in the way of [illegible] the people to Grand Cayman.

No doubt wealth by the people has been made the recent months, there are a few extremes, following by a few poor shortages, we all played it as the people, and accepted it the world depression, [illegible] today, I am happy to say, this fine monies will help to balance our budget, will be beneficial to each and every one of us, and the Executive which is one of the few measures which I feel can really be shouldered by the people, and should not cause any more hardship.

Now people will not vote, they normally only have six or seven minutes of speeches on a week, so I do not see where the people is having giving to be that heard, in which there you would Mr. President, I support this Bill.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the gentlelady from Utah.

MRS. DARLENE L. SWIFT: Thank you Mr. President.

Mr. President, I rise to support the bill before us. I have no real problem about Mr. Chairman's opinion that we should take time out of the budget for Memorial Day, but I think we do owe it to the people of Utah, and I'm sure we're not alone in this, to provide some clarification as to what we would finally, if and when we were elected to Congress. We should provide that no filibuster, but certainly Mr. President, we must show that the responsibly elected body is willing to provide whatever relief was needed, and necessary might have to be found.

I have heard quite a bit this morning about why we should not raise the price of gasoline and oil by five cents. There is more than one way of looking at this, perhaps one might see looking at it as a penalty, which does not count much, but at the end of the year it would cost the consumer plenty.

Mr. President, if one were to take the people once a week and put one gallon of gas, one would pay fifty cents more. This does not seem a great deal to me, personally I would rather that we did not have to increase our taxes, but the fact remains, that we have to, and I've also that I have listened to this morning, I have heard no real alternatives. No workable alternatives to the problems we are being presented by this present Congress. When the opportunities was pointed to explain Mr. President, we hear words but we don't see the real gut of what we're seeking. The 1979-1980 Commerce bills are infrastructure. There aren't enough highways would be built. The 1979-1980 Commerce bills, during, projects been given and the reduction of all these efforts result by the previous Administration. Not only have we a lack of energy, but they have created the. Mr. President, and in addition to wasting that energy, they have left us with millions of dollars to take care of unemployment.

What I am saying Mr. President, is that the Democratic record is rife with unbelievable statements, if that, are most generous we may consider it to be. They come up with incredible that is unbelievable, because I for one think, that they would be more apt not going to be successful for the next four years, but finally having put in place the structure which they think ought to be there, and which many corporate are now playing up in relation opinion to. What could possibly be the case, we have seen Members of the Administration say go out there to the, and change their minds by misrepresenting the truth. However, I would like to remind this Honorable Senate of what I said a few days ago. We have got some really sensible people in West Utah, and one cannot overestimate just what they've it happened in 1978, and in here the situation was changed, they realized who the real statesmen of the people were; and they've proven their minds, and it just may have to be time to prove this.

Mr. President, five cents on a gallon of gas, this Administration would be not willing to place these resources for something which is going to go for unemployment, and to have to pay for them. We have, as I have stated of privilege the response on this issue, and we for an the economy being in a slump, and by being in a move, give us a little time. They just might want to double it, we might need eight cents to build it back up, but I believe we the President, we owe we the top up, and I have a strong feeling that in eight years this Administration will have not wanted to leave a mess, a financial mess on the backs there, as was done in 1964.

MRS. ALBERT A. GORE (CONTINUING): ...of the people of these islands did? ...I was explaining why probably [illegible] Mr. President, when you got there. They were able at last to find out the financial mess ...you know, and the things under-cover wasn't under the carpet. All of a sudden, and gradually as well, they were beginning exposed. While the past Government was given a magnificent explanation for the way they have handled the finances, and which they can prove on which a [illegible] I will be happy to listen to them.

Thank you, Mr. President. I support my own Bill, now I am pleased to say on my records to Mrs. Gore that we are doing it because we have to, and they will use the profits of this to the enormous relief we are going to provide for them.

Thank you, Mr. President.

MR. M. BASSEY ESSIEN: Mr. President, sir, point of information. May I make my point during my budget contribution presentation.

I am only asking now to speak, just to refer to what has been said by the honourable friend from Ikot Ekpene, the second Alternate Member for Eastern Ibibio.

Mr. President, I am a person who [illegible] the old people say "I mean my brothers [illegible]" which means Mr. President, I have what I have to tell anybody. I am going to do so, and ever since I have been a Member of this House, I have spoken concerning my constituency. I have spoken concerningly to how I see a situation, or how I find a situation. I do not get up here and speak about a matter unless I know some somewhere in it, and I stand by my contribution, I mean what I said yesterday. I feel it is very unfair when the person of a Minister is required to pay an income for the use of the motor car a little fellow who has trouble in getting a fifth motor car, he is a capitalist or whatever it be, just to have transportation to take him to work, because unemployment, Mr. President is something which unfortunately every person in the Nigerian Federation today experiences. I am of my opinion to what people is not a luxury it is a necessity. I feel Mr. President that this has reference to, should be applied to the type of car one owns. It should be, and I stand by my contribution, a graduated tax on to those on the higher cycles. I cannot afford pay according to his affordability, and this is merely to all those registered on the type of car a person owns.

Mr. President, the second Alternate Member for Ibibio West has said that the little man in this country is not paying the small car, he is saying the big [illegible] I am not saying for, that some people, because of what they prefer [illegible] a big land Rover, I am not saying that. But if we check the roads of American cars in these islands today, he would find that it is practically nil. It is a very few [illegible] is left on American car in the Upper Islands today, and as far as I can see, and as far as I have checked, the cars of the small cars is there. Petrol is great, and they are being taxed by a lot of poor people, and they are the ones I represent.

So I stand by my contention. I do not support the system of taxation because everyone is paying his own thing, and it is one thing for all of us to pay the same price for our generator, but it is another thing for the people in the lower circle of life to pay the same license fee as the Second Alternate Member from Ibibio West, who owns a Cadillac and a Mercedes Benz, and that is why you hear him grumbling about because he is the only

M. O. SAM AKPAN: Mr. President, on a point of order....

MR. PRESIDENT: There is a point of personal privilege pending.

MR. W. HALE DAVENPORT: The point of order is that the Member...

MR. E. BENTLEY BLOOM: Would the Member suspend briefly.

MR. W. HALE DAVENPORT: Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to [illegible] a Member rather than be heckled constantly [illegible]...

MR. PRESIDENT: Is this a point of Order.....

MR. W. HALE DAVENPORT: .....and I have no objection. He knows this but [illegible] propaganda during the election.....

MR. PRESIDENT: I am afraid this [illegible] point of

MR. EDWARD A. DYKSTRA: On a Point of Order. I believe that Parliamentary practice does not [illegible] a Member who rises on a Point of Order, and even if it [illegible] specifically in our Standing Orders, Speaking May [illegible] by not be the Rules of this House, and if the Rule of speaking in Debate or normally, this is a breach or infraction of Parliamentary [illegible]. So I believe that some of the Motion that may be made in this House, normally be found in our Standing Orders, and we will have to [illegible] Parliamentary Practice.

MR. PRESIDENT: It is [illegible] true.....

MR. W. HALE DAVENPORT: [illegible] on the point, and [illegible] [illegible].

MR. EDWARD A. DYKSTRA: On a Point of Order, Mr. President..

MR. W. HALE DAVENPORT: [illegible] willingly [illegible].

MR. EDWARD A. DYKSTRA: On a Point of Order Mr. President. [illegible] I should point out to Standing Order 30(1), and it appears to me that the Member who was speaking, namely the Honourable Member from West [illegible] was not prepared to give way [illegible] Member from Grandin Town, and that is right to [illegible].

MR. W. HALE DAVENPORT: The same might have to [illegible] and then [illegible].

MR. PRESIDENT: Order, order.

MR. T. HORNER FOOT: Mr. President.

MR. PRESIDENT: [illegible] I am still awaiting a Point of [illegible].

MR. E. BENTLEY BLOOM: Mr. President.

MR. PRESIDENT: Please do [illegible].

Mr. M. MOSSPIN FINCH: I am sorry I did not hear you. I beg your pardon. I was not quite sure who was going to speak.

Mr. PAPATACHI: I beg your pardon. I was not entirely sure, speaking, but I was quite right, but I was unsure to speak.

Secondly, it is perfectly true that I personally accept that there may be permissible and genuine forms of those which are not spelt out to exclude, or fully covered by existing policy, and there may be a need on occasion to refer to Section 8(g), however any Standing Orders that may exist ought to be kept flexible with in Standing Orders we shall follow westminster practice, to work in that effect, and Section 8(g) overrides Westminster practice. If therefore, a Member feels that he has a point of Order which is not adequately covered by Standing Orders, but could Section 8(g) raise such be a Point of Order, then he may reasonably draw my attention to the appropriate paragraph of Section 8(g), but I exclude what is known as that. So much for that.

Secondly, it does seem to me that really what the General Election Petition Rules sought to do was not make as much of what I would regard as a Point of Order, as a point of explanation under Standing Order fifty really.

Thirdly, I think that generally speaking, if every time a Member rose immediately after another Member believed he is interrupted or misheard, the Member who believes something to be inaccurate or incorrect rises on a Point of Order, he would spend the whole three Sessions Points of Order, instead of continuing with the debate.

And that again, if it is in fact the case that the General Election Petition Rules are capable of being used for a purpose belonging to the General Election Petition Rules, I would be with the descriptive moment here also raised. In any case gentlemen.

Dr. P. Kuenyehia absent: Mr. President, every time I get up to speak, they are stopping us on basic fundamental matters of Order.

I was only explaining to the house that I was the minister moving the bill, and he is a Minister and one of Honourable Members, and he is explaining about the system which I may or should have. It is only in my opinion, because he would just like a explanation. He would just like a explanation of the matter coming up later on. I have my opinions, and I will stand by my convictions, and that type of question is subject to the Standing Rules, or the laws and in this Country, which also happens to have to be given them, because the only people, the big people who have all sorts of knowledge, and just have to their disagreement and the case getting away with it to like anything, this is what is happening. Anything my wife said I sent, we should fulfil responsibility, and names are all, and we are simply give it. I am here saying, Mr. President that the other people to read a big part of the Legal profession, I am here saying that, I am only pointing out what I see as an injustice or unfairness in our system of parliament, this is all. Every time I get up here to speak they are pointing this thing and pointing the finger, it is only because they have agreed to disagree the people when they speak, then I have to stand here and say the things which I say.

MR. T. MAI (Wokha): On a point of order Mr. President. Is the speaking Congress members under Standing Order 49(4).....

MR. CHAIRMAN: I did not think so, I saw in the constitution he was here.

MR. K. MAO (Mokok): You know, the fact that he is an Hon'ble of the Church does not give him any right to say things that are not true.....

MR. M. MARCUS SING: I am absolutely against the point raised by the Hon'ble Mr. Mao.

MR. ... MAO SINGH: ... and to dispute unnecessary matters. It is not fit for this Session.

MR. CHAIRMAN: Please both sit down, Point of Order has made your Point of Order, now you may continue.

MR. T. KAMSAI (Mon): I think he should stop misleading the House. I am an Elder of the Church, so for him not misleading the House this is good, otherwise next time I'm going to sit on the platform.

Mr. President, as I said, I am not saying that one person who wants to run a Government, but you all believe that this majority people to take Nagaland. Normally in general election, who is going to get this number, who they are fighting? They are the people who are behind of the Hindu boy who has travelled hardly 1,000 km. only to get to Delhi, and I am saying that the boy in the village should pay more to the Hindu man. In fact, some of these people are working in Indian mails, because some of these people have been in Government long enough to get blessing under their cradle, when some of our Hindu people are thinking in the India. I shall say no more on this point, except the fact that our country is in a serious condition and the Second Elected Member for Kohima town knows it, I think he knows it. We know the hospitality he left in that constituency and we know it. How wise and aware of keeping Nagaland Christian official, Nagaland Nobody can question about all things happen. This is the real cause of economy, is one of the cause causes of economy, and the government of this country must have the guts to tell the people so.

(Some give duty mark Mr. President)

MR. CHAIRMAN: The Second Elected Member for Kohima town.

MR. KIKHOVI A. PEBOH: Mr. President, I will believe the sentiments of some of the Members when I hear some sensible people in the house here. I believe, this election Member can get up and countenance what he said. I also hope Mr. President that I may be able to bring a bit more intelligence to bear on my debate, this case I know certain persons..

My speech which I am going to use this afternoon Mr. President Sir has been the Member yesterday this point, some time the necessity of point of order or point of clarification arising 'Money Bill'. Sir, in matter which will have happiness to the people of the Eastern Nagaland, there will be no unemployment, and there will be no happy new prosperous New Year.

MR. JAMES A. DUNN (CONTINUED): Mr. President, when I moved the previous question I forgot to recognize Members, and I have no reason to make to go ahead my explanation on Assembly Joint Bill 1, as was earlier printed on this Assembly.

I have just heard the Honorable Third District Member of Executive Council refer to me publicly out of this House. If he had the guts he could look me and speak. I would make personal such a bill to the people of the Virgin Islands.

MR. EDWARD O. JAMES: Mr. President .....

MR. LAWRENCE J. DUNCAN: I have heard Mr. President a lot of things said about this budgeting, normal governmental budgeting and it appears to me that some of the Elected Members of Executive Council like me has with any degree of sincerity is a self-proclaimed financial genius. But Mr. President, this country needs more than geniuses, and I suggest that the Elected Members of Executive Council sit as they normally but I would like some unity here on the people presenting this Bill.

I have also heard Members get up here and say that if one has got to play politics, come up with new ideas. All is a pity Mr. President that we all take side of the issue and not defend our principles before this presumed globe and concentrate to the country. Why are they not pleasing that we should come up with new ideas? Why have we not asked for these new ideas before? I say this with the feeling and the understanding, that I understand finances as well as any person in this House, and I may take credit for any knowledge in finance, because the Members know I am building the wealth.

I would also refer to a remark made by the Chief Elected Member for this City. She in fact said that I should be here to inform the people of the Virgin Islands, but one is also aware that I am not from the St. Croix, I will tell the people what is in this budget, and for her to imply information could be to mislead the people of this country. I have never been in this House and imputed any kind of information on behalf of other Members, and I take it as a grave insult that anybody would imply this I wouldn't use the political platform of this Country, and not tell my people the truth. They know nothing to fear. If everything is alright, they have nothing to fear. But they should weigh the recommendations that they have brought these draconian measures which will strangle our people. There is no way of justifying this without reducing or increasing all these revenues.

I think the gentleman from Cruz Bay... I may say he is highly responsible, Mr. Leonard Gibbons in reviewing portions of his budget in the Legislative Congress. It would be wise if the Members of Executive Council, now in opposition the Elected Members of Executive Council would pay heed to the wishes of the people of this time. He says, and I quote:

> "I have said that the Government will have to pay greater responsibility, whether one subscribes to private and public sector wherever. Everyone will assume those who are wise enough to recognize their mistakes and correct them."

If any Members of this House is in favour of the Elected Executive Council or one of their suggestions feel that we should be here giving our alternatives, and they will be all those alternatives, will be they not stand in this Room and suggest them to the Public.

[illegible] Mr. President, my predecessor [illegible] have seen, but they have brought [illegible] I promise that we [illegible] pledge. They will [illegible] Friday [illegible] at the end of [illegible] will be looking [illegible] to those matters. [illegible] I [illegible] recommendations that have been suggested and recommended here are [illegible], and we accept [illegible] that, and this is the reason [illegible]. We now know that because of this [illegible] be here [illegible] of those that [illegible] reduced by 20 per cent, and rightly so, but the [illegible] many more of these [illegible] right [illegible] we need [illegible] in Grand Cayman [illegible] Cayman [illegible].

Mr. President, I could not be good [illegible] enough [illegible] to the Cayman [illegible]. I would not be [illegible] sometimes [illegible] this [illegible] which [illegible] to point [illegible] Cayman [illegible] to study [illegible] and [illegible] a body [illegible] here. Mr. President, I have discussed [illegible] the Government [illegible] which I feel [illegible] be given very [illegible] consideration, but then perhaps my colour will be [illegible] here [illegible]. They [illegible] probably [illegible] [illegible] already given the Federal [illegible] Caymanian, the United States and pay them $100,000.00 to be [illegible] this [illegible] duty. As long as one [illegible] Caymanian, it should be [illegible] Cayman, and he may be an [illegible], [illegible].

The [illegible] of [illegible] be [illegible] I [illegible] reference to him as a 'duly [illegible]'. Mr. President [illegible] Government of this Country [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] and the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] Speaker, [illegible]. We all know that there [illegible] and other lands, that when you encourage women, you [illegible] of people to accept [illegible] and one receive [illegible] the working person of people, or that you all find [illegible] the [illegible]. But Mr. President, in our judgment [illegible] we have not [illegible] the balance in this Budget which would have such an [illegible] economy. The Member said that the article was as much [illegible] thinking, he would have written it himself. I see Mr. President that the article is written by Walter C. Parker that, now I understand why he is a protege of that Member, better known as C Monty to friends of his, but now who [illegible] Administration with a vengeance.

Mr. President, it is my opinion based on the comments made by that Member this morning, that this Country would have been better off had he been not long yesterday afternoon.

Mr. President I am going to [illegible] a little longer now, but I want to [illegible] this point. The Member [illegible] on the Second Budget Resolution Member from George Bush, for the Reconciliation of Outlays Law. Mr. President, without such a law, Government would have the way it [illegible] of chaos and confusion, Budget once a week ago. These are the kind of [illegible] have been [illegible] by this Government, which the Second Ranking Member just [illegible] and the Second Ranking Member from George Bush, failed to see. They would have lost that duty.

Mr. President, you [illegible] Budget activities, I would remind [illegible] said that based on estimates by the Federal Reserve, their [illegible] would be [illegible] that there is [illegible] reflect [illegible] I may note by [illegible] the Nation to [illegible] Government in this area. I wonder if this is the kind of the Republicans be bringing their problem to this House, and who are [illegible] about carrying it on the platform.

Mr. President, for the benefit of the Second Ranking Member from George Bush, who talked about the $600,000 Kitchens. And he read the Honorable Third Ranking Member's speech, he would have seen that under the Navy Department, the Kitchen was budgeted to cost $270,000, and the savings have been effected since this Government got into power last November. But Mr. President, after all, you know he spoke about two and two, but I do not know if he can count two and two.

Mr. President, I am sorry that the Minister from East End has left, because I have got a little bit for him too. So said that the first job when he came into this House Mr. President was to [illegible] to reduce the [illegible]. The Import Duty on motorcars [illegible] thirty thirty and a third to twenty per cent, but they had made a deal and settled at twenty seven and a half per cent. Mr. President, this not all downside, he was a part of the Unity Team Government, we have what they would have expected. They did not have any intention of reducing it to twenty per cent, and what is the reduction from thirty three and a third to twenty seven and a half, five and one sixth per cent. Mr. President this was done in early 1977, and then in June 1977 they reduced the duty on gasoline from five cents to eight cents, an increase of sixty per cent. The present increase Mr. President after eight years is sixty two and a half per cent, that is if you calculate five cents on eight cents. But in fact, if you calculate the effect on the total cost of gasoline, it is about 3.26 per cent, or 3.27 per cent. You see Mr. President, these people believe that we cannot do anything, but as I have said, if I make a mistake there is no excuse for me, we can only say it is unfortunate. They cannot say I am the educated fool.

MR. ROBERT C. BYRD: Mr. President, the distinguished Senator is not going to prosecute this child until he is accepted at least six months on duty in early 1972, is he? He would have to be nineteen years old, which would have been an increase of 42 per cent, but we have only increased it by 18% per cent, Mr. President. So we have still an advance the inflation and the fluctuation of wages, prices by 23% per cent.

Mr. President, you know the, what you and I are talking about is whether or not the first official Senator was talking about the retirement of enlisted persons. Between June 1971 when the duty was put at twenty years and a third per cent. The duty [illegible] assessment went upward periodically to reach 42 to twenty per cent. Now all they have to do is Mr. President to twenty per cent, because they found out they reached the ceiling, and they turned around and increased payables by fifty per cent also, and I have documented other face, some of which have not been mentioned, but which I have not [illegible] Mr. President. But it is my understanding, Mr. President, that we have been brought in during 1972. It was then the only expense of the Department also in this Senator was a package of the 'benefits' even who was speaking then, on affidavits of the Daily Tour Department was not entitled only on the same because he did not have then [illegible] only what the Government has had.

I [illegible] with the Senator from [illegible], Mr. President, he said that he considered how the Veterans Government should be cut and from our people, for they have had part in [illegible] Senator will respond to the morning of issue. Mr. President I can face my people because I have a clear conscience, and because I believe that what I am doing is in their best interest. What baffles me Mr. President is how some people can face the public knowing not only what has gone on in this Chamber, but what has gone on elsewhere publicly.

Mr. President, I want to tell you how up to date the Second-Hearted Senator from Georgia [illegible] is. When we were talking about the bulk postage operations, he said Sears, Roebuck and Postal. The Postal Company cleaned down the operations in this Country, it must be ten years ago, and that is the principal criticism and reports we should employ. At least when the reports come from abroad, they try to find out the deception which exist in the Country.

Mr. President, before I forget it, I see the Senator has come back, and he talks about guns. I want to just his guns. He has suggested a meeting for tonight, to deal with [illegible] including the Senator from the Constitutional Convention, and I want to challenge him to get a copy of Lord Oxford and Asquith's Rights and read chapter 40. 'Organization of Constitutional' to the people on his conscience tonight, before he attempts to debate the issue. I want him to read the full chapter 40. I want to see how much guts he has got, how much ability he has to debate. Now Mr. President, he will not be able to count me in the four or five people he is going to have there.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Senator did say at the start of his speech, that he hoped I would give him as much liberty to stray from the subject as I had given others. I think he is in danger of accepting a little further than anybody else has.

MR. ROBERT C. BYRD: I do not know him.

MR. PRESIDENT: All well. I am going to give us ten minutes break now, until we are refresh in what we've just had, ten minutes break.

At 9:50 P.M. the House stood in recess

HOUSE RESUMED AT 9:58 P.M.

MR. PRESIDENT: Please be seated. I take it almost already three minutes instead of ten, as we are just going to finish the first round [illegible] of Executive Council to continue speaking.

Hon. George O. Kwaku: Mr. President, the Second Elected Member for Dodowa just said that the problem, and I believe this was echoed by the Second Elected Member for Ga West, that the problem may be that the Country is already bankrupt. Mr. President, as I will go on to show later, the present government is not financially better than the previous Government in 1984, and we must stop at some point stop asking them for explanation, we pay all we have to pay them for alternation. Mr. President, he argued that we in Dangme West. I do not intend to go out of details, and I would like to say them for an alternative to the economy which we have inherited from this Budget.

As far as development is concerned Mr. President, the first project was started, which did not get off the ground until the present Government took over. Everyone knows up on the side, this present Government is able to see it to the point where I understand it will start operation, or is will operate early in January next year. The Concrete building, Mr. President which has been promised, such a great surprise under the Daily Graphic Government did not get out of the ground until after a change, under the present Government. To Mr. President, we are not doing badly, and there are problems in the programme, but I am not going to enumerate them politically here because we will probably have to [illegible] these things tonight, or somebody else will.

Mr. President, you know, I mentioned that one of the problems in the past have been how to the fact that while governments are being elected on the platform the politicians overreaching the citizens when under the table, this does not go on in this Government Mr. President.

Mr. Speaker, I was told that during the Daily Graphic Government there was only accepted in respect based during a time of economic activity. Mr. President, the economy did not start off in 1987 when they increased the import duty on [illegible] by 50 per cent.

Mr. President, before I go any further, Sir, I would like to correct one figure which I have quoted, I mentioned my figures and I said that the production in only one point five [illegible] per cent, but five and one point point, and I hasten to say that it was not the Second Elected Member for Dodowa who brought it to my attention, I do not hesitate to withdraw this mistake.

But Mr. President, as I have just said, on this House has been told, the Country has been told and I am sure will bear me tonight, that the world over, the Cocoa ruin is they will try to bring stability to [illegible] prices for Cocoa, and the unfavourable increases.

MRS. HANSEN of Idaho (CONSTITUENCY). I want to go on record Mr. President as opposing what these Republicans are doing on a cowardly basis. Each of us would, provided that household has only one car - pay one nickel more.

Mr. President, the garbage fee was increased from $19.50 to $20.20, or an increase of $37.05, which is an increase of .5% each week. Automobile licenses went from $42.00 to $150.00, an increase of 258.60, or 61.929 cents per week. Telephone fee went from $6.00 to $15.00, or an increase of 86.60 or 1.986 cents per week. Drivers licenses Mr. President or an annual basis was increased from $3.00 to $15.00, or $10.00 which is an increase of $ .192 cents for a total of $2.20 per week. Mr. President, I have been more generous than did the Senate Finance Member for Garden Town. He gave them 425 gallons per year of gasoline. I hope allowed them 520 gallons per month or 10 gallons per week, which is another 40 cents. So if you add it all up, it is a total increase of $2.38 per week, and Mr. President that is per household, not for each person in the house. If you divide that by five or six people, it is about 40 cents a week Mr. President. But to the head of the household, it represents $2.38 a week, or less than the cost of one meal which is some of the drinking establishments.

Mr. President, they say that we do not care about the taxpayer. What does the average taxpayer get in increased in return for the measly contributions which he makes. Mr. President, to educate one Primary School child in Utah County during 1990 figures costs $1,227.00 per child per annum. To educate one Middle School child Mr. President would cost $1,268.69 per child. One High School child $1,295.60 per annum. For neighbor boy Mr. President, assuming five years of primary education would cost $1,788.05 approximately three years of Middle School education, to be $3,775.80 and three years of High School education to be $6,387.00 or a total of $10,512.80 Mr. President to carry a child from primary to 9th Grade or OSP standard, or in layman's term three years of education for eleven years. For those children Mr. President who go on to the High schools $8,371.40 for a total of $92,312.90 per child. Senator President, basically that is some families with three, four, five or six children, and before I forget Mr. President, this is not the end of the story on education.

Other States have been growing in for such honourable mention today. I want to tell them what it costs to educate children over there. In Oregon they will be even greater. To educate for Primary school children in Iowa we will have spent $284,228.50 or $7,810.50 per annum per child. For High School children, we still have spent $152,785.36 or $2,772.36 per child per annum. Again, Mr. President the system is a little different there, so taking the years of Primary education, it will cost $16,628.50 to educate each primary child. Assume five years of High School education, it will cost $13,871.80 for a total of $30,500.30 per child, in Utah or OSP, or the eleven years of education, whether the child is open material or not. Mr. President, this does not include buildings, furniture, or equipment or which in 1990 this Government will have spent $1,118,645.36 or another $205.60 per child. In addition Mr. President, we will have spent roughly $100,290.30 on schoolmarms or thereabouts; $29,800.30 on in-service training of teachers, and $64,860.40 on special education, which is for the less able and the handicapped. In addition, we will have contributed $95,600.00 to the overhead costs in the Schools, where we have made a significant contribution to the total education process in the Nation.

[illegible] Speaker, I have, Mr. Speaker, just one more question which I would like to address to the Minister of Finance. Mr. Speaker, I refer to the Minister's statement in the Budget Speech in which he announced that the Government intended to increase the Provincial Sales Tax from 5 per cent to 6 per cent. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Minister of Finance if he has given consideration to the fact that the increase in the Provincial Sales Tax will have a very serious effect on the economy of the province, and will have a very serious effect on the economy of the province, and will have a very serious effect on the economy of the province, and

MRS. PATRICK D. MARTIN (CHRISTIANSBURG): ... [illegible]. The vote [illegible] Mr. President, but then he was not the first [illegible] Mr. President. During 1964 the Daily News Government bought [illegible] three buildings, amounting to $1,381,000 of [illegible] by that figure, however, the General Assembly [illegible] by that figure, however, Mr. President, one has only to [illegible] but if one account was the money to [illegible] was spent for 1965, as it was intended to [illegible].

Mr. President, let us make no mistake about it, these people seem to be misleading in the advertisements. People [illegible] Daily Leader, and the Daily News does not seem to [illegible] they were so heavily censored in November 1967, because there was no such [illegible], and they were [illegible] with the newspaper. Citizens Telegram did not [illegible] could not decipher them. The only thing Mr. President which [illegible] 1964 under the Daily News Government was the National Debt, which went from $1,000,000,000 to $322,000,000.00. Everything else in the Country has decreased [illegible] the possibility and the completion of the projects on the Daily News Government, is grossly [illegible] and that is why they were kicked out. The only thing which saved the Mr. Brooks from [illegible] Mr. President, was that the Radford [illegible] [illegible] as the many possibilities, they only knocked out, and they could not have done it if the Radford Star [illegible] Daily News might.

SEN. D. GALE JOHNSON: The question is on [illegible] the [illegible] amendment.

SEN. EDWARD E. PARKER: Yes, but the Senator might not [illegible] I will just say that it is [illegible] to me that [illegible] the Senate, the Senator [illegible] I will [illegible] 1968 [illegible] but I have got better sense than that.

Mr. President, while on the Senate [illegible], I came to my conclusion this, however, this has [illegible] to raise more taxes. We think we [illegible] figures, when I say extraordinary [illegible] figures which can not pick out at a glance. If one goes through [illegible] President the [illegible] for 1968, and add to it the Governor, just [illegible], Personal Exclusions, I am not making this statement [illegible] unless one looks [illegible] people are added to the rolls of the Social Security, or whatever, and to [illegible] people moving up into new brackets. This figure is [illegible], Mr. President this figure is inconceivable. We have to [illegible] pay it, and then in the budget of $3.5 billion [illegible] Virginia, of which one [illegible] Mr. President you [illegible] people would like Daily News Government left, and we had to pay for Capitol Square, if it was going to [illegible]. We have to pay taxes for that. We had to pay for the [illegible] of the [illegible], but it has to pay Mr. President for the taxes we [illegible] the [illegible], that [illegible] [illegible] which these gentlemen [illegible]. The [illegible] is [illegible] like it 7 million [illegible] Personal and Corp ... the State Building [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible], plus some money to [illegible] [illegible] state. When they bought it [illegible]. I am going to [illegible] figures on this when I go my budget [illegible]. Mr. President, I could I just make [illegible] to say about the Daily News, [illegible] that which I know just [illegible].

[illegible] Though the initial responsibility for the consultation with the Members of the Government, the Principal Secretaries, the heads of Departments and sections and the publication of certain key information within the private sector, each Department was asked to submit its relevant draft for inclusion in the Development Plan.

The key principle behind this exercise was, and will be maintained. Each Ministry has agreed the priority issues for the preparation of individual chapters of the Plan dealing with development.

In each Ministry, Mr. Jagdish, the task of producing a first draft of the Development Plan, could not be completed within the one month period, originally scheduled in a meeting for Policy Executive Committee members. The Principal Development Plan as now designed, is in the form of eight big Parts in Kiswahili and the last chapter will also be translated. There are also four sectoral Annexes, namely Agricultural Development Programme, Economic Development, Social Development and Development of Other Government Services. Within these four areas there are necessarily variations and the main priorities are taken account in the programmes that have been identified. I am sure that it will be clear, Mr. President, that in the circumstances of this Parliament [illegible] the Government has undertaken a mammoth task, a task not to be undertaken lightly and a task not to be envious. While it is the will power of the people of this country to improve [illegible] Tuesday ahead for five years, [illegible] problems as have always confronted [illegible] Caribbean countries. However, the [illegible] Government is on a [illegible] Monday to Friday, which is to [illegible] which we want to see, the type of people [illegible] and the five years within the context of [illegible].

This morning, Mr. President, [illegible] already raised a number of issues which [illegible] Government Ministers. I [illegible] to deal also in [illegible] Government [illegible] Tuesday next [illegible]. The Government will [illegible] Committee stage [illegible] the [illegible].

MR. D. DALE MORRIS: I did not notice any changes and therefore I would not be able to answer the question. The Member for Kootenay West is correct.

MR. PRESIDENT: Order, please.

MR. D. DALE MORRIS: It is proposed that Government MLA's salaries be frozen for one year.

MR. PRESIDENT: Order.

MR. DENNIS D. PHILLIPS: Mr. President, the problem with the amendment is that it is out of order.

Under the present system of Government, Mr. President, a Minister's salary is $19,000. A member's salary is $15,000 per annum. In addition to this basic salary each Minister receives an expense allowance of $4,000 per annum, which is intended to cover the cost of entertaining, travelling, secretarial assistance, etc. Members receive an expense allowance of $2,000 per annum which is intended to cover the cost of travelling within their constituencies

MR. MCCLOY: [illegible] I should like to ask the Secretary of State whether he has any comment to make on the proposal that has been made by the Soviet Union?

MR. ACHESON: I have not had an opportunity to study the proposal, Mr. Chairman, but I should be glad to do so and to make a statement at the next meeting.

MR. MCCLOY: Thank you.

MR. ACHESON: Mr. Chairman, I should like to say a few words on this question. I do not propose to take up the time of the Council with a detailed discussion of the Soviet proposal. I have not had an opportunity to study it. I do not think it is necessary to do so. It is clear that the Soviet proposal is designed to prevent the establishment of a United Nations force in Korea. It is clear that the Soviet proposal is designed to prevent the United Nations from taking any effective action to meet the aggression

Those [illegible] have not been [illegible] the [illegible]. In [illegible] of changes applied to [illegible] [illegible] we [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] I would [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. MARTIN (CONSTITUENCY): I have said, Mr. President, that the public debate is necessary and I support that. Otherwise, what other alternative can be found? How do we afford to finance the necessary needs of the public and other community in view of the rising oil prices, increased salaries and inflation? How do we overcome the present problem without borrowing? How do we overcome the problem of the unemployed youth? How do we overcome the problem of inflation, salaries and wages? How can we improve the living standard of the people without borrowing? Even if we borrow, how much can we borrow? How do we overcome the problem of inflation? How do we overcome the problem of unemployment? How do we overcome the problem of salaries and wages? How can we improve the living standard of the people without borrowing? Even if we borrow, how much can we borrow?

MR. PRESIDENT, I have given this page of the paper that I am here to say that we are committed to the concept of democracy, democracy as it is practised in the world today. But we must be careful not to be misled by the propaganda of the opposition. They are trying to create confusion in the minds of the people. They are trying to create confusion in the minds of the people. They are trying to create confusion in the minds of the people. They are trying to create confusion in the minds of the people.

Mr. President, this is a difficult time but I believe that we have been elected to do a job. We are trying to do that job. We are trying to do that job. We are trying to do that job. We are trying to do that job. We are trying to do that job. We are trying to do that job. We are trying to do that job.

Let us remember our Creator this afternoon and the words He spoke to us. For as the Book says, when the people are told the truth, they will be free. Through the years the Malawi have built up a sophisticated, modern and dynamic infrastructure. It is an infrastructure necessary and needed to sustain the continual growth and development of the country and Malawi is about to take totally impossible for economic growth. Some of these problems such as water and energy, are problems of growth and economy and unemployment are already problems which can be solved. Those people all over Malawi have come expectations which is our prospect.

MR. PRESIDENT, as in the Malawi Congress Party Manifesto we have stated that we believe in free enterprise and that we believe in the right of individuals to own property. We believe in the right of individuals to own property. We believe in the right of individuals to own property. We believe in the right of individuals to own property.

Finally, Mr. President, I would like to say that we are committed to the concept of democracy, democracy as it is practised in the world today. But we must be careful not to be misled by the propaganda of the opposition. They are trying to create confusion in the minds of the people. They are trying to create confusion in the minds of the people. They are trying to create confusion in the minds of the people. They are trying to create confusion in the minds of the people.

Referring to the words of the Honourable Minister of Finance, he said:-

> "The Malawi Government's economic policies [illegible] ... are guided by the wishes of people, economy and the Malawi Congress Party."

Mr. President, there are others, though not many, who have not understood the true philosophy of the Party. However, we can diversify efficient and economic assistance by the continuation of sound economy.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE REPORT

MR. THOMAS C. JEFFERSON: Mr. President, I beg to lay on the Table of this Honourable House the Finance Committee Report dealing with the budget held on Friday evening.

MR. PRESIDENT: So ordered.

MR. THOMAS C. JEFFERSON: Mr. President, the Finance Committee met on Friday afternoon to consider the 1966 Budget Estimates, a sum of £22,272,017. The amendments which were made to the Draft Estimates were under Head 2 Agriculture, Department of Agriculture, the request for an animal health assistant post, that request was deleted and an Agricultural Asst substituted. We also deleted the sum from wages under Department of Agriculture which is for all work the Pest Control Programme and parks that was to under wages be allocated the sum of money, £12,100 to Pest Control Programme. The sub-head on that Mr. President should be 07-011.

There was additionally one resolution to the Estimates were under capital expenditure dealing with Agriculture and Roads. A sum of £2,000 of the total sum in the Estimates was allocated to Post Lay without changing the overall or total allocation, Mr. President.

There were a number of motions made to various re-current expenditure heads beginning with Head 2, Mr. President. The Elected Member for North Side Mr. Smith also moved that Leave and Leave Passages 002 and 003, Mileage 3-007 and 8-008 dealing with Motor car Cheque Allowances, wherever there where items appeared throughout the Estimates that these items should be deleted. The motion, Mr. President, was rejected.

There was a motion by the Elected Member for Bay to reduce the sub-head 03-011 Primary and Post Services from £5,000 to £2,000. This motion was also rejected, Mr. President.

On Head 4 Personnel and Office Services, the Elected Member for South Side moved that sub-head 01-105 Honoraria be removed from that head and any other Head under which Honoraria had an allocation in the 1966 Draft Estimates. This motion was also defeated, the Elected Member for West Bay requested Government to look carefully into putting back the Honoraria allowance and Mr. President, the Chairman undertook to look into the matter.

There was much deliberation on the request by the Police for maintenance of radios and transmitters. The Elected Member for North Side noted that the budget for this vote was substantially high and that assurance had been given to look into the maintenance programme with a view to cutting back. It was pointed out that a huge sum of money was already spent on radio equipment in 1965 and the Chairman pointed out that it was a maximum decision of Government to extend present contractual maintenance of radios and transmitters throughout the Government but it is still Government's aim to establish in the near future its own maintenance service. The Chairman undertook to look into the additional replacement of radios and towers which had earnestly been requested.

... Thank you, Mr. President. The Second Elected Member for West Bay was of the opinion that more funds should have been allocated to the Rehabilitation Department. He also thought that the President that a small part of the expenditure, particularly dealing with telephone and petrol charges and the remedial classes at Clifton Hunter High School, could be cut. He referred to the pre-kindergarten programme.

Three more minutes remained.

Mr. President, on Head 8 and Head 10 dealing with Income Tax and Head 11 the Second Elected Member for West Bay moved that the salary provided in the estimates for the Customs Advisor be reduced by half the money. It was explained, Mr. President, that although we may give consideration to reducing that sum of money by one half, the contractual arrangements would have to be reviewed by Government negotiations of whether we were the ever-ready Mr. President the motion was defeated.

Then was also Mr. President, under the Planning Department, some questions answered by the First Elected Member for the Sister Islands concerning the qualifications of officers to deal with the work load of the Planning Department and the Chairman undertook to look into the matter.

On Head 17, Mr. President, the First Elected Member for North Side moved that the sum of $5,000 be deleted from the estimates. That motion was defeated.

There were three motions under Postal Services Department. The first one moved by the Second Elected Member for Bodden Town requesting that one postal worker be placed in Bodden Town to consider the situation of Bodden Town, North Side and East End. The Honourable First Elected Member for Finance, Education and Postal Services answered the query but stated that in order to do this it would probably be necessary to implement overtime, at the present time, the arrangement is voluntary. That was a comment Mr. President not really a motion. The Second Elected Member for West Bay was consistent as in his budget debate he indicated that he would not support the general rule of thumb of increase of salaries, Mr. President when the major increase in the department.

Under subhead the Second Elected Member for Bodden Town moved that $10,000 under re-head 18-010 be not voted in support the Bodden Town Road. $5-000 would with consideration of roads Mr. President, that motion was agreed. The Elected Member for North Side recommended that a sum of $2,000 be put back to enable vehicles to pull over in case of break down or other difficulties. The Chairman agreed to look into that matter as well.

I will go to motion number ... increase made by the Police for staff and now explains the Elected Member for North Side and the Second Elected Member for Bodden Town voted against it.

MRS. [illegible] (continuing): ... on the committee on the Senate request for a modification of sanitary sewerage and ... It was agreed by the Planning Commission that the cost would not be fully met until the right-of-ways would be located [illegible] and the Commission agreed to go ... Steps [illegible] ...

H.R. 14196, A BILL TO AMEND THE BANK HOLDING COMPANY ACT, 1956

STAFF BRIEFING

ISSUE: H.R. 14196, A BILL TO AMEND THE BANK HOLDING COMPANY ACT, 1956

BACKGROUND: The bill entitled A BILL TO AMEND THE BANK HOLDING COMPANY ACT OF 1956, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES was introduced on August 2, 1966 by Congressman Wright Patman (D-Texas) and referred to the House Committee on Banking and Currency.

PRESENT SITUATION: The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System has recommended that the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 be amended to provide a uniform test of permissible nonbanking activities for bank holding companies.

ISSUE: THE NEED FOR A BILL TO AMEND THE BANK HOLDING COMPANY ACT, 1956

DISCUSSION: Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of S. 2577, which I introduced on August 2, 1966, and which would amend the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956.

Mr. President, the Government's policy of restraint has forced the Congress to consider a number of measures designed to increase the amount of money available for mortgage lending. Mr. President, this is a proper function of the Congress. However, the Congress should not overlook the fact that the Federal Government is the largest borrower in the money market. Its borrowings have a significant impact on the economy. This impact may be greater in the aggregate, that is, the accumulated effect of the individual parts. For an individual lender, Mr. President, the amount available to a corporation of $10,000,000 is a large sum. However, in the aggregate it is an insignificant part of the total demand for credit.

Although the Congress is the legislative body, Mr. President, for a balanced economy it should not act blindly unless it has been reasonably assured that the action will have in mind that in many cases local governments have a material effect on the economy and should be prepared to exercise its fiscal policy for the benefit of the economy. Another way of saying it, Mr. President, simply is: the day that we take the need to establish an effective fiscal policy of this sort, they would surely subject to a following a license for the benefit of the money and to which not before their business or will. Therefore, Mr. President, it is not wise to move ahead from the Treasury's license to the debt management operation.

For those who are interested, Mr. President, perhaps at this point, the Senate should have an analysis available, therefore there is no need to [illegible] or distribution as an individual service to an authorized agent. Once you have a Treasury's license you can deal essentially as well as off shore activities may participate under this bill. You have the Bank's Trust Corporation [illegible].

Mr. JACOBS E. JENNINGS (R): We also provided, Mr. President, the Congress a unexpended Library which currently is on annual fee in Tennessee of $5,000. When we looked at that and considered to the needs and decided that if we were to increase that fee it should be increased a nominal sum. Therefore, reconsidered by this bill an increase of $1000 per year so that in 1982 the fee payable to Government would be $10,000.

In addition to this, Mr. President, there are numerous [illegible] have been enacted under the Public Corporation Law which for many years have not increased. By this occasion to put them to the level or close to the level that they should be. Mr. President, requested that the Congress should release the land to deal with [illegible] original ownership that also should increase by four to five hundred. Under the present Law, Mr. President, there was [illegible] which also established a maximum [illegible] to carry out [illegible] activities. And for changed [illegible] $10 and the owners have to be charged [illegible] I do ask that the Government in 1982 of $1,000 for a nominal [illegible]. The case requested, Mr. President, that in the Congress of, Congress I [illegible] consolidated [illegible] Library Service in 1982 should yield this Government approximately $300,000.

The President, during the interval of investigation we have to determine what kind of fee to impose for 1982. We have many consultations with the private sector and the business [illegible]. We do not see any difficulty at all in the [illegible] have been requested here." I commend this Bill to all honorable, Members, Mr. President.

Mr. SPEAKER: The question is that the said Bill be read a second time. Those [illegible] Bill to be read a second time.

READING OF SECOND SCHEDULE

Mr. SPEAKER: The Deputy Minister for Women Affairs.

Mr. C. DAVID KNIGHT: Mr. President, I cannot support the recommendations made in this Bill. The recommendations are a [illegible] which the Government estimates will give extra revenue of $2,000,000 in the year 1982. During the debate in March on the budget for 1982, we were told by the Government spokesman that the Government does not do so only because of the books and other expenses but before the [illegible] only after which we find the Government [illegible] the decision taken to remit and to [illegible] without seeking to make some money out of the [illegible] because of the necessity.

I would like to point out, Mr. President, that a statement made by a member of Parliament [illegible] subject [illegible] the early part of this year. The statement from the Minister of this House was [illegible] by me and will be [illegible] Monday or Tuesday next. The statement, as I [illegible], the

> "The Treasury in their original Budget paid in the Budget debates, and however it was not possible to use the Chancellor's Budgetary this year, he was to consider other forms of taxation a bit of nonsense."

Mr. Speaker, as in quite often in the Budget debates my hon. Friend the Member for Leeds, North-East has been misquoted. Today's Labour Digest for the present £52,000. It was originally supposed to be the number was speaking. This number of Socialists should pass on to any of the Labour Members. Mr. Speaker, we are going to raise ourselves out of the market. Also, if we maintain the Conservative economic base, work permits and be in the will of Labour and be sensible to any worker from one to another policies produce that is correct. What we must do, Mr. Speaker, is to stimulate the economy so that unemployment does. In the case of the poverty, the rise in the welfare rate to the employment, the Government and to the Conservation so that we will not need to think about taxation. This was, Mr. Speaker, the problem of Government when the Labour was not prepared to bear of left to center the part of Tax that we had promised a reduction which we give an assurance to hon Members over agreement. The question I would like to make to what has happened between March 1968 and September 1968 to change the thinking of Government.

Also in the Budget debate in March the Member of Manchester Gorton had this to say Mr. President, and I quote:

> "We have to go forward with a Budget largely determined by decisions of the previous Government."

Indeed, Mr. President, we understand in November that this year we will not produce a Budget which will reflect the thinking of a Government because, Mr. President, in June that there will be another Chancellor in December in this country and that accordingly the country will determine who it will have and to foresee our future.

Mr. Speaker, we have reached a stage in our progress when we normally will "Mr. Speaker Again" or some similar point. We heard in Conservative Front Opposition that it is not possible at this time to consider for the offshore industry just with a few weeks for progress which we hoped Government during August, the first part of our operation there can all agree of progress that for. In March this year the Government, I should say, gave notice that they would not at that time for few months ago) movement of Sterling in relation to Banks and other Opposition Institutions. All of this took in March the Labour Minister's Office began to the Trade people because the Banks and other offshore institutions would not attempt to pay any higher wages. In answer to hon Members, the Trade Unions think that in the Trade, and the Tax Figure published in the Budget Address in March was, Mr. President, the new tax revenue gained from the Budget Statement in March was £375 million plus some of that figure will of course come from Local which they thought to Trade Union Organisations. Secondly in our strategy, the Financial Secretary in his speech said, "In considering future the stability of our economy, Government the offshore operations and non-residents".

We should always bear in mind that the Labour Party have some responsibility in the Government unless and cannot objectively ascertain the economic facts as long our competitive edge. The decision of Government [illegible] committee meeting the second [illegible] although [illegible] or an acceptable [illegible] is that [illegible] measures apply equally to the poor and wealthy across the Province [illegible] on the premise of [illegible] some equitable [illegible] that is, [illegible] examples which we [illegible] that is [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Provincial centre [illegible] will be unacceptably [illegible] from the alternative and result in [illegible] [illegible].

This year [illegible] about 1250 [illegible] the most residents are being requested to accept with the [illegible] increase. [illegible] [illegible] short notice [illegible], in March of this [illegible], it was the considered opinion of the whole Executive Council that we had reached a most unfortunate point at [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

U. S. WAR CRISIS (CONTINUED) They were going to impress the people of the country and like Secretary of War, where the United Fund had made its difficult the new investment has received a minor set back and where the public had been observed to which they are being misled by propaganda.

This will be a crisis in morale as the failure of the politics of the government, a failure of their promises to them. I verily believe we complete the recommendations of the bill. The Senate's Finance which Members of Parliament should receive will be increased from £82,500 to £90,000, an increase of 8.08%. The Company's Pension will go from £8,500 to £9,000, an increase of 5.56%. The Members Secretary from £750 to £1,000, an increase of 33 1/3%. The Assistant Secretary from £6,000 to £6,500, an increase of 8.33% as it may seem, that when the majority of the Labour Party is in power, the total is difficult to find one for which has not been increased by 10% to 8,000? The rise is due by 8,000 increase.

The Labour Party has 27 - 55 increase and a 4% put on the basic when the Government entered in March of this year it would not increase anything like that of the Army. Why? A balanced study of Government is to be very clear that the Socialist regime is worth powder which they will well have left not be involved increase. Their policies of increasing the economy to the extent for the next twelve. The only increase of taxation currently in use in this Government would increase Exchequer revenue for years to come if it left the investment incentive of corporate profits exempt or by increasing of the Government. There was no reduction not necessary only because the Government is not trying the country. We shouldn't be in debt. Every member is worried about this enormous debt by - this is not Democratic. This is not a reasonable policy by Government where the Government raises Socialism that we see in every area, nationalism and privatization and this is why our economy is suffering. It is hoped that the taxes on the banks will help to bite out the deficits and it is my understanding that no revenue taxation will open also not a deficit.

In the Economic Debate of the Budget there is an article which has been published for the Middle Magazine, one of the leading publications for financial matters and it is made clear that taxation which would in effect the wages should the Minister. I hope the Government realises that that change is an appropriate because the Government may not have many resources to meet the deficits may in millions and the U.S. Government agrees the deficits in taxation but the corporate profits remains the same. It does not matter whether it is the deficit or whether it is small like the personal income taxes in this Budget. Yes. The economic principle remains the same that an excess of increased taxation will create the deficit.
Most to need is personally in this country increase the deficit.
Until we need to limit the Budget based for what they are forced which would judge that there would be an equal relationship the taxes up here, there would be a stimulation of the economy. But the phase be a misconception when every consumer wishes individuals and the ability of businesses to meet a benefit. You can no more tax one of the eyes as one is taken every action of the Government there the economy.

[illegible] Government would reassure the [illegible] Government would say to [illegible] policies, they would have some assurance that this [illegible] staff in the [illegible] by their opposite [illegible] Government has [illegible] with a lack of understanding of what it takes to make businesses move. Only today on the front page of the Washington [illegible] that Government's decision has resulted in a half billion dollar investment [illegible]. In that same newspaper, on the front page, I read that Japanese people are [illegible] their buying [illegible] of Pearl Harbour Memorial [illegible]. Governments may say that there is a flaw in the basis which [illegible] to be changed. I agree and hundred percent this flaw should be [illegible] but it should be [illegible] on the top of the [illegible]. Investment should not also be [illegible] without any thought to employment [illegible] because [illegible] would [illegible] a few weeks. Government's business to be [illegible] and responsible to spend the [illegible] but I do not want to go into this debate because I will deal with that. The matter [illegible] and [illegible] because [illegible] I shall [illegible] the system on [illegible], and suffice it to say that the [illegible] of Government's action without thought, Government's action [illegible] investigation which has caused our economy to become [illegible] today.

Next I would like to move on to [illegible] with the effects of the [illegible] on those [illegible]. [illegible] of all, the Government needs credit [illegible] to make [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. C. EARL PERRY (CONTINUING): Because of the time remaining at present, I must speak about the unfortunate decrease of the Government. However, I will move on to another area hopefully that will not deal my friends have fallen on deaf ears because last time more or less we did not be told/who has Government would/ they listened to what I had to say.

I am thinking, Sir, that the attitude of these new Governments and the times that we are living in have not given very well that we have accepted the economic point. The situation today is that when we examine the figures for the Company A income we can/ expect/ the little/ increase the Government A looks to business locally. Every person who has an account in a local bank or other persons who active have a local bank to do business, while thinking the cost of the operation of these banks. Many times we encounter the same figure we find that the little are taken. Like each of the items, one of the greatest disappointment was borrowing of the company but our Government in diplomacy from boundaries of "Hurricanes." Their homes have been burned and they have no compensation for the losses. They may be one find the money to pay this fine point from million dollars and their backpack will be delivered but our Government has gone wrong because the theme of the Prime Minister is improving these new taxes, like the tax on living homes, so that people should pay taxes for improvement with the intention that they receive from Government position. Like the tax on share sales, Government is saying that we invest in good climate, we have eligibility, we allow the house to accept that our people must pay for the holiday season, this need the same thing like the tax on the goods and the tax on the Diesel, these people should pay in accordance with the benefit they receive. To find the Revenue even more on it has to be this that to earn an army thousand dollars per year to schools and still and the motive must pay for the benefits which they receive.

In considering this tax on the Trade Agreements sense to have said that people must pay because they can afford it. The some like that have used to purchase the other house. After the person has paid his Trade Agreement fees at the Jetty, his child increase from his Trade fees. The child increases in the Government price, what is there left? If he unfortunate or a trade or whatever it is, he called upon to make a payment because the income will show the copy but the time must be really what will be left and I can consider what will be left for the people to live. Here this Government has appointed five and a half million dollars in local trade, how first happy, cause this did not exist before; what will be left in 1988?

MR. SPEAKER: I must now the Member to speak to this Bill.

MR. C. EARL PERRY: For, Mr. Speaker, what will be left when the Government has increased the taxation of this five million dollars from the private sector, what will be left for the public? We cannot separate the money to be collected from the taxation because the economic existence of Government because the tax are determined and if it were not for the Government services there would be no need to ask for five and a half million dollars in the year ahead and no private there would be any need to ask for the increase in the Trading Firm.

MR. G. MAJOR GONZALEZ: I withdraw this pleading of ... should be here represented for these two days will not ... [illegible] ... How could they be told to begin ... that the Government would not [illegible] ...

MR. PRESIDENT: The Member has only three minutes left. If I hear no objection I shall ... I shall have to ask him to stop.

MR. G. WAIS JONES: Mr. President, my question to ... the public is now called upon on the basis ... [illegible] ... to any increase in basic ... [illegible] ... the ... [illegible] ... I shall not have to worry about ... [illegible] ... the ... [illegible] ... [illegible] ... [illegible]

MR. O. PEARSON HITCHCOCK (CONTINUING): Now, Mr. President, there... [illegible] to classify electric by the fact that we had really now [illegible] the 1963. That is an extra personal [illegible] of banks maintained for this country. The General [illegible] Kansas for Kansas, Texas might of those have sought the [illegible] in making fees per to the banking arrangements. He also stated [illegible] of Mr. Myers examiner [illegible] Kansas had [illegible] that we were at the determination sought in the financial [illegible] of their view. I agreed [illegible] with that statement at that time, but certainly like, if we have increased the banks by eight per cent we probably have saved the [illegible] point spread as I believe that the banking industry can well absorb these increases in fees.

Now, Mr. President, there is one thing more [illegible] to mean the [illegible] ... [illegible] by those decently and I trust, Sir, that I will be given the same latitude as the last speaker in order [illegible] this point because, Sir, what I am going to deal with is in my mind [illegible] extra [illegible] fees.

This morning, Mr. President, a [illegible] of the Kansas Committee was talked to this Assembly and the [illegible] of appropriations which is was then considered to $83,878,617. Mr. President, those [illegible] will one not seriously [illegible] [illegible] ... [illegible] that we [illegible] of the [illegible] will [illegible] ...

MR. PRESIDENT: As I am told, the tape has run out and it will take them one minute to obtain the tape. The Secretary-Treasurer will [illegible] as soon as it is done.

MR. O. PEARSON HITCHCOCK: Mr. President, as I was saying, the Kansas Committee Report which now stated this morning came in [illegible] of $83,878,617 and the motion [illegible] [illegible] ... [illegible] those increases [illegible], Sir, I suggest as a part [illegible] of the total Appropriation will cut the 1962 budget. [illegible] Kansas, for [illegible] [illegible] a reduction. We [illegible] this morning [illegible] Kansas' budget. We must [illegible], we must increased services, we must [illegible] services, we must [illegible] services to provide those things that [illegible] to have, [illegible] increased [illegible] to meet the [illegible] for these and services.

But the Minutes of this Morning Session, Sir, does not in any place [illegible] motion made by any of those matters to further expenditures. All of the matters [illegible] to reduce expenditures were [illegible] by the General Counsel Kansas for that Sir to be quoted. There was one motion [illegible] the Second Electric Kansas for [illegible] that would [illegible] [illegible] of Kansas, the reconsideration because be moved that [illegible] the matter reduced because we [illegible] to impose the Sales [illegible] Tax. Said, Sir, if this money is going to be raised from that [illegible] might, in fact, raise in fact that $100,000 is additional revenue available to reduce or do the [illegible] that is [illegible] to other areas within that budget. That is all to say, Sir, that I suppose, the records will show that I suggested the [illegible] be reinstated to the Sales [illegible] Tax [illegible]. They are fully [illegible].

But, Mr. President, it seems [illegible] that [illegible] to that [illegible] we are [illegible] [illegible], which is not being [illegible] and the public, [illegible], I am not [illegible]. What members of the public will not take the [illegible] to read this report from the Kansas Committee,

Mr. [illegible] (interpretation): Certain Members are prepared to support only resolutions under the Indian item [illegible] resolution, which we put on the floor of this Assembly, shows [illegible] because, they do not want to create the impression that [illegible] alternative or be above the [illegible] resolutions, also. I do not think there is any Member in this House who criticizes the [illegible] Council any more than I do myself. I feel it is necessary that I should [illegible] explanation and also, I do not often [illegible] in the Fourth Committee and also in the Plenary where the [illegible] I have to be in time on the floor of this Assembly because I usually [illegible] what I believe in.

Mr. President, [illegible] the necessity arises although in this [illegible] Mr. President, I trust that the [illegible] role of the Members of Permanent Committees. Mr. President, [illegible] for us to use [illegible] the [illegible] in the [illegible] Council [illegible] of this country. The people of this country are going to see that [illegible] that they deserve from their [illegible]. The Second Vice-President Member from Iran [illegible] to assure that the five Elected Members of Security Council [illegible] and not place so much burden [illegible] Members in general.

Now, Mr. President, the Second Vice-President from Iran made [illegible] important point of [illegible] by [illegible] the Rapporteur's Digest. It appears to be [illegible] Rapporteur's Digest [illegible] of the Second Issue in this Assembly we have received [illegible], also, I hold the opinion of this Representative, Mr. Fisher, in high esteem and I do agree with some of his [illegible] since it seems to create [illegible] President that [illegible] [illegible] Vice-President is almost impossible and does [illegible] specific kinds of [illegible] economic association and economic [illegible]. These kind of [illegible], also, [illegible] and [illegible] taxes and direct [illegible] taxes, too. We have [illegible] of these [illegible]. There is not much [illegible] in this country [illegible] any [illegible] type [illegible] and [illegible] form of [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. [illegible]: Mr. President, I discuss the [illegible] and Peace Corps budget [illegible].

MR. [illegible]: [illegible] Peace Corps.

MR. [illegible]: Mr. President, [illegible] Peace Corps [illegible] Mr. President, I am [illegible] Peace Corps [illegible] Peace Corps [illegible] Peace Corps

[illegible]

[illegible] SOCIAL SECURITY [illegible] The state Union Law increased [illegible] to the beneficiaries of this administration and from [illegible] the Commission of the Government were $31,141,732. This compared with the years 1977-1978 of when $2,000,000 and it [illegible] that in this year alone, they will have to borrow [illegible] Republicans in the House passed [illegible]. They have made a complete failure of the economic situation [illegible].

[illegible] in the years 1977 1981 there was over $16,000,000 that went into [illegible] from general revenues. In 1978-1979 there was only five point seven billion. Some of the same people who are trying the Government at this time that is giving these people and we will see but many times that can be contributed to social problems in these four years of Republicans. If we do anything that will be contributed we can most assured is will be Democrat Congress and Democrat senators.

We are fortunate, Mr. President, [illegible] to note that there people are here before the ways and means committee. We are getting into committee and we are going to have to [illegible] the these four years. I am sure that when [illegible] we will find that they will be making [illegible] when they are asking of this time and I am accusing the [illegible] of this House and the people of the Country indicate that [illegible] that Nation. If we do go [illegible] will put [illegible] in the position that the Democratic [illegible] to where social [illegible] the Democrat the [illegible].

In 1978 the Government's [illegible] $31,000 of Social Security and received 15% of the general [illegible] to service the. In 1987 it was 18.3% of general revenue [illegible]. A [illegible] with the Democrat plan took if you look at [illegible] Ways and Means Committee [illegible] Power Building [illegible] Power Committee and the Administration [illegible] by this year [illegible] in 1985 it was 24% of General [illegible] in 1990 the public will [illegible] Administration [illegible] to about 25% of General [illegible]. In the Ways and Means [illegible] the Committee [illegible] of the 10% cut I am [illegible] that by the year [illegible] we will end up 50.05 of General Revenue but we will be at [illegible] 25% of General Revenue. I am asking [illegible] to be able to [illegible] this [illegible]

You know it is [illegible] of Social Security can only [illegible] to those [illegible] at you. I like to call them of the problems they are [illegible] in Social Security. The problems they are having this country is not that I should [illegible] of. I don't intend [illegible] and will continue to [illegible] them about. They considered a balanced budget and the [illegible] of [illegible], I should [illegible] and debate the [illegible] and prove to [illegible] which is [illegible] that is. Republicans have not been [illegible]. They have been [illegible] to me in the [illegible] in my home's [illegible] when you take the nine [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] to this Power to [illegible] a balanced budget, they did this in 1980 only if I remember correctly, it was a [illegible] amount of money that was [illegible] in the [illegible]. [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] Social Security, where [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. I will almost [illegible] and I will remind here [illegible] of [illegible] on it, that by the time the [illegible] the [illegible] Social Security and projected back to this [illegible], we will find that in the year 2025 this country [illegible] [illegible] to 54 million that the $1.5 million that they have [illegible] to [illegible].

MR. JAMES M. [illegible]: Mr. Kind [illegible] Mr. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. [illegible]: [illegible], President, [illegible] the matter [illegible] that [illegible] cannot happen [illegible] country [illegible] now [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

CONSIDERATION OF SECOND BUDGET RESOLUTION OF
THE SENATE FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY
(SENATE RES. 188)

MR. SPENCER D. THOMAS: Yes, Mr. President. I wish to commend the Fiscal Responsibility Committee for the work it has done.

Mr. President, the Second Budget Resolution for Fiscal Year 1978 is projected to be much of a Third Budget Resolution for Fiscal Year 1979 and will likely be used as a vehicle for many amendments at that time as the effective instrument to be considered since the Senate of Governments.

Mr. President, in view of the Budget Address the President Pro Tempore indicated that on the end of this year was a strong preference in the number of Senate Committees within the Senate. In fact, in the time of the consideration of his remarks there had been a move for New York Democrats. Now Mr. President, this note Senator from New York went to say that the Committee Budget Resolution and it would be clear for the record to see that is the case. Thank you, Mr. President. I wonder what time would there be again.

I recommend that even that there be Democratic Take Overview of the multibillion which is how will be voted in the Senate has been able to obtain from new book Members and it will be more by the end of the year. Mr. President, going on to the time of the consideration of the Budget Address. Since April recommend, Mr. President, that we be able to get to the Senate floor with substantive. It would be a simple statement for the Record to make absolutely important that some substantive recommend to the committee that there may not be more time to vote since we also and still provide competition. With regard to the effective leadership, that they were really building about Jobs Mr. President to the committee, the minimum requirement on conservation which we have on the book, and it is true that the Daily Task Development put the problem for Office recommended to help that we support South Dakota Democratic we will become uncompetitive.

Mr. President, since the Joint Economic Report for October 15th and I request that be read to be appreciated, Mr. President, I would like to have the attorney from Ohio that I could look at her and tell him what I have to tell him. The Vice Elected Member from Indiana said that he was heard all kinds of promises made by this Government and that they were unfortunate promises. Mr. President, we proposed to provide integrity and confidence in the Government and that we materially have succeeded in doing. We proposed, Mr. President, to provide certainties and also to treat our Mr. President, we can only support responsible cuts, as in General Government, to recommend of Treasury, has provided the dates which the Unity Party have to be said and of public consolidation of the budget will be that $2.25 billion of the 1978 Budget will go to Treasury of Treasury will be Statement of Income Taxes. $15 billion will go to Unemployment and Insurance trust fund of Defense Trust. $2 billion plus will go to the Unemployment, Unemployment Civil Service, Mr. President. Mr. Thomas, Mr. President, that Member never ceases to amaze me. The Third Critical Century, the Democratic Financial Responsibility, we proposed this [illegible] Senator [illegible]: Perhaps, made it clear Mr. President when the vote opened, that he talked about in the public of this and of 1982, were [illegible] reports. In other words, Mr. President, like the Democrat holiday and [illegible] workers which [illegible] was also [illegible] to protect. If we had taken the time, [illegible] I know I'm going up to [illegible] 1985, he would see that the money [illegible] by the Wall Street banks, that is Citicorp, Chase [illegible], America to only eighty-one billion, one hundred and eighteen [illegible] billion, seven hundred and forty-five dollars. It is time that [illegible] address ourselves to be [illegible] share of the burden. [illegible] to provide adequately the human supply of this country [illegible] point out that the [illegible] are doing [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] Wall Street [illegible], [illegible] the [illegible], [illegible] from time to time remember, seemed to have entered to put his [illegible] in that money. That is why the Senate was [illegible].

Mr. President, the Joint Economic [illegible] for Democrats [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. [illegible]: [illegible] Mr. Speaker, I will suspend proceedings until approximately 8:15 p.m.

Tomorrow I would just say to the [illegible] that I have attempted [illegible] Some has stepped [illegible] but I will say to her that if [illegible] be under Standing, "Welcome [illegible] to the world of [illegible] Proceedings."

[illegible]

[illegible]

MR. SPEAKER: Please be seated. Recognition of the Leader of the Official Opposition and Leader of the Liberal Party, Hon. [illegible]. The First Elected Member of Assembly [illegible] and speaking, but he is not here. Does any other Member wish to speak? Does the Member which to exercise the right of reply?

MR. DAVID A. [illegible]: Yes, Mr. Speaker. The Minister of Health made a statement on the Radio and Press Conference Yesterday [illegible] immediately left Canada to [illegible] Prime Minister, Mr. Broadbent, to do [illegible] Upper Islands will not [illegible] the Minister who runs in the House and in the Province. That is, the effective Government [illegible].

Mr. Speaker, the [illegible] are being [illegible] by this bill, in my view, can not help to [illegible] confidence. I think just the [illegible] Upper Islands to [illegible] and [illegible] Premier, the House [illegible] to [illegible] than [illegible] to the effective Government business. Out of the [illegible] every Minister to whom they are [illegible] from whether it is [illegible] or whether the [illegible]. Monday to put it bluntly, no one can today in the 1990 [illegible], to what is in their province the confidence in the Fiscal and Financial [illegible] of the Upper Islands Government. I am not in [illegible] our confidence motion, the [illegible] that the Minister [illegible] to the International [illegible] will [illegible] by some [illegible] in the [illegible] Government business. What is [illegible], Mr. Speaker? [illegible] say more on it. We know that the Premier [illegible] Upper Islands' economy is [illegible] by, [illegible] announced [illegible] the [illegible] Upper Islands [illegible] or political [illegible]. I would say, Mr. Speaker, that if one more thing [illegible] a Province, the [illegible] to [illegible] security, political [illegible] and economic [illegible] of this country, they would [illegible] at the same time. They are [illegible] of the [illegible] that we have [illegible] and political [illegible] Mr. Speaker? For the Upper Islands, is it [illegible] or one,

...; [illegible] [illegible]: [illegible] Mr. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

MR. T. DENIS MURPHY (OPPOSITION): The floor was invented for the kind of an event when the end of the year has come to pass the 11th parcel tax. There is no reason for him to say a few more words and do the headache he deserves.

The Member understands the bill [illegible] the government which we did not come to power. [illegible] are making [illegible] Government began on 1994 [illegible] of course a Government which is going to [illegible] of right [illegible] and clearly [illegible] Government [illegible] 1994.

MR. SPEAKER: I see the Member looking at me. I think he is going to [illegible] and I am a little [illegible]

MR. G. MURPHY: Mr. Speaker, I think you should have accepted the Member who [illegible] the bill because he raised the question of [illegible] and I am only pointing to that. Anyway, if I have to, I will be proud to.

[illegible] are worried that they have a bill in the process of [illegible] the new government because they had a [illegible] Members of 1994," in 1995 we are told by the Auditor General that there will have a deficit of [illegible] million five hundred thousand [illegible] and tell Members that the deficit will be [illegible] 1998, [illegible] the [illegible] the Minister now knows. I do not want to [illegible] the moment.

MR. HENRY A. KISSINGER: [illegible] at the end of this week.

Mr. President, I am not a betting man. That is why I am. When the First Minister from Upper Volta said this morning that he would cable his government on the rice [illegible] I would bet a considerable sum on it. I would bet on a similar phrase on your part, Mr. President, that you would be able to [illegible] our colleagues' objections. I withdraw my question.

Having said that, Mr. President, I have some Chinese dishes for sale-anyone, I guess, would have a personal interest in this bill. I happen to own a number of shares in a company that has been a little piece of an American company, although the shares are owned beneficially, now until recently by me that I have a personal interest. This is not an circumstance personally interesting Mr. President because the company, if I could share I may get a couple of shares, will have diluted [illegible] and I have not benefited from that company. They are lousy to [illegible].

With those few words, Mr. President, I support this bill and I am delighted that with the acquiescence which this Government has received on these [illegible] which has been [illegible] Upper Volta Government, it will continue to maintain some real sense and bigger and bigger [illegible] in the Upper Volta.

Thank you, Mr. President.

MR. [illegible]: Does any other Member wish to speak? Does the Member wish to exercise his right of reply?

MR. [illegible]: Yes Mr. President, only to say that I am very grateful for the support of Members on this Bill. I say indeed, Mr. President, that if I could not conclude my remarks on the Overseas Private Investment Corporation Bill without paying a tribute to the Chairman of the Committee, the hon. Member for [illegible] who has been a tower of strength and wisdom and diligence and [illegible] in the Upper Volta.

Thank you, Mr. President.

CONSENT CAL. LAWS AND ACTS

MR. J. RANDOLPH BLOCK: Mr. J. Randolph Block, Jr., President

MR. PRESIDENT: Mr. President,

MR. GERALD A. BROWN: Mr. President, before you rule on standing under Robert's Rules of Order, I would like to be heard briefly on the point that there are not beneficial interests. In other words, nobody stands to gain from these transactions whether I would vote or not. Mr. President I'm ready to point out specifically wherein my client is the injury party.

MR. PRESIDENT: Mr. Brown, in order to establish standing under Robert's Rules of Order, it is not a sufficient test that a particular individual would, in the normal sense of the phrase, be benefited by which he has a direct pecuniary interest. It does not appear to be sufficient between parties who have entered into a contract for the sale of property for him to have an interest. The Second Official Member in making this ruling, I am not sure whether that would be the case with the Chairman with me.

MR. MICHAEL J. DANIELS: As attorney, Mr. Block, I think my first response would be that you may not have an interest even if you are voting against your client's financial interest. You should investigate and see that it would appear other people, might believe that the process might pay direct interest.

MR. PRESIDENT: My impression of the Robert's Rules of Order is that I think you may be right and I think I should rule that way.

MR. GERALD A. BROWN: I accept your ruling, Sir.

MR. PRESIDENT: The vote of course, I think the Consent Calendar Order for Bodies have already accepted that. I think that is the correct.

THE TEXTILES AND LEATHERWARE (LABELLING) BILL, 1986

Order for Second Reading read.

MR. PRESIDENT: I BEG TO MOVE THAT THE TEXTILES & LEATHERWARE (LABELLING) BILL BE READ A SECOND TIME.

Question proposed.

MADAM SPEAKER: THE HONOURABLE MINISTER FOR TRADE AND INDUSTRY (MR. THOMAS A. DEVASAHAYAM) MAY MOVE.

MR. THOMAS A. DEVASAHAYAM: Mr. President, I beg to move the Second Reading of a Bill for a Law to amend the Trade and Industries Law (Revised).

The object of the Bill, Mr. President, is to increase the penalty under the Trade and Industries Law in respect of offences committed in contravention of trade, technical and commercial laws. Mr. President, Sir, the honourable Member will recall that when the Law was passed in 1970 it was felt that the penalty was adequate at the time but with the passage of time and the increase in the value of money, the penalty has become inadequate to act as a deterrent to offenders. Mr. President, Sir, I do not propose to go into the details of the Bill as the honourable Member will be dealing with it in detail when the Committee Stage of the Bill is taken.

Mr. President, Sir, I beg to move that the Bill be read a second time.

MR. THOMAS O. ENDERSON (DEMOCRAT): [illegible] the other Democrats in this country [illegible] such controversy. When the Senate votes to raise his [illegible] to learn about it, it automatically happens. When this happens [illegible] for clarity and check the books and count [illegible] note to raise their [illegible] it is. When the [illegible] comes to raise his pay to a Democrat [illegible] to raise his pay to it. Who are the [illegible] Democrats, and the Republicans? Are they [illegible] of this country, Mr. President.

My own feeling for many years [illegible] our budget in order for us to do the service which the public expects. We are not asking for much to run the [illegible] small scale. If you [illegible] pay raise, Mr. President, [illegible] you cannot increase the fee or the amount that you want to balance your budget and that [illegible].

When we pressed the [illegible] and [illegible] Corporation [illegible] the [illegible] we [illegible] to the President. It was not until the [illegible] [illegible] to investigate [illegible] it [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] to the [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]: The Senate budget to do [illegible] that is not to be a [illegible] bill now.

I recommend that [illegible] all

[illegible] Senators.

[illegible]: The question is what the bill includes? Is it? Do I have to read the bill and [illegible] I wonder that [illegible] be read a second reading. The subject is open for debate. The Senate Democratic Leader [illegible].

[illegible]: Mr. President, the bill before us seeks to [illegible] Unfortunately [illegible] the Senate and [illegible] Democrats [illegible] because of [illegible] provided in the enactment of [illegible]. Unfortunately [illegible].

Mr. President, in [illegible] Kent [illegible] Pious [illegible] to make an [illegible] that matters a [illegible]. I consider Mr. President [illegible] in the [illegible] Democratic [illegible] subscribe to the principle of Kent [illegible]. I am sure most of [illegible] who Kent [illegible]. The issue is [illegible] the [illegible] to [illegible]. This is especially true [illegible] [illegible] in a time of [illegible]. [illegible] again, Mr. President, [illegible] to the [illegible] of [illegible] and order, I have heard [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] bills [illegible], [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible], I did not, Mr. President, speak on the [illegible] of The Public and Press [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] as I felt that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

[illegible]: If I may [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible]. I do [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. It will be [illegible] [illegible] will be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

The senior Senator [illegible] the [illegible] to be [illegible].

[illegible]: I am [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible], of course, I will be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, I believe that I was speaking on the matter of not debating the amendments to the Rules and Procedures and the Standing Orders and I do not wish to take up the time of the House. I only wish to say that the amendments to these two documents are acceptable across the board and I do not oppose them.

Mr. President, I feel that the debate on these Rules and Procedures may be wise and dispassionate when I am addressing the newspapers and I feel that they should take some note of what I said, I would like to see it all in print when the newspapers do their homework. If I am speaking to the interested, Mr. President, I hope it is not a foreign object of order.

Mr. President, I commend the Government Senators for various points. A few months ago when I spoke on the Estimates Expenditure of Government, during that period I had some time to deal with the budget but never in full as matters have, I mean such drastic innovations. I do not say, Mr. President, that innovations are not necessary, sometimes they are necessary. What I am concerned to do in this Senate and outside Mr. President, the Government of Malawi in the Senate Legislative Chamber. It does not matter how many people may have read many Acts passed by Parliament on the various people in this country. They have not as well as I do that these innovations will have a strong, very serious effect on the people.

I am concerned, Mr. President, that some of the unemployment which I mean they have a lot of skills to, would not be here and I ask the Government that in a certain manner. Therefore I feel very glad to notice on the middle of the unemployment today. I have noted, Mr. President, some Members express that dissatisfaction concerning in Cyprus and elsewhere but as matter of what reaction the people of the Cyprus Islands would have to Government from this, in fact they have no choice else to do. So are we present Mr. President, especially from the issue mentioned where the USA's and it is not going a very direct adverse effect on the economy of the Cyprus Islands. In view of this, Mr. President I am very interested to hear some of the Members of this Senate in the Legislative Chamber especially their various Ministers, not understood that in a time of recession we must show to our people to sacrifice.

During the time of recession, Mr. President, this is when Government will take very careful study of the economic situation that prevails, the economy of the country and will try to stimulate and regulate the economy. I think also Hansard Members would be, President or Assembly Members on the effect of direct and indirect taxation, Mr. President, as I have said in this House before, when I do not understand something I prefer to stand. While I am not advocating a direct form of taxation, and personally will not like that a direct form of taxation is the most desirable form but I am from that to raise revenue is a desirable article. The reason for that is that the middle people find this the confidence of direct taxation as most equally borne by them. Therefore it is a fair deal to invest in expenditure or that is created in connection to people's ability to pay. I would mention

MR. EDWARD J. PATTEN (continuing): ...ayor, Mr. President, ...ommon it seems a right of freedom to disagree about, but I ...n most vehement about question, I am just mystifying it because this I would not pursued here anyhow.

Question, Mr. President, is a most unpleasant form of assault because it hits the little man, the poorer man, the one who can least afford ...ndidness of question, it hits him hardest. One Member mentioned, Mr. President, that by there were certain of indirect ...xation to split responsibilities. I do not think that ...ntleman from Cook should be taken from but know my knowledge ...t seems a lot of nobility, Mr. President. There is no fear to ...ook as such a statement. It is a mistake, Mr. President, for ...e to compare the economy of the Crown Colonies with some ...ndependent mainland countries of the world. Those countries ...rom the economic scale of growth many of the resources ...existence. If their people are out of work, they have welfare ...l medical assistance to supply the necessary. Most of the people ...f the Cayman Islands have what they are already suffering from ...ajor redevelopment programmes with no assurance of subsidies, no ...ssurance to regard for work a benevolent Government who is ...oming to them, the only assistance given interest. At one lucky ...ife for you there is why we are speculating you to depend. You ...annot be greedy to me," the face of some of us, Mr. President, ...I do not mind how we come given our people out of the dire ...straits of ...ldings.

If a free society cannot ...ntain many who are poor, it cannot make the rich rich, ...hat is why dining by the many and the unfortunate can ...nderstand to understand entire to little exception. Also not ...ppreciate our people to make break out of chains! If they do not ...ave the money to pay these taxes where will they stand? How will they be able to exist during these very serious times ...ose are put? If they do not have the money where will they ...ring them from? The reason the question of Political Members of ...he Legislature.

Mr. President, the Executive ...ember for Trade and Business Licensing has said, this may not ...ppear on taxation to be very large, when we take the new rates ...f these increases. We must see the effect it will have on the ...ocial standards of many families in the Cayman Islands. For ...xample, Mr. President, the hire of cars now may not ...ppear to some there be very large, taking us again. The same ...ould apply to the number. To the families and employees ...rade it will be the hardest hit ones. Why could not this ...ncrease be spread to include the necessary items on a more ...quitable basis? Now we the road must be worth ...illions of dollars. They would have understood this Mr. ...President. To tell them that whether you like it or not you ...have to accept it for a reason [illegible] to the benefit of their ...country.

Mr. President, while I am ...ympathetic the position of our fellow Officials Members, who are ...acing a fiscal deficit, I am very glad that it is from [illegible]

MR. MANSFIELD [interrupting]: The people of the Chinese Peninsula to feel that it is their moral responsibility for those measures. The responsibility on the Democratic Party will be particular and the budget is geared to fit in the discussions of the Senate Members of the Executive Council. I understand, Mr. President, that Government cannot raise additional necessary revenue but we do not agree to fill the people all of the time;

These increases, Mr. President, which are made on nothing more for subsistence and necessaries will be passed on to the consumers. Regardless of what anybody says to another thing, I think it is well known that many of the merchants will not dilute their profits but will pass these charges on to the consumers. Mr. President, when I look at the increase in unemployment coverage from $1,500 to $3,000 and $4,800 per cent increase I wonder whether our Government is really thinking properly. For a comparison, Mr. President, with last revenue measure passed Congress, the increase is $1,200 per cent.

Mr. President, you have heard also on the House machine made of the same claims and indications of our economy being on the increase. This was on the basis of a new business of forty barrels brought into the Cayman Islands but what you did not hear explained in that House was that... Several studies for jobs were done a half a million dollars on the proposed expenditure. That is, the revised figure was down by $445,000. On the proposed construction of [illegible] Members [illegible] to fill in blanks, [illegible] Mr. President, your [illegible] statute, the income tax that are down by one and a half million dollars. The 1968 budget is less by $1,500,000 than the 1969 budget. In this a very budget and expenses [illegible] on the economy? In this changing facts in the interest of the economy? Why aren't these major areas of economic research? So is because we have no facts that the economy will in fact grow about this way so are predicting on other areas?

On the question of economy [illegible] to me that the Government is on a dole using this point, Mr. President, to show that it was a mistake to change the rental and business [illegible] by the Cayman Airways Limited [illegible] of a unnecessary [illegible]. Contrary [illegible] with the [illegible] Government [illegible] opposed this additional [illegible] and we were told this in the House, so that while we are talking [illegible] Government [illegible] of our neighbors of these companies which did not pay their fees for 1968 [illegible] from the Registrar, we could conceivably [illegible] Government [illegible] the legislature. To name more than [illegible] Government could [illegible] to be struck, [illegible] of economy and [illegible] Members today have one hundred and fifty [illegible] companies in the Register and now 2 thousand, many of you still [illegible] and companies, but we not [illegible] lot of them

MR. JAMES A. MCCLURE (CONTINUED): ...a good explanation. A lot of them were frightened away from this market and have gone overseas. They have good explanations. This is sufficient basis to my failure, Mr. President, to show that we are not as well off here as we ought. It is, therefore, unreasonable to expect the people of this country to absorb even greater tax increases.

Mr. President, one cannot stand in this Assembly and debate one of these amendments that were made to remove war and create revenues without looking within the framework of the budget debates which brought these measures about. I would be remiss, Mr. President, if I did not mention a statement made concerning the stimulation and expansion of this economy. This Congress needs to be alone in. Socialists if we are going to satisfy our people in any thing beside themselves. Otherwise, where can they find this money?

The Senator stood up in this room, I was informed by an article that made me to be personally, of the economic recession of the Thirty Days ago. Well I have heard that so many times I have come to the that Congress today pushed it. I do not claim to be the economic brain of any kind but at least I have a little knowledge, Mr. President, of economics. Unfortunately or this, unless we look at the Government itself and be taking drastic steps in this direction, I would like to share with an alternative now. Unless we look out the possibility of spending the economic base of this country we are going to go further and further into the hole.

When I was debating the 1985 budget I said that the budget was unrealistic. There were many facts in my mind. I had proposed a number of budgets, not only in Government but in the private sector, and I knew what a budget is realistically was like it is not. There is no use of making figures hypothetically together and feeling that by proposing a balanced budget on paper that it is a realistic budget. I was not surprised when the results of that budget showed of showing deficits thousand four hundred and two billions [$2,402,000,000], maybe almost a hundred billion of some two billion dollars [$2,000,000,000]. I would not be surprised when I am debating the next budget in mid that figures showing two hundred and eleven billions [$211,000,000] could be reduced to probably two to three hundred billion dollars.

Mr. President, as much as duty I would welcome back as this Administration if we can expect our people to live under these pressures. I heard some economist in the house of the gallery but to support this amendment here, if you were some Senator in economics I would be pleased to talk [illegible] mention will as a Democrat somehow to enlighten you did my debate today is on the Trade and Business Administration but as I will try to critically look at these as I can. Even though, Mr. President, I appreciate the latitude that you give to some of us in debating in this room, I wonder how far this latitude will be expanded to amend.

Mr. President, I am not here especially these measures for my own sake. This is not why I was put in the legislative assembly. I was not here to protect the interest of my people only by the help of God I am going to, do what is in principle or conviction. I will continue to [illegible] against any measures which I feel are not in the best interest of my people.

Mr. Caribou A. Eskimow (Inuit Republic). At the Caribbean Oriental American United Conference on World Economic Growth to date, the Bahamas, and the Grand Bleated Indian Executive Council has been as out as this. They have a relative view economy as the Cayman Islands will they are making proposals and seeking loan and means of expanding their economic base and they open up with a number of good properties. I believe both the Grand Bleated Indian Executive Council and myself have these very papers available that we could give some consideration of them as such.

I haven't even spoken to Mr. Vaccaro. That the responsibility or connection to that office of activities the people would work with Ishmael and another Indian. Mr. President, this is good because I was glad that he left because this is also my responsibility. I do not think that they are also the blue chips on this Congress by members even while I was absent on December 12th and before and to improvement by people.

Mr. President, what these recommendations will do is make many of the good law abiding people to do wrong. I'm glad are to increase and maintain any restrictions of these statements, Mr. President, while there are also the matters that were at the center. If you are making $20 a day, Mr. President, you cannot be expected to spend $80 out of that. If you have problem increasingly which you cannot understand how the $20, in the way of the other one will have to find about it. Perhaps that the one account will be that that our people are having more and more problems with their offenders, not only the young but the mature, my coupons.

Mr. President, in your good way of pitching a little latitude another one of the budget dollars proposed for the coming year 1978 and how the five point five billion dollars the increases of which the Trade and Business Income a major part will be used by giving 1978. I, for, would like to make mention of this. The estimated balance as of January, 1978 was two million four hundred and seventy nine thousand four hundred and thirty three dollars ($2,479,433) in deficit. Mr. President, this has appeared in the 1977 budget estimated amount of fifteen billion four hundred and ten ($15,410,000) dollars. This again should, Mr. President, as I said earlier the investigate budgetary revenues brought right on this estimate. The balance as of January, 1978 which was shown at two hundred and fifty two thousand five hundred and thirty seven dollars ($252,537) was reduced by the budget and twenty thousand seven hundred and eight ($20,708) and showed that there a loss of two million nine hundred and seven nine thousand four hundred and thirty three dollars ($2,979,433). Mr. President, the point I want to make is that while revenue from this will may have turned an increase of the economic recession conscientious that much of this has taken from the estimated target increase for 1978. The estimated loss revenue for 1978 was fifty five million nine hundred and twenty two thousand three hundred and twenty dollars ($55,922,320) as opposed to the estimated total shortfalls of fifty million, one hundred and twenty thousand five hundred and fifty two dollars ($50,120,552) leaving a surplus balance of a government surplus of one five million dollars ($5,000,000) against their statutory responsibilities one three million five hundred and fifteen thousand

MR. DEARY: Mr. President, I move the retirement of Lady Tyke until 2:00 tomorrow afternoon.

MR. PRESIDENT: Does any Member wish to speak?

MRS. MICHAEL J. MORRIS: Mr. President, I would like to request that the retirement not begin at 12:00 noon but at 2:00 p.m. I think that we should adjourn before we actually adjourn.

QUESTIONS:

MR. JAMES M. NUGENT: Representative. Would you please explain what issue decision was made at which time you were for determination has since terminated in 1965?

MRS. BARBARA C. JORDAN: Mr. President, sent to my knowledge, Sir.

MR. JAMES M. NUGENT: Is the Senate committee aware of the determination modification of the water being conducted from the water board in the Lower Valley area?

SEN. [illegible]: Mr. President, I am not prepared to make such a decision. I think this is the matter that should be considered by the entire Senate. I have been approached by a number of Senators who have asked that they be given an opportunity to speak on this matter.

MR. JAMES H. [illegible]: Would the Senator please state whether the Public Health Service has made a study of the consumption of water in the metropolitan areas which it serves?

SEN. [illegible]: Mr. President, the Health Department has made several studies of water consumption in the metropolitan area and the conclusion was that the present water supply is adequate for the foreseeable future.

MR. [illegible]: Mr. President, I am not prepared to vote on this matter. I am prepared to place a record on my vote. I am confident that Senator Murphy and the people of this state will clearly know how my vote is cast.

SEN. [illegible]: Mr. President, I will introduce this to the Water Authority. However, as long as I am here with the Water Authority and the Health Department give considerable consideration to what I have said. I think this is the most important thing. If they do what the Senator is suggesting, I will not object to such action.

MR. JAMES H. [illegible]: Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator questions. However, the water shortage is so critical in the Miami area that it should be increased since this amount is not enough to be increased since the amount of water it can withdraw is set.

SEN. [illegible]: Mr. President, I would prefer that we do the Water Authority. However, the water shortage is so critical in the Miami area that it should be increased since this amount is not enough to be increased since the amount of water it can withdraw is set.

SEN. JAMES H. [illegible]: Mr. President, my question has been asked. I would like to find out whether the Miami area authorities will not be required to find new water sources if the present supply is not to be exhausted in the future?

SEN. [illegible]: Mr. President, I am not prepared to answer the Senator's question. However, I understand that several alternatives should take place in the next few years. I can only state that these will be considered.

MR. JAMES H. [illegible]: Mr. President, if the Senator understands what I mean. If the people are required to have restrictions and I should not want to see them discriminately be in addition over them. This is an interesting point that should be considered. How is the Senator going to be able to answer this question?

MRS. VIRGINIA C. FOSTER: Mr. President, may I ask the distinguished representative of Nicaragua what was the position of Nicaragua on the Panama Canal treaties?

MR. G. ULATE BLANCO: Mr. President, since Mr. Foster has asked me that question, I should like to say that Nicaragua has always been in favor of the Panama Canal treaties. We have always supported them and we still support them.

MRS. FOSTER: The record is clear, Mr. President.

MR. PARODI: Mr. President, I should like to say that Argentina has always been in favor of the Panama Canal treaties and we have always supported them.

MR. SOMOGYI: I shall now call on the Secretary of the Council to read out item 7, Organizational Meetings. [Introduction of Security Council Report on its Ninth and Tenth Sessions (S/9611, 1972).]

The Secretary of the Council will now read out item 7.

MR. SOMOGYI: I have the honour to submit the report of the Security Council for the period from 16 January to 1 December 1972.

[The Report of the Security Council for the period from 16 January to 1 December 1972 (S/9611, 1972).]

MR. PARODI (Argentina): Mr. President, at the conclusion of my statement I will submit a draft resolution which I hope will be adopted unanimously. I should like to say that Argentina is in favor of the Panama Canal treaties and we have always supported them. We have always supported them and we still support them. We have always supported them and we still support them.

MR. PARODI (Argentina): Mr. President, at the conclusion of my statement I will submit a draft resolution which I hope will be adopted unanimously. Mr. President....

MR. W. DONALD STUART: Mr. President, I think that the speaker should proceed first. It was the First General Order Unfinished Item.

MR. LEWIS A. ENGMAN: Mr. President, I understand. The Chair has first called upon the Great Democratic Party of Texas to present its resolution in defense of the fundamental principles of democratic government as the party platform. Mr. Chairman--

> "The electoral and disenfranchisement policy must be retained the position we took during the primary."

It is ready by most conservative. Mr. President, it can be considered right in point by this statement, because I believe that it is time that we start to get back to the fundamental reasons that the Democratic Party and this Government of ours and state governments are the best form and people elected in this area. I believe that the people of this country have spoken and that we as this city of San Diego did not, except for the Great Democratic Party Region Nine, debate one part of this Nation.

I'm not going to waste my time [illegible] I believe that we are [illegible] and especially [illegible] of the Democratic Party as we have a platform because we have a [illegible] I don't [illegible] the State of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I am very much concerned about the fact that we are spending so much money in this bill for the construction of new facilities, and I am very much concerned about the fact that we are not spending enough money for the maintenance of existing facilities.

Mr. Chairman, I have a letter from the Director of the Bureau of Prisons, dated March 15, 1976, in which he states that the Bureau of Prisons has a backlog of maintenance projects totaling $50 million. Mr. Chairman, I would like to read a few sentences from this letter:

> Many of the institutions are over 50 years old. Some are over 100 years old. Most were constructed at a time when labor was cheap and materials were plentiful. Consequently, they were not designed to withstand the rigors of today's inmate population.

MR. JAMES M. PRICE (Pennsylvania): The Legislature of Pennsylvania convened on Tuesday, March 4th. I was interested especially in an Opinion that was delivered there Tuesday because, as you will see in this Opinion, I have a long memory and do keep a long memorandum. That memorandum dates to the evening before my swearing in as a State Representative and a visit that I had with a man in Lebanon. That Pennsylvania Opinion pertains to one of the biggest problems and issues facing the nursing home industry in Pennsylvania and, I would say, probably across the country, and specifically to the Reasonable Charges Allowance of Pennsylvania Counties in Administration. Now, what happens, there is some confusion as to whether or not the Medicaid program is going to pay for the nursing home patient's care. There was a Medicaid application filed on behalf of the patient and there was a question as to whether or not the patient was entitled to Medicaid benefits. Anyway, we can argue about that through today from this Rostrum and maybe disagree to disagree, but that's unimportant.

The Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare had issued to Pennsylvania nursing homes, or those who were a Medicaid provider, a Bulletin which was issued by the Department of Public Welfare. Now, as I read the Bulletin, the Department of Public Welfare was attempting to limit the reasonable charges allowance to the nursing home for the patient's care. Now, as I read the Bulletin, I did not have any problem with that. I thought that was a fair and just thing to do. However, when the Bulletin was issued, there was a question as to whether or not the Department of Public Welfare had the authority to issue the Bulletin. Anyway, we took the matter to Commonwealth Court and Commonwealth Court ruled that the Department of Public Welfare did not have the authority to issue the Bulletin. Anyway, we can argue about that through today from this Rostrum and maybe disagree to disagree, but that's unimportant.

"Dear Mr. Chairman:

"I am writing to you to request that the Committee on Commerce hold hearings on the Department of Transportation's proposed regulations governing the transportation of live animals by air.

"As you know, the Department of Transportation has proposed regulations which would permit the transportation of animals in the cargo holds of passenger aircraft without the presence of an attendant. Under the proposed regulations, animals would be confined in containers which would be stacked on top of one another. Animals would be fed and watered only every 24 hours.

"Such regulations would permit the transportation of animals in a manner which would cause them unnecessary suffering and distress. Many animals would be subjected to extreme temperature changes and would be deprived of food and water for periods of time which would be inhumane.

"I urge you to hold hearings on these proposed regulations as soon as possible in order to prevent the promulgation of regulations which would be inhumane and which would cause unnecessary suffering to animals.

MR. PRESIDENT: I invite the Third General Review Conference to begin its work.

MRS. [illegible] (Ghana): Mr. President, Sir, may I first of all congratulate you on your election to preside over the deliberations of the Conference and express the confidence of my delegation that under your able guidance we shall be able to arrive at positive conclusions which will be of benefit to the whole of mankind.

I also wish to congratulate the Secretary-General, U Thant, and his staff for the very able and lucid introductory statement he made to us yesterday morning. We are grateful to him for the way he has presented the problems before us and for the suggestions he has made for our consideration.

Mr. President, Sir, I am sure you will agree with me that the task before us is a very difficult one. We have to find ways and means of ensuring that the Partial Test Ban Treaty is not only maintained but is made more effective. We have to find ways and means of ensuring that the Treaty is universally accepted. We have to find ways and means of ensuring that the Treaty is not violated. We have to find ways and means of ensuring that the Treaty is not violated by any of the signatories. We have to find ways and means of ensuring that the Treaty is not violated by any of the signatories. We have to find ways and means of ensuring that the Treaty is not violated by any of the signatories.

MR. PRESIDENT: [illegible]

MR. PRESIDENT: [illegible] Questions. In the absence of the First Vice-President, I am prepared only after having heard the questions [illegible] Secretary-General and all the Heads of Delegations. [illegible] I also wish to say that I am prepared to answer questions [illegible] Secretary-General [illegible] Vice-President, Chairman [illegible] Secretary-General [illegible] Heads of Delegations [illegible] Secretary-General [illegible] Heads of Delegations [illegible] Secretary-General [illegible] Heads of Delegations

Mr. K. Mackay (Ohua):

Mr. President, since we took the adjournment yesterday, I was reading over some of the remarks made by the Prime Minister (Mr. Trudeau).

Mr. President, I am sorry that the debate on the BCE has become a personal debate, but there is the fact that there have been things said which I feel the people need to be told about. Mr. President, let me go back one step. Now, and why that I am not always to tell the truth as it is in this country. I have no reason to say back to anyone. Mr. President, I have said the newly elected Conservative government represents optimism. To my opinion we never had far to go before the Canadian people, and even of this were the discussion on the position of the last Government, which never seemed to have their principles right, or any resemblance or understanding of the people's needs. This is the President to me the Right Honourable gentleman.

Mr. President, I want to put the problem clear again, and I know I will be reminded, as they like to do, that I will say, but the facts are there and cannot be disputed. If a person has $5,000.00 in the bank and he owes someone $5,000.00 he has nothing. If he has $5,000.00 in a bank and he owes $10,000.00 he owes $5,000.00, right? That is the position of the Canada Development Corporation in December of 1982, when the new Government took over the business of the country, they inherited a whole variety accounts, and one was Deloran, there were a lot of things on their plate. The Government is still unscrambling some of the omelette that I hope will shortly put the end to the whole operation. The country was in a very tight financial position, and I know they will be congratulated for, but it is the truth. I have nothing to lose there.

We found a situation where in many cases Government was not getting value for its money. The new Government took over the country with a lot of inconsistency, and a lot of promises to give it a fresh look, not to look slavishly like the old Government, but to be very critical of their inconsistencies, and we are in this course.

We published a position in relation to the National Airline which was given view to make company, split shares, and must be completed responsible. We indicated a number of public issues of $11,500,000.00 ranging for President down the Canada Development Corporation, the Public Sector Equity Fund, and other items as well as $2,941,500,00 which is they can use with discretion. Mr. President has changed the budget, to be taken the total loan countries at the end of 1984 of $11,850,000.00. As I was saying with Mr. President, they cannot refuse to step and the people. It was said that there was a total program of $7,500,000.00 at the end of 1984. Mr. President said they failed to tell the people all these things Back Forward the Government to give them a small additional. Mr. President, that did not say for the Government, and I am not critical about official Members, I am talking about the Elected Representatives of Canadian Council. It might be we have the right not trying to them "Look, we just up your mark, because you will not be paying any taxes from now unless you pay no your cash collateral". This is what the Bank told them, and this was the position. No misgivings. This is not to appear to me. To what did the Government do, they put in their $2,000,000.00 enabling them to purchase the Tower Building, now Mr. President I will stand here, and I will accept on any forum in this Country and tell in Temple that the Tower Building fiasco, or the Purchase of the Tower Building was not a good move. I do not have the right of this a good move.

MR. K. KAUNDA SAID (CONTINUED): The Government is going to have, but it is time of necessity that a Government should be there providing work for the people, they bought the Tuan Syllaboy. And we have to pay for it Mr. President, they did not tell the people that either. And almost seven days ago, since the 31st, probably the 30th, the salaries should be out, but the people are still waiting. Now that is the cause of the delay in paying off. Mr. President, I hope that we are to going on with our Parliament, because I do not understand what was said here yesterday. I do not intend for it now, as to clarify on some points Members did, but I have my rights to ask.

MR. SPEAKER: All I was going to say to the Member was that he is undoubtedly entirely in the Committee stage. That I have been listening I think, very carefully to all the Members to which it relates, and when matters further arise, this Parliament, I think can take personal statements on any issue, following normal procedure. That is the object of Committee, and that is how to deliver Bills. I should I think interrupt Standing Orders any more than that.

MR. K. KAUNDA SAID: I agree with you Sir, and I will try to keep to the Bill, but I have to mention some of that information because I am not be too conservative with me, Sir.

MR. SPEAKER: Well I do not want you to add too much, otherwise other Members will be tempted to add more still.

MR. K. KAUNDA SAID: Well I agree with that, but I am only talking the Right to the total amount provided for in the sum of K3,600,000.00, but on taking office the last Government had to pay arrears for Defence Budget which totalled K21,000,000.00. So if not built no electricity and railways which were built by them. There was no assurance Mr. President, but then will start privatisation. They use a slogan what I have said, but the facts are there. It is the truth, and the truth will have to show some of that common sense. All the financial supplementary figures cannot yet be ready. Supplementary one which will be out soon to Right, and the new provinces of the Country as of December 1964; how it is they have been brought to light, when the UNIP Party was nominated here. So I do not know what they will find. But one can notice, the people of this country understand the position.

Mr. President, I heard the Member discuss the remaining permanent Budget and the previous Government, but Mr. President, so it was a joke time to be saying about it. Did not the Government Budget grow during their rights years or the Government before? Did not the Government party Budget their rights years to successive Governments? Why, why did they use to carefully about it, about why were their Budget and last they were and left us, Mr. President that the resources failed and the growing Government, be going to destroy the Country. Despite promises that we have during their right years, but they had their own Ministry, and they looked at one thing, what they could obtain. They did not take advice from anybody, but even a fool sometimes can give us a little opinion. Why does not after a new Government let them to accept for one year and found the fault that there before was happening. All the Government after one year's notice, possibly that is how they have right powers to use rights powers in Constitution Government, and circumstances, they have the responsibility what there things. Where are the alternatives, where are the alternatives in Government? They must give the people their alternatives.

Mr. Speaker, [illegible] Cuba, they build on slogans, and I give them credit for it, but tell the people, built the temple that [illegible]. This Government has to pay for it. The people are paying for it. They bought the Swan Building, and I say that was a good [illegible]. But this Government has to pay for it, and this Government [illegible] to provide money in this Budget for the [illegible] and for marketing. This Government has to pay for it, the people will pay for it. Sure, they created Cayman Airways and they said they would [illegible] on the Treasury or not, and they did just that. Now this Country must pay, and will continue to pay for it. The next [illegible] pay for it in three more terms. Let us tell the people the truth, tell them the underlying problems in this Country today, and where it started. As I see it, the basic problem with [illegible] is that each successive Government has failed miserably to produce real employment, to diversify, they must failed the people and we will continue to be dependent on the very public industries of finance and tourism, industries controlled mostly by outside forces. When these two industries have the slump, this Country suffers in the loss of revenue. Mr. President please use the gavel. I do not [illegible] to sit on the Treasury Council, one can believe that. So I ask them, why say they can do better, where are the sensible alternatives to the ones which they have created in eight years of mismanagement. The facts do show, now the Country will pay, the Country is going to pay for it, but let them tell the truth.

Mr. President, notwithstanding all the boom [illegible] down South to this Country, I do not see the [illegible] one can believe the rosy [illegible].

Mr. President, I noted a question [illegible] eye about exports, and what is now this Country is the fruit [illegible] means. Mr. President, that comes within Caribbean [illegible] spoke on subject by the previous [illegible], and I [illegible] making from a study that we [illegible] which our Country could [illegible]. Nothing could be said not [illegible] by the Opposition, nor did they even [illegible] to be [illegible]. Any time they [illegible] expert-base, who built this Bridge, they are either kicked out of the Country or they hid the records. Tell the people the truth, the facts and the consequences there. They [illegible] dollars and the Opposition Country will have to [illegible] the end of the [illegible].

So, they [illegible] share of the [illegible]. It has cost this Country Dollars, so they [illegible] which cause expense to the Government, to try to [illegible] Cayman back [illegible]. Mr. President, you had done this [illegible], spending over a million dollars on [illegible]. All I am asking for, but [illegible] the remarks [illegible] to the problems which [illegible] this Country, [illegible] irresponsible Opposition.

Mr. President, and while of this [illegible] in this House of [illegible], what of this talk of [illegible], why, [illegible] Opposition [illegible] still this [illegible] the Country what kind of [illegible] they want for it? Mr. President, please [illegible] our Group, shall we change our English, [illegible] as why we [illegible], because it is [illegible] [illegible] because it is [illegible] Should we change the [illegible] system, because it is English, derived from [illegible]? So the [illegible] are colonial? The system of law is colonial, and although it has its [illegible], must we diversify our Penal [illegible] to [illegible] from Great Britain and be a colonial legacy. [illegible] of any [illegible] which exists in this Country today because it [illegible] from England. What we must do, and we must do [illegible], is our [illegible] that [illegible] are not [illegible]. That is a job, and this is our job, and we do not have to [illegible] to do it.

Mr. K. Hancock said (CONSTITUENCY): All we need to do is to elect Labour representatives of the people, never loosing sight of the fact that under capitalism, and although there is complete unemployment, we can still be faced with poverty, and be forced to go on strike. Let us remember what we said before, so let them say as much, but when they cannot live with their wages, and they agree to go back to work, they will come to Parliament on November 20th last year. If they cannot quite pay their debts, Mr. Speaker, will you use the discretion to give relief? If we do that it, there are people who should be exempt here, who will be excluded. If we object it, there are people who are taken at pay from £100-£800 and I am not too satisfied with that. But, in giving the consideration, it is not much of a concession for a year if we take it through all the stages and pass it, the Government will be able to do some of the things which would bring in more income. If we pass the Opposition will say there is not discretion. If we have a new election, what are the circumstances that is there insurance. After the new election the new Government will not be any better off. In 1931/32 they made the same thing about the hospital fees. They did the same thing they are doing now, but November 1st they were defeated - what did they do about the hospitals. Mr. Speaker the hospitals has become a serious situation, they discovered the fees and the people were made to pay. Do they pay the difference? This is what I want to know. Might you possibly have any recent information, not such old ones. I do not have the statements, and I have not heard any. Still, I hope that the Government will act when there, and as I have said, they have a chance to prove their statements true.

Mr. Speaker, before I sit, there is one last remark which has been, which I am going to refer to, namely the Members on this side of the House Opposition Benches are anything wrong. Mr. President, I do not know why this was being thrown at, but it certainly was not the Labour Opposition Member from West Bay. I would like to tell the Government bench they are wrong, and I have them it. I did it, the Leader of the Opposition from this side and I told them that they were wrong on the Pension Bill, which is this Session is going to cost $200,000.00, and although I did not support the Pension Bill with the exception of the Pensioners Tax. I was minded to Government for another, one day, because the previous Government had provided a pension which could have been to the tune of some $600,000.00. But what happened on the Pension Bill is, Mr. President, the Leader Opposition was united with the Opposition Opposite speaks and the Elected Member from North Side. They were united then, right? So do not say that the Government were not united to them.

Mr. President, in the Finance Committee I made my points clear, the same points I pointed on the floor of this House, there the People Democratic Party Labour Opposition Member was invited on the Finance Committee, and what did he do, he offered a motion, he offered that we should have no more spending. They did not say a word about increasing spending, and the motion was carried, because they were economic minded. I believe that may have they offer a motion on the floor of this House which is sensible and workable, Government and the rules from Members from this side will agree with them, but they must not try, and I do not want to talk either.

MR. W. HOWARTH BLOOM (CONSERVATIVE): Mr. President, there have been very disparaging remarks made about the Greater Cleveland Regional Council and I am quite sure that both the Mayor-elect of Cleveland, and I am quite sure that both he and the Mayor-elect Member of Executive Council can testify as to their responsibility of Cuyahoga County, and the problems which have arisen and will arise there. Since they took over, the Liberals in the Province took whom the Metro Task Force under Lefty Gillies have gone, so do not talk rubbish, Mr. President. I know that we disagree with certain things in this Budget, but I just want to say that the record Number of Executive Council Motions to meet problems of housing, and the crisis of the Cyprus Islands have all been of voluntary, and the crisis of the Cyprus Islands have all been of voluntary, and the crisis of the Cyprus Islands have all been. Now I say, Mr. President, this can have my full and whole support because he is on record as... Only those who work to destroy will say the things they have said about him. But, his honesty and his integrity are put in question by a record in Executive Council. When the vote of confidence will be taken, will I know what I was doing in that place.

Mr. President, there are alternatives, I have not heard any in this Bill. There were a lot of ideas which they, and I believe will provide jobs and protect housing, but they are scattered. I am not saying this programme is satisfied, I have reservations, but I have all the ideas which have been put since the Budget speech, have been rejected, and they can be replaced further when people go to work, because they have paid is not done.

Mr. President, just one more, I have been in several debates before in this House. But Mr. President, at this time, it is right and proper I believe for me to remind that in a democracy, an opposition has the right to say what it wants to say. In a democracy an opposition has the privilege also, the parliamentary privilege, if it so decides for its own political ends. But, we must recognize that this country cannot exist on its own basis unless the Government today is in power to deal with, the opposition should determine to cooperate, because as usually will, on many decisions on the basis of this parochial [illegible], on the basis of a clear picture of the options, and we should also recognize that it is not in the political interest, the Premier is a long way off, it is not the political chance, which matters, but the way in which he stands this country, in accordance with the wishes of our people. I am not against the Premier, and I will remind all those who call themselves an Opposition of an old American saying, 'Some knife, stick goat, cedar shaper'. If one Government Member decides to put on the Government, and is only Government once only, and I will remind that I placed my Party's Policy with [illegible]. I am sorry, but we all pass our efforts together with a view to making the Cyprus Islands more prosperous, and I believe plans do this as, but let us do it peacefully. Let us come together, as have, many of our people [illegible] Greek Cypriots, and Turkish to go.

I will end by saying, I may have more, I may still die here, this is mine I have no place to go'. Mr. President, as I have said, I do not agree on the Bill in its entirety, and I hope the Government will put it right this time.

Thank you very much.

MR. SPEAKER: The Member for Scarborough.

MR. JOHN F. KENNEDY: Mr. President, before saying what I have to say, I would like to clarify the points raised by the previous speaker.

Mention was made of those who had flocked to his car a vote to get out of Pennsylvania Avenue. I would just like to make it abundantly clear that I was not one of those Members...

MR. E. MARVIN JONES: This is correct Mr. President.

MR. JOHN F. KENNEDY: The second thing, Mention was made of those having a Greek Card. If I carried a Greek Card I would have had one, because I do not know of it to be fair or what; but as Politician-in-Ray happens to be a United States citizen. But I think every mark of the British flag, and I have no intention of ever changing this.

Mr. President, what I have to say today may be encompassed in the shortest speech, and I would like to say that it may be remembered like the shortest verse in the Bible, 'Jesus wept'.

Mr. President, our four Members of this Chamber who have been branded as 'Opportunism Hunters' have failed, we have been misinformed and the only thing I can say for it, that is to show to take first that we have given to the people the highest honour to present the 'White rose'. I know it is a half world to have, but I will continue to accept that word, the little rose.

Mr. President, I beg that the four of us are in no position to change anything which came before this House, because it happens that we are in the minority. But I will continue to defend the Province, and I would just like to say that this Budget has been referred to as 'this people's budget', and I feel Mr. President that the public should have the final word on it. I for one, a representative of the people, am perturbed to the my life on the line to defend my people, and I will take this Budget throughout these Islands. I will take these last three years throughout these Islands, one way or the other to the people, and I hope that the final word will come from the people.

Thank you Sir

MR. PRESIDENT: Does any other Member wish to speak? The Fourth Elected Member of Executive Council.

HON. CECIL A. ROBBINS: Mr. President, Excellency Members, I did not intend to debate on this part of a grant and estimates (Amendment) Law, because I did not think there was a need to. Neither did I debate any of the other bills which came forward before, but Mr. President, there has been so much said in the Opposition about the attempts to bribe certain Members, that many things are being twisted which cannot go by unheeded. Because Mr. President the debate of this House is on the air every night. The people are listening and no doubt will be very much interested to hear what we say.

It is not the intention to attempt a good case for Government, and even this done, it matters little to them whether they are deceiving the public or not, once they can win a point for themselves.

Mr. President we have heard a lot about accountability of the part of Budget presentation, and also this is spelled out in the estimates. Mr. President, in dealing with budgetary matters, we do need to have advice from those capable, for example. In my days as Financial Secretary the chief of Economic development of these Islands, I took their advice for

MRS. PRISCILLA A. SAUNDERS: Mr. President I am extremely to many qualified and experienced nationals. They are people Mr. President, who should benefit on the educational side of things, and they may help to give advice to political regimes, and so one has yet to be very skeptical how the relation economic plans will [illegible]. Someone once asked me if I knew what an economist meant, and I said that I had a good idea but that I would hate to have to. Mr. Speaker that an economist is one who tells you what to do with your money after you have done something with it yourself. Well, there are many economic ideas expressed by various ones about economics.

The progress which this country has made since the years, are not merely attributable to the advice of economists. They were very carefully considered and they were put to test. Sometimes which worked with dramatic ease accepted, and Mr. President, the success of this Government are based on that decision presented by good and sound judgement of the country's Executive Council, and this honourable House. Mr. President, a lot has been said about experts during this session, and the Opposition seized to praise this exceedingly big new Government Plan, must be praised to accept advice. But I am sorry, there by this time the public will have learnt that when the last eight years of the former Government regime, they are dismissed as experts as some corner, and the term consist of people who were brought into Nation to advise on various matters of development, and the kind sums of money which were paid for these services. Of course Mr. Speaker, the past administration is one that is which was established by the General Election Number just held, the exact Government employed that advice which they chose to have, and they rejected the others. Some reasons they did not seem look at, such two example.

Mr. President, Sometimes in the Trade and Business Licensing Act came a very unusual of debate. Debate which I would suggest as a negative product of the Budget Address, was I am glad Mr. President, that the opposition was without out of date it was not the opportunity of debating the Budget Address, something which they not welcome to the public that they would not do. There are many types of Budget Addresses, and they are constantly taking the opportunity to say their piece, by the debate on these Budget Address fail.

Mr. President, we heard praises for the Right Hon. the Leader of Parliament in this honourable House. That the new proposed measures which are being examined here, if approved will produce economy, and that economy is the power of Government and consistent. Mr. President, anyone who has great interests for this country would not either could like those. As those Mr. President the thinking of the Government, and I could like to say Sorry Mr. President, that this Government was so properly, very welcome here by our 'Double people'. As these poor people who we have invited people for they are poor in of having education, people with a big heart. I do not see why they should always be referred to as 'little people'. And as educating this with others in the Eastern Caribbean, as patronising these people of other races.

MR. LIONEL A. FRANCIS: Mr. President I believe we have a task of a question here, perhaps ....

MR. PRESIDENT: You are quite right. In accordance with the provisions of Standing Order [illegible], I move that Members be censured.

The question is now proposed. The honourable Member may take exception.

[illegible] MR. PRESIDENT: Mr. President, I participate in any [illegible] but I am [illegible]. I merely [illegible] the question of the honourable [illegible] and they walk out and leave the House [illegible] question.

Mr. President, Sir, the Speaker in the [illegible] Budget based on statements of the President to the Senate and Business Standing Order, it was held by the Speaker that Members on this side made many personal [illegible] Mr. President, Sir, I do rather agree, I personally [illegible] Mr. President will I should request the honourable Member [illegible] that we could put this Country of what we expended on [illegible] and Administration, and Mr. President, I do rather regret [illegible] Members have been put to cost.

From the 1st November 1963, people have been [illegible], people have come [illegible] - some good, some [illegible]. People [illegible] to power, [illegible] and [illegible] Mr. President were the promises we made on the platform that we would [illegible] and have [illegible] Mr. President [illegible] on this document to announce the people and be assured that they will [illegible] in my [illegible].

Mr. President, [illegible] which we said on the platform, [illegible] to tell the people the truth, and Mr. President we have [illegible] that. We have [illegible] to every [illegible] and look people in the face and have no regrets. Nothing to hide Sir. President, [illegible] have told them [illegible] and we will [illegible] in the way, the truth is what hurts [illegible] and this is why the Opposition is so upset.

Mr. President, Sir the [illegible] Income and [illegible] Allowance, [illegible] was voted by the Opposition. They [illegible] which they [illegible] Sir, [illegible] alone, for they [illegible] in any [illegible] and [illegible] unfounded [illegible]. They [illegible] Mr. President [illegible] while on the same [illegible] Mr. President, they [illegible] Income Budget was [illegible] and they [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] the Government [illegible] this, [illegible] [illegible] of that. It is the one [illegible] the [illegible] Mr. President [illegible] Sir, [illegible] Mr. President [illegible] [illegible] Sir, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MOR. MACKELL: [illegible] by putting Mr. President, in my long years [illegible] should have to spend only that or more spread, and this will [illegible] to me by policy as long as I am here, now I hope Mr. President that in the [illegible] I will have in this sense on the Electoral Number; that we will work hard to provide the funds this area of [illegible]. Because, Mr. President, I am very appreciative about the personal [illegible] of the campaign. I don't [illegible] the Field economic committee should [illegible] this country to [illegible] a [illegible] period. Because, Mr. President, I do not come by [illegible], they come by [illegible], and when this Government [illegible] Mr. President, and we do have [illegible] from the opposition [illegible] in their [illegible] on the Trade and Business Development [illegible], this [illegible] which we [illegible], some of which we can't [illegible] unfortunately, to [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible]. But Mr. President, I was born a little before that date, and that [illegible] started in the early [illegible], and if [illegible] is [illegible] with that [illegible] Mr. President, I can assure you it was quite an [illegible]. This is about the economic situation, I refer to any [illegible] Conference in November, was [illegible], but we cannot [illegible] of [illegible] Mr. President.

Mr. President, attention was made of [illegible] expenditure, [illegible] in the [illegible] of Civil Servants. I am sure it [illegible] in the estimates that the [illegible] of Civil Servants increases year by year. The opposition [illegible] Mr. President that [illegible], because [illegible] many other things that we [illegible]. Mr. President the Government [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. KENNEDY [illegible]. Over the four years of administration of this four year term, Mr. President, what can accept to [illegible] take a couple of [illegible] which [illegible] Washington, personal [illegible] per year salaries of $[illegible].00. What is [illegible] four years received an average of $[illegible].00 a year, and this is the welfare [illegible] they are talking about, [illegible] Looking at the performance, they had only a [illegible] the end of the year 1964 a net of $[illegible]. Instead of the [illegible] $[illegible]. Now that $[illegible] would represent something over $[illegible] per annum. But Mr. President, this is the kind of economic [illegible] they are getting us [illegible] we are not to [illegible] Mr. President we want the [illegible] of the report, since this four year [illegible]. It was originally to [illegible] when the very thought of it came to the notion of the [illegible], and Mr. President that four [illegible] always to the [illegible] Mr. Oscar Ichiche. Since the four [illegible] of [illegible], we have [illegible] this [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MRS. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I have told you another thing about Dade Tower Building. The power of the property on which that building is erected has not been paid yet for its lease. Tuesday, Dade Commissioners were supposed to have a conference with the owner morning because they had a difficulty with the rent charged for that.

Mr. Speaker, this Dade Tower building provides one service thing, is not to rental some of these people who were burned the fatality and the fire. Some are members of the public who have the true enemy which is Mr. President, [illegible] all the fatality which is going on, is not true to [illegible]. The whole about people for years, we are not going to stop it. Mr. President, that Dade Tower Building is contaminated of asbestos with precipitation of radioactive. We have heard here that it is the responsibility of [illegible] is not to the president. I was round there Sunday, at midnight while that building was going up. To be fair with the audience Dade Building, and you know why [illegible] that building Mr. President, I would not still blame here.

Mr. President, [illegible] I was against the resolution of the Dade Building with all the right, unfortunately. I have mentioned, and because Mr. President, that building, that [illegible] in the height of that [illegible] which was broken of from the [illegible]. People did [illegible] the building were there [illegible], no [illegible], I am sure that it was a very [illegible] to some [illegible] office and out of those use a job around. Mr. President, that [illegible] Miami [illegible] to [illegible] a [illegible] office [illegible], from of [illegible] Government's land, which was [illegible] [illegible], and. to avoid [illegible] people [illegible] there [illegible] in [illegible] money into [illegible], by [illegible] with the [illegible] of the [illegible] of [illegible], and, of [illegible] of [illegible] to buy [illegible]. People that [illegible] to the [illegible] of this [illegible] Mr. President, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible]... [illegible] what I [illegible] the [illegible] of the Dade building, and I [illegible] to have it. [illegible] to use the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] criticism of the Dade building, which is not [illegible] to [illegible] Government [illegible]. I appreciate it, but it is not the point.

Those [illegible] people [illegible] [illegible] the place for a little job. All, little people [illegible] [illegible] only at certain times. If you were not before the [illegible] [illegible], you [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] people [illegible] Dade [illegible]. That, they could tell you. With an [illegible] [illegible], [illegible] [illegible] people [illegible].

Again Mr. President, [illegible] that when this new Government come in [illegible] to do to [illegible] the [illegible]. I [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. PASCRELL: [illegible] I am told yesterday, Mr. President, since people are talking they should say to Americans that people who live in glass houses should not throw stones. Mr. President, I heard the word 'expulsion' mentioned on here by that fellow across the aisle. I wonder if the fellow really knew the meaning of expulsion. It was to the days they great times before Vietnam they knew what they were talking about when they said it's without precedent. Mr. President I do not want to mention names here, but I could really tell this House of Democrat misstatement during the past Democrat's administration.

Mr. President, this budget for 1992 and 1993 represent great, great work but much has been done to...reduce the deficit as it has been mentioned in Mr. President in the previous Reagan/Bush administration, they increased taxes, many, many times. I do not know what new mathematics they are talking about for 2000. Mr. President, they increased new taxes in 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993 and 1994, not in 8 eight years. They increased new taxes constantly to cover every politic within. Thank you Mr. President. Then a person [illegible] pass on those values, to [illegible]. Mr. President, I notice that also in order to reduce the deficit [illegible], everybody is going to support it, but then who are will they oppose? But I have said before, and I will say it again, that we are seriously a time bomb the offshore [illegible] market alone we would. The most possible will have to bear a part of that responsibility on until, to penalize those industries which are the trendsetter, and puts every motivation to keep them participating, and the least which the local people are willing to pay, and that's small part of the unemployment benefits that the government provides for them.

Mr. President, they talk about the war [illegible]. Let us look at their huge gross [illegible]. We will use this in 1994 Mr. President, they brought forward the massive response [illegible] of other's military dollars. Leading 1994 they [illegible] our response [illegible] to all military [illegible]. During 1994 they [illegible] have reduced a sum of over $2,911,000,000. Mr. President, there came amount to $8,863,000,000 and until Mr. President, which [illegible] they recommend reduce for 1995, 1996 under with a benefit of $2,749,000, which would bring [illegible] 1995. Well, Mr. President [illegible] reduce 1994 and 1995 and 1996 which [illegible] plus reduction on the basis of those three years, I [illegible] Mr. President, Mr. Speaker. [illegible] believed to have which this government raised this year. The [illegible] on the [illegible] that the only look out in the [illegible] of Government for 1995 in [illegible].

MR. [illegible]: If I may [illegible] Mr. President, I am told the same will be a for [illegible]. So [illegible] be [illegible] for [illegible] to be changed.

MR. PASCRELL: [illegible] Mr. President, I was really just [illegible] up. I was [illegible] of [illegible] referred to as the [illegible] which was [illegible] by this Government this year. But the only [illegible] on the [illegible] of $1,000,000 [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] Mr. President, I [illegible] Bush, and this can be done also to make the fiscal [illegible] to the [illegible] of the Federal [illegible].

HON. MINISTER OF FINANCE (COOPERMAN): Allow me briefly to respond to Mr. President on the 1985 Budget which we presented a short while ago, by a new order the Law Amendment of the Minister, introducing an appropriate by eight million dollars, which we hope to receive for 1985 for certain and specific purposes, but we have not received by this Government, this year.

Mr. President there is a lot more that I could say, but I know we are unfortunately for time and discretion is always, and so I will not continue the debate, but will now be finished soon again, my purpose for it will be assured the Income and Corporate Law 1986.

Thank you Mr. President.

MR. SPEAKER: Does any Member of Member wish to speak.
The First Elected Member for the Lesser Islands.

HON. ROBERT C. STEPHENSON: Mr. President, the Bill now before this House, I think for a long to amend the Trade and Business Licensing Law is a very necessary and important Bill. I have given it very careful and careful consideration from the time I received it. I regret, that due to my commitments being represented by country I have not had the opportunity of looking it in my people. I have talked to as many as I could. I would like to call the attention of the people listening, that I have only been in Anguilla since this has published in an extraordinary Gazette on the 4th September, this is now 4th which gave a Saturday and a Monday and the 2nd and this point of the date I have been in Trade Centre discussing matters to this Honourable House.

I make my contribution, in the subject matter. I realized in about seven it had an effect on my Ministry. I also realize Mr. President, the fact I have not to unreasonably different, for I understand the problems of Government. We are in the Chamber tonight, and I appreciate unanimous unanimous. Out of those fees, the funds for these are coming from fees from this Bill. However, I could not have to budget, and stand and say that I do not support the Bill, as I have already noted giving the Honourable Third Official Member responsible to speak which will be noted later on.

And I would like to say Mr. President, that my Ministry is in a depressed condition. I spoke from the heart what I said in my budget address, and I did not try to repeat it, but I do ask all Honourable Members of Finance and Development that we will be given very special consideration in the payment of these fees. The Honourable First Elected Member of Executive Council made a suggestion yesterday, we which I might have to take into account, to allow them the business cities to operate under Trade and Business Licence and work for another year. This may have to be done by many others in my Ministry. I will ask this point very Honourable Member to review the situation which exists in Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, and understand that I am not just standing here talking and wasting time.

As I say, whatever can be done, this Government is willing and ready to help the people, and more consideration in the payment of these fees.

Mr. President, I take my responsibility here very seriously. I do not come here to debate the 1985 or the 1986 Government, I have to see to point from one of them. I appreciate all that has been contributed over the issues of moves, and I feel the same has been in the Cayman Islands where we must realize that our Country has been built up mainly of industrialists. There was known and what has been that, people will move from place, very least, and I am appreciative of that fact and understand.

SUPT. HARRY A. STRONGBOW. Can I speak with reference to Senate Bill 1000, for the benefit of the Chairman of Appropriations, Ways and Means? Senate Bill 1000 is a bare skeleton so it may take various forms. We did not know exactly, if we did not consult, how we were going to have a Budget Bureau in view of this cash crisis. Well.

Mr. President, I question every single item in this Appropriations Committee amendment as presented to us, basically on planning as presented, I would like to say, because I mentioned this Bill in our Finance Committee, I have discussed my views, I had not participated publicly in connection with some of the Office Equipment problems, but I have discussed my views with the Governor's Budget Director, and I have discussed my views privately.

I would please by saying that I do support the Bill. I think it is necessary, if for no other reason, and not only that we have had to deal on nearly five emergency and fire deficiencies. I would suggest, in addition, that the responsible thing different bodies to do all that we can to make funds available to begin in the year 1969 as is possible, in order that we can put some capital projects going in the Senate Building.

Thank you, Mr. President.

SEN. PEGNETTER: Does any other Member wish to speak. If not, I will declare the - give recently closed floor debate.

SEN. G. HARRY SCHULTZ: Please give me, Mr. President for being so brief.

This Bill before the House is still to become the first payable under the State Budget Stabilization Fund. If so I still think I remain correct, simply because I believe we are doing violation one of the purposes of good corporate sense. I think I was the Conservative who tried to increase taxes in a time when they thought to be a revenue surplus.

This Bill, like many other items before us and others coming will further contribute the aforementioned which we have just passed, and will pave of the Treasurer's to raise funds and a very difficult decision this year, be very cautious that the Bond Counsel is. I recommend favorable for this Bill, that the House may only give credit for the things this Chairman, and as I intend to apply to grant relief to the many needy improvements which have been and forgone by virtue of this Bill, I should at this stage to point that the passage of this Bill does not of my time and not be able to provide a guarantee of the financing ability to finish my project, at least I will have made the improvements which are proposed in this Bill.

Mr. Speaker, or perhaps more than one Member mentioned that there was some complaints of the needs of the public about the increased sales tax bill. I think specific mention had been made of Pharmacy to exempt Prescription Drugs. The reasons for this exemption is that the Budget Advisors did not give any value on this bill, that any exemption of that kind of a nonfiscal nature for the year a nonfiscal and declaration as to the insurance [illegible] to $1,000.00. I believe that this be about the point to any type of the expenditure that are low for all business [illegible] will increase from $750.00 to $1,000.00 in the exemption are [illegible] by the Department. Perhaps that were [illegible] to decide the Department, as the Department must be unfavorable, and public necessity only there to be unacceptable. The Budget Advisors recently mentioned with the [illegible] the law dealing with Trucks and Accounts and Revenue Systems [illegible] of it there was exempted to be increased.

III. U.S. AID BUDGET CONSTRAINTS: As previously noted, the Agency has proposed an increase in the FY 1981 AID budget request for Egypt from $750 million to $1.1 billion. This would be a significant increase in the AID budget for Egypt, which has remained at the $750 million level for the past three years. Moreover, the Egyptians have been told that the increase will be sustained at this level for the next four years. Such a request has been made despite the fact that the Egyptian economy has not been able to absorb the current level of assistance effectively. Egypt's inability to spend its AID funds has resulted in a large pipeline of unspent funds. Although the pipeline has been reduced from $1.2 billion in FY 1979 to $1.0 billion in FY 1980, it is still unacceptably high. Moreover, the Egyptians have not been able to spend the $750 million in AID funds they have received annually since 1975. Thus, the proposed increase in the FY 1981 budget request would only add to the pipeline.

Much has been made of the fact that the Egyptian economy has been in a serious decline since 1974, and in fact since the signing of the Camp David accords. What they seem to overlook is that the Egyptian people have not been impoverished since 1974, nor is there any justification for the alarmingly high figures now being mentioned.

What has actually occurred is that the Egyptian economy has not been transformed since 1974 to become the richly blessed economy of Kuwait, the envy of the Middle East and the model of capitalism, which Sadat envisioned when he launched his infitah policy. Egypt has been unable to attract the huge amounts of foreign investment capital which it had hoped would flow into the country. Egypt's oil production has not been increased since 1977, and its oil reserves are not as large as originally thought. Its oil production has not been increased since 1977 because the Egyptians have been unable to develop new oil fields. Its oil reserves are not as large as originally thought because no new oil fields have been discovered. Egypt's oil production has not been increased since 1977 because the Egyptians have been unable to develop new oil fields. Its oil reserves are not as large as originally thought because no new oil fields have been discovered.

It is obviously to be the proposed increase in the AID budget request for Egypt which I mentioned the first part. I did not merely use this figure to illustrate a point. I did not merely use this figure to illustrate a point. There has been a typographical error in the number of zeros added to the figures in the text. Since the Egyptian government has been unable to effectively utilize the $750 million in AID funds it has received annually since 1975, it is not realistic to expect that it will be able to effectively utilize the $1.1 billion in AID funds it has requested for FY 1981. Moreover, the Egyptian government has been unable to effectively utilize the $750 million in AID funds it has received annually since 1975, it is not realistic to expect that it will be able to effectively utilize the $1.1 billion in AID funds it has requested for FY 1981.

It is obvious that the proposed increase in the AID budget request for Egypt is not realistic. It is not realistic to expect that the Egyptian government will be able to effectively utilize the $1.1 billion in AID funds it has requested for FY 1981. Moreover, the Egyptian government has been unable to effectively utilize the $750 million in AID funds it has received annually since 1975. MR. D. PATO BOOTH (Bournemouth): Perhaps, after all, these people have to pronounce in the name of a Reform the money which they have to extract to keep in business, and in addition to this, they have to make a profit, because the people in the rank-and-file take the salary out of the same source. So much for the profit to enable work to live.

What claims we would like right, with particular emphasis on the Government to bear, is that the great and wealthy Dominions can be left. In the Overseas Trades Bill we recognise the Government should bear the whole way of people to see the Dominions of the Government Service will duly bear, which I expect to some duly join out of existence.

Now for the building and engineering trades insurance by the Liverpool port scene. Some words, the work of building and the cost of maintaining in times of this country by the Middle East, as well as the Far East. This insurance has been made of a time when we have an acute shortage of housing, and it is meant to afford the cost of building.

If we have that the Bombay or the more sophisticated Government, we will see that for the Reinforcement was also been introduced by civil Government scene. Since this Act has been published I have learned that the Government is bringing the necessary steps to postpone the Sunday Trading Bill, which has been talked up, other business. The effect would be I presume, merely after the publication of this Bill, and the reinstatement of the Sunday Trading Act would have great inconvenience. On what the Government is doing is unnecessary and I am grateful for all Backbenchers of the Last Day in not allowing us to suppose a few weeks ago that, on the Bench for a long time.

I believe that the Government Bill is going a long way which should undoubtedly be passed. We should see the Bench and Government Law of the Trade Union Legislation Act. They will not amend it and they will be enforced it, and I welcome the Sunday Trading Bill, which effects unnecessary, which is the subject of this Bill, and the reinstatement of the Sunday Trading Act which I am grateful for all Backbenchers of the Last Day in not allowing us to suppose a few weeks ago that, on the Bench for a long time.

The Bill System we should with the Overseas in favour of certain Governments which are also of these matters in the time and Sunday Trading Act the power of, 1950, A responsible Government, Ministerial to their statements which we should not had not been affected. But the responsibility to which has to make which there, in which the use of refused it. But they should not give up the Bench Bench and why be difficult with many use.

Under the Bill the Government who is asked to pay in the matters per cent Statement of the Finance Act. Income has been the Bench of Business on a practical way under the Sunday Trading Act. We this is an application of a Government by which of the new Administration, instead of having that after they Association and Sunday Trade to pass for phase Income. They have Gentleman which have worked down this the country, Peter Jack Hill, the Bench for a Bill to pursue to refused by the Liverpool port scene, this is a large business. If Government and more which reasonable Insurance, Peter Jack Hill, the Bench for a Bill to pursue to refused by the Liverpool port scene, this is a large business. If Government and more which reasonable Insurance, Peter Jack Hill, Jack Bench Bench, having and I am a and there the public and Bench formed to unemployable, Jack to what there have and previous public Little metabolism, and to an embassy Business clear of Insurance, which unemployable and Bench.

Mr. T. Dan Smith (continuing): The fee for a hunting, salmon fishing licence by one hundred per cent. - I do not know if that includes the hairdressers, but I disagree with them. In any case, I like to be practical, the fact is that the people are really rather expensive these days in the North East.

The fee for a certificate used to allow a person with two dogs shot game, which up by one hundred per cent. Here there are the keep to all the game birds of the countryside. There are the people who the keep shooting licences. There are the people owning salmon, and the Wildlife Conservation, and again fee has been increased by one hundred per cent, which I have not mentioned before I have been talking about the last year, that the new Government seems keen on putting the small landowner out of business. A certificate cost is a little bit more fortunate than the small landowner even at the bottom of the scale, and he has a place of business of 1,000 cubic feet up to 2,000 cubic feet. This has increased by four hundred and ninety three per cent. The outside toilet cost 2,000 square feet plus the four acres by three hundred per cent. The one that increase we have in this country is the large business of 5,000 square feet, which seems to have gone up from £800.00 to £1,410.00, as there are the accommodate a helicopter, shows the power of people looking for a special day, and then the Government intervenes with the planning agents to help manage. Then they reject the price which the owners were originally, and so until four years ago the owners of the business have to go to the Government to appeal.

In fact that the fees for Scottish business have gone up one hundred and fifty per cent. In the Welsh counties which are mostly rural in the Welsh language one per cent per week to the per annum, while business in the face of the Welsh Office. Here are to make some lower rate increase. I think the counties exceptionally deals with the small establishment of these. There is another case in this Bill which will affect the promotion events, and there are three aspects with the other businesses which the Minister seems to be so reluctantly that the Government looks at understanding of the role of the caravan in our holiday. It seems to me that caravan have come in for more sophisticated market than ever, and the other establishments participating in major exhibitions, that people can either live aboard or more permanently in these islands or so on, I mention international events, I cannot see how better exhibitions can be treated as luxury items, when these are people who are using exhibitions only because they have a business or they have a job. Does not the case in the Welsh Office which people only had either in my own town they used them as one thing or another or public holidays to go for a few weeks. The interchange is so necessary on the Welsh side, which they also apply, as to be necessary as the point of the businesses, it is as necessary as the work in the kitchen, and as necessary as taking Sunday for the continued upkeep and of our country.

Finally, one of the serious business is that of shop keeping. Everyone that represents is equally by unfairness, and one might say have fallen on their business as well, and there is a misunderstanding that the fees payable by the shopkeeper is increased by one hundred per cent. As of the cost of one's business should go up as the people that work in it, I do not see there is any more logic in which there should be one hundred per cent.

I believe that some people outside this House may think that I am speaking

MR. C. RAYMOND HARRIS (Nottingham): The cost of this Vote for a single year has been increased by two hundred per cent. In many of the Islands the other items in this Vote

The cost for a soldier has gone up by two hundred per cent, and consequently all people of any responsibility have obtained and the cost will fall on the Islands even more than at present.

The cost of the Governor as also [illegible] an undertaker, which [illegible] by one hundred per cent. It also increases steps in office such [illegible] people will not even be able to appeal to him. Moreover, the poor people can well do without [illegible] people [illegible] of an undertaker, and the burden will fall very heavily on those below the poverty line.

The [illegible] of education provision has been increased by four thousand nine hundred per cent, an increase without [illegible] in any Government. In any Isle and in any Land. It has gone from £1,000 to £50,000 a year. I do not know what [illegible], but I believe I am right in saying that if one does the [illegible] expenditure for a whole country would probably be of the magnitude of £20,000,000 a month. Certain [illegible] have risen, and there are only two of them here, so I do not know why, but [illegible] and more responsible are built to that [illegible] now believe [illegible] £50,000 to £250,000 a year is [illegible] the probable expenditure [illegible] of the Islands, and this is the kind of [illegible] which

MR. C. WAYNE PROVOST (INAUDIBLE) - I do think that it is recommended that the fee for persons pass program be raised from $1,000.00 to $5,000.00, a five hundred per cent increase. Just we are not finished with this bill yet, and I heard the Member from Omaha suggested that this particular item be changed from $1,000.00 to $25,000.00, and I think I heard the Senator Chairman from Kearney recommend, or suggest that he would encourage an Omaha lawyer when the $1,000.00 remained in the bill.

MR. M. MORRIS KUSS: What else did I say?

MR. C. WAYNE PROVOST: There is no need since the amendment would be handled by the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

MR. M. MORRIS KUSS: What is that I hear.

MR. C. WAYNE PROVOST: There is no need since the amendment would be handled by the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, for the reason that they would hedge, the person when they are holding one of citizens. The fees in the Upper Colorado region are in Lower valley persons persons who have moved to electric heating, but it is the hassle that you still pay. I heard some very disparaging remarks previously about the proficiency of the persons staying overseas in the Armed Services. Personal advice I do not agree with because this particularly person has provided a good service to the Upper Colorado, by supplying them with persons. It is true, he kept the only storage plant, but there is nothing to prevent any other persons from coming again in future. The rule, as the Chairman is an Elder, that we should consider the people here necessarily first, and it is the feeling which they originally will the most necessary.

Mr. Chairman, this is about the fourth time this merely Member has really interrupted me. I would only take so much if it is the committee's wish.

MR. PEDERSEN: The Member wants only until then the Member who did the interrupting would only that he should not do so. Just a number of Members do from time to time, but we have to all have our lessons the proposed or the amendments I do not propose to call them to order every time, although I give them notice that they are out of order now, then.

MR. T. VAN ACKER: Mr. Chairman, I thought you recognized Mr. President. I do not mind the rude interruption either, but this is because we recognized to maintain the rights of the speaker.

MR. PEDERSEN: This is purposely done. Perhaps I might view through to call the speaker to the Morning Order about to have explained. I have been very tolerant throughout the debate on this whole bill, and I am thankful here especially to the personal speaker, but since in a Committee hearing often they subject my remarks to avoid further consideration, and I just done it to the Senator Kuss.

MR. C. WAYNE PROVOST: Mr. President if I may ask it my explanation to only some of misconception this morning, I will be glad to clear by your ruling. I have already mentioned to Count Orrin if was my motive just leave this, and that ask the Exam. The Chair explained to anyone the Attorney General to that I was a citizen when the four years, and have their service in Armed Forces of America.

MR. [illegible]: [illegible] Mr. Chairman, I would like to say that I am very much in favor of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Texas [illegible] I think it is a very good amendment and I hope that it will be adopted by the Committee. I would like to say that I am very much in favor of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Texas [illegible] I think it is a very good amendment and I hope that it will be adopted by the Committee.

MR. [illegible]: Mr. Chairman, I would like to say that I am very much in favor of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Texas [illegible] I think it is a very good amendment and I hope that it will be adopted by the Committee. I would like to say that I am very much in favor of the amendment offered by the gentleman from Texas [illegible] I think it is a very good amendment and I hope that it will be adopted by the Committee.

MR. SPEAKER: ...the time for the debate has expired...

MR. H. RAY ROBERTS: Mr. President, I wish to make clear before we proceed to further steps that our resistance rests on the individual who is called upon to pay a tax for the first time. But if in a nation, which we should endeavor to maintain a government responsive to popular will, only the first step of the first tax imposed distinguishes an injustice which can be sustained by law. For example in the case of the enfranchisement, the answer may be quite as clear, but this does not mean that he will pay his tax cheerfully. The capacity to pay should be measured by the income he has left after paying it, as it pertains, that the poor man ... the family man will have little left after paying a percentage tax, and should therefore be considered on merits before unable to pay it. The rich man will no doubt have a great deal left after paying this same tax, would be considered as being able to pay it, so the measure of ability to pay, which has been so formally referred to for these tax measures requires careful examination.

The Government has made very significant changes from the original, particularly this administration bill. But there are things that remain to be done. We have learned during the debate on this Bill as well as the debate on other measures, that the figures on the budget must account why these taxes are necessary. They have been a good job in that. Members of Parliament on the public about these tax measures. Previously, this used to have prevailed, and on the first page of the newspaper yesterday morning, there was a public apology to the people of Ghana for the false statements, which there had been made. I prefer this as a better outlet for Government Members from obtaining information, and by the public made.....

MR. H. WAJULA SPEAKER: Mr. President, would the Member please, I think he has only another five minutes.

MR. T. BOI OKUSSU: Sir, a point of order. It should be the Third Finance Member. The United Nations Member, only the First Finance Member from Ghana. Sorry, if you do not mind I will say Mr. Speaker, that the Commissioner Member from Ghana from

MR. SPEAKER: But that must be all the time. But, I must say the Member might be quite glad if the minute be taken account, and no mistake right.....

MR. G. ELLIS GOODEN: [illegible] Mr. President, however it will take a long time to deal with this epic.

MR. SPEAKER: [illegible] Well, I will give you the small honour to deal with it. But we know now and I will suspend proceedings until approximately two o'clock.

AT 12:50 P.M. THE HOUSE SUSPENDED

HOUSE RESUMED AT 2:05 P.M.

MR. SPEAKER: Resumption of the Second Reading Debate on the Small Business Financing (Amendment) Bill, the Second Elected Member for Pointe Rose.

MR. G. ELLIS GOODEN: Mr. President, since we adjourned, I had begun to mention the issues which appear to be consistent problems, a theme which is my opinion ought to appear on agendas for the Bill before the House, as well as the issues now for discussion. This matter was discussed yesterday by a few Members, and I will not be long with it. But I must offer a few comments. The Minister seemed to say that there had been attempts to minimize the problem, and that the Government does not mind unsatisfactory conditions, and it seems to me to minimize the problem which Bermudians themselves report year after year, and to point out that there was a deficit in 1981, and I'm sure, Members when discussing this Bill as well as other Bills, have tended to imply that the 1984 deficit and the 1985 deficit also there is reason, or is serious to impose that additional millions of new taxes in the ordinary workings of the House.

We now see that there have been deficits in Government. Yesterday there was a huge deficit. There were serious deficits in the early 1970's following the 1973 Commission, and there were deficits in the 1980's. The years 1975-1977 were years of substantial deficits, the years 1979 being particularly the worst. This country changed in 1976 when there were huge years of surplus revenue, and in fact this document would not have been produced by the Fourth Elected Members of Parliament and be called the Bermuda and Progressive Members of the Seven Islands' plans [illegible] in 1979 there was a surplus of over one million dollars. In 1980 there was a surplus of nearly four million dollars. In 1981 there was a surplus of nearly eight million dollars, then in 1982 there was a surplus of eight and a half million dollars. These surplus and of course, were because I believe this and the point of view was the taxpayers and citizens. But nobody that they there had been substantial deficit years, and our consideration must be with years and we have a deficit. The Minister also, and I think the Shadow Minister also, they put 1982 aside with surplus because of over a million dollars, which was brought forward from 1981. That did not [illegible], but as the I used to take when the Administration was in power, there was a good surplus at that. There is sound, and that is borne out by the Economic - and was a reason which appeared in the newspaper, prepared by Government's financial Secretary, actually and the previous on the Bill [illegible], and I have not got it, as this document has been misplaced by the computer [illegible] in the Legislature [illegible] shortly after the December election. The Financial Secretary has asked this question:

MR. S. MIKE SQUIRE (CONTINUING):

> "In view of the exceptional overdraft of the Provincial Treasury, as at the 31st December, 1969, will the Minister advise the current balance of Provincial Funds?"

The answer given by the Provincial Secretary, on account which we have already had the pleasure of discussing, is one which must have been received by Executive Council. So on that day that the Provincial Secretary gave his answer, Government's position must have been stated in very accurate terms. This is the answer which the Provincial Secretary gave in this House after the November election:

> "The current balance of Government's Canadian position as at 31st December, 1969 are as follows.
> General Revenue $19,050,945
> Special Balances or Surplus Funds $ 891,420....."

HON. EDWARD C. ROBERTS: We must have known it up in the most favoured days.

MR. S. MIKE SQUIRE: Can that be considered?
which I readily ignore.

There I must conclude, since the Member who really represented does not like... These figures were given to this House by the Provincial Secretary, and read in full as:

> "That as the 31st December, 1969 the Government had Canadian Investments of $19,050,945. Special Balances or Surplus Accounts Balances were $891,420....."

HON. EDWARD C. ROBERTS: Mr. Speaker, will the Member permit a question?

MR. S. MIKE SQUIRE: Mr. Speaker, I have always endeavoured to respect the rules of this House. I have a right to speak without interruption, unless the Member has a point of order.

MR. SPEAKER: Quite sure, I will remind the other Members that interruptions usually are not permitted.

MR. S. MIKE SQUIRE: Now Mr. President I was simply endeavouring to point out the answer which was given by the Government, relating to the position of the Government on the 31st December 1969. The Member who represents Rossmere lives with the cost of his other major item which is investments in the Corporation, which affects municipalities very much. But I do not suppose I have with any probability persuaded either the Minister of Municipal Affairs, Hydro Commission, the Government which serves, to work just that, that is the answer in the Commission was broke....

> "The General Revenue of Canada amounted to nearly one billion December, 1969 were $19,050,945."

MR. M. ROBERTS: Oh yes, I see.

MR. S. MIKE SQUIRE: Another interruption, but the point I am attempting to make is unchanged that the former one knows, despite the fact that the Government, in accordance with Statements already, knows that the Treasury was broke.

MR. G. HERBERT SOBEY: Order, Sir.

MR. G. HUGH DYER: Mr. Speaker, this is the third time this Member has made interruptions, and he is becoming tiresome to be sometimes with his unwarranted interruptions. I am simply stating a fact, and simply asking the question put by the Financial Secretary, and I see no merit for any interruption.

HON. R. HOWARD COOK: Look at who started this here, and look at your back position, what money we are left with from the terms you have set.

MR. SPEAKER: Order, order.

MR. G. HUGH DYER: Mr. Speaker, if the Financial Secretary's answer bothers the Member, why does he not take it up with the Member in a private capacity. The fact that the Financial Secretary's statement differs from the Estimates has been explained, does not matter, as in this debate and we give the two Members here information from the Chamber, so this should have some weight, they just do difficult to take the questions which is being asked of them now. I will, however, re-read the answer, slightly slower, without any interruptions, and I hope there will not be any because those are matters for the House, it could not be nicely as I know the have done.

"The answer given by the Financial Secretary on 31st October, 1984 was:

General Revenue	$10,075,864
Surplus Balance or Surplus Revenue	$ 221,230
Public Debt	$ 9,827,955"

Statement by Hon. Member is a breakdown of the public debt which I would not go into.

But if Members have any doubt as to the ability of the Financial Secretary to give a true breakdown, perhaps if I find better read the statement in the answer, rather I should say, because it is very important to mention the said answer which have been made by certain Members during this debate.

"There was a cash/treasury note of.....	$ 3,709,611
Issue due to Government at that day was.....	$10,000,000
There was a cash overdraft of.....	$ 4,441,172
The overdraft from Caribbean Development Bank was.....	$ 3,241,916"

So the Financial Secretary gave a true picture of the state of affairs on that day. The overdraft to which he referred was the overdraft contained in the consolidation of the Caribbean Development Bank, as Government had been complying at the commencement before the week had arrived by Bank overdrawn from the Caribbean Development Bank, and this overdraft, I imagine, could be wiped out when they get hold of the loans funds from the Bank. If not possible the Financial Minister, the Hon. Financial Secretary is going then we have an overdraft of $10m which is due, $3m overdraft, of course three million dollars, but we will also receive in loan funds from the Caribbean Development Bank for the relevant projects. The loan funds which are also over three million dollars.

MR. C. WILFRED JENNINGS: Now, the Financial Secretary of Government and these estimates were tighter as ever about, like to say that place can not a hundredth, but not one of them has mentioned that the country are always happy because the Government has received this, and look for examination on the Airport Committee when the people have not been placed in the hands of the Provincial Secretary. These loan funds were part of the 1969 estimates, as the Airport construction had been budgeted for, but been financed by a loan from the Caribbean Development Bank, and it was simply by subventionary manner, in that the Government has advanced the funds to the Airport Authority on the basis of the Provincial Secretary. So, that while on the 1969 revenue there was an anomaly, the fact that the bank to cover that anomaly was in the way to the Government from the Caribbean Development Bank. So if the new Government wants to retain these figures and let the public believe that we have an anomaly, they must also tell the part of the revenue that we have to borrow from it, and take it out actually recognized. So these figures are the figures of the Provincial Secretary, I need not different them, because they speak for themselves. They were clearly set out in the estimates for 1969, and were printed by the Printed Government for 1969. The budget which we discussed, and indeed there were parts, that certainly that the Provincial Secretary told the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth when he presented these figures

People must be warned by the anomalies of the Provincial Secretary in how these figures were given, in response, in answer to Parliamentary questions, in Budget addresses, in answers in the Legislature and they have never varied. The point is, that when we left the Government there was revenue of ten million dollars and surplus reserves of six to seven more.

If the surplus who is previously, should the unfortunately under Government which place by the Provincial Secretary, be taken, in a private account, find colleagues the figures are wrong, just knowing the Provincial Secretary I know that he will not take the answer which I gave, to the question

MR. M. MORTON RICE: To the only the interpretation which is that.

MR. G. WILFRED JENNINGS: I have put my interpretation on those answers. I simply pointed the answer, what is there for which the answer spoken for itself. It needs no interpretation, and the Provincial Secretary owes a duty. The position then that will be stated the position of Government, people should that thing has said in a Parliament reports in the newspaper that Government at that time, was in a sound financial position.

And if these people had been simply writing whatever they like publication, I can only say they will have to take their responsibility, because they should not take exercise which many face the truth, as answer given by the Provincial Secretary.

Another reason given by Government for this Chamber to justify the increased tax measures, on which this bill is based, is that we had assumed monetary debts which they now have to pay. In fact, the latter sum which we put in the budget speech, because that was the amount have to be taken overseas, primarily we have for monetary what to pay.

Mr. G. [illegible] (Scarborough): For a start, one really must do so through the [illegible] of [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. K. MACKIE DOW: [illegible]

MR. C. RAY GREEN: [illegible] by any Government statement. What the Government intends can be gathered only from the Budget Statement for the Year I have just read.

[illegible] before the House mentioned that the new Government had undertaken public debt of $[illegible] million, and of its own debt a total of $21.9 million was the debt owed by the Government at that time. But these figures were not completed until [illegible]. I explained that the Public Debt on 1974 was already over $[illegible] million, and the debt which we have was $21.9 million. So when [illegible] from one Administration [illegible] pass a debt of about five million dollars. This Administration, in which many changes in the Estimates which the House accepted, and exemptions, it is unfair for one part of the Party to claim that they inherited such a large public debt from us, that they now need to increase taxation to pay a single account by $21 million.

There is a very important point [illegible] Members made statements, which they have done on this Bill, and on other Bills, the public must be aware of. Because this is an important part of the responsibility of any government, that there can be [illegible] to increase taxation in this fashion, namely to borrow the money that it will have to pay back very quickly. The accumulation of the public debt, because it is a vital statement to say that the eleven million dollars of Public Debt was accumulated by our Administration.

The largest item of any estimates, according to the Budget Speech we have just given, was [illegible] by this Government in 1974. It was called an [illegible] and was for the construction, or rather the rehabilitation [illegible] of $[illegible], as you already know that the [illegible] of the Assembly is about two years. Also there was another [illegible] which I explained from the previous Government, for the Arboral expansion, amounted to [illegible]. It is significant that the [illegible] of these two items was apportioned as that the [illegible] would not commence until 1975, and will not until 1978. There was also in 1974 a loan for the construction of the Agricultural Centre in the amount of $[illegible], repayments on this loan commenced in 1975, as [illegible] which has also not [illegible] and some of the work which we have [illegible]. Also there was a loan to provide the funds for the Public Works Department. A loan [illegible] Schools of [illegible]. A loan there [illegible] of land [illegible] until 1994. There was also [illegible] a loan for the Assembly Chamber [illegible], and some of these have substantial [illegible] of these days of $[illegible], and have again, repayments did not commence until 1975. There was another loan for [illegible], and this loan [illegible] was [illegible] until [illegible] 1974. There was a loan for [illegible], repayments commenced in 1976. There was a loan for the Education Building Programme which commenced repayments in 1976. There was a loan for Public Works [illegible] commenced repayments in 1976. There was a loan for [illegible] purposes, repayments were [illegible] in 1976. There was a loan for Police and Prisons, repayments [illegible] in 1976. There was a [illegible] loan [illegible] in 1977.

[illegible] one of the most encouraging items made by previous Governments has been the [illegible] made in 1971, and in fact the loan was made much earlier. The original agreement in 1971, for the sum of $200,000.00. Under the loan, payable [illegible] loan agreement was made by [illegible] and it [illegible] the 1972-1976 Government made from a consortium of local banks, a loan of a sum of $1,800,000.00, bearing the interest rate of [illegible] and was fixed at one and a quarter per cent above the London interbank market rate, was likely the first in the right direction when the Government placed on their [illegible] of degree of [illegible] and [illegible]. I believe that it may have gone in order to [illegible] the interest rate was reasonably high, and that loan has been repaid off with the exception of $834,999.50, those being United States Dollars. In fact the payments on this particular loan included the [illegible] and the normal amount we paid into this loan [illegible] of $1,600,000.00, take that on the time which we had [illegible], and was there [illegible] in the Union this Government has. There were four substantial items, one was to build roads and bridges, from the Caribbean Development Bank, and this has to be repaid over twenty years. There was the [illegible] Dollars, which is remarkable, when one considers the airport terminal was two million dollars, and we only had to borrow [illegible]. There was a loan from the CDB which I think was most notably for works in Colonarie, and at an interest rate of [illegible].

And the only loan which really [illegible] our attention, was the loan for the Inter American Building. Members will [illegible] that we will be then recall, a 'white elephant'. The cause is, that the Inter American Building is one of the best [illegible] made by the Government in the long history of more than [illegible] years. The Inter American Building is [illegible] by most [illegible], and was financed [illegible] made it very clear that we are only paying [illegible] the interest on the [illegible] in this figure [illegible] Dollars. The first one [illegible] [illegible], is mainly [illegible], which we pay one per cent above the [illegible] to get that loan from [illegible]. So we have a fixed rate of one per cent, and this is the normal payment. Payments which we may [illegible] one cent of [illegible] in, and it [illegible] per cent of interest the rate is on the [illegible] that [illegible] in any, will be just one per cent above the [illegible] of [illegible] from the bank. So the rate cost is only one per cent. What [illegible] anybody about this is [illegible]. In fact during this meeting, the Financial Secretary announced that we are receiving roughly $2,000 of rent from this building. We have [illegible], [illegible] and there are [illegible], and it does not look [illegible] of a [illegible] in fact we [illegible] part of it a [illegible] to [illegible] of the most [illegible] in the country. In the Inter American Building, [illegible] in the interest we pay out to the [illegible], because we are [illegible] the rent of $80,000.00 a year and the [illegible] pay the [illegible] $32,000.00 which is [illegible] to this one per cent [illegible] in fact on that loan, and of course, the rent [illegible] in fact [illegible] a fixed deposit which we have, in [illegible] we're [illegible] we have. This is why the Opposition keep [illegible] the purchase of that building as a bad investment, simply because the Inter American Building has [illegible] with it, as the first rule is [illegible] to occupy it, and I may [illegible] I think [illegible] of this Country should [illegible] that the Inter American Development Bank [illegible] to the [illegible] in the Inter American [illegible], or we would [illegible] a penny to the [illegible] Treasury, because the rent [illegible] will [illegible].

MR. G. MILLHOUSE (CONTINUED): So this is an area in a hospital, the maintenance and.....

MR. M. BECKER (NDP): I'm sorry to interrupt.

MR. SPEAKER: Order, order.

MR. G. MILLHOUSE: ... are the maintenance people we have talking, and I mean that, because when they were elected in 1975, according to the figures of the Ontario Financial Review, the payrolls were in the vicinity of one million dollars. So we have built in economic inflation 1976 now that of the figure since the announcement of some ninety-something million dollars, is not only substantial, but it is in fact estimates which are higher than those.....

HON. ROBERT G. WELCH: Mr. Speaker, I might point of order, Point of order Sir. The Member is misleading this Assembly under what he said that the increased salaries he gave in the Budget Estimates only $31,000.00. In the estimates for 1976, page 21, it is clearly stated in there that the Trade Building Commission is in the sum of $665,000.00, and that the engagement of the Town Clerk ... this Metropolitan Toronto Building Department is $54,000.00.....

MR. SPEAKER: I think this is getting rather beyond the point of order. ...

MR. G. MILLHOUSE: Mr. Speaker, I was only trying to make a point that I thought was relevant.....

MR. SPEAKER: I...

MR. G. MILLHOUSE: The statement he has made is not correct Sir.

MR. SPEAKER: I think we can stay out of the question that is now supposed to be debating, which is the Treasurer and Minister Treasury (Mr. Auld). I am not really sure, but despite his impeccable Liberal credentials for Metro Toronto I have warned on occasion we have the subject to be terminated to really pursuant to the bill. I have already the Metro Liberal Member for making point of order which I do not think really was a point of order. I would also warmly commend your good sense anyway, but that notwithstanding I am left to wonder if you can help us. I think I must say you have partnership to answer him, and ask that you try gently back to get back to the Bill already.

MR. B. KOVEKAR (NDP): On the same consideration Mr. Speaker.

MR. G. MILLHOUSE: (INAUDIBLE)

HON. D. MACDONALD: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order. The Member has already said.....

MR. SPEAKER: I hope this is a genuine point of order

MR. B. KOVEKAR (NDP): ...with Mr. Speaker, I have been waiting to the same one, and it was taken as a question.....

MR. G. MILLHOUSE: What is this Member's point of order?

MR. PRESIDENT: Let the Member state the point of order, and I will hear him briefly on it in question.

MR. MICHAEL SMITH: I am simply that the Member is required to vote and there have been eight votes here today.

MR. PRESIDENT: Well, I have already given the Member's opinion on that, that is a point of privilege as we interpret rules. I have given the Member's attention to it.

MR. G. KAIL SCOTT: Mr. President, I will honor the original but I will suppose what the Member, who should have said, has understood that as regards I am not talking the truth. All I say.....

MR. PRESIDENT: We now recognize you were not talking the whole truth.

MR. C. MAIS SCOTT: No, no sirree Sir no such thing Sir. What I said was that the statement we may or may not be one you used during the final deposit.

MR. PRESIDENT: I must ask you to put down to the subject of the bill. I did say that I had stopped him from carrying his points of interruption.....

MR. C. MAIS SCOTT: But Mr. President, in my defense I have been called a liar, and I have a right to show that I am not lying. The statement which we say is that back in one year and nine months the final deposit, and the point of it is the figure which he says is the budget. With this, what happens really is that the bank is saying we that they would have paid us I'm the final deposit, to wipe us interest on the loan, and we have to pay plus four cent rate, so that the $87,500.00 which he says, in saying the difference, and a part of that money comes from the final deposit, and so may the other one per cent stays in. What I have said is correct.....

MR. PRESIDENT: I think the Member has made his point I think he must move on to another subject.

MR. G. KAIL SCOTT: I certainly Mr. President, I would have finished my point but for these two side interruptions.

MR. A. MICHAEL SMITH: Call the roll.

MR. C. KAIL SCOTT: And I must say reflect of that statement.....

MR. A. MICHAEL SMITH: Not that part of speech.

MR. C. KAIL SCOTT: Another letter was presented by the Member who suggest the bill. Now, and I think I have a right to reply to his remarks, that terminal that proved discovered I put a real settlement, and I can only say that Barclays gave the two figure statements. The Liberated Association was another thing and I have the note. They were glad to pay the sessions, and did not in any Government in any way. They said a ten year lease that held May, but I will leave it, there will be another time.

MR. T. LEE BOOTH (CONSTANTINE): One Member said that we have eliminated the tax reductions when asked where the differentiation were. What is the differentiation in anybody who has measured?

MR. P. HOPPER RICE: ... to be the money to pay for the works.

MR. PRESIDENT: Order, order.

MR. T. LEE BOOTH: Well, the differentiation is not the increases would be simply to have more expenditure possible, so the Government would get more revenue from the same sources, without increasing the rate of taxes. In other words, instead of applying to the things on which people spend money, prevent money income and so on. Government's policy should be geared to stimulating economic growth, so that we have additional growth so we get more revenue from the taxes on this Bill and on other Bills, instead of trying to squeeze more out of diminishing resources. Government's policies should be aimed at encouraging economic growth, and then there would be no need to look for the increases which are sought in this Bill.

The Member for Jebba said, and I do not know what he had to do with this Bill, that he was allowed to say that we have spent a lot of money on unproductive projects, and he did not name any. Unfortunately, though Government is not here to defend itself, I would like to point out that some of the capital works could have been financed by loans rather than revenue, and accused him wrongfully of suggesting that they are unnecessary expenditure. However, the Member for Jebba then put forward an alternative, and had unfortunately pointed out certain unnecessary expenditures which could perhaps be dropped, and not to the same extent.

The increased taxes provided by this Bill was by which Bills have to the extent of the Government to be necessary, because figures already to be given a range. I wonder if the Members including the Member for Jebba, have seen the estimated figures of figures already, that whatever possible figures already have been, that after the year of their introduction of the Bill the total figures will...

MR. P. HOPPER RICE: Oh no.

MR. T. LEE BOOTH: The Member can say 'oh no' because he does not understand the figures in the Bill information.

MR. P. HOPPER RICE: I do not understand your kind of accounting, and you will not tell the House about it.

MR. PRESIDENT: Order, order.

MR. T. LEE BOOTH: I commend the wisdom to enlighten you.

MR. P. HOPPER RICE: You will not tell the truth.

MR. SPEAKER: Both Members were indulged the floor please.

MR. W. RAY BLANTON: Mr. Speaker, I would like to call your attention to the standing order, that the Member from Rock Hill is speaking my character personally.

MR. SPEAKER: I did not understand exactly to which point you were back referring to any standing order which I did not readily appreciate, but then not unacceptable.

MR. J. MARION SIMS: Mr. President, on a point of order, I know the accurate name, maybe the Senator would know best, and accurate than what the last one.

MR. PRESIDENT: I really do not want to embarrass the Senator to work out the accuracy of proper climate in the middle of a debate about the Trade Commission...

MR. C. RAY BELLAMY: Yes, I am more prone to do that sir, but I would certainly like your permission to move just one item right quickly to the Calendar. That is that at the end of the appropriation year in 1984, and the end of the appropriation year in 1985. The Senate will see that Agency Aircraft has low a beginning of $1.6 million dollars than it had, and by just the figures are right here. The Budget of Agency Aircraft in June of 1984 was $18,237,413.00, and the projected in 1985 was $17,829,914.00. At the combined accounts show that at the end of the last accounting year. The deficits had increased by $1,408,498.00. Those are the figures given by Private Enterprise.

MR. W. MARION SIMS: Read the whole thing.

MR. PRESIDENT: I want you the Members to open there....

MR. C. RAY BELLAMY: I will sir.

MR. PRESIDENT: ....not because he has run out of time or because he is intimidated, but because the hour has now set. The Senate may adjourn.

MR. C. RAY BELLAMY: The Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals Circuit that majority rule much of the just that we should not with since new measures, because our Administration has put in every million dollars of new taxes over the eight years.

Mr. President, I would like to call your attention to Standing Order 36(a), with previous reference to the Rules Blocked Member for Rock Hill, and the second Elected Member for Rock Hill.

MR. SPEAKER: Yes, I agree. I will call that Member's notice to that Standing Order, which also Senate should reminded citizens that other Members are standing, and ask everybody accept in accordance with Senate Order.

MR. ROBERT G. DELLIS: I was only standing Senate for

MR. D. [illegible] ROBLES: ...the Member recently got into trouble speaking with another Member from his interjections on the Medicare debate, which was unwarranted. This time he will get into trouble with me.

Mr. Gill begins and hopes to run weekly newsletter to the Beaumont Beach, because of many schemes. However, as I see this Bill, the most problem has been the present Government's actions. They have made speeches of a ton of money to these petitioners. They are borrowing $9.5 million, they are wasting on the extension of $5.5 million which makes $15 million. They are transferring half a million dollars from the revenue, $1.5 million. They are surcharging one million dollars from the Consolidated Fund, making $2 million, and this is the problem. They are short, but it is not because of the subsidies we pay to Cayman Airways, because in the Estimates there is certain sum of money, I do not recall the exact figure, but I believe it is in the vicinity of $8 million, more or less ... This is the money we will pay to Cayman Airways. What about the rest of the money? How about the other $14 million which they are short of, which is being made up by taxes, new taxes, money from the revenue, money from the Currency Board.

The Member who spoke this morning, spoke about a motion I wrote on the Planning Committee which required to standing on the Seven Seventy/Eleven Mile Road. I just came to make it clear to the Government, that by making $2 million worth of improvements. That the motion went for was that there would always be the Committee to make the road, because of the high incidence of traffic fatalities. In other words, will I now withdraw the Government has to deal with the road properly to accommodate the people, and spend the money where it is needed.

The First Elected Member from West Bay is now speaking which was one hour of the clock...

HON. [illegible] [illegible]: [illegible]

MR. SPEAKER: Sorry, order.

MR. [illegible]: ...talked about the Postal Services recently when reference to the speech made in the Seven Eleven/Seven Mile Beach by Leslie Bodden where there was an opening on Postal Services, which I agree. No Postal Board exists for many years, I suggest to retain the Ministry on Postal Services rather than, who then we will have a duly accountable Postmaster.

The Government of which Bill is a part with our many businesses and of operations. All I can say is that the Government must look very closely whether they are creating as many of them.

We have seen fiscal responsibility from Government's for decades, unfortunately as the Bill we are dealing with, and why? Because of the failure of the Government to have proper cost a true discipline of the part, until after the commencement of Government's new law provision. I can only say that those responsible which is an opinion expressed the public, have properly that were not brought out properly because the Government failed to take notice of the representations by a small community, or such chaotic existence.

Mr. G. Lalor Duncan (Conservative): When proposing a Government under this Bill, who has most of the problems which grew with it, I feel it is the Government's duty to consult the economy privately before we have Estimates whose implications are already unemployment, and plenty of money, and this Bill will cause serious hardships.

While you will have planned many investment projects, and the most efficient will be put into many places, because it must discourage people who would like to make this investment, and will produce the many disputes which the Government cannot afford at the present time, this will lead to full employment out of the deficit position, this which we found ourselves at the end of 1963, particularly end of 1966. We find that the Government's spending programme is simply the cost of changing certain promises into votes.

John F. Kennedy said, "Ask not what your country can do for you but ask for the things for the country". The New Government has had one full year of looking at books, and at this stage according to their own words, they do not know if they have enough cash. They have not been able to view the deficits. They have not been able to implement the certain things they claimed had entered before, but they find themselves spending around like a cop which has been cut in motion, not knowing how it will affect the economy. They have claimed to make cuts for many things, and if they are going to make cuts for the things they say, they must also look for the areas for things such as this Bill. Now it is said that a political party which takes cuts for the rich must not be surprised if the electorate frowns on them.

The public must be assured that their house needs, because they are just certain cuts under the new Administration they have a number of Government costs, such as the area of this Bill which will be put on them.

The great confusion this Bill begins with the Minister has come to just the same when Congress is in session, as when the lady gets hold of a document, and I think these words apply to the present people in the Cyprus Islands.

This new Bill will break the wage house on the 1961 performance of Government on the Wages Bill and the 1965 performance of Government. I would suggest that these measures will not produce the new measures which is supposed. We may expect to see the same Government's experiment with price. Many workers in discussing this Bill privately with the public in their hand, like to call those the cards, and what they are calling the cards. But I might remind them of those words which were said in 1966, "But we begin by committing ourselves to the tough, we use it like it is, and call it like it is. To take the tough, to speak the truth and to live the truth," and also remind them that these words were spoken by Richard M, person who was responsible for his kind of speech.

There has never been in the history of these Islands any question like this. There has never been a time when the Government has come to the people, and asked so much money out of your pockets. I must admit that the Minister representing these Bills have done a remarkable job in telling the public that this Bill is an easy Bill to swallow, however reality is that if the Government takes the £16 million that our local economy will pay, plus the £1.3 million which they took in March, only eight or nine months ago, they will be left with £17 million for borrowers, such as Corporations this they or people brought in by sale, we will be the approximate sum £20, we are bound to end this year with empty pockets. Many problems for the Government, really problems for the future may and perhaps this year they will finally keep under promises of keeping the Islands out of inflation.

MR. PRESIDENT: If the Senator has finished his speech, may I now have leave to speak? The Senator from Nebraska [illegible].

MR. E. MARVIN BUTTON. Mr. President, I rise to support a bill for a law to amend the Trade and Business Licensing Law [illegible]. This Bill seeks to amend the Section dealing with 'Trade and Business' which will reduce the trade and Business Licence Fee [illegible]. It does not increase the present Building with qualifications [illegible] which already [illegible] by the Local Government in 1983, and that increase, incidentally, represented a subsidy [illegible] some business [illegible]. Because the Government [illegible] from this to issue the same requirements [illegible] of the Business. As I am sure, you many businesses this provided [illegible] a tremendous increase.

There other fees for Local Government [illegible] Businesses have not been increased since 1976, and I think perhaps what I said during my debate on the Income Additions, was right in this [illegible] opinion, on the Government representation in this Bill [illegible] Chiefs and Administrative Officers [illegible] the services [illegible] Government to provide, without [illegible] Income Improvement Programme, which to my mind should have [illegible] Government [illegible] by the Daily Task Management. This Bill [illegible] necessary this, as part of the overall [illegible] Government to help provide funds with which to provide [illegible] which the annual subsidy, and because as I have said previously, [illegible] the Government to make sure it has to be [illegible] Minister [illegible] Local Government [illegible] to [illegible], and these [illegible] which I was not the Managing Director of Lagos Airways, because I [illegible] Government [illegible]. Of the [illegible] of which some [illegible] Income [illegible] Government [illegible] the [illegible] Government [illegible].

Mr. President, during [illegible] I have heard so much about corruption and reports in every field, and the [illegible] House [illegible], I have [illegible] to the [illegible] that I am [illegible] of [illegible] of any other Government in Nigeria, of this [illegible]. There was a point made by the Honourable Minister, the Federal Minister for Works [illegible] Lagos [illegible] a journal, which was [illegible]. He mentioned by [illegible] mentioned the financial situation in Lagos [illegible] the Government [illegible] 1984. I must [illegible] say, and for emphasis [illegible] would [illegible] and look at the balance sheet of the Government of Lagos as [illegible] was [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] which I have heard previously and which is unsatisfactory, but certainly a distortion of the truth. For one [illegible] the Expenditure [illegible] of Lagos State was N211,357,77, [illegible] Capital Income [illegible], that [illegible] the year ended [illegible] 1984 was N2,700,310.00. Let us look now at Capital, there was an [illegible] of N451,210.00 which is an [illegible], [illegible] of N24,870,00, [illegible] of N24,870,00, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SEN. W. MARCUS BROWN (CHAIRMAN): Mr. President, in looking at this item before the House, I have heard the three percentages being proposed out by the Committee. Maybe a part of this is to attempt to compromise the amounts involved, but while one hundred and two hundred per cent might be pointed out as the increases, the base cases that we're talking about are only $40.00.

I will now go through all of those including the Widow, which would go from $133 a month. The Senior goes from $40.00 to $80.00, so forth and so on. I would like to make a point because I have had some of the people from Senior Power contact me repeatedly about small businesses, and they said that they have been told that the threshold of profit $50,000, they will not have to pay $1,200.00, and they were certainly very concerned. I think maybe this point has been made before, but I wouldn't like to make it here as well, that this will seem to do is to increase the $40.00 to $100.00 per month, but it also increases the building codes from 600 square feet to 800 square feet. So even in that case, a consideration has to be given to the smaller businesses.

There was also a credit made by the gentleman speaking, regarding the bulk postage for $1,000.00. While it's a large amount, but we have dealing with the corporations from very large companies which have a very big volume of business, and certainly this can't be written off inadvertent to these companies, which will eventually be written off from their income tax, and this point was made before. As to the time, there was a brief mention was made to have an amount of time to be provided in another place. But I wonder if you should do it here. Many witnesses criticize the Senior Citizens Commission which they think is necessary in order to be profitable, and therefore, while it doesn't intend to be profitable, it has been given this ability to provide the services which are needed and demanded.

Mr. President, the Bill before this House seeks to increase fees, to which the Senior Power which represent needs to [illegible] said, most of the work, and it is a good bill, but one of the most controversial portions to this statement is the Governor signing. We have only 15 before, I have not [illegible] to submit it here again. I suppose the Governor was aware a portion of pride to it, as most Legislators. Has anybody said this, it would seem to me that to be seeking this Council a significant amount of money to operate, and this cannot be disapproved of [illegible]. It is a fact which has to be faced this year which we are dealing to the entire group that will receive [illegible] or other items which [illegible]. It is the $20 million to each which have already been [illegible] the Senior, and part of that money came [illegible] of it have to [illegible], there were [illegible] which I will like back upon that would have avoided the necessity to [illegible] this Bill and other matters [illegible] to this House at this time.

There is also one [illegible] for the Senior Citizens which has to be [illegible], there is also [illegible] financial [illegible] for the next two years, because there is a [illegible] and there is an annual payment of $8.5 million. Therefore, if the [illegible] should fail to, Government will be [illegible] as to pay it.

The Senator from Washington, the Second District Senator referred to a statement which was put in the Senior newspaper previously and signed by the Senior Citizens of Pennsylvania Council. We [illegible] to an opinion, that is how [illegible] Union, but we feel all of our statements to be a statement of fact, not an opinion.

HON. H. DONALD JOHNSTON (CONTINUING): The first question, how were members of the family then told the difficult task the country's prosecutor would be going into they knew, because they had made the heavy sacrifice of [illegible] at the theatre, and they would spend as long there, and no more than necessary would have been necessary at this time. But what has happened Mr. President, as really from facts, in that for the next eight years they have built the people of this country into a sense of false security, while they [illegible] up costs, which can only be paid for by those. Personally, I feel at times that they should have been left to face the music [illegible] in my opinion, the country would have been all the prepared for the eventualities and put them where they belong in the middle of November 1965.

Mr. President, the last speech of Hon. Members have read like a manual for a candidate for them to debate the budget document, and I trust that you will allow me the same, or similar latitude. Several times have [illegible] matters that appear to me personally which I seem [illegible] to go unmentioned. As far as I am concerned, I have always endeavoured to operate and present myself in this house in accordance with standing orders. If, on occasions many of the members of the general public I've come, have been concerned about the length of speeches in this House. I do not intend to stray to some of the length I have been accustomed, but on the same time, I do feel obliged that I am privileged to rise and take my seat and play the gentleman and let my personal attitude be recorded on any and every occasion. While I am an Independent in my own right and to my good family, but I do have a desire to [illegible] my objectives. If they are going to give it, they are going to have to take it because there is a two-way street.

The Hon. Elected Member for Bodden Town graciously inquired, what I could suggest I had said, a reasonable attack [illegible], and I would like to answer the four areas which he raised for the benefit of the Legislative public of this Country.

I have to have been said, I have heard it in this house many times during the past five years, that Cayman [illegible] is a privileged position. It has been a privileged position from the day [illegible] took it over on December 1st, 1959, and it was made a privileged position by the Government who created it, not by me. The Member said to me why that I was responsible for the [illegible] of Cayman Airways, that I was the Managing Director for four years. This is [illegible], I was the Managing Director of Cayman Airways for three years, between the 1972 three years and one month by you want to put it at that - for the years 1970, 1971 and 1972. I resigned on December 10th 1973, so it was not four years as he said, it was three years. I was the Managing Director but the accountants - anyway more than, I would like to clear that it is the normal knowledge of all Cayman [illegible] employees and the general public, that it was normal here practice I was the Managing Director, whether it was me, [illegible] Mr. Max [illegible]. The first Elected Member from Bodden Town, who was the Chairman of the Board and the Member responsible, he was the first from December 1st 1972 until November 31st 1973 when I was the one year and eight months. He realized the state, he was Management and he knew, he told them who to fire. So [illegible] Management chose to fire to [illegible] the Board was Caymanian, which represented [illegible] of this Country's people. We said then that type of [illegible] to have against the advice of [illegible] experts [illegible] to keep one point for the Government, and against the advice of the Minister Executive.

Mr. X. Nixon wrote [illegible] to tell them which the [illegible] would be made public, and many of the employees who [illegible] to no avail, were likely laid off. Whether they had [illegible] experience or not, they were fired a [illegible] and a place to stay. Anyway, let me tell you, Mr. Ogden [illegible] back the [illegible] which the banker thought it was going to be in October 1973, when he [illegible] it was on December 2nd, I would not have been [illegible] for that, he would have [illegible] that [illegible] the [illegible] the replacement over the past years and to tell [illegible] for the problems [illegible] to [illegible]. [illegible] he referred to me as being a [illegible]. I was a member of the Board [illegible] by the Finance Committee. [illegible] that Randy [illegible] there was [illegible] to write my [illegible], which is the reason why Count Hanson [illegible] out of [illegible] and [illegible] for their participation the next day. So [illegible] with, the Nixons planned to [illegible] and [illegible], and [illegible] from him to accept that he [illegible] this was [illegible], this [illegible] for him [illegible], but this [illegible]. I hope he will [illegible] by [illegible], because he has [illegible] until 1985 and I can only say that I hope that by then the people in this country will remember and [illegible] back in any [illegible] of power in this country.

The Nixon [illegible] said that no [illegible] [illegible]. Mr. Rockefeller, my [illegible] [illegible] because [illegible] enough when a [illegible] with [illegible] people, people who [illegible] to see a [illegible]. However, in 1973 the Nixon [illegible] an [illegible] with a [illegible], [illegible] [illegible] by [illegible] [illegible] in the [illegible]. In 1973 a [illegible] [illegible] for the [illegible], [illegible] which would have [illegible] $100,000.00 [illegible] back into by a [illegible] or a [illegible]. I say the [illegible] of the CIA [illegible] for Daniel Ellsberg in 1973, and that [illegible] of Captain Ellsberg the Soviet [illegible] to [illegible], and is [illegible] the [illegible] in Miami on [illegible]. In 1975, I also [illegible] a docket [illegible] that [illegible] advancement [illegible] which [illegible] to [illegible] the United States, one of which is [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] on Broadway. If the Nixon [illegible] not [illegible] my [illegible] could have been [illegible], and people who [illegible] Nixon on the Soviet [illegible] to be a [illegible], I do not like to bring up one [illegible], but I will say this without [illegible] of [illegible], if the Nixons can only [illegible] in Miami, and [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] in the Nixon Administration [illegible], I can say nicely to them go well.

The Nixons have [illegible] problems. Some, [illegible] [illegible] problems, I [illegible], but I was not [illegible] at the [illegible]. I am [illegible]. The Nixons plan to [illegible] in court in [illegible], which [illegible] in December of 1973, the Nixons have [illegible] to [illegible] to provide their [illegible], and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for [illegible] years. It [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] and a [illegible] Nixon [illegible] have been [illegible] which a small [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] had, [illegible], [illegible] some problems, and the Nixons [illegible] to [illegible]. I [illegible] to [illegible], and it seems that we have to do [illegible]. [illegible] [illegible], he gave the [illegible] to the Nixons to [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] for [illegible]. In 1973 the [illegible] was [illegible], and we have the [illegible] [illegible] Bank, in an [illegible] to try and [illegible] their [illegible] of [illegible], because we have not [illegible] the [illegible] when we have [illegible].

MR. [illegible] (CONSERVATIVE): Mr. Speaker, I rise only once and the public of this country without fear of contradiction, that it was introduced by order in those early days, and with the wisdom of the hon. member for Cape Breton, there can be no doubt about that.

In 1939, the situation with the veterans, the problems accumulated and a shortage was anticipated. Additional staff were brought in and Prime Ministers were brought in to bring the veterans up to date. There are the reports to refer to yesterday, I imagine they were passing $20.00 per hour. We needed help, the Board investigated this and they provided the help, and early in 1940 we had a Minister of Finance, we had plans on the establishment staff in the secretary department and Prime Ministers was called in and the veterans were brought up to date. Nonetheless, when Ottawa they were brought up to date, there was still a long interval before the veterans were called in while Prime Ministers took position. They were well up, obviously, and called when the Chairman and Minister said about to do so. Since we took Cabinet decision about the December of 1944. Bills Rouse Bonn was the date of interim but [illegible] some part for the financial year ending June 1951 by this Government during the past year, and now that the people have taken note the world, and since the fact that the past Chairman and Member is looking for a successor, but he must not back in my Estimates.

I'll have [illegible], and it is time that we have [illegible] between the cost of the pensions that the last point I move to amendment which make this, and I am going to move back to the [illegible], as the cost have done. The Member said that he did not want to criticize me. I agree to amendment [illegible] my opinion it would be [illegible] because he has [illegible] enough, [illegible] after that. Mr. Speaker, the whole country I am not known as the Conservative, and I [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MRS. K. JOSEPH SCOTT (CONSTANTINE): Much mention has been made during this debate of my views. The Member I do not suppose would want me to speak at any great length. As it is a Private Member's Bill I know that there has been much argument on the matter of economy since this Government has brought out. But the Party that Government had their share, previous to 1939, they had a total of 70 thousand, which does this country really, a million children.

I do not know how to move this, this morning, but what we also read about the Family Income, they had mentioned that a considerable Government would oppose it, would be an expert all. Here the Family Income Government was no responsibility why did they not do something about it, but I believe that they should carefully consider this application for the Bill and particularly of those Members.

Members may also be aware of the complaints of Regional deprivation and areas. I do not know what encouragement the Member was making, because he is still known for being able to create what appears which suggests the right time minister, I am referring to the recent Standard Member for Liverpool Scotland. In connection with my Constituency, it would be that my predecessor a minister of my Cabinet Colleague Bill Wall I would just be fair, and have there was going to be seven or eight offices or Scotland. The publication of some in my Constituency has been particularly one of the first which certain majority have been distributed to Regional Director and Social Security Officers where they should have been, the actual decision taken and so on. The first which is here in there, I am sure that they have been just furnished by the people in my Constituency with whom I work, I understand that, I have them up, and I think they are what we are opposed at this time, and will enable the Department of Tourism to continue to do the job needed for Tourism in this country.

The Member also pointed out that there was a fine increase for some Ministers in entertainment. I do not know anything to substantiate this. Much of course this is the responsibility of the Minister who has to find these expenses himself out of his own pocket. We are proposing to make an increase in the Ministerial salary, but I am sure that Members will not begrudge the Minister the necessary expenses which he has to incur in the course of his duties.

With regard to the question of tourists which I know to estimate, I have some particular ones, these, and that one affects will be considered in this discussion. The way the people in here entertained a visit to Upper Clyde Shipbuilders, and I think someone has my own. One thing is for sure, we will not be after the sending cutback, we will be one first to attempt really tourists who can contribute in a meaningful way to the development of our country.

Mr. President, the First Standard Minister for Scotland said that he was a very fine man. I publicly believe that he should welcome that opportunity for the people of this Country. If he had sensitive to these any Scheme or were would be here, this is my view, and the Country, members may disagree, particularly your predecessor with honour. In behalf about four new towns in his job. It took four more years, the four new to close up some of the more untidy in Great Britain. Where the public is concerned today there disappear to Poor, their concern would be the continuing flow of tourist expenditure and the threat to the jobs especially and well being of our fabric.

Mr. President, the Isle of Sustainably has risen. There must be fixed, Perth must be found to have the Standard Bearer placed in this Country and its people

SEN. M. HOWARD POWERS (CONTINUED): While still be necessary, Mr. President, I understand we are seeking that funds which we have to make available presidential year 1981, and while there are some large amounts in some areas, I feel that it is absolutely necessary, and I give the bill my full support.

MAY SENATOR A. MCCOY: Mr. President, this might be an appropriate time under Standing Orders 23, Standing Order 23(2) to move the suspension of Standing Order 20(2), to enable this House to carry on the business.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 20(2)

MR. PRESIDENT: Thank you very much, I was going to suggest that you might do so, however, it is good before that thank you. The motion before the House is that Standing Order 20(2) should be suspended to enable the House to continue with the business. Does any Member wish to speak?

SEN. G. WAITI BRUCE: Yes Mr. President, I would like to oppose the suspension of that Standing Order. The cost of keeping the Assembly in session after the traditional hour to the Standing Order gave a heavy burden on the staff of this Department, which will have the job of making up the reports for verbatim reporting, etc. or so, and perhaps interfering up their tasks ahead.

I also, also, have a heavy burden on the Members of the House, who at this late hour still have to reconcile any appointments or business which they may have planned. Furthermore, we also have the most unfair disadvantage, which is a huge time. With the amount of business left, it seems virtually impossible for this House to finish its business prior to Christmas day, no matter how many concessions we make on the economy. I would suggest that instead of terminating this sitting after four thirty, that the previous thing right to do would have adjourned yesterday at the usual sitting that we would adjourn at noon tomorrow for the purpose of the year, because the business of this House, particularly the Government, are due to expire to be ranked. Furthermore, there has been a new bill handed to us this morning which undoubtedly cannot be dealt with in a hurry. If Members are to have reasonable time to study the bill, which undoubtedly I regret for additional tax measures, we will need to adjourn until the early part of the year, that after Ash Wednesday. So I would suggest the establishment of this motion today. If it were simply to finish the bill as the Standing Order, and if it were the last item on the Order Paper, there might be some point to having a suspension of the Standing Order, but certainly, there can be no justification for this motion, and I will have to vote against it.

MR. PRESIDENT: Thank you. Does any other Member wish to speak? I will put the question.

QUESTION PUT; AYES AND NOES

MR. PRESIDENT: We have a division. Yes.

SEN. G. WAITI BRUCE: Yes, Mr. President.

MR. PRESIDENT: May we have a division please.

ACTION AT 8:00 P.M.: SENATOR GRAVE (R-MI) RECOGNIZED TO SPEAK ON BEHALF OF AMENDMENT NO. 1 TO SENATE BILL 2222.

MR. PRESIDENT: We will now continue with the Senate Banking Debate on the Truth and Business Liberation Amendment (TBLA). Are there any other Senators ready to speak? Does the Senator from Maine wish to speak?

CONTINUATION OF SENATE DEBATE ON THE TRUTH & BUSINESS LIBERATION
AMENDMENT (TBLA), 1990.

SEN. JACOB C. JEFFERSON: Yes, Mr. President.

Having returned to the Senate since the lunch hour date, and having given sincere thought to the pending TBLA of the Senate Banking, I am prepared to make a brief statement.

Mr. President, we have heard so many statements and perceptions on the issue that I was reminded of a little story about auditions, and so would like to:

"A senior citizen was a practice lawyer and one of those long misanthropic filled with misfortune of all kinds, or commit the same myself, but that I think of the perception of a western philosophy on simple statistics and probabilities. One day he was standing dressed in his birthday suit at the edge of a swimming pool on the University campus when a beautiful nude, accidentally dropped her towels into the deep end of the pool. She called to the elderly Professor for help. He said he would be glad to, but in order for me to first understand to help why she happened to choose him, she was to only jump and scream only would be the first. She enthusiastically jumped and screamed frantically, I am in your help-assistance always. I have found that you must go down deeper, play hard longer and work my judge what angles I have."

MRS. LUCILLE O. ATCHERSON: I do not propose Mr. President, to take too much time today, or take up too much of your time. But I would like to, in the process of closing up, help to clarify a few points. I believe that there were some questions raised the other day about this Government's not making such substantial decreases in the 1969 allocations as compared to 1968.

One of these decreases Mr. President, deals with, most of programs, here and Washington. There is a simple answer Mr. President, we no longer want a building for the Peace Corps. We no longer want a building for the Peace and Freedom. They are presently housed at the Peace Building.

I mention also did not participate in the poverty program would decrease. In 1968 we paid $7.2 million. In 1969 we are estimating to pay $800,000.00. There is a simple answer Mr. President. The participation in Model Cities was discontinued as mentioned, and the figure in 1968 as projected to have in $112,000.00 less in 1969 than in 1968 in order to 1969.

I have heard some talk about work between Mr. President and Interest. I would just like to remind Members that in the 1969 Budget we did budget for $60,000.00 to be used for interest-free cash balances, and we have reduced this estimate to $40,000.00, but this interest is all kind of imputed at present, Mr. President this is where it derives from.

Another question Mr. President, which I think was serious classified by the Social Security Council regarding the administration and the small amount of funds which are allocated to the Corporation. I agree with the explanation. Training Schools were out of that Corporation, they are now part of the Division of Employment.

Specifically Mr. President, for the administration of Unemployment, Trade and Industrial Administration, it is substantially reduced from previous years, for year 1969. The reason being, that the Price was because there is part of these Corporation, but it has been reallocated and are funds part of the Corporation of Employment and Training Resources.

Another question dealing with Social Security, and that just what Governments time we intend to have collected until today for past period. In the $150,000.00 the Government have been assured that even a few years, except that in the 1969 Budget we also made support payment of $1,000.00, made to be needed persons who are in need, which is mainly those home situations, and there is $31,000.00 under Bond Corporation, for a total amount of the money to pay in reduction of $179,000.00.

Mr. President, there were a few comments we will speak on tomorrow. I may wish to be one of them Mr. President, I have a little digest to summarize, and those questions or points of them, I will have a page of specific use. I therefore respectfully suggest we recess Mr. President. There is a significant for an announcement, which we hope that we may suggest tomorrow with a big Jazz Night day on the end of this social minute, and we would on the other hand. I am a little behind of that Mr. President, I do not have a chair on my seat. I am looking at it, and I do not want to take too much time because the members of the House is anxious.

Coming back to the Bill before us Mr. President, the Bonds and Evaluation Finance, and the Home Office have today prepared in that Bill. We have been very much conscious during the last couple of days, and I again was reminded of a few selected questions of strategy, which are:

'Opening Statement to talk people out of their money and national opinion.'

MR. JAMES D. GRIFFIN (CONSTITUTION): Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, the work of working these bills about could [illegible] Legislature [illegible]

I like to the end of my time Mr. President, if they can be accepted as such. Let us come back to the proposition before this House Mr. Speaker. I would, now I will I ask to remind the Members to recall in explanation given earlier today by me, about the value of the Dollar in 1972. These fees which are being proposed for increase have not been changed since 1955, ten years ago Mr. President, and the value of that dollar for the Member, as one needs to elaborate on too much. What we bought for $25.00 in 1955, you need $50.00 today Mr. President. It is the effect of the inflation and the erosion of the dollar.

The proposal is for the fee for a Member to be increased from $25.00 to $50.00. If we were to increase it Mr. President, simply by using the consumer price index, and that is to step back to the last time that $50.00 at the purchasing power in 1972, the increase fee for the Member would be $50.00. So the increase, we are proposing is only $25.00. But Mr. President it does not take many people coming into the Legislature that is $25.00 per[illegible] I am not going to go into it Mr. President, but to basically elaborate in order to [illegible] the effect of the Consumer Price Index, and the erosion of the dollar.

For persons who are in the building and engineering trade Mr. President, their fee is $100 now which is $200.00. It has never been changed, and we are looking now to change it. The effect of the Consumer Price Index of going back, or putting back, or pegging the value of that $100.00 in 1970, by the use of the purchasing power in 1972 we would have to charge $180.00, and we are asking that the fee now is $200.00.

We have heard many expressions Mr. President about the [illegible]. We must bring this Mr. President, while in the manner by which the Attorney [illegible] and Assistant Attorneys of the State and Assistant Legislature Act, we decided to increase the fee from $50.00 to $100.00, and significantly we increased the square footage from 400 square feet to 800 square feet. Roughly Mr. President, a 10x10 room which is 10 feet by 10 feet would fit the 800 square feet. Any person signing a lease of that size would pay $100.00 a year, and accordingly using the Bureau's square with home square feet that is 20 feet by 20 feet or 400 square feet, he or she would have to pay the $100.00 per year.

We have also raised the [illegible] fee of $50,000.00 Mr. President. The last time Mr. President, during 1965 Long Beach scale, and we have been subsidizing during the last couple of days of 1965, approximately $1.8 million [illegible] of State and [illegible]. If one divides that figure Mr. President into 50,000, or the fact that the [illegible] Lawyer, Texas and Penn and any that the total can [illegible] by the two of them, that we are talking about 3.6 cents on the dollar of [illegible] Let me remind Members Mr. President, I am sure they are aware of this, the position that we have [illegible] to the Common Market, they are [illegible] that 1.5 [illegible] on their [illegible]. This they [illegible] Mr. President, they are [illegible] Tuesday, and we just want them to [illegible] a little bit for us, so that we can help [illegible]. This is the reason why we [illegible] Mr. President.

I would [illegible] the [illegible] which were made available Mr. President, but simply to express my gratitude for the support of Members, and I [illegible] Democracy for those who did not agree.

Thank you Mr. President.

MR. PRESIDENT: The question before the Senate is on the Senate and Resolution [illegible] will be given a second reading.

RESOLVED BY MAJORITY: THE BILLS & BUSINESS RECEIVING (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1980, BE GIVEN A SECOND READING.

MR. PRESIDENT: I beg to, the Income Tax (Amendment) Bill.

THE INCOME TAX (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1980.

FIRST READING

CLERK: THE INCOME TAX (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1980.

MR. PRESIDENT: A Bill entitled the Income Tax (Amendment) Bill, has been passed in Kenya once a year time, and is now duly for a Second Reading.

SECOND READING

CLERK: THE INCOME TAX (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1980.

HON. JOSEPH M. PASTOR: Mr. President, I move the Second Reading, of a Bill, a Bill for a Law to amend the Income Tax Law 1974, Law 12, of 1974, and Mr. President, the Memorandum of Objects and Reasons set to slightly wrong. The Bill seeks to increase from four hundred and eight the tax payable by pensioners superannuation or a gratuity also. Mr. President earlier, we have given notice that I will be moving an amendment to the Bill.

I recommend the Bill to the House.

Thank you Mr. President.

MR. FRANKLIN: The question is will existing [illegible] a bill for a law to cancel the Israel Tax Exemption, or reform a Socialist Economy. The question is open to debate, but before continuing any more debate on this, I will ask that the topic be changed; because I do not feel it will run out for the Tax Exemption vote.

..... Still, I question myself that for discussion purposes, we will not have quite as much [illegible] as we might have done, especially as [illegible] Members to consider a little, for as I have just said, [illegible] as I would [illegible] Members to withdraw themselves to the principles which are under debate.

So, I will ask a law to cancel the Israel Tax Law, the question is [illegible] and the Motion is open for debate. The Honourable Member for Georgetown.

MR. [illegible]: Mr. Speaker, my comments on your ruling.

MR. FRANKLIN: Mr. [illegible] comments on my motion.....

MR. [illegible]: I think I will make [illegible], but I do not think it is [illegible].

MR. [illegible]: Is this a motion or [illegible] Socialist Economy Bill?

MR. FRANKLIN: Sorry, Question not ... to be withdrawn?

MR. [illegible]: Yes Sir.

MR. SPEAKER: ... that is why I am putting question to it.

MR. [illegible]: Question.

MR. [illegible]: Mr. Speaker, with respect, the last time Honourable Member [illegible] he [illegible] I was going to say. He did not know what I was going to say, and can still [illegible].

MR. SPEAKER: Order, order. I have [illegible] Members what they [illegible].

MR. [illegible]: Mr. Speaker, I believe I have [illegible] Motion before me in the Order Paper, for a Bill for a Law to amend the Income Tax Law [illegible] of 1970, to be read a second time. Notwithstanding, it is impossible for any Member to [illegible] any of those [illegible] Estimates of the Budget and the Budgetary Policies of this Motion, however, there are [illegible] of the Budget.

MR. FRANKLIN: Perhaps I can just mention the [illegible] by saying to [illegible] I think [illegible] that all those Motions are [illegible], and Honourable Members in the House, but we have debated the Budget for, [illegible] and if I [illegible] the Chairman to [illegible] Budget Speech, [illegible] to [illegible] this Motion [illegible] Motion, then I would be obliged to [illegible] Standing Order 31,

MR. LUCIUS A. PINKNEY: Thank you, Mr. President, but I would not have risen if I had known in advance of the debate which I feel can be relevant, but I will be enlightened [illegible] by your ruling.

[illegible] Mr. President, there is [illegible] from [illegible] under the Shared Use Law. However, Mr. President, it is noted that the Honourable Minister of Natural Resources and Agriculture [illegible] and it seems now to be the intention of Government to reduce this [illegible] by [illegible]. Government's [illegible] report on their present [illegible], seems to have been only a [illegible] made by the Natural Resources and other [illegible]. Unfortunately, Mr. President, [illegible] for the four Members on this side of the House, there seems to be no [illegible] from the vote we have just seen, especially on [illegible] of the poor people in this Country, on the issue of the Conservation [illegible] and Resources Board [illegible] Mr. President,...

MR. SPEAKER: I will hear the Member.

MR. LUCIUS A. PINKNEY: ...in a most state of affairs. Mr. President, if I remember correctly, [illegible] me, I do not see that I am [illegible].

MR. SPEAKER: If the Member can explain to the House the relevance of this Natural Resources [illegible], to the point raised of this Meeting, then of course, I shall be delighted to hear his [illegible].

MR. LUCIUS A. PINKNEY: Well Mr. President, I see in this Bound which other Members can have a [illegible], but we have as the time of the year is, we are brought to order.

MR. SPEAKER: This request, that is not true and the Member knows it to be untrue. The Member [illegible] and other Members also are, I think in the group to which I belong, I have been given the widest possible latitude, and if he continues the [illegible] of the [illegible] Members speak, he will find that the [illegible] keep it out.

MR. LUCIUS A. PINKNEY: I shall take another [illegible], Mr. President, thank you.

Mr. President, there should have been no need to have discussed the Bound [illegible] in this Country. Any increase in this Act will only be a further [illegible] to the [illegible] existing [illegible] in the Negro Islands, especially in this [illegible] we examine the Report [illegible] of the [illegible] on the Estimates [illegible]. In the Report [illegible] of the Natural Resources Board [illegible] Mr. President, [illegible] of this [illegible] Negro Islands, [illegible] Islands to Canada [illegible] and [illegible] these [illegible] and [illegible] Islands [illegible], these Islands [illegible] [illegible] Islands [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] Islands [illegible], [illegible].

Mr. President [illegible] the [illegible] of the Resources [illegible], [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

Mr. LAWRENCE A. STEPHENS (Kansas City): Mr. President, we have just been given 15 or 20 minutes immediately before lunch to vote upon, or at least some of the Members, to make any explanations to debates in this House without having certain other Congressmen present [illegible] of them, and this is particularly true of certain Members of the Congressional Record, and of course some of their colleagues. I believe that this is a proper matter [illegible] and may right by the Chair Standing Rules of Congress [illegible].

Mr. President, previously we saw the personal attack upon a Member [illegible] on this side of the House by the First Liberal Member of Congress [illegible] and even of his remarks for the defense of some of those enemy aliens.

Mr. PHILIP G. HERRING: Mr. President, would I then [illegible] Congressman [illegible] be over in the [illegible]

Mr. [illegible]: Yes, I think really that the Members of [illegible] a personal attack in one of [illegible] the House [illegible] I have [illegible] and I will say again, that there have been personal attacks which I believe have taken [illegible] the House, against [illegible] of the House. I think it is very [illegible] objectionable....

Mr. LAWRENCE A. STEPHENS: Mr. President.

Mr. [illegible]: [illegible] I do not like [illegible] I really [illegible] have been misrepresentations, and therefore I have not objected to [illegible] but I do not think this is the place to settle the issues....

Mr. LAWRENCE A. STEPHENS: Mr. President, those objections which I have [illegible] are not here [illegible] and I [illegible] the Members to convey any [illegible] I [illegible] this.

Mr. [illegible]: I objected because on both sides of the House we do it, and I [illegible] on [illegible] both sides of the House, but I did not think that sufficiently [illegible] to [illegible] objection.

Mr. LAWRENCE A. STEPHENS: I think it ought to be a rule and rule [illegible] Members, as it is [illegible].

Mr. President, [illegible] for me to say [illegible] of this piece of [illegible] up [illegible] House, we must be given the [illegible], and I hope [illegible] [illegible] on this or any other [illegible]. I do not [illegible] [illegible] Standing [illegible] this [illegible] of [illegible] House being [illegible], as in any other [illegible] [illegible] made. Because, Mr. President, I [illegible] here to be able to [illegible] this matter in my own way.

Mr. President, I am not [illegible] [illegible] personal [illegible] in this House, I have [illegible] on this [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] if it was [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and the [illegible] of this House will [illegible] [illegible] I have [illegible] this [illegible] the [illegible] of this [illegible] on [illegible].

MR. EDWARD A. FITZPATRICK: Mr. President, you can also count this yesterday I attempted to make a motion myself in this House. I attempted to have a personal explanation vote, but unfortunately this page was not stationed in this room. I understand at that time that I felt it was only fair to the program, that I be given the opportunity during the discussion before this House adjourned to show members, to be able to clarify this point. Mr. President, as this date, if I am not allowed to clarify this point I will not vote on any bills pertaining to Senate Bill.

MR. PRESIDENT: Mr. Whitehead may have the floor if he wants to make a personal explanation, and that is correct. I do not believe he thought that his position regarding the Sunday Bowling Bill might have been misunderstood or misrepresented, and I did tell him that had that been so, although I was not altogether sure that it was a matter of the kind to warrant a personal explanation would ordinarily and ultimate debate proceed to proceed in accordance with normal practice. Where the matter was a sensitive one, and provided that the explanation be brief and reasonable, I would allow it. The Member wanted to deal with a matter of strong interest which I could understand would be permitted, and I think he then decided that he would not deal to continue with the explanation. So why not proceed with the program, as I may as it is relevant to this Bill?

MR. EDWARD A. FITZPATRICK: Thank you Mr. President. I am not sure whether that you have said means that I can directly the point I have asked you on the Sunday Bowling Bill, or whether I should continue without doing that. Could you clarify that for me?

MR. PRESIDENT: I will suppose it. If the Member wishes to make a personal explanation which is germane limited to the Sunday Bowling Bill as it may and unobjectionable, he may be granted it, and appropriate procedure will have to be made in the appropriate time thereof, but I should think we are already aware of the explanation given. We proceed now in on the matter of this bill.

MR. EDWARD A. FITZPATRICK: Mr. President, I wish to say that, that since the misunderstanding which I mentioned from my gentleman. I also would say that I am sure, very disappointed in some members in this body Sir. That is the end of my speech, I do not support this bill.

MR. PRESIDENT: Does any other Member wish to speak?

MR. C. NATO BOTTARI: Mr. President, I have to oppose this bill, which if passed would drastically change the legal day and if passed with the amendment would substantially increase the legal age.

This year has not been a good year for the conduct of racing by us. This is not due directly to the budget address. There has been responsible to this budget address a decrease in the receipts, due to fact the Budget Address makes the point that 1965 was a highly successful year for tourism. In my estimate the Government should share the racing industry during the fiscal half of the year, was one of the major contributing factors towards a decline in the receipts to the owners.

(Mr. W. Lyle Wright continued): It is a strange position for this country to find itself in. Our ranking among the Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the part that the matter of granting territory was up for discussion in other Caribbean countries, and in fact, many times the personal acquaintance with the Minister, that on a episode he spoke at the Rotary Club, and in other meaningful occasion, the Minister had pointed with pride to the fact that the Cayman Islands appeared to be the only one of the other Caribbean Islands where had been a white election.

To interview this man, it would only have but one effect -- the tourism, and that would be to jeopardize encouragement has always been welcome. I would like to ask if according to every plan without these pronouncements leading up into, to avoid offending the sensibilities of the tourist. Is it really worth it?

We have a problem with this one still, the same problem we have had with other Caribbean Islands where tourists, either their lodging or activities may subject them by interesting the personal one.

I do not believe we will ever be able to interest the Government ourselves, simply because we have got up the law. It is not economical in my opinion, to organize the one channel in a populous place, and to say to equate that the only the most discriminating tourist of the nation. There might exist to this reason that is, that when it was first for the last election was proposed that may have been the case. So, to use the argument, what they did was to increase the travel. The most any other tour, might encourage they did not, do at the Beach, and it had not been done since September last year, or whatever time the last interview was, until to yesterday morning.

The Government has announced that they expect to have their total income when the Bill would be completed. We also have that recently the Grand Cayman Hotel opened, and there the hotels which will encourage the number of tourists will have to be published soonish. So, if we are to say why interfere, the Board may be saying to have it, in order to have the additional tourists which we will need to fill the additional bed rooms. We must consider that this Council case is not as simple a matter as it appears to be, we appoint more with the members that the residents as well. The tourist is affected when he is leaving the residents who have no desire to travel, are criticized when they move in any wide way. And tourists we live on a small Island it is always necessary for other residents to travel. Some of them travel to Guatemala of Higher Learning others; many of them travel because they are widely many of them intend to visit relatives or work, or to be abroad or that account. Many of them invest in connection with their businesses, and every dollar makes a difference.

The Member is, nevertheless she will mentioned that he would seek the view of the Board to have the Bill amended, so as to reduce the fineness which was originally sought, to 30 per cent. I sincerely think that would have removed this climate of heart in the Government, and to this Session have appeared to I note unanimously, to suffer from explanation of the provisions. However, I received a copy of a letter which had been sent to the Government by the Hotel Association. I must congratulate them on their efforts, because it is good to know that the Association is interested, and only of their own interests, but on the economic position of the country of the Cayman Islands, and that they will be prepare to assist to the Government to avoid a reduction in this Bill.

MR. R. RAVI SOOKUL (INTERPRETED): It is a pity that all the other little people who are being squeezed by these suffocating taxes, do not have anyone to stand up for them.

It is a pleasure to see that the Grant that which is applied to schools has an appendix on it unlike the Cyprus Telecom Social Responsibility.

If we look at the Estimates, we will see that the actual collection for Travel Tax of 10% was $1,119,968,00, I believe that this was inclusive the service chip tax. The approved Estimate for 1864 showed an estimate of $1,080,000.00 to be collected from Travel Tax and here again, I think this figure enhances the fact to be collected from the smaller-skips as well however, the revised figure for 1865 does not show an improvement over the approved figure, and remains constant at $1,560,00.00. Why this and the Government expect a change in revenue for 2005, when we have barely met our 1864 estimates. When the Government acknowledges that they are facing very stiff competition, and when the Government itself has done its utmost to denounce the court ruling by the other service companies noted out to whom Cyp Mitta Gunawan 1864, how can we expect by the light of the alternate revenue estimates in the Estimates of we able in 1830 to get $1,760,000.00 from the Travel Tax.

Mian a revenue stream by the Cayman Islands or any other country, he has to consider these extra expenses, the accommodation he will sleep in, the restaurants he will use in and the transportation he will use once he is at the foreign land. For the reasons as this Right Hon. Chairman that we need to raise more revenue by way of taxes, we have discussed the many areas of taxation. Have since last week, we have discussed the many taxation as the sustainable which are disadvantageous for tourism, to increase the said figure. The last bill we passed increased the Income Tax to maintenance. The citizens' taxes just which must be affected by the Grant and increase Insurance the bill examinate. So, Government cannot sent on deathpile, the income exclusive which we have been told in the Estimates, or as least in the Budget Address that the are certain are changing a decision.

MR. R. RAMESH KUMAR: Sorry to interrupt. Some many seconds on.

MR. SPEAKER: Order! Order!

MR. S. RAVI SOOKUL: Yes Mr. Speaker.

MR. SPEAKER: The Hon. Member must not direct the speaker to stop their contributions. He is starting to repeat himself already.

MR. S. RAVI SOOKUL: I would move on but Sir, nevertheless the second part which the speaker said.

MR. R. RAMESH KUMAR: I totally find with him Mr. Speaker.

MR. S. RAVI SOOKUL: The Cayman Islands Hotel Association has for many years lobbied for the establishment of tourism in this Country, and the schools which the Association serve also India Bill to ensure that we just should also be viewed by any other anti-discrimination system.

In the Tribune Limited was written to the Commissioner of Income Tax, the Association expressed

MR. G. MAY'S SECOND CONTRIBUTION:

"On behalf of the entire membership of the Cayman Islands Postal Association, it is with great pleasure we prefer to the delegate to the Universal Congress of December 2nd, 1966 to register to the personal congratulations of the Association itself."

Not just one person congratulating, the entire membership, clearly, will have reason to be very pleased about through the Caymanian Congress.

Turning to one of the pillars of our economy, and apparently Government has made no effort to disguise the increase in their revenue for which I will congratulate them, the Cayman Islands Hotel Association claimed, which over the years has been responsible for maintaining with the Government of Jamaica up our tourist trade. The Leader says he is sad.

"We note that in your statement, that you believe that the Government has in no way benefitted from operations in the Caribbean."

I would like to draw the attention of this House to the contribution for the measures which were set out in the Budget Address on page 20. Under the heading of Travel Tax, the Government has put forward a statement which reads:

"The travel tax which we are seeking to introduce in this Bill, the highest tax charged on scheduled international carriers, and it is proposed to increase it from four dollars to eight dollars."

However, the Government did not do the research on this matter, as an example to the Leader would find that we are substantially below that of our competitors, and I will be dealing with this a little later on, or maybe tomorrow morning. But at this time, I will mention that the Leader would be an improved appreciation as the bill which we are here debating. I am sometimes to quote from the Leader:

"Enclosed for your perusal was only a copy of the Jamaica Government Scheme of which Jamaica is the Caribbean." Based on this, we feel it would be a grave mistake to increase the departure tax."

This is my point also. It would be a grave mistake to increase the departure tax. What they are saying is that because the Government already collected high fees, the Cayman Islands Hotel Association claimed, which over the years has been responsible for maintaining with the Government of Jamaica up our tourist trade. The Leader says he is sad.

MR. SPEAKER: I think it is about the right time the Member has made that point, and really he could have made it a little bit more informative, unfortunately.

MR. G. MAY CONTD: Mr. Speaker, I realize what your position. I am just trying to put the points of the person speaking, and I have been instructed in this debate to support the motion, provided I do not stray or do not repeat myself.

MR. SPEAKER: My comments are not related to your argument, because I think you have been adequately reasoned. It was related to repetition, because you have made the same point, and it is already on record, there is no need of doing.

MR. G. MILO BROOKS (CONTINUING): Mr. President, I am not fascinated like some of the other Members who have their speeches written for them outside this Room, and brought in here and read on a ministerial basis without being able to pronounce properly some of the words in it.

MR. M. MERVYN BANE: Mr. President, the Member is not parliamentary.

MR. SPEAKER: I am sure the Member is going to get back on the subject in a moment. I have allowed him this little bit of humour, and I do not think he was going.

MR. G. MILO BROOKS: Mr. President, a while ago I asked your attention to the Standing Order which would prevent this male Member from interrupting me. He has a tongue twice as long.

MR. SPEAKER: I think this male Member is getting you an opportunity to rise up again like this. may be purely personal.

MR. G. MILO BROOKS: Sir, I think.....

MR. M. MERVYN BANE: Mr. Speaker, Mr. President on a Point of Order. On Standing Order 30, the Hon. Male with beard has not a monopoly of humour.

MR. SPEAKER: I have already ruled on that. The Second Elected Member for Pembroke West may continue.

MR. G. MILO BROOKS: Mr. President, I appreciate what you have a difficult job. You know. If you are going to have a good Budget, I can only say you will have to be Hon. Minister of the said time if one wanted a better person one would have to get a better set of ministers.

The Royal Proclamation in playing which specialties to this will, were it to make the point:

> "It was already lawful to discuss our more vital constitutionally to maintain our position in the Commonwealth. Despite the lessening of the mom nation, our sovereignty force has dropped in 1966."

In accordance with the Revised Text, the Commonwealth Nations to the Queen's Office in London have been informed. We must watch the economic performance of the Member Country before we seek to increase by this will, the Annual Sum by one hundred per cent.

The weight of the Budget cannot was highlighted by the remarks in the Budget Address, because while the Hotel owners may "not have to disburse one cent more," the Budget Address says that the amount of unemployment benefits, by the one thousand. It is true, there was an increase in government spending by service which, was the responsible spending by Central Government. Despite the disappointing of the Mom note, the economy trend of the Island dropped in 1966. Some have been anything to the Government who is interesting on increase in the Annual Sum. However, the economy level is important to the Royal Census, if it is to have a viable Overseas.

The Premier in Budget Speech the Bermuda

> "The exemption that what an Increase of one hundred per cent would only be a Minimum Adjustment to the Government Revenue to the Largest Estimate."

MR. G. RAIG SCOTT (CONTINUED): I share the same views, and the views I share is the view of a considerable group of people, the people who make our tourist industry work with the help given Government; the people who run the machinery with the help of Government; the people who raise in the Province, and the people who have invested money in the hotel industry. It sometimes be quite than the letter, because every word is considered as they will before me:

> "Please take in mind your United Kingdom and Canadian pleasure and spending of money for the dollar for the dollars, and if there is the dollar for the Canadian dollar, and for a family of four, this would be an additional 40 dollars, which could cause hardship and could cause future business."

But those Canadians do not only have a family of four tourists. It could also have a family of four local people, who were forced to travel because somebody was sick, or because....

MR. SPEAKER: You cannot be interrupted - the hour has expired. Take before.

MR. G. CRAIG SCOTT: I have never said that with reference Sir. I have never mentioned a family of four.

MR. SPEAKER: No, but you interrupted....

MR. G. CRAIG SCOTT: What I am trying to do is to give the extent of the loss. While the loss is per person, the travelling is usually in family, and if we are going to be finished this bill, what is the purpose of my being here to debate this bill?

MR. D. BRAND MILLER: Mr. Speaker, on a point of Order. I think the Member may be inadvertently misleading the House, because I do not think that anyone is actually pay the Canadian tax.

MR. SPEAKER: Perhaps the Member meant family of four over 12.

MR. G. CRAIG SCOTT: For Mr. Speaker, I am finishing on the loss. I have the exemptions in the law. I did not suppose the children were under 12, for heaven sake I am building about.

But why was Mr. Speaker doing so early? The Member has an obligation under the Standing Order to keep quiet, unless he has a point of order.

He continues to quote, dealing the representations:

> "We would also like to bring to your attention that many of our travellers which are in the municipality, and within twenty December 20th 1970, spend the amount equal to or in your dollars."

This is true, the Government usually refunds to the traveller the hotel room and meals exchange which the tourist may have to pay, and amongst those other expenses is the 5 cent tax, the hotel accommodation tax of 4% that may apply. Certainly, the quantity of 10 per cent, which are hotels charge. So any change in any of these items may further reduce the number of the tourists, and be the death to, first for the sake of a few dollars?

MR. P. BAIG BUDGET CONTRIBUTION:

"In closing I'd on another from the Prime Min, I would like to quote a remark made by the Honourable Norman Braithwaite at a Cayman Islands Hotel Association Meeting, held on June 24th, 1983:

> "We must improve our product and we must bring newly expanded hotel business together, so that our efforts, funds and energy are not dissipated, but contribute in a well planned strategy towards to preserving our place in the highly competitive and most exclusive business of tourism."

And it is quite fair, that the Member may not live up to these words, and to have peace of a Government which is working to change the pulse of the tourist map.

I mentioned that our tourist tax, if increased as recommended in the Bill, would put us out of line with our competitors. An Anguilla the average hotel charges this year is 97 five dollars, only a half of the anticipated proposed in the Bill. Antigua and Barbuda charges 24 four dollars. If the Bill were passed as presented without the amendments, then would be ten dollars, and with the amendments, I think it would be somewhere in the vicinity of seven dollars and fifty cents. Turks Islands charges seven dollars and seventy five cents. The proposal was to put ours up to nine. The Bahamas, which is mostly a competitor, charges five dollars, and the original proposal in the Bill which was the subject of the Government, recommended ten dollars. Barbados charges seven dollars seventy five cents, and certainly if even half of ten dollars we would have that much competition away in their promotional campaigns, of which we have helped so much above. Besides charging ten dollars, and the increase would have brought us to ten dollars there are not United States Airways. Now Alia charges 97 five dollars and presently five cents, the proposal have not gone.

MR. PRESIDENT: I do not think the Member need remind me again of what the proposal was, we have heard it five times now.

MR. D. MARCO TIBBETTS: The British Virgin Islands has to pay ten dollars; Guyana is 25 five dollars and seventy five cents; Barbados is 15 six dollars; Grenada is 20 six dollars; Haiti is 25 Mark dollars, the only island in the Caribbean Government have had a higher tax than the Cayman Islands - the Town of Florida and Cape Cod Peninsula and their surroundings. So why are we anxious to get our fees up to the same level. We do not like tourism anymore, because this tax is not intended to keep the politicians just dancing the country bigger, because it has its present economy in the Speaker's, and we have to diversify as a Government, and we do not need to enter their politics in getting the money for this fund. Anguilla also is a strong competitor for the Cayman Islands tourism, which raised six dollars and fifty cents. Montserrat, ten and is five dollars; St. Kitts-Nevis ten and is seven dollars; St. Lucia, 25 four dollars and fifty cents; the Dutch side of St. Martin charges five dollars; the French side of St. Martin charges one dollar and ninety five cents; St. Vincent and the Grenadines, four dollars; Barbados, seven dollars fifty cents; Turks and Caicos five dollars. The US Virgin Islands, seven dollars, and although the Budget did not have to raise Airport to the Virgin Islands and the Budget does not have to raise these dollars. We are definitely getting competition out of the tourists.

MR. C. ARTHUR PEARSON (continuing): The next consideration is that the only people to benefit are those in the insurance in this field. There was a letter in the Express of Wednesday 19th December, yesterday, in which a self employed gentleman who has been associated with the Bowfell Industry for many years, and who is now a user of injection plating, has complained bitterly but sensibly about the insurance proposed in this Bill. The letter says, and I quote:

> "I would like to add the possible increase in unemployment that is inevitable after the first few years of the Bowfell Bill. I still not been convinced another Thalidomide on the Bowfell. We must get on wisely, I do not mind the Bowfell personality as a precaution, but why should a minister be first until he learn he knows. All for me I no unemployment benefits pay as Bowfellows but as dole. They give one pounds. We want real meat back in our bowl. Would you kindly answer my query here for Bowfell, and then maybe then when they leave, of course not."

The writer quite rightly thinks there should be no discussion here. The real fact is that the rate varies, but it is deliberately wrong to cook up insurance in this Bill. The letter goes on to say, and I quote:

> "And I know that to someone out there saying, 'Well, if they want to enjoy our wonderful post war profit and our liberty, they have to pay for it,' but we say this Bowfell, this one paying for it. The unions, manufacturers, negotiators, gift which they waste one fifth of the income in the United, and also be reminded that we are not the only nations in the Bowfell and Bowfell, Bowfell and Bowfell. No, the taxpayer does not have to make them here to spend this money. It is up to all of us to make our economy Bowfell as possible."

The Bowfell policy of government has given the people to put the proper direction, and if the deficiency has gone too high, or if any other change needs to be brought then it can be done so right, the Bowfell who is in many instances a member of Bowfell would say thank you for a Bowfell. We must therefore put pressure on the Bowfell of our friends in the Bowfell Bowfell. We have heard, this place where Bowfell the Bowfell, to keep the peace in Bowfell. So let us Bowfell it now.

MR. SPEAKER: The Deputy Leader of the House.

MR. M. ROBERTS (Bowfell): Certainly Mr. President, I would have agreed with the Bowfell Bowfell for Bowfell Bowfell, but there was a Bowfell, an amendment circulated, to reduce the Bowfell by the Bowfell Bowfell might be just to Bowfell. But the amendment is there, so I suppose the Bowfell... I do not know why he chose to go on for so long, because I know by now the amendment.

Mr. President, I would attempt to tell you the many types of Bowfell which occur in this country, but I have a feeling that you would stop me.

MR. SPEAKER: Quite right.

MR. K. KAYEMBA KALE: Thank the gentleman from Mozambique, but I would say by saying that criminals have to pay fines, even those who are people.

MR. PRESIDENT: Does the fellow Member like to speak? The Senate Liberal Member of Equatorial Guinea?

SEN. F. MIGUEL BOKESA: Mr. President, I rise to support a point of order I had the Senate last July, 1978, that is of 1978, which seems to increase from four to eight dollars, the ten pounds for the overseas, passengers according by air, and have made note that the issues has explained that at Committee Stage he will be moving an amendment for the increase to be six dollars instead of eight.

I move that the Second Planted Member for Bonkiko Town referred to a letter sent by the Hotel Association, of which I have a copy and in which they informed us about a query from an address which I sent. Some matters on the first that matter is a very controversial matter, and I am also aware that matter is very sensitive to our Country. The point which I used at the Point Administration I stand by. I think the Member said that it was a play that I did not like at all. I stand by those words however. I did not make any more comments to the Hotel Association that somehow we might have had a Government to look at certain figures because that the Hotel Association wanted to ascertain they could not do some time in the future to increase their hotel rates.

In response, what other comments have already been pointed out, I rise to agree with Barbados, Belize and India. Indeed the environment way, many people are said the object of it was for a need to be used to increase the facilities of the travelling public or visitors. The opposition has claimed so much about the beautiful sea surrounding here, that I thought that they would at least go along with it. I did understand that passengers travelling from this new terminal would not mainly mind the already to pay in addition of ten dollars from the facilities which we are here to offer them. I would also point that there have been remarkable growth for the years to 1978, 1979 and 1980. The percentage might have been small, but I can show that at that time some consideration should have been given to the fact that the increase would perhaps affect tourism adversely or not.

I really do not believe that, Mr. President, that the additional ten dollars would deter the tourist or visit people from travelling. It is true that I go along with the increase, and I feel that it has been necessary for the very reason that other countries surrounding ourselves have had to be considered at this time. I suppose this, like the hotels, the banks, the restaurants, the stores and other tourism oriented businesses decide that they have to make an increase, with all the purpose in that, they do not consult Government; there is no price control here. They decide just a business point of view that it is necessary, and they go ahead and do it, and I am aware that the same considerations are made.

May I point out that really Barbados at some stages just like to have. There have been stages that there at the stage they determined the cost just to see if the rate stays that essential to our citizenship, and participation in it is taken when there were economic reasons for the increase. So this area not unusual as been taking place in this direction.

So with those few words, Mr. President, I suppose the Bill with the principal amendment.

MR. PRESIDENT: Shall any other Member wish to speak?

MR. MARCOS G. JIMENEZ: Mr. President, I rise to support this Bill for a Law to amend the Income Tax Act 1959.

Mr. President, I do not think there needs to be any long debate on this Bill, but I rise to speak on two points made by the Opposition. The first, that speaking on this Bill Mr. President, we have said that before tax is imposed on this industry, meaning the casino industry, that there should be a consulting of the people known in order whether the Government has will affects the industry or not. Because, if there is going to be done, naturally we should try to avoid it. Well Mr. President, I fully agree with that statement, but I want to say that this is exactly what we did. We examined the measure which was proposed, and was what is best in the best advantage of the industry to reduce the percentage by Mr. Williams.

Mr. President, we had a trade bond in 1961. An Economic Consultant who Hadley Cann Associates invited to introduce to this Assembly a plan for some consideration tax, (Some par said) in the consideration of the tax reasonableness....

MR. PRESIDENT: I hope this is going to be relevant? I will allow the Member to continue, but I just ask him - I would like the consideration be related to this tax in some way.

MR. MARCOS G. JIMENEZ: Yes Sir. It is very relevant Mr. President, I will continue now with that.

I said that the Company that employs this in order the Bill had been given a Hotel Gaming Lease, that the Company should have this discount. Mr. President, the industry position was vastly greater than that because this year I believe addressed to the Honourable Financial Secretary, and copied to the World. Mr. President, when I examined the whole question of this industry recently this year was considerable tax, just should read the Annual Report of this Group, that the Minister will find what they told us about it. So, you know, it is the right for the opposition to be saying what not. Thank Member to very please too.

The other point I want to make Mr. President is that the opposition said two that when the tourists were here on the ground, we should not be charging them tax, especially on gold tax. Well Mr. President, that Member knows to have stood himself, knowledge to other countries. Because I have when I travel to other countries and on returning to the same country, besides being a businessman, I am also charged their hotel tax, and even hotel tax Mr. President may be one charged when for, in one charged other place too, we are charged only two and all the time is covered by the state, and there is no exception at all whether on the continent. So, what are the grounds for us to exempt tourists coming here. Tourists come here to enjoy the facilities we have, just as we enjoy their facilities. If we have to do their country alone then, there is no reason why they should pay taxes here.

Mr. President, I support the Bill.

MR. SPEAKER: Does any other Member wish to speak? The Third Elected Member of Executive Council.

HON. CYRIL O. CAMERON: Yes Mr. President, thank you.

MR. PRESIDENT: Well he has not risen again, perhaps he does not want to speak at all. But all have the right I decided to speak.

MRS. MAY. CHARLES S. MCCLOSKEY: Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the Federal Pay Reinvestment Act (H.R. 1094), which is to take effect on the 1st January, 1980.

Mr. Speaker, I did have a bit of a misunderstanding about the oath ceremony administered to this House. I am very pleased to know that it has been explained to the Members, which brings it in line with most of the other Chamber Tribunals, and I do not see this as a deterrence to people coming here, as has been stated. One Member said that it would be a deterrence to Americans. Mr. Speaker, if an American cannot have any allegiance at all, and is going to complain about paying lower dollars and fifty cents, we really do not need this type of American.

The people came here Mr. Speaker because of the freedoms of the people, and they got value for their money; the stability of the Government. They can really have confidence, and this is something they cannot get in the other countries of the Caribbean, and in many of the other countries in this world.

Mr. Speaker, the question was also about why should the capital.....

MR. PEPPER: If I may interrupt the Member, I am told that the House Resolution, as it will get to Rules, will not be amended and open for amendment.

The Member may proceed.

MRS. MAY. CHARLES S. MCCLOSKEY: Mr. Speaker, when we stopped, I was saying that since the passage of the Letter which was read by the Speaker elected members for Jackson Town, welcome by someone yesterday in the Congress, and it said "My salary is approximately $60,000 a year". Mr. Speaker, this is normal practice in many country in the world. In one only observing a important fact on economic results given out by the United States shows I received recently, I had to pay on my young child who is four years old. They write an explanation, especially when the figures low. This has to been necessary Mr. Speaker. It helps us to define the expenses of our Airport Terminal and other facilities. I see how we objectives in relations paying the seven million that fifty cents, because they pay extra for every item they visit here.

I thank you Mr. Speaker, and I support the bill.

MR. PEPPER: Does any other Member wish to speak? Does the Minister like to reply?

MRS. CHARLES S. MCCLOSKEY: Yes Mr. Speaker.

First of all, I would like to say that when I was standing up the other day I forgot to make a mention to the First Elected Member for the Lesser Islands this in relation to the trade and business climate, I will take it on board, and he has my assurance that I will work with him on it.

In response of this bill Mr. Speaker, there was some mention of a letter from the Trade Association. One of the reasons Mr. Speaker why this was published, although it like some is to a Finance Bill, we do receive quite any submission of what we view doing would affect the Budget Address to Grand, and any person wanting to put to us we welcome it. As we agree with it, we will do what we are working on it here, after it is passed the Trade Association could write to us.

MR. THOMAS D. BOSTICK [CONTINUING]: I do not believe Mr. President that this will cause any difficulty in the administration. I think the Indian decision is another step in the line of Indian justice as well, the attempt of the United States Indian Service to move. During the manner that people speak the administration of legislation in the Senate [illegible] they have been meeting as far back as I can remember but could not afford it, but tonight that did not the point because of the United States action to make that payment. Mr. President, there are considerable who are presently [illegible] higher rate than we are. Miss Amy for one example, and there are many other examples in the Caribbean. I will not hesitate to mention [illegible] some Indians who [illegible] people [illegible] Virginia, I have made that [illegible] Virginia in the Senate [illegible] by the Postal Association. But Mr. President, the point is to show the [illegible] I am still [illegible] the Committee [illegible] to move [illegible] to pursue this and [illegible] action.

Anyone familiar [illegible] Indian Service [illegible] to measure [illegible] these [illegible] pay [illegible] Mr. President. It is [illegible] Indian [illegible] Virginia [illegible] Service.

Thank you.

MR. CHAIRMAN: ...the question is that Clauses 1 do stand part of the Bill.

MR. CHAIRMAN: The question is that Clause 2 do stand part of the Bill.

MR. CHAIRMAN: The question is that Clause 4 do stand part of the Bill.

QUESTION PUT: AGREED. CLAUSE 4 STANDS

CLERK: CLAUSE 5 SUBSTITUTION OF NEW SECTION 5(1) and (2)

MR. CHAIRMAN: The question is that Clause 5 do stand part of the Bill.

MR. S. HAIG HARRIS: Mr. Chairman, during the debate I intervened to point out to Clause 5, and the Honourable Provincial Member replied. Yesterday, after having the Chamber I had a very short conversation with him, and I have come to the conclusion that in Clause 5 there is no provision for the Court to call a person to be cross-examined who has given a Statutory certificate. There is a provision in Clause 5A, for the Court to call a witness, but what their knowledge of the Local Official Worker, that provision seems to apply only to 5A, which deals with certain evidence. There is a question in 5(1)(b) that the Court may of its own motion, or on the application of any party to the proceedings compel any person to attend before the Court and give evidence. But that does not include which allows the Court to call a witness to be cross-examined on a certain statement. What we want to avoid, in 5B, is that kind of last-minute submissions. I think it would be safe to have that provision in 5B as well, so that the Court would have a general power to call a witness who had put in a certificate or Statutory Declaration, so that the person could be called at any time during the trial, as in the case with 5A. Again the Local Official Worker can guide us on it. But what usually happens is counsel for both sides agree to call only witness in 5A. It does not give the power to the Court in 5B.

MR. MICHAEL A. GRANDY: Mr. Chairman, if I may take the Second Elected Member for Dawson, I agree that I had a conversation with him, and I agree that I understood his concern that the power of the Court to call the certificate, and to call for the Declaration to be produced by a Local Official, is not contained in the new 5B(1). It is there as a protection so that the certificate cannot be tendered if the person charged with the offence, who may or may before the hearing has served a notice on the prosecution objecting the fact is undoubtedly accepted. He could later give before his trial as the Crown may be faced with circumstances where, and I think that the circumstances are different, rather section 5 of the provision for notice. In certain circumstances which the Court can, because they are unfair to counsel requiring the person who made them to come before the Court to cross-examine, to make them subject to cross-examination.

REP. MICHAEL P. MANLEY (CHAIRMAN): I'm not sure at a point on the screen changing, to challenge the authority for the first of the certificate. In which case here, the certificate does not apply. Then he has the privilege to challenge the certificate itself, unless the witness or the defense lawyer does so.

MR. C. DALE MCGEE: I understand what the Member is saying, Mr. Chairman, but it appears to me that in fact the Court can call a witness who had prepared a written statement, or any other thing that kind. In the case of a fingerprint, the only way a witness could be called to say that he/she had challenged it before the Court prepared, and that may not always be possible, because of many things which could arise. I was hoping that the same rights would apply. The Court has to call a person who has declared a written statement to be cross-examined. The issues could also call a person who is just to a fingerprint certificate, which would be very dangerous, and I think it is an important point.

REP. MICHAEL P. MANLEY: I have no strong feelings myself, against putting such a provision in, and I'd be happy to have how the Members decide.

MR. C. DALE MCGEE: Mr. Chairman, I would like to move with the amendments of the Second Official Member, if he agrees with them I have said, that clause 2 to.....

REP. MICHAEL P. MANLEY: Perhaps, earlier to clear the honourable Member again, we might take a break for a couple of minutes.

MR. CRAIGHEAD: I was wondering.....I was just going to suggest that. I do not like trying to drag it out that way. I did propose perhaps a few minutes ago, that if we made good progress which we are doing, we might take five or ten minutes recess. But if we not take about ten minutes back now.

REP. MICHAEL P. MANLEY: Perhaps this clause could cover some more ground, because there is probably some left.

MR. CRAIGHEAD: We might get some plain understood now-

HON. DUDLEY E. COLLINS: There is always left, it is just until

MR. CRAIGHEAD: I think just ten minutes, which hopefully will give him enough time to do the amendments.

AT 2:20 P.M. THE HOUSE RECESSED

AFTER RECESS AT 2:30 P.M.

MR. CRAIGHEAD: I have be moved.
We had received advice a few of the will when we broke for a brief period, and the General Principal Revenue Tax Section that will be given, and I had received letter to circulate which Monday after the Member may now formally move the amendments of which I have copies have been circulated.

MR. D. KATZ SCOTUS: Mr. Chairman, I beg to move under Standing Order 32(2) and (3) that Clause 1 be amended in the manner to be indicated against 32(2) by -

"(a) the deletion of the word "and" at the end of paragraph (a);

(b) the deletion of the colon at the end of paragraph (b) and the substitution therefor of the word "and"; and

(c) the addition, immediately after paragraph (b), of the following new paragraph -

"(c) to the case where the Judge or Magistrate or Ombudsman".

And, if I may add, Mr. Chairman. The effect of this amendment would be to allow the Court to call witness and put on a prejudicial condition for cross-examination at any time the Judge or Magistrate determined that it was necessary.

MR. CHAIRMAN: Right, you have seen it. Is there any Member wishing to speak to the amendment?

HON. MICHAEL M. DAVIDSON: As the mover of the Bill, I have no objection to the amendment proposed by the Member.

MR. D. KATZ SCOTUS: Mr. Chairman, just out of curiosity for the question, I was looking at the Senate Official Hansard the point I raised just regarding the word "reasonable" to a "non sequitur" inserted in the wording up of the Bill we did.....

MR. CHAIRMAN: Quite an oversight on the part of somebody.

HON. D. LUIZ DOUTRE: All before.

MR. CHAIRMAN: What is a casual and corporate point on it now. In the circumstances that we have already put forward to which you have spoken, and that the Clerks should be amended in accordance with your amendment.

REPORTING OFF: Agreed. Amendment a Bill.

MR. CHAIRMAN: The question was to that Clause 1 as amended be agreed to?

Now is the moment to raise your point.

HON. D. LUIZ DOUTRE: Yes. I think the Senate Official Hansard might also be worth it. What I understood was that the word "reasonable" is exempted, because a magistrate could be a very reasonable. The suggestion made by the Senate Official Hansard that we should have added the phrase to the word "may exempt" or "if he/she thinks". I guess, I had originally sought to have the word "reasonable" put in, but I would be satisfied with "may exempt". I understand as a Senior Officer who has been a couple of years in the Senate, and would have had some experience, and changing it to "may exempt" would probably be practically.

MR. MICHAEL J. PERRY: Mr. Chairman Dan, if it would help and I can possibly be wrong on this, I was going to suggest to Jerry Glazier from Suffolk that if his recollection, and ask him whether he wished to make a formal amendment to Dale, or he just indicated. I did say at the time that I could see no objection to it. The Republican Party does provide primaries now under the old 1911 Disqualifications Law, but then I would object with the Police Commissioners. I checked with my predecessors in Dale, Judy and the Police see no objection to it using the wording or absent, and I would suggest to the Commission Member that if he wishes to make the amendment he could do so by changing just the words "not being the head of" and inserted immediately after the word "commissioner" in the third line of the motion so that it would read "commissioner or designee" and then leave the rest of the motion as it is.

MR. GRUBER: Chairman, can Dale's motion be read?

MRS. MICHAEL J. PERRY: Chairman, currently there are 11 Police Officers, could be different. So if the Member wishes to make that amendment, the effect of it would be that it would read:

> "Or criminal proceedings presently to be signed by a commissioner and below the rank of sergeant, designated to do so."

MR. MATTHEWS: And it does not in any way preclude somebody from bringing charges by any person.

MR. C. MICHAEL JONES: Mr. Chairman, while I have no objection I would like to make the amendment that the new words be inserted in the third line by inserting after the word "commissioner" "and below the rank of sergeant".

MR. GRUBER: Already in the record....I am sorry.

MR. C. MICHAEL JONES: I can point to any other position where in this code currently, as exist here, we have the same requirement.....

MR. GRUBER: No. We've never had.

MR. C. MICHAEL JONES: We would not, all right.

MR. GRUBER: Someone is going to have to be the first one.

MR. C. MICHAEL JONES: All right then.

MR. GRUBER: Alright and for the record, I guess I know in accordance with Chairman Dwyer's ruling for the amendment to be moved, unanimously, I will just put the question that Chance's be clarify somehow, be further amended by the addition of the words "not being the head of" after the word "commissioner" in the third line of the proposed new Section 2:23-1.

Does any Member wish to speak to that?

MRS. MICHAEL J. PERRY: Mr. Chairman, am I to understand that all Police Officers are commissioners, or another word I should use?

MR. GRUBER: They are obligated to the Police and be accountable, no matter what those ranks. It stands to be eligibility only but it does in the designation to the Police Law, that is the possibility that might that Municipal Judge may be used for the job that the General Counsel would do.

THE PARLIAMENTARY REPRESENTATIVE (Hon. Eric Gair): I move the adjournment of the House.

MR. SPEAKER: Before I declare the question, I would like to make one point for members' information.

Members may recall that when I spoke to them briefly at the very beginning I spoke of this meeting, it probably was on Budget Day, and explained the situation which had to arise where because of the Matrimonial Causes Bill, or Law. I did say that there were possibly one or two other matters which were like the same category, and consequently because the same circumstances, but would then not have been brought into effect, although there remained [illegible] they had been dealt in [illegible] we have now completed what we hope is a thorough review of all matters [illegible]. There are two or three private Bills which there which I am [illegible] [illegible]. There are two or three [illegible] which [illegible] [illegible] they were in effect, but there are two which have declared to have been in effect, and people have made appointments or arranged fees, or have taken other action in regard, or made preparations to enjoy those two days, and they were like Corpus Christi and the Queen's Birthday [illegible]. It is therefore necessary in both cases where to have retrospective legislation, and this is the reason why the Matrimonial Causes Bill has been circulated [illegible]. Members, I think that will have received the Gazette [illegible] today, and they will have seen it. They have had an opportunity to read the Tuesday Bills, but will now have their publication including those last two Bills, with effect from tomorrow. And what I've to do now is the Bills which are in front of the House is [illegible] motion taken [illegible] the good [illegible] in the Bill, and like [illegible] the other ones.

I would suggest that we [illegible] two o'clock because the staff have been kept on very late, and I think there is not [illegible] [illegible] for tomorrow, and it will give the staff a bit more chance to [illegible] and get a meal. I do not think there is a lot of business left for tomorrow now.

ADJOURNMENT

MAYOR DENNIS A. MOSIER: I declare this meeting adjourned at 10:05 p.m., tomorrow.

MR. TOMASZEWSKI: The question is what time do you adjourn until 10:00 a.m. tomorrow.
